(3) Protective election. In a case where the estate does not qualify under section 6166(a) on the basis of the values as returned, or where the return shows no tax as due, an election may be made, contingent upon the values as finally determined meeting the percentage requirements set forth in section 6166(a), to pay in installments any portion of the estate tax, including a deficiency, which may be unpaid at the time of such final determination and which does not exceed the limitation provided in section 6166(b). The protective election must be made on or before the due date of the return and should state that it is a protective election. In the absence of a statement in the protective election as to the amount of tax to be paid in installments and the number of installments, the election will be presumed to be made for the maximum amount so payable and for the payment thereof in 10 equal annual installments, the first of which would have been due on the date prescribed in section 6151(a) for payment of the tax. The unpaid portion of the tax which may be paid in installments is prorated to the installments which would have been due if the provisions of section 6166(a) had applied to the tax, if any, shown on the return. The part of the unpaid portion of the tax so prorated to installments the date for payment of which would not have arrived before the deficiency is assessed shall be paid at the time such installments would have been due. The part of the unpaid portion of the tax so prorated to any installment the date for payment of which would have arrived before the deficiency is assessed shall be paid upon receipt of notice and demand from the district director. At the time the executor receives such notice and demand he may, of course, prepay the unpaid portions of the tax which have been prorated to installments not yet due. See paragraph (h) of this section.

(f) Time for paying interest. Under the provisions of section 6601, interest at the rate of 4 percent per annum shall be paid on the unpaid balance of the estate tax which the executor has elected to pay in installments, and on the unpaid balance of any deficiency prorated to the installments. Interest on such unpaid balance of estate tax shall be paid annually at the same time as, and as a part of, each installment of the tax. Accordingly, interest is computed on the entire unpaid balance for the period from the preceding installment date to the current installment date, and is paid with the current installment. In making such a computation, proper adjustment shall be made for any advance payments made during the period, whether the advance payments are voluntary or are brought about by the operation of section 6166(h)(2). In computing the annual interest payment, the portion of any deficiency which is prorated to installments the date for payment of which has not arrived shall be added to the unpaid balance at the beginning of the annual period during which the assessment of the deficiency occurs. Interest on such portion of the deficiency for the period from the original due date of the tax to the date fixed for the payment of the last installment preceding the date of assessment of a deficiency shall be paid upon notice and demand from the district director. Any extension of time under section 6161(a)(2) (on account of undue hardship to the estate) for payment of an installment will not extend the time for payment of the interest which is due on the installment date.

(g) Extensions of time for payment in hardship cases. The provisions of section 6161, under which extensions of time may be granted for payment of estate tax in cases involving undue hardship, apply to both the portion of the tax which may be paid in installments under section 6166 and the portion of the tax which is not so payable. Therefore, in a case involving undue hardship, the executor may elect under section 6166 to pay in installments the portion of the tax which is attributable to the interest in the closely held business and, in addition, may file an application under section 6161 for an extension of time to pay both the portion of the tax which is not attributable to the interest in the closely held business and such of the installments as are payable within the period of the requested extension. If an executor files a notice of election to pay the tax in installments and thereafter it is determined that the estate does not qualify for the privilege of paying the tax in installments, the executor is not deprived of the right to request an extension under section 6161 of time for payment of the tax to which the purported election applied. See § 20.6161–1 for the circumstances under which a timely filed election to pay the tax in installments will be treated as a timely filed application for an extension of time to pay the tax on account of undue hardship to the estate.

(h) Prepayments. Voluntary prepayment may be made at any time of all, or of any part, of the unpaid portion of the tax (including deficiencies) payable in installments. Voluntary prepayments shall be applied in payment of such installments, installment, or part of an installment as the person making the prepayment shall designate. For purposes of this paragraph, a payment described in paragraph (d)(2) of § 20.6166–3 of tax in an amount not less than the amount of money or other property distributed in a section 303 redemption is considered to be a voluntary prepayment to the extent paid before the date prescribed for payment of the first installment after the redemption or, if paid on the date prescribed for payment of such installment, to the extent it exceeds the amount due on the installment. See paragraph (b)(3) of § 20.6166–3 for the application to be made of the prepayment required by section 6166(h)(2).

§ 20.6166–2 Definition of an interest in a closely held business.

(a) In general. For purposes of §§ 20.6166–1, 20.6166–3, and 20.6166–4, the term "interest in a closely held business" means

(1) An interest as a proprietor in a trade or business carried on as a proprietorship.

(2) An interest as a partner in a partnership carrying on a trade or business if 20 percent or more of the total capital interest in the partnership is included in determining the decedent's gross estate or if the partnership had 10 or less partners.

(3) Stock in a corporation carrying on a trade or business if 20 percent or more in value of the voting stock of the corporation is included in determining the decedent's gross estate or if the corporation had 10 or less shareholders.

(b) Number of partners or shareholders. The number of partners of the partnership or shareholders of the corporation is determined as of the time immediately before the decedent's death. Where an interest in a partnership, or stock in a corporation, is the community property of husband and wife, both the husband and the wife are counted as partners or shareholders in arriving at the number of partners or shareholders. Similarly, if stock is held by coowners, tenants in common, tenants by the entirety, or joint tenants, each coowner, tenant in common, tenant by the entirety, or joint tenant is counted as a shareholder.

(c) Carrying on a trade or business. (1) In order for the interest in a partnership or the stock of a corporation to qualify as an interest in a closely held business it is necessary that the partnership or the corporation be engaged in carrying on a trade or business at the time of the decedent's death. However, it is not necessary that all the assets of the partnership or the corporation be utilized in the carrying on of the trade or business.

(2) In the case of a trade or business carried on as a proprietorship, the interest in the closely held business includes only those assets of the decedent which were actually utilized by him in the trade or business. Thus, if a building was used by the decedent in part as a personal residence and in part for the carrying on of a mercantile business, the part of the building used as a residence does not form any part of the interest in the closely held business. Whether an asset will be considered as used in the trade or business will depend on the facts and circumstances of the particular case. For example, if a bank account was held by the decedent in his individual name (as distinguished from the trade or business name) and it can be clearly shown that the amount on deposit represents working capital of the business as well as nonbusiness funds (e.g., receipts from investments, such as dividends and interest), then that part of the amount on deposit which represents working capital of the business will constitute a part of the interest in the closely held business. On the other hand, if a bank account is held by the decedent in the trade or business name and it can be shown that the amount represents nonbusiness funds as well as working capital, then only that part of the amount on deposit which represents working capital of the business will constitute a part of the interest in the closely held business. In a case where an interest in a partnership or stock of a corporation qualifies as an interest in a closely held business, the decedent's entire interest in the partnership, or the decedent's entire holding of stock in the corporation, constitutes an interest in a closely held business even though a portion of the partnership or corporate assets is used for a purpose other than the carrying on of a trade or business.

(d) Interests in two or more closely held businesses. For purposes of paragraphs (a) and (b) of § 20.6166–1 and paragraphs (d) and (e) of § 20.6166–3, interests in two or more closely held businesses shall be treated as an interest in a single closely held business if more than 50 percent of the total value of each such business is included in determining the value of the decedent's gross estate. For the purpose of the 50 percent requirement set forth in the preceding sentence, an interest in a closely held business which represents the surviving spouse's interest in community property shall be considered as having been included in determining the value of the decedent's gross estate.

§ 20.6166–3 Acceleration of payment.

(a) In general. Under the circumstances described in this section all or a part of the tax which the executor has elected to pay in installments shall be paid before the dates fixed for payment of the installments. Upon an estate's having undistributed net income described in paragraph (b) of this section for any taxable year after its fourth taxable year, the executor shall pay an amount equal to such undistributed net income in liquidation of the unpaid portion of the tax payable in installments. Upon the happening of any of the events described in paragraphs (c), (d), and (e) of this section, any unpaid portion of the tax payable in installments shall be paid upon notice and demand from the district director.

(b) Undistributed net income of estate. (1) If an estate has undistributed net income for any taxable year after its fourth taxable year, the executor shall pay an amount equal to such undistributed net income in liquidation of the unpaid portion of the tax payable in installments. The amount shall be paid to the district director on or before the time prescribed for the filing of the estate's income tax return for such taxable year. For this purpose extensions of time granted for the filing of the income tax return are taken into consideration in determining the time prescribed for filing the return and making such payment. In determining the number of taxable years, a short taxable year is counted as if it were a full taxable year.

(2) The term "undistributed net income" of the estate for any taxable year for purposes of this section is the amount by which the distributable net income of the estate, as defined in section 643, exceeds the sum of—

(i) The amount for such year specified in section 661(a)(1) and (2),

(ii) The amount of the Federal income tax imposed on the estate for such taxable year under chapter 1 of the Code, and

(iii) The amount of the Federal estate tax, including interest thereon, paid for the estate during such taxable year (other than any amount paid by reason of the application of this acceleration rule).

(3) The payment described in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph shall be applied against the total unpaid portion of the tax which the executor elected to pay in installments, and shall be divided equally among the installments due after the date of such payment. The application of this subparagraph may be illustrated by the following example:

Example. The decedent died on January 1, 1959. The executor elects under section 6166 to pay tax in the amount of $100,000 in 10 installments of $10,000. The first installment is due on April 1, 1960. The estate files its income tax returns on a calendar year basis. For its fifth taxable year (calendar year 1963) it has undistributed net income of $6,000. If the prepayment of $6,000 required by section 6166(h)(2)(A), and due on or before April 15, 1964, is paid before the fifth installment (due April 1, 1964), the $6,000 is apportioned equally among installments 5 through 10, leaving $9,000 as the amount due on each of such installments. However, if the prepayment of $6,000 is paid after the fifth installment, it is apportioned equally among installments 6 through 10, leaving $8,800 as the amount due on each of such installments.

(c) Failure to pay installment on or before due date. If any installment of tax is not paid on or before the date fixed for its payment (including any extension of time for the payment thereof), the whole of the unpaid portion of the tax which is payable in installments becomes due and shall be paid upon notice and demand from the district director. See paragraph (c) of § 20.6166–1 for the dates fixed for the payment of installments. See also § 20.6161–1 for the circumstances under which an extension of time for the payment of an installment will be granted.

(d) Withdrawal of funds from business. (1) In any case where money or other property is withdrawn from the trade or business and the aggregate withdrawals of money or other property equal or exceed 50 percent of the value of the trade or business, the privilege of paying the tax in installments terminates and the whole of the unpaid portion of the tax which is payable in installments becomes due and shall be paid upon notice and demand from the district director. The withdrawals of money or other property from the trade or business must be in connection with the interest therein included in the gross estate, and must equal or exceed 50 percent of the value of the entire trade or business (and not just 50 percent of the value of the interest therein included in the gross estate). The withdrawal must be a withdrawal of money or other property which constitutes "included property" within the meaning of that term as used in paragraph (d) of § 20.2032–1. The provisions of this section do not apply to the withdrawal of money or other property which constitutes "excluded property" within the meaning of that term as used in such paragraph (d).

(2) If a distribution in redemption of stock is (by reason of the provisions of section 303 or so much of section 304 as relates to section 303) treated for income tax purposes as a distribution in full payment in exchange for the stock so redeemed, the amount of such distribution is not counted as a withdrawal of money or other property made with respect to the decedent's interest in the trade or business for purposes of determining whether the withdrawals of money or other property made with respect to the decedent's interest in the trade or business equal or exceed 50 percent of the value of the trade or business. However, in the case described in the preceding sentence the value of the trade or business for purposes of applying the rule set forth in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph is the value thereof reduced by the proportionate part thereof which such distribution represents. The proportionate part of the value of the trade or business which the distribution represents is determined at the time of the distribution, but the reduction in the value of the trade or business represented by it relates back to the time of the decedent's death, or the alternate valuation date if an election is made under section 2032, for purposes of determining whether other withdrawals with respect to the decedent's interest in the trade or business constitute withdrawals equaling or exceeding 50 percent of the value of the trade or business. See example (3) of paragraph (e)(6) of this section for illustration of this principle. The rule stated in the first sentence of this subparagraph does not apply unless after the redemption, but on or before the date prescribed for payment of the first installment which becomes due after the redemption, there is paid an amount of estate tax not less than the amount of money or other property distributed. Where there are a series of section 303 redemptions, each redemption is treated separately and the failure of one redemption to qualify under the rule stated in the first sentence of this subparagraph does not necessarily mean that another redemption will not qualify.

(3) The application of this paragraph may be illustrated by the following examples, in each of which the executor elected to pay the estate tax in installments:

Example (1). A, who died on July 1, 1957, owned an 80 percent interest in a partnership which qualified as an interest in a closely held business. B owned the other 20 percent interest in the partnership. On the date of A's death the value of the business was $200,000 and the value of A's interest therein was included in his gross estate at $160,000. On October 1, 1958, when the value of the business was the same as at A's death, the executor withdrew $80,000 from the business. On December 1, 1958, when the value of the remaining portion of the business was $160,000, the executor withdrew $20,000 from the business and B withdrew $10,000. On February 1, 1959, when the value of the then remaining portion of the business was $150,000 the executor withdrew $15,000. The withdrawals of money or other property from the trade or business with respect to the interest therein included in the gross estate are considered as not having equaled or exceeded 50 percent of the value of the trade or business until February 1, 1959. The executor is considered as having withdrawn 40 percent of the value of the trade or business on October 1, 1958, computed as follows:

$$\frac{$80{,}000 \text{ (withdrawal)}}{$200{,}000 \text{ (value of trade or business at time of withdrawal)}} \times 100 \text{ percent} = 40 \text{ percent}$$

Immediately following the October withdrawal the remaining portion of the business represents 60 percent of the value of the trade or business in existence at the time of A's death (100 percent less 40 percent withdrawn). The executor is considered as having withdrawn 7.5 percent of the value of the trade or business on December 1, 1958, and B as having withdrawn 3.75 percent of the value thereof at that time, computed as follows:

Executor's withdrawal—

$$\frac{$20{,}000 \text{ (withdrawal)}}{$160{,}000 \text{ (value of trade or business at time of withdrawal)}} \times 60 \text{ percent} = 7.5 \text{ percent}$$

B's withdrawal—

$$\frac{$10{,}000 \text{ (withdrawal)}}{$160{,}000 \text{ (value of trade or business at time of withdrawal)}} \times 60 \text{ percent} = 3.75 \text{ percent}$$

Immediately following the December withdrawal the then remaining portion of the business represented 48.75 percent of the value of the trade or business in existence at the time of A's death (100 percent less 40 percent withdrawn by executor in October, 7.5 percent withdrawn by executor in December, and 3.75 percent withdrawn by B in December). It should be noted that while at this point the total withdrawals by the executor and B from the trade or business exceed 50 percent of the value thereof, the aggregate of the withdrawals by the executor were less than 50 percent of the value of the trade or business. Also it should be noted that while the total withdrawals by the executor exceeded 50 percent of the value of A's interest in the trade or business, they did not exceed 50 percent of the value of the entire trade or business. The executor is considered as having withdrawn 4.875 percent of the value of the trade or business on February 1, 1959, computed as follows:

$$\frac{$15{,}000 \text{ (withdrawal)}}{$150{,}000 \text{ (value of trade or business at time of withdrawal)}} \times 48.75 \text{ percent} = 4.875 \text{ percent}$$

As of February 1, 1959, the total withdrawals from the trade or business made with respect to A's interest therein was 52.375 percent of the value of the trade or business.

Example (2). The decedent's 40-percent interest in the XYZ partnership constituted an interest in a closely held business. Since the decedent's interest in the closely held business amounted to less than 50 percent of the value of the business, money or other property equaling or exceeding 50 percent of the value of the business could not be withdrawn from the decedent's interest in the business. Therefore, withdrawals of money or other property from this trade or business never would accelerate the payment of the tax under the provisions of this paragraph.

Example (3). The decedent died on September 1, 1957. He owned 100 shares of B Corporation (the total number of shares outstanding at the time of his death) and a 75 percent interest in a partnership of which C was the other partner. The B Corporation stock and the interest in the partnership together make up the interest in the closely held business which was included in the decedent's gross estate. The B Corporation stock was included in the gross estate at a value of $400,000 and the interest in the partnership was included at a value of $300,000. On November 1, 1957, at which time the value of the corporation's assets had not changed, in a section 303 redemption the executor surrendered 26 shares of B Corporation stock for $104,000. On December 1, 1957, at which time the value of the partnership's assets had not changed, the partners withdrew 90 percent of the assets of the partnership, with the executor receiving $270,000 and C receiving $90,000. The estate tax amounts to $240,000, of which the executor elected under section 6166 to pay $140,000 in 10 installments of $14,000 each. On December 1, 1958, the due date for paying the estate tax which was not payable in installments and for paying the first installment under section 6166, the executor paid estate tax of $114,000, of which $100,000 represented the tax not payable in installments and $14,000 represented the first installment. Inasmuch as after the section 303 distribution and on or before the due date of the first installment (December 1, 1958) after the section 303 distribution the executor paid as estate tax an amount not less than the amount of the distribution, the section 303 distribution does not constitute a withdrawal of money or other property from the business for purposes of section 6166(h)(1). Therefore, the value of the trade or business is reduced by the amount of the section 303 distribution. Accordingly, the value of the entire trade or business is $696,000, of which $400,000 represents the value of the partnership and $296,000 represents the value of the B Corporation stock. Since the executor is considered as having withdrawn only $270,000 (the withdrawal from the partnership) from the trade or business, the withdrawal of money or other property from the trade or business made with respect to the decedent's interest therein was $\frac{270,000}{696,000}$ of the value of the entire trade or business, or less than 50 percent thereof.

(e) Disposition of interest in business. (1) In any case where in the aggregate 50 percent or more of the decedent's interest in a closely held business has been distributed, sold, exchanged, or otherwise disposed of, the privilege of paying the tax in installments terminates and the whole of the unpaid portion of the tax which is payable in installments becomes due and shall be paid upon notice and demand from the district director. A transfer by the executor of an interest in the closely held business to a beneficiary or trustee named in the decedent's will or to an heir who is entitled to receive it under the applicable intestacy law does not constitute a distribution thereof for purposes of determining whether 50 percent or more of an interest in a closely held business has been distributed, sold, exchanged, or otherwise disposed of. However, a subsequent transfer of the interest by the beneficiary, trustee, or heir will constitute a distribution, sale, exchange, or other disposition thereof for such purposes. The disposition must be a disposition of an interest which constitutes "included property" within the meaning of that term as used in paragraph (d) of § 20.2032–1. The provisions of this section do not apply to the disposition of an interest which constitutes "excluded property" within the meaning of that term as used in such paragraph (d).

(2) The phrase "distributed, sold, exchanged, or otherwise disposed of" comprehends all possible ways by which an interest in a closely held business ceases to form a part of the gross estate. The term includes the surrender of a stock certificate for corporate assets in complete or partial liquidation of a corporation pursuant to section 331. The term also includes the surrender of stock for stock pursuant to a transaction described in subparagraphs (A), (B), or (C) of section 368(a)(1). In general the term does not, however, extend to transactions which are mere changes in form. It does not include a transfer of assets to a corporation in exchange for its stock in a transaction with respect to which no gain or loss would be recognizable for income tax purposes under section 351. It does not include an exchange of stock in a corporation for stock in the same corporation or another corporation pursuant to a plan of reorganization described in subparagraphs (D), (E), or (F) of section 368(a)(1), nor to an exchange to which section 355 (or so much of section 356 as relates to section 355) applies. However, any stock received in an exchange to which the two preceding sentences apply shall for purposes of this paragraph be treated as an interest in a closely held business.

(3) An interest in a closely held business may be "distributed" by either a trustee who received it from the executor, or a trustee of an interest which is included in the gross estate under sections 2035 through 2038, or section 2041. See subparagraph (1) of this paragraph relative to the distribution of an interest by the executor to the person entitled to receive it under the decedent's will or an intestacy law.

(4) An interest in a closely held business may be "sold, exchanged, or otherwise disposed of" by (i) the executor; (ii) a trustee or other donee to whom the decedent in his lifetime transferred the interest included in his gross estate under section 2035 through 2038, or section 2041; (iii) a beneficiary, trustee, or heir entitled to receive the property from the executor under the decedent's will or under the applicable law of descent and distribution, or to whom title to the interest passed directly under local law; (iv) a surviving joint tenant or tenant by the entirety; or (v) any other person.

(5) If a distribution in redemption of stock is (by reason of the provisions of section 303 or so much of section 304 as relates to section 303) treated for income tax purposes as a distribution in full payment in exchange for the stock redeemed, the stock so redeemed is not counted as distributed, sold, exchanged, or otherwise disposed of for purposes of determining whether 50 percent or more of the decedent's interest in a closely held business has been distributed, sold, exchanged, or otherwise disposed of. However, in the case described in the preceding sentence the interest in the closely held business for purposes of applying the rule set forth in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph is such interest reduced by the proportionate part thereof which the redeemed stock represents. The proportionate part of the interest which the redeemed stock represents is determined at the time of the redemption, but the reduction in the interest represented by it relates back to the time of the decedent's death, or the alternate valuation date if an election is made under section 2032, for purposes of determining whether other distributions, sales, exchanges, and dispositions of the decedent's interest in the closely held business equal or exceed in the aggregate 50 percent of such interest. See example (3) of subparagraph (6) of this paragraph for illustration of this principle. The rule stated in the first sentence of this subparagraph does not apply unless after the redemption, but on or before the date prescribed for payment of the first installment which becomes due after the redemption, there is paid an amount of estate tax not less than the amount of money or other property distributed. Where there are a series of section 303 redemptions, each redemption is treated separately and the failure of one redemption to qualify under the rule stated in the first sentence of this subparagraph does not necessarily mean that another redemption will not qualify.

(6) The application of this paragraph may be illustrated by the following examples, in each of which the executor elected to pay the tax in installments:

Example (1). The decedent died on October 1, 1957. He owned 8,000 of the 12,000 shares of D Corporation outstanding at the time of his death and 3,000 of the 5,000 shares of E Corporation outstanding at that time. The D Corporation stock was included in the gross estate at $50 per share, or a total of $400,000. The E Corporation stock was included in the gross estate at $100 per share, or a total of $300,000. On November 1, 1958, the executor sold the 3,000 shares of E Corporation and on February 1, 1959, he sold 1,000 shares of D Corporation. Since the decedent's shares of D Corporation and E Corporation together constituted the interest in a closely held business, the value of such interest was $700,000 ($400,000 plus $300,000) and the D Corporation stock represented $\frac{400,000}{700,000}$ thereof and the E Corporation stock represented $\frac{300,000}{700,000}$ thereof. While the sale of 3,000 shares of E Corporation on November 1, 1958, was a sale of the decedent's entire interest in E Corporation and a sale of more than 50 percent of the outstanding stock of E Corporation, nevertheless it constituted a sale of only $\frac{300,000}{700,000}$ of the interest in the closely held business. The sale of 1,000 shares of D Corporation stock on February 1, 1959, represented a sale of $\frac{50,000}{700,000}$ of the interest in the closely held business. The numerator of $50,000 is determined as follows:

$$\frac{1,000 \text{ (shares sold)}}{8,000 \text{ (shares owned)}} \times $400,000 \text{ (value of shares owned, as included in gross estate)}$$

Taken together the two sales represented a sale of 50 percent $\left(\frac{350,000}{700,000}\right)$ of the interest in the closely held business. Therefore, as of February 1, 1959 (the date of the sale of 1,000 shares of E Corporation), 50 percent or more in value of the interest in the closely held business is considered as distributed, sold, exchanged, or otherwise disposed of.

Example (2). The decedent died on September 1, 1958. The interest owned by him in a closely held business consisted of 100 shares of the M Corporation. On February 1, 1959, in a section 303 redemption, 20 shares were redeemed for cash and an amount equivalent to the proceeds was paid on the Federal estate tax before the date of the next installment. On July 1, 1959, the executor sold 40 of the remaining shares of the stock. The section 303 redemption is not considered to be a distribution, sale, exchange, or other disposition of the portion of the interest represented by the 20 shares redeemed. As a result of the section 303 redemption the remaining 80 shares represent the decedent's entire interest in the closely held business for purposes of determining whether in the aggregate 50 percent or more of the interest in the closely held business has been distributed, sold, exchanged, or otherwise disposed of. The sale on July 1, 1959, of the 40 shares represents a sale of 50 percent of the interest in the closely held business.

Example (3). The facts are the same as in example (2) except that the 40 shares were sold on December 1, 1958 (before the section 303 redemption was made) instead of on July 1, 1959 (after the section 303 redemption was made). The sale of the 40 shares in December represents, as of that date, a sale of 40 percent of the interest in the closely held business. However, the section 303 redemption of 20 shares does not count as a distribution, sale, exchange, or other disposition of the interest, but it does reduce the interest to 80 shares (100 shares less 20 shares redeemed) for purposes of determining whether other distributions, sales, exchanges, and dispositions in the aggregate equal or exceed 50 percent of the interest in the closely held business. Since the reduction of the interest to 80 shares relates back to the time of the decedent's death, or the alternate valuation date if an election is made under section 2032, the sale of the 40 shares, as recomputed represents a sale of 50 percent of the interest. However, since the sale of the 40 shares did not represent a sale of 50 percent of the interest until the section 303 distribution was made, February 1, 1959 (the date of the section 303 distribution) is considered the date on which 50 percent of the interest was distributed, sold, exchanged, or otherwise disposed of.

(f) Information to be furnished by executor. (1) If the executor acquires knowledge of the happening of any transaction described in paragraph (d) or (e) of this section which, in his opinion, standing alone or when taken together with other transactions of which he has knowledge, would result in

(i) Aggregate withdrawals of money or other property from the trade or business equal to or exceeding 50 percent of the value of the entire trade or business, or

(ii) Aggregate distributions, sales, exchanges, and other dispositions equal to or exceeding 50 percent of the interest in the closely held business which was included in the gross estate, the executor shall so notify the district director, in writing, within 30 days of acquiring such knowledge.

(2) On the date fixed for payment of each installment of tax (determined without regard to any extension of time for the payment thereof), other than the final installment, the executor shall furnish the district director, in writing, with either

(i) A complete disclosure of all transactions described in paragraphs (d) and (e) of this section of which he has knowledge and which have not previously been made known by him to the district director, or

(ii) A statement that to the best knowledge of the executor all transactions described in paragraphs (d) and (e) of this section which have occurred have not produced a result described in subparagraph (1) (i) or (ii) of this paragraph.

(3) The district director may require the submission of such additional information as is deemed necessary to establish the estate's right to continue payment of the tax in installments.

§ 20.6166–4 Special rules applicable where due date of return was before September 3, 1958.

(a) In general. Section 206(f) of the Small Business Tax Revision Act of 1958 (72 Stat. 1685) provides that section 6166(i) of the Code shall apply in cases where the decedent died after August 16, 1954, but only if the date for filing the estate tax return (including extensions thereof) expired before September 3, 1958. Therefore, the privilege of paying the estate tax in installments as described in §§ 20.6166–1 through 20.6166–3 is available also in cases where the due date of the return is before September 3, 1958, but under somewhat different circumstances. These differences are explained in paragraphs (b) through (e) of this section. Therefore, except as otherwise provided in paragraphs (b) through (e) of this section, the regulations contained in §§ 20.6166–1 through 20.6166–3 apply also in cases where the due date of the return is before September 3, 1958. See § 20.6075–1 for the due date of the return. The value of the gross estate as determined for purposes of a deficiency in tax assessed after September 2, 1958, and the value at which the interest in the closely held business, to which the election applies, is included in such value of the gross estate are used in ascertaining whether an estate coming within the purview of section 6166(i) and this section satisfies the percentage requirements as to qualification set forth in section 6166(a).

(b) Tax to which election applies. In a case where the due date of the return was before September 3, 1958, an election to pay estate tax in installments does not apply to the tax shown on the return nor to a deficiency in tax assessed before that date. It does apply to a deficiency in tax assessed after September 2, 1958, unless the deficiency is due to negligence, to intentional disregard of rules and regulations, or to fraud with intent to evade tax. The amount of the deficiency which may be paid in installments shall not exceed that proportion of the total tax (including the deficiency) which is determined by applying thereto the ratio set forth in paragraph (b) of § 20.6166–1. See paragraph (c) of this section for the method of prorating the deficiency to the installments.

(c) Proration of deficiency to installments. The deficiency in tax which may be paid in installments is prorated to the installments which would have been due if the provisions of section 6166(a) had applied to the tax shown on the return and if an election had been timely made at the time the estate tax return was filed. The part of the deficiency so prorated to any installment the date for payment of which would have arrived before the election is made shall be paid at the time the election is made. The portion of the deficiency so prorated to installments the date for payment of which would not have arrived before the election is made shall be paid at the time such installments would have been due if such an election had been made.

(d) Notice of election. The notice of election to pay the deficiency in installments shall be filed with the district director not later than 60 days after issuance of notice and demand by the district director for payment of the deficiency. The number of installments in which the executor elects to pay the deficiency includes those installments the dates for payment of which would have arrived within the meaning of paragraph (c) of this section. See paragraph (c)(2) of § 20.6166–1 for further information relative to the notice of election.

(e) Undistributed income of estate. In any case where the due date of the estate tax return was before September 3, 1958, the provisions of paragraph (b) of § 20.6166–3 (providing for acceleration of payment of estate tax by amount of estate's undistributed net income for any taxable year after its fourth taxable year) shall not apply with respect to the estate's undistributed net income for any taxable year ending before January 1, 1960.

PAR. 6. Section 20.6601 is amended by revising subsection (b) of section 6601 and by adding a historical note to read as follows:

§ 20.6601 Statutory provisions; interest on underpayment, nonpayment, or extensions of time for payment, of tax.

SEC. 6601. Interest on underpayment, nonpayment, or extensions of time for payment, of tax. • • •

(b) Extensions of time for payment of estate tax. If the time for payment of an amount of tax imposed by chapter 11 is extended as provided in section 6161(a)(2) or 6166, or if the time for payment of an amount of such tax is postponed or extended as provided by section 6163, interest shall be paid at the rate of 4 percent, in lieu of 6 percent as provided in subsection (a).

LIFEBOATS

The Coast Guard document CGFR 60-36 (F.R. document 60-10395) contained miscellaneous amendments to the vessel inspection regulations and was published as Part II of the FEDERAL REGISTER dated November 5, 1960. Among the changes set forth in this document were revised requirements for "painters" for lifeboats. In listing the required equipment for lifeboats for passenger vessels, Table 75.20-10(a) was reprinted in its entirety (25 F.R. 10627). The revised requirements were intended to include a change in the number of required "painters" from "1" to "2" for Great Lakes passenger vessels while no change in the quantity of "storm oil" required was contemplated. However, a mistake was made in Table 75.20-10(a) under the heading "Great Lakes" (fourth column), when the quantity for "storm oil" (opposite letter identification "y") was increased from "1" to "2" while no change is indicated for "painter" (opposite letter identification "z").

SUBCHAPTER C—REGULATIONS AFFECTING SUBSIDIZED VESSELS AND OPERATORS

[General Order 22, Rev., Amdt. 5]

PART 282—UNIFORM SYSTEM OF ACCOUNTS FOR OPERATING-DIFFERENTIAL SUBSIDY CONTRACTORS

Part 282 is hereby amended as follows:

1. Amend § 282.301 Capital Reserve Fund by changing the heading of paragraphs (a) and (b), and adding a new paragraph (c) to read as follows:

§ 282.301 Capital Reserve Fund.

* * * * *

(a) 301-1 Cash and securities, non-trust. * * *

(b) 301-2 Discounts and premiums, non-trust. * * *

(c) 301-3 Common Stock Trust. This account shall be charged with the amount of the non-trust portion of the Capital Reserve Fund transferred to the Capital Reserve Fund-Common Stock Trust, the acquisition cost of common stock in which the trust is invested, the income, capital gains, and other principal, and shall be credited with withdrawals therefrom and capital losses in accordance with the provisions of section 607(d) of the Merchant Marine Act, 1936, as amended, and under such rules and regulations as the Maritime Administrator may issue. Subsidiary accounts of the Capital Reserve Fund-Common Stock Trust are to be maintained to record cash, common stocks, and other principal.

2. Amend § 282.302 Special Reserve Fund by changing the heading of paragraphs (a) and (b), and adding a new paragraph (c) to read as follows:

§ 282.302 Special Reserve Fund.

* * * * *

(a) 302-1 Cash and securties, non-trust. * * *

(b) 302-2 Discounts and premiums, non-trust. * * *

(c) 302-3 Common Stock Trust. This account shall be charged with the amount of the non-trust portion of the Special Reserve Fund transferred to the Special Reserve Fund-Common Stock Trust, the acquisition cost of common stock in which the trust is invested, the income, capital gains, and other principal, and shall be credited with withdrawals therefrom and capital losses in accordance with the provisions of section 607(d) of the Merchant Marine Act, 1936, as amended, and under such rules and regulations as the Maritime Administrator may issue. Subsidiary accounts of the Special Reserve Fund-Common Stock Trust are to be maintained to record cash, common stocks, and other principal.

3. Three new sections are added as follows:

§ 282.307 Escrow funds.

This account shall be charged with the amounts required to be deposited in the Escrow fund and credited with disbursements therefrom, in connection with the insurance of loans and mortgages financed by sale of bonds to the general public, pursuant to the provisions of section 1111 of the Merchant Marine Act, 1936, as amended, and/or the provisions of contracts or agreements as may be entered into. These funds shall be reported separately and maintained in accordance with such rules and regulations as the Maritime Administrator may issue.

§ 282.308 Construction funds.

This account shall be charged with the amounts required to be deposited therein, representing the difference between the principal of insured bonds and the principal amount required to be deposited in the Escrow fund or such other amounts required by contracts or agreements entered into, and shall be credited with authorized disbursements therefrom. These funds shall be reported separately and maintained in accordance with such rules and regulations as the Maritime Administrator may issue.

§ 282.310 Restricted funds.

This account shall be established at the time of the first deposit required therein, and shall be charged with deposits pursuant to the provisions of contracts or agreements. This account shall be credited with authorized withdrawals therefrom. These funds shall be reported separately and maintained in accordance with such rules and regulations as the Maritime Administrator may issue.

4. Amend § 282.525 to read as follows:

§ 282.525 Long-term debt.

This account shall be subdivided as set forth in §§ 282.526, 282.527, 282.530, and 282.534.

5. Add a new section following § 282.526, to read as follows:

§ 282.527 U.S. Government insured Merchant Marine mortgage bonds and mortgage notes.

This account shall include all U.S. Government insured Merchant Marine mortgage bonds and mortgage notes issued pursuant to the provisions of contracts or agreements, and shall be maintained by vessel.

6. Amend § 282.530 Mortgage bonds and debentures by changing the title and text to read as follows:

§ 282.530 Other mortgage bonds and debentures.

This account shall include the face amount of bonds and debentures not provided for in other accounts and shall be maintained to show full particulars in respect to each issue outstanding. Reacquired bonds and debentures shall be charged to this account at face amount.

7. Amend § 282.779 by changing the example of charges pertaining to Canal tolls to read as follows:

§ 282.779 Other port expenses.

* * * * *

Canal tolls other than Panama Canal, Suez Canal, and Saint Lawrence Seaway (see account 795).

8. Amend § 282.795 to read as follows:

§ 282.795 Canal tolls.

This account shall include only the cost of tolls levied against vessels for traversing the Panama Canal, Suez Canal, and Saint Lawrence Seaway. Tolls assessed for passage through other canals shall be included in account 779, "Other port expenses."

(Sec. 204, 49 Stat. 1987, as amended; 46 U.S.C. 1114; sec. 607, P.L. 85-637 (72 Stat. 592); sec. 1111, P.L. 86-127 (73 Stat. 272))

Dated: November 22, 1960.

By order of the Maritime Administrator.

Title 49—TRANSPORTATION

Chapter I—Interstate Commerce Commission

PART 125—RAILROAD ACCIDENTS; REPORTS AND CLASSIFICATION

Monthly Reports of Railroad Accidents

At a general session of the Interstate Commerce Commission held at its office in Washington, D.C., on the 8th day of December 1960.

The matter of rules governing monthly reports of railroad accidents being under consideration, and

It appearing that representatives of the Commission have been participating in conferences with representatives designated by the Association of American Railroads, the American Short Line Railroad Association, and the Railway Labor Executives' Association for the purpose of revising the Rules Governing Monthly Reports of Railroad Accidents in conformance with the Accident Reports Act as amended by Public Law 86-762, 74 Stat. 903, approved September 13, 1960, and in conformance with certain recommendations of interested parties; and

It further appearing that full agreement on the revised rules as set forth herein has been reached by the representatives mentioned above;

And it further appearing that the revised rules appear to be noncontroversial, and that rule-making procedures under section 4(a) of the Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U.S.C. 1003 are unnecessary and impracticable;

It is ordered, That common carriers subject to the Accident Reports Act (45 U.S.C. 38-43), shall make to the Commission monthly reports of accidents in the form and manner set forth in Appendix A attached hereto, and made a part hereof;

It is further ordered, That 49 CFR § 125.9 to § 125.60, inclusive, be deleted in their entirety and that § 125.9 to § 125.12, and § 125.14 to § 125.60, both inclusive, as set forth below, be substituted therefor;

It is further ordered, That the Commission's order of November 23, 1956, entitled "Rules Governing Monthly Reports of Railroad Accidents," and supplemental orders of December 27, 1956, and of July 25 and December 23, 1957, be, and they are hereby, vacated and set aside, effective February 1, 1961, except insofar as they apply to reports of accidents occurring before January 1, 1961;

It is further ordered, That a copy of this order shall be served on the common carriers subject to the provisions of the Accident Reports Act, and that notice of this order shall be given to the general public by depositing a copy thereof in the Office of the Secretary of the Commission, Washington, D.C., and by filing a copy thereof with the Director, Office of the FEDERAL REGISTER;

And it is further ordered, That this order shall be effective February 1, 1961, and shall apply to all accidents occurring on and after January 1, 1961.

By the Commission.

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS

§ 125.9 Public examination of reports only after approval.

Accident reports made by railroads in compliance with the rules in this part shall be for the information of the Commission and shall be open to public inspection only upon prior approval of an application by this Commission. Applications for public inspection will be granted if the Commission is satisfied that such inspection will not result in a violation of section 4 of the Accident Reports Act and is for the purpose of obtaining information to be presented before Federal and other governmental bodies, or which will contribute to the promotion of safety in railroad operations.

§ 125.10 Purpose.

The purpose of reporting accidents and injuries to persons arising from the operation of a railroad to this Commission is to carry out the intent of Congress as expressed in the Accident Reports Act, as amended, namely the disclosure of hazards arising in the provision of common carrier transportation by railroad. The purpose of this revision of the accident reporting rules is to implement the amendment of September 13, 1960, and to improve further the quality and accuracy of reporting.

§ 125.11 Definition of the phrase "Arising from the operation of such railroad."

Section 7 of the Accident Reports Act, as amended, defines the phrase "arising from the operation of such railroad", as used in the Act, to "include all activities of the railroad which are related to the performance of its transportation business." The scope of this definition includes all the usual activities of a railroad. Insofar as employees on duty are concerned, it includes all such employees as are reported to this Commission under the "Rules Governing the Classification of Railroad Employees and Reports of their Service and Compensation" (Part 127 of this chapter).

§ 125.12 Definition of "Accidents".

An accident is a collision, derailment or other accidental event resulting in death or injury to any person or damage to equipment or roadbed. As used in the rules in this part, an "accident" presupposes an occurrence. An "injury" is the result of an accident.

§ 125.14 Accidents to be reported.

An accident which results in one or more of the following:

(a) Death of a person: A death resulting from an accident within 24 hours immediately following the accident is reportable as a fatality; if death occurs after the expiration of the 24-hour period, the casualty is reportable as an injury and also as a subsequent fatality.

(b) Injury to an employee on duty sufficient to incapacitate him from performing fully and acceptably and without extra assistance all the duties customarily included in the assignment of the employee at the time of the injury for more than 24 hours in the aggregate during the 10 days (240 hours) immediately following the accident. Under this subsection, incapacitation includes Sundays, holidays, and lay-off days, and begins whenever the pain or inconvenience resulting from the accident becomes so serious that it would prevent the injured person from performing all of his duties, whether or not there is necessity or opportunity for him to do so at the time. Incapacitation ends whenever the injured person has recovered sufficiently to be able to resume performance of all his duties whether or not there is necessity or opportunity for him to do so at the time.

(c) Injury to any person other than an employee on duty if the injury is sufficient to incapacitate the injured person from following his customary vocation or mode of life for more than 24 hours in the aggregate during the 10 days (240 hours) immediately following the accident.

(d) Collisions, derailments, or other train accidents with more than $750 damage to equipment, track, or roadbed, excluding cost of clearing wreck. The term "other train accident" does not include equipment failures resulting from ordinary wear and tear.

§ 125.15 Accidents or occurrences not to be reported.

(a) Accidents at highway or street crossings, or on parts of highways within railroad rights-of-way, not involving the presence or operations of trains, locomotives, cars, track cars, or similar equipment and not involving employees then engaged in the operation of a railroad;

(b) Accidents in or about living quarters not arising from the operation of a railroad;

(c) Disability resulting from illness or disease, only of the person afflicted;

(d) Suicides as determined by a coroner or other public authority, or attempted suicides; and

(e) The consequences of horseplay, insofar as the participants are concerned.

§ 125.16 Doubtful cases.

Whenever any person declares that he has been injured in an accident arising from the operation of a railroad and the carrier involved denies the allegation, the reporting railroad must report the case, but may designate it as "claimed but not admitted by the carrier", or otherwise as may be appropriate, with a statement of the carrier's position thereon. Even though there may be no witness to an accident, if there is any evidence which indicates that an accident may have occurred, a report of an accident must be made. In contrast, if there is no evidence of an accident due to the operation of a railroad, the occurrence should not be reported.

§ 125.17 Joint operations.

(a) "Joint operations" is a term intended to cover operations conducted on terminal or other tracks used jointly or in common by two or more reporting carriers, or where the equipment of one carrier moves as its own train over the track of another carrier.

(b) Locomotives, with or without crews, if loaned or leased by one carrier to another, are not thereby made subject to the rules relative to "joint operations".

(c) Trains or locomotives of a nonreporting carrier which may become involved in reportable accidents on the line of a reporting carrier do not fall under the rules pertaining to "joint operations"; such accidents, however, must be included in the report of the reporting carrier.

(d) If a reportable accident occurs on a private siding or track of like character, it must be reported by the carrier having possession of the locomotive concerned or employing the persons involved, but not as a joint-operation accident.

(e) The question of responsibility among carriers for accidents classifiable under the rules applicable to joint operations is not to be considered in relation to the making of reports concerning them, but all carriers involved must make reports as respectively required.

(f) Train accidents resulting in death or injury or damage to equipment, track, or roadbed, in excess of $750, or collisions, derailments, or other accidents, with damage to equipment, track, or roadbed in excess of $750, occurring on tracks used by two or more reporting carriers must be severally reported by the carrier or carriers whose equipment or employees are involved and the carrier whose superintendent is in immediate charge of the track on which the accident occurs. Each carrier concerned in such an accident must report the death or injury, if any, and the damage to its equipment and other items of expense as provided in the report form and state (estimating, if unknown) the death or injury, if any, and the amount of damage sustained by the other carriers involved, the names of which must be respectively indicated before casualties and the items of damage. If a reportable train accident, though occurring on jointly used track, involves only the equipment and employees of the carrier whose superintendent is in immediate charge of such track, the accident must be reported only by the carrier concerned.

(g) Train-service accidents occurring on terminal or other tracks used jointly or in common by two or more reporting carriers must be reported by each of the carriers concerned.

(h) Death or injury to railroad employees on an adjacent track of another railroad must be reported by both railroads, whether or not a joint operation is involved.

CLASSIFICATION OF RAILROAD ACCIDENTS

§ 125.21 Primary groups and their definitions.

Sections 125.21 to 125.24, relating to classification of railroad accidents, are intended solely as a guide to reporting and do not limit in any way those accidents to be reported, as set forth in § 125.14.

Reportable railroad accidents are divided into three groups:

GROUP I—TRAIN ACCIDENTS
GROUP II—TRAIN-SERVICE ACCIDENTS
GROUP III—NONTRAIN ACCIDENTS

(a) Group I. Train accidents are those arising from the operation or movement of trains, locomotives, or cars which result in:

(1) A reportable death or injury and more than $750 damage to equipment, track or roadbed[1]; or

(2) A collision, derailment or other train accident, with more than $750 damage to equipment, track or roadbed.[1]

(b) Group II. Train-service accidents are those arising from the operation or movement of trains, locomotives, or cars which result in a reportable death or injury but not more than $750 damage to equipment, track, or roadbed.[1]

(c) Group III. Nontrain accidents are those which do not result from the operation or movement of trains, locomotives, or cars.

GROUP I—TRAIN ACCIDENTS

§ 125.22 Classification.

Train accidents should be classified as:

(a) A collision (Class C), which is an impact of a train, locomotive, or car with some other train, locomotive, or car while both are on rails. Accidents, however, in which cars not in suitable condition to withstand common train usage, that when coupled in trains, may be damaged through ordinary train movements, should be classified as other train accidents, and not as collisions. Accidents caused by trains, etc., striking bumping posts, or track motor cars and like roadway machines not equipped with A.A.R. couplers, except when operating under train rules and subject to the protection afforded to trains, are not classified as collisions.

(1) Reports of collisions, in addition to furnishing the information required by sections of these rules having general application, should describe briefly the method of operation in use for the track involved, stating whether a signal system was in use, and, if in use, whether it was manual, controlled manual or automatic block, interlocking or C.T.C., cab signal or automatic train control. For collisions involving any question of train orders, the information should show whether they were on Form "19" or Form "31" (A.A.R. Standard Code of Train Rules).

(2) In the case of a collision, the number of main tracks in use in the locality of the accident should be stated.

(3) Collisions should be classified as follows:

[1] Excluding cost of clearing wreck.

(i) Rear-end collisions. A rear-end collision is a collision in which the trains or locomotives involved are bound in the same direction on the same track.[2]

(ii) Head-on collisions. A head-on collision is a collision in which the trains or locomotives involved are bound in opposite directions on the same track.[2]

(iii) Broken-train collisions. A broken-train collision is a collision in which a moving train breaks into parts and a violent impact of two or more of the uncoupled parts of the same train occurs, or one or more of the parts collide with another train, locomotive, or car. Collisions in which the equipment involved is employed in a switching movement are not to be included in this class.

(iv) Side or raking collisions. This class does not include collisions of trains with cars classifiable under subdivision (vi) of this subparagraph or collisions of equipment employed in switching movements classifiable under subdivision (vii) of this subparagraph. An accident caused by parts of equipment on one track coming in contact with equipment on a parallel track should not be classified as a collision, but as a miscellaneous train accident, unless a derailment occurs.

(v) Crossing collisions at railroad crossings. The term "crossing collisions at railroad crossings" is used herein to mean collisions occurring at crossings or junctions involving trains, locomotives, or cars operated on the intersecting tracks.[3] This class does not include accidents due to striking automobiles or other highway vehicles.

(vi) Collisions of trains with cars not in trains. This class does not include collisions of trains with cars, subject by train rules to the protection afforded to trains, which should be classified, under subdivisions (i), (ii), (iii), (iv) or (v) of this subparagraph in accordance with the circumstances of the particular cases.

(vii) Switching collisions. The term "switching collisions" is used herein to mean collisions occurring to equipment being switched, as in making or breaking up trains, shifting or setting out cars, etc., including accidents to locomotives involved in such service. A collision should not receive this classification when two or more locomotives, trains, or cuts of cars are involved unless both or all such units of equipment are employed in switching movements at the time of accident, but it should be classified under subdivisions (i), (ii), (iii), (iv), (v), (vi), or (vii) of this subparagraph in accordance with the circumstances of the particular case.

(viii) Collisions not elsewhere classifiable. This class includes collisions between light locomotives moving to or from servicing facilities; also collisions between a locomotive and cars of a train or cut of cars occurring in recoupling the locomotive after it has been cut off for servicing, but does not include collisions between locomotives and cars while engaged in switching movements as described in subdivision (vii) of this subparagraph.

(b) (1) Derailment (Class D): In reporting derailments the information required by provisions of these rules having general application must be furnished, and this must be indicated in particular, by initials and number, or name, the equipment causing the derailment. The term "derailment" does not include derailment of track-motor cars and like roadway machines not equipped with A.A.R. couplers.

(2) If a derailment is the result of a public highway grade-crossing accident, a Supplement to a Form T, in addition to a Form T must be supplied.

(c) (1) Other train accidents (Class O) include all train accidents other than collisions and derailments, as defined in § 125.21.

(2) If any such other train accident is the result of a public highway grade-crossing accident, a Supplement to a Form T, in addition to a Form T, must be supplied.

GROUP II—TRAIN SERVICE ACCIDENTS

§ 125.23 Train service accidents.

(a) (Class S) are those arising from the operation or movement of trains, locomotives, or cars which result in a reportable death or injury but not more than $750 damage to equipment, track or roadbed, excluding cost of clearing wreck.

(b) If a train-service accident is the result of a public highway grade-crossing accident, a Supplement to a Form T, in addition to a Form T, must be supplied.

GROUP III—NONTRAIN ACCIDENTS

§ 125.24 Nontrain accidents (Class N).

This group covers accidents that do not occur directly in connection with the operation or movement of trains, locomotives, or cars. Examples of this class would be accidents occurring in connection with the construction, repair or painting of buildings, tracks, or other structures or equipment, accidents in offices, stations, and shops, and accidents to employees on duty while traveling off railroad property. This group includes reportable accidents resulting from the movement of locomotives or cars on shop tracks, or the movement of locomotives at servicing facilities by inside hostlers. Accidents in which injuries are received by trackmen, bridge and building men, and other classes of employees or other persons and which are caused by trains, locomotives, or cars striking hand cars, tools, or other objects, should be appropriately reported as train accidents or train service accidents.

FORM AND ARRANGEMENT OF REPORTS

§ 125.25 Forms used and duplicate reports.

(a) Sections 125.25 to 125.32 on form and arrangement are intended solely as a guide to reporting, and do not limit in any way those accidents to be reported, as set forth in § 125.14.

(b) Monthly reports of railroad accidents must be made on forms provided by the Interstate Commerce Commission or on forms identical therewith in arrangement, size, and in color and weight of paper, and every reporting carrier is required to retain in its files a duplicate of each report rendered to the Commission. For the reporting railroads' files, this duplicate must also show the name or names of the casualty or casualties reported and the precise location at which the accident occurred. The forms provided, which are of four kinds, are designated as Form V, T, Supplement to T, and F.

(c) The first sheet of each report must show in the appropriate place the name of the company for which it is filed; the following sheets may designate the name of the company by a commonly used short version or initials. Each sheet of each report must show the month and year to which the report relates, and all other particulars called for by the form. Each sheet of each report following Form V must bear the autograph signature of a responsible officer or employee.

§ 125.26 Form V (Verification).

(a) A report must be made on this form each month, even though no reportable (train, train-service, or nontrain) accident occurred during the month covered. Such report must include an oath or verification, made by the proper officer of the reporting carrier, as provided for attestation on Form V, which must show the total number of train, train-service, and nontrain accidents (whether reported on Form V or Form T) that occurred during the month for which the report is made, and the number of sheets, inclusive of Form V. If no reportable accident occurred during the month, that fact must be stated on this form. Form V must also show the total number of locomotive and motor-train miles run during the month, computed in accordance with Train-Mile, Locomotive-Mile and Car-Mile accounts in the Uniform System of Accounts for Railroad Companies prescribed by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

(b) In the calendar year 1961 reportable train-service and nontrain accidents of the following type may be reported in sections A and B of Form V: all reportable accidents involving only employees on duty in which there is no death or no disability of more than 72 hours in the aggregate during the 10 days (240 hours) immediately following the accident. Alternatively if the carrier desires, these accidents may be reported on Form T sheets as provided in § 125.27. All such accidents must be reported, but they may be reported in either of the methods described in this paragraph.

(a) In the calendar year 1961 a separate Form T sheet, showing the required particulars concerning the accident, must be used for each reportable train,

[2] The time-table or schedule direction, when applicable, should govern the classification of collisions in classes § 125.22(a)(3)(i) and (ii) if at the time of the accident either of the trains or locomotives is at rest or if its incidental movement temporarily differs from its schedule direction.

[3] Crossing collisions must be reported by each carrier affected. Items of damage and casualties to persons must be reported in the same manner as described in connection with "joint operation" accidents, § 125.17.

train-service and nontrain accident except for those accidents involving employees on duty which may be reported in section A and B of Form V as provided in § 125.26. Where a reportable accident results in any injury which must be reported on a Form T sheet, all reportable injuries resulting from such accident must be included on the Form T sheet, and none reported in sections A and B of Form V. If the carrier desires, each accident no matter of what type may be reported on separate Form T sheet, but no accident should be reported twice.

(b) In the calendar year 1962 and in subsequent years, a separate Form T sheet (or a modified Form T sheet approved by this Commission) must be used for each reportable train accident, train-service accident, or nontrain accident and must show the required particulars concerning the accident.

(c) Information called for by each of the questions shown on T sheets must be supplied except where the answers would not be significant, in which case the space provided for the answer may be left blank or blanked out.

§ 125.28 Supplemental Form T.

A Supplement to each Form T sheet also must be used for each reportable:

(a) Derailment due to highway grade-crossing accident;

(b) Other train accident due to a highway grade-crossing accident;

(c) Train-service accident due to a highway grade-crossing accident.

§ 125.30 Form F (Subsequent fatalities).

If, as the result of an injury, a person dies more than 24 hours after the occurrence of the accident the casualty must be reported as an injury and, in addition, a memorandum of the death must be given on Form F in accordance with the requirements of that form. This additional report is to be made in connection with the report for the month in which the accident occurred, if practicable, otherwise it must separately accompany the first monthly report filed after the death has come to the knowledge of the carrier. A single Form F may contain reports of more than one such fatality, provided all persons included therein were injured during the same month.

§ 125.31 Classification symbols.

Symbols indicating the class of train, train-service, or nontrain accidents and the class of persons involved should be entered in the appropriate spaces on Form T as follows:

(a) Class of accident. Sheets carrying reports of collisions are to be marked "C"; those relating to derailments, "D"; those relating to other train accidents, "O"; those relating to train-service accidents, "S", and those relating to nontrain, N.

(b) Class of person. The designation of the class of person should include the applicable capital letter preceding the name of the class. The number of the "Reporting Division" with such other descriptive detail as may be appropriate should be added in the case of employees.

§ 125.32 Arrangement and numbering of sheets.

(a) All the forms in a monthly report should be afranged in the order V, T, and F. Supplements to T sheets should follow the T sheet to which each refers. All Forms T should be further grouped in accordance with the character of the accidents and arranged in the order C, D, O, S, and N. Collisions should be subgrouped in order by subclasses; as, for example, all of C–1, followed by all of C-2, followed in turn by all of C–3, etc., throughout the series. All sheets are to be numbered consecutively beginning with number 1 for Form V each month. When properly arranged and numbered, all sheets including Form V, should be securely fastened.

(b) In no case should the report for any month include a Form T sheet completed for an accident that did not occur during the month covered by the report. Should it be discovered by a carrier that the report of a particular accident on a Form T has, through mistake or otherwise, been improperly omitted from its regular monthly accident report, the sheet covering such accident must be separately transmitted to the Bureau of Transport Economics and Statistics, with a suitable letter of explanation.

PARTICULARS TO BE REPORTED

§ 125.40 General.

(a) The codes shown in the index § 125.55, have been designed, so far as that is practicable, to indicate the primary causes of the accidents reported. As to each specific reportable accident, the Reporting Officer should first examine all the evidence available, to the railroad from which he should determine the cause of accident. The code number should be entered on the Form T sheet to be sent to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

(b) In addition to reporting the number of the code under which each accident should be classified, the Reporting Officer should supply sufficient information to not only enable the Interstate Commerce Commission to verify the code number selected but also to classify all other data called for as they pertain to each of the accidents reported.

A system of tracks within defined limits provided for the making up or breaking up of trains, for the storing of cars, and for other purposes over which movements not authorized by timetable, or by train order, may be made, subject to prescribed signals and rules or under special instructions.

§ 125.42 Train, locomotives and cars.

For the purpose of reporting railroad accidents, a train is defined as a unit of equipment, or a combination of units of equipment (exclusive of light locomotives), in condition for movement over tracks by self-contained motor equipment. A locomotive is a self-propelled unit of equipment designed solely for moving other equipment. A light locomotive is a locomotive in condition for movement by its own motor equipment, uncoupled to cars, work equipment, or dead locomotives. A motor car is a self-propelled unit of equipment designed to carry freight or passenger traffic, and is not to be considered a locomotive. (Train or train-service accidents may result from the movement of cars without the use of a locomotive.) Track motor cars and like roadway machines not equipped with A.A.R. couplers are not regarded as "cars" within the meaning here used.

In reporting accidents involving trains, locomotives, or cars, sufficient particulars should be given to show definitely to which of the four classes of service described below the equipment was assigned. Definite information is required in this respect and descriptive terms of local application, such as "milk", "transfer", "mine", etc., should not be used to designate classes of trains. In connection with this matter, a light engine involved in an accident should be classified as belonging to that class of service to which its assignment at the time of the accident was related.

(a) Transportation service-Freight includes trains run between terminals or stations containing loaded or empty freight-train cars and trains consisting of a locomotive and caboose running light in connection with such service. Trains which contain passenger-train cars shall be classed as freight trains whenever the number of freight-train cars is in excess of the number of passenger-train cars in them.[1]

(b) Transportation service-Passenger includes trains run between terminals or stations containing loaded or empty passenger-train cars. Trains which contain freight-train cars shall be classed as passenger trains whenever the number of passenger-train cars is in excess of the number of freight-train cars in them.[1]

(c) Work service includes nonrevenue trains run in the administration and upkeep service of the railroad, such as official trains, inspection trains, pay trains, special trains running with company fire apparatus to save the railroad's property from destruction, and trains run for the purpose of transporting the railroad's employees to and from work when no transportation charge is made; wrecking trains; construction and upkeep trains run in connection with maintenance and improvement work, the cost of operating such trains being chargeable to the appropriate capital or maintenance accounts for rail-line operations; and material and supply trains run in connection with operation.

Work service trains do not include solid fuel trains and other freight trains laden with company material and running from station to station under the same operating conditions as ordinary revenue freight trains.

(d) Yard service includes the handling of equipment being switched or used in switching other equipment, as, for example, in making up or breaking up trains, serving industrial tracks, storing, weighing, or classifying cars, and other like operations. Operations incidental to a road run when performed by a road train crew are not included.

When significant, state the number of cars in the train; where and when locomotives, cars, and brakes were last inspected; and under what orders the train was moving and what were its rights of track at the particular time and place of the accident.

§ 125.43 Negligence of employees.

(a) All of the codes of causes in § 125.-55 numbered between 1000 and 1988, and some but not all of those numbered between 5000 and 5988, refer to those situations in which it is known that the direct or immediate cause of the train or train-service accident was the negligence, mistake, or misconduct of railroad employees. These include such matters as, for example, improper handling of switches, misunderstanding of or error in giving signals, excessive speed in violation of instructions, failure of trackmen to protect while replacing rails, etc.

(b) All of the codes of causes not specifically referred to in the preceding paragraph refer to those situations in which it is known that the direct or immediate cause of the accident was not the negligence, mistake, or misconduct of railroad employees. In these instances there may or may not be present an indirect negligence of railroad employees which contributed to the accident. These include such matters as, for example the failure of inspectors or maintenance men to discover defects in equipment, track, and roadbed. Because a complete knowledge of these matters cannot be acquired, it is not practicable to place such accidents in usable categories which would indicate contributary negligence. Therefore they should be reported in their proper codes as defects.

(c) There is another form of contributary negligence which is brought about by a prior direct negligence. For example, the prior negligence of a first crew in running through a switch may be the contributing cause of a following train being derailed. But to the crew of the following train, this accident was due to a defective switch and not necessarily its own negligence. Such an accident should be reported under the proper one of the cause codes which go to defective track.

§ 125.44 Defective equipment.

(a) All of the codes of causes in § 125.-55 numbered 2000 to 2888, and some but not all of those numbered between 5000 and 5988, refer to those situations in which it is known that defects in or failure of equipment were the direct or immediate cause of the train or train-service accident. The report should show whenever significant, details as to:

Number and initials of locomotive or car,
Manufacturer and type of equipment or part,
Weight, number, and other identifying marks,
Year of manufacture and year of placing in service,
When, where, and by what class of employees the equipment was last inspected, whether any defects were noted, and, if any, what remedies were applied.

(b) The following relates to explanation of certain specific codes:

(1) On locomotives other than steam, Code 2110, relates only to fires in wiring connecting electrical apparatus. Fires within electrical apparatus should be listed under the respective kinds of electrical equipment involved (see Codes 2103 to 2107, inclusive).

(2) Fires caused by steam generating boiler or appurtenances should be coded under that equipment in Code 2109 and not in Code 2112.

(3) Body center plate should be coded in Code 2210.

(4) Body side bearings should be coded in Code 2213.

§ 125.45 Defective way and structures.

All of the codes of causes in § 125.55 numbered 3000 to 3588, and some but not all of those numbered between 5000 and 5988, refer to those situations in which it is known that defects in or improper maintenance of way and structures were the direct or immediate cause of the train or train-service accident, including accidents which occur as the result of ordinary wear and weather conditions. The report should show, whenever significant:

Manufacture and type of apparatus or part,
Weight, number, and other identifying marks,
Year of manufacture and year of placing in service,
When and by what class of employee inspected, whether any defects were noted, and, if any, what remedies were applied.

§ 125.46 Accidents due to miscellaneous causes.

Included in this category are train accidents in codes of causes numbered 4000 to 4388 in § 125.55, and train-service accidents in codes of causes numbered 5800 to 5988. This category includes accidents caused by coal, ballast or parts of equipment or lading of another train falling on or afoul of track, throwing track out of alignment or wedging in switch, and other unforeseen happenings or obstructions of similar character. Parts of the equipment or lading of a train which, by falling on or afoul of the track, cause an accident to the same train, are not to be regarded as obstructions classifiable under 4300 to 4388 codes, but should be properly classified under other appropriate codes.

In reporting casualties to persons, personal injuries should be sufficiently described to indicate:

(a) The part of body injured and the specific nature and extent of the injury received which should be reported in sufficient detail to enable the Interstate Commerce Commission to classify the injury. Indefinite terms such as "mashed", "crushed", "injured", "hurt", etc., should not be used. In case of loss of any part, the extent should be indicated, as, for example, tip of index finger of right hand, two middle fingers to second joint of left hand, left arm to elbow, loss of right eye, etc.

(b) The actual number of days of disability if ascertained at the time the report is made but, if the disability has not terminated by that time or is not ascertainable, an estimate of the number should be shown in the appropriate column on Form T, or the absence of an estimate fully explained. When the injury is of a permanent nature, that fact may be stated in lieu of the number of days' disability.

(c) The degree to which the person is maimed, if at all.

§ 125.48 Damage.

(a) The question on Form T which calls for the amount of damage occasioned by an accident should be answered only in the case of train accidents. The question should not be answered as to train-service or nontrain accidents.

(b) Amounts of damage should not only include damage to equipment (including damage to foreign cars), track, or roadbed of the reporting railroad but should include comparable expenses of all reporting railroads. Other expenses of reporting railroads occasioned by the accident (such as overhead, cost of clearing wrecks, loss and damage, etc.), all expenses of nonreporting railroads, and contingent expenses because of personal injuries are not to be included. If the amount of damage is not known at the time the report is filed, it should be estimated as accurately as practicable and the fact that it is estimated should be stated.

CLASSIFICATION OF PERSONS

§ 125.50 Classification of persons.

For the purpose of permitting an appropriate classification, sufficient particulars of each person involved in a train, train-service, or nontrain accident should be given on Form T. The aggregate of all persons of each class involved in all railway accidents should be given on Form V.

The classes "employees" (A and B) apply to any person having such classification or relationship to a reporting railroad. As used herein, it is intended to include every person in the service of the reporting carrier who is subject to its continuing authority to supervise and direct the manner of rendering his service.

When a casualty is known or believed to be an employee of another reporting railroad that fact should be stated and appropriate class symbols indicating the customary occupation of the employee, with the name of the railroad by which he is employed, should be entered.

(a) Employees on duty; class (A). Employees on duty are those persons who are engaged in the operation of a railroad as herein defined in § 125.11 above. Ordinarily the fact that the employee is or is not under pay will determine whether he is or is not "on duty". There may, however, be exceptions such as employees "trading time" or doing work which they are expected to do but actually perform before pay starts or after pay stops. Such persons must be considered as "employees on duty".

(b) Employees not on duty; class (B). (1) Employees not on duty are those persons who are on railroad property, before and after duty; for purposes connected with their employment; or with other railroad permission. An employee is "not on duty" until he actually begins duty in the operation of a railroad as herein defined in § 125.11; while he has been relieved from the performance of any and all service for a definite time; when he has wilfully left the vicinity of his post of duty contrary to accepted or tolerated practice; or when he has completed his duty.

(2) Employees (including members of train and engine crews deadheading between terminals) on trains for the purpose of travel and riding in that part of the train assigned to the use of passengers should be included in class (D) as passengers. Employees trespassing should be included in class (F) as trespassers.

(c) List of employee reporting divisions. The following list of 128 Reporting Divisions into which all the distinctive classes of railroad positions are grouped is derived from the "Rules Governing the Classification of Steam Railroad Employees and Reports of Their Service and Compensation" prescribed by the Interstate Commerce Commission to be effective on January 1, 1951 (§§ 127.1 to 127.7 of this chapter). The returns on all accident report forms should, with respect to the classification of employees, be made in conformity with these Reporting Divisions. For each employee reported on Form T or Form V as killed or injured there should be given the correct number of the Reporting Division to which the employee is properly assignable, and also, in the case of Form T, the pay-roll or distinctive class title of his occupational position. The letter (A) or (B) should be used to indicate respectively whether he was on or off duty at the time of accident. Abbreviations or contractions may be used in the indication of position titles if their meaning is sufficiently clear. For example, to indicate a casualty sustained by a road freight brakeman (through freight) on duty, the proper designation of class of person on Form T should be A–117, Road freight brakemen and flagmen (through freight), while that of a casualty incurred in a train or train-service accident by a train attendant on duty would be A–101, Train attendants.

LIST OF REPORTING DIVISIONS FOR EMPLOYEES

Division No.	Reporting division
I—EXECUTIVES, OFFICIALS, AND STAFF ASSISTANTS
1	Executives, general officers, and assistants.
2	Division officers, assistants, and staff assistants.
II—PROFESSIONAL, CLERICAL, AND GENERAL
3	Professional and subprofessional assistance.
4	Supervisory or chief clerks (major departments).
5	Chief clerks (minor departments) and assistant chief clerks and supervising cashiers.
6	Clerks and clerical specialists (A).
7	Clerks (B) and (C).
8	Mechanical device operators (office).
9	Stenographers and secretaries (A).
10	Stenographers and typists (B).
11	Storekeepers, sales agents, and buyers.
12	Ticket agents and assistant ticket agents.
13	Traveling auditors or accountants.
14	Telephone switchboard operators and office assistants.
15	Messengers and office boys.
16	Elevator operators and other office attendants.
17	Lieutenants and sergeants of police.
18	Patrolmen and watchmen.
19	Traffic and various other agents, inspectors, and investigators.
20	Claim agents or investigators.
21	Freight claim agents or investigators.
22	Chief claim agents or investigators.
23	Miscellaneous trade workers (other than plumbers).
24	Motor vehicle and motor car operators.
25	Teamsters and stablemen.
26	Janitors and cleaners.
III—MAINTENANCE OF WAY AND STRUCTURES
27	Roadmasters, general foreman, and assistants.
28	Maintenance of way and scale inspectors.
29	Bridge and building gang foremen (skilled labor).
30	Bridge and building carpenters.
31	Bridge and building ironworkers.
32	Bridge and building painters.
33	Masons, bricklayers, plasterers, and plumbers.
34	Maintenance of way and structures helpers and apprentices.
35	Portable steam equipment operators.
36	Portable steam equipment operator helpers.
37	Pumping equipment operators.
38	Gang foremen (extra gang and work-train laborers).
39	Gang foremen (bridge and building, signal and telegraph laborers).
40	Gang or section foremen.
41	Extra gang men.
42	Section men.
43	Maintenance of way laborers (other than track and roadway) and gardeners and farmers.
44	General and assistant general foremen and inspectors (signal, telegraph, and electrical transmission).
45	Gang foremen (signal and telegraph skilled trades labor).
46	Signalmen and signal maintainers.
47	Linemen and groundmen.
48	Assistant signalmen and assistant signal maintainers.
49	Signalman and signal maintainer helpers.
IV—MAINTENANCE OF EQUIPMENT AND STORES
50	General, assistant general, and department foremen.
51	General and assistant general foremen (stores).
52	Equipment, shop, electrical, material and supplies inspectors.
53	Gang foremen and gang leaders (skilled labor).
54	Blacksmiths.
55	Boilermakers.
56	Carmen (A and B).
57	Carmen (C and D).
58	Electrical workers (A).
59	Electrical workers (B).
60	Electrical workers (C).
61	Machinists.
62	Molders.
63	Sheet-metal workers.
64	Skilled trades helpers (M. of E. and stores).
65	Helper apprentices (M. of E. and stores).
66	Regular apprentices (M. of E. and stores).
67	Coach cleaners.
68	Gang foremen (shops, engine houses, and power plants).
69	Gang foremen (stores and ice, reclamation, and timber-treating plants).
70	Classified laborers (shops, engine houses, and power plants).
71	General laborers (shops, engine houses, and power plants).
72	General laborers (stores and ice, reclamation, and timber-treating plants).
73	Stationary engineers (steam).
74	Stationary firemen, oilers, coal passers, and water tenders.
V—TRANSPORTATION (OTHER THAN TRAIN, ENGINE, AND YARD)
75	Chief train dispatchers.
76	Train dispatchers.
77	Train directors.
78	Station agents (supervisory, major stations, nontelegraphers).
79	Station agents (smaller stations, nontelegraphers).
80	Station agents (telegraphers and telephoners).
81	Chief telegraphers and telephoners or wire chiefs.
82	Clerk-telegraphers and clerk-telephoners.
83	Telegraphers, telephoners, and towermen.
84	Stationmasters and assistants.
85	Supervising baggage agents.
86	Baggage agents and assistants.
87	Baggage, parcel room, and station attendants.
88	General foremen (freight stations, warehouses, grain elevators, and docks).
89	Assistant general foremen (freight stations, warehouses, grain elevators, docks).
90	Gang foremen (freight station, warehouse, grain elevator, and dock labor).
91	Callers, loaders, sealers, scalers, and perishable-freight inspectors.
92	Truckers (stations, warehouses, and platforms).
93	Laborers (coal and ore docks and grain elevators).
94	Common laborers (stations, warehouses, platforms, and grain elevators).
95	Stewards, restaurant and lodging-house managers, and dining-car supervisors.
96	Chefs and cooks (restaurants or dining cars).
97	Waiters, camp cooks, kitchen helpers, etc.
98	Officers, workers, and attendants on barges, launches, ferry boats, towing vessels, steamers, and shore workers.
99	Transportation and dining-service inspectors.
100	Parlor and sleeping car conductors.
101	Train attendants.
102	Bridge operators and helpers.
103	Crossing and bridge flagmen and gatemen.
104	Foremen (laundry) and laundry workers.
VI (a)—TRANSPORTATION (YARDMASTER SWITCHTENDERS, AND HOSTLERS)
105	Yardmasters.
106	Assistant yardmasters.
107	Switch tenders.
108	Outside hostlers.
109	Inside hostlers.
110	Outside hostler helpers.
VI(b)—TRANSPORTATION (TRAIN AND ENGINE)
111	Road passenger conductors.
112	Assistant road passenger conductors and ticket collectors.
113	Road freight conductors (through freight).
114	Road freight conductors (local and way freight).
115	Road passenger baggagemen.
116	Road passenger brakemen and flagmen.
117	Road freight brakemen and flagmen (through freight).
118	Road freight brakemen and flagmen (local and way freight).
119	Yard conductors and yard foremen.
120	Yard brakemen and yard helpers.
121	Road passenger engineers and motormen.
122	Road freight engineers and motormen (through freight).
123	Road freight engineers and motormen (local and way freight).
124	Yard engineers and motormen.
125	Road passenger firemen and helpers.
126	Road freight firemen and helpers (through freight).
127	Road freight firemen and helpers (local and way freight).
128	Yard firemen and helpers.

(d) Passengers on trains, class (D). Passengers on trains are those persons who are on, or boarding, or alighting from, railroad cars for the purpose of travel.

(e) Nontrespassers, class (E). Nontrespassers are those persons who are lawfully on that part of railroad property which is used in railroad operation, as herein defined in § 125.11 above, other than those herein defined as employees, passengers, or trespassers, and persons adjacent to railroad premises when injured as the result of the operation of a railroad.

(f) Trespassers, class (F). (1) Trespassers are those persons who are on that part of railroad property which is used in railroad operation, as herein defined in § 125.11 above, whose presence is prohibited, or forbidden, or unlawful.

(2) Whenever persons are classed as "trespassers" the report should state the circumstances that warrant such a classification and, if possible, the regular occupation of such persons killed or injured.

(3) A person should not be classed as a trespasser on a highway grade crossing unless the crossing is protected by gates, or other similar barriers, which were closed when the person went on the crossing, or unless the person attempted to pass over or under trains or cars at the crossing.

CODES FOR ACCIDENT REPORTING

§ 125.55 Codes for accident reporting.

The following pages contain information pertaining to the codes that are to be used in connection with accident reports. Certain codes should be inserted by the Reporting Officer in reports furnished to the Commission; namely, the following:

(a) On Form T, Class of Person.

(b) On Form T, Reporting Division number and title of employee's position (from list in § 125.50).

(c) On Form T, Cause of train, train-service or nontrain accident, causes should be reported in accordance with the lists designated "Train accidents," "Train-service accidents" and "Nontrain accidents" shown in this section under "Code of Causes".

(d) On Form V, cause of train-service or nontrain accident (from lists).

(e) On Form V Sections A and B, Reporting Division number from list in § 125.50.

All other coding will be done by the Commission.

TRAINS OR CARS

1. Freight.
2. Passenger.
3. Work.
4. Yard.
5. Train, handled by hostler.
6. Standing cars.
7. Runaway cars.
8. Industrial.
9. Unknown.

KIND OF EQUIPMENT

1. Main line track.
2. Freight-train car (or work equipment), or
3. Passenger-train car (including rail motor car).

KIND OF TRACK

1. Main line track.
2. Branch line track, or
3. Way switching, yard switching, or other track.

HIGHWAY CROSSING PROTECTION

0. Gates, automatic.
1. Gates, manual.
2. Watchman.
3. Employee other than watchman.
4. Audible and visual signal.
5. Audible signal.
6. Visual signal.
7. Fixed signs.
8. Unprotected.

CLASS OF PERSON

Employees on duty (A).
Employees not on duty (B).
Passengers (D).
Nontrespassers (E).

TRESPASSERS—EMPLOYEES

Trespassers, employees (F).
1. Walking along track (a).
2. Crossing tracks at public highway crossings (b).
3. Crossing tracks at other places (c).
4. On or getting on or off trains (d).
5. Not otherwise classed (e).

TRESPASSERS—OTHER THAN EMPLOYEES

Trespassers; under 14 years of age (G).
1. Walking along track (a).
2. Crossing tracks at public highway crossings (b).
3. Crossing tracks at other places (c).
4. On or getting on or off trains (d).
5. Not otherwise classed (e).

Trespassers; 14 to 21 years of age (H).
1. Walking along track (a).
2. Crossing tracks at public highway crossings (b).
3. Crossing tracks at other places (c).
4. On or getting on or off trains (d).
5. Not otherwise classed (e).

Trespassers; adult hoboes or tramps (I).
1. Walking along track (a).
2. Crossings tracks at public highway crossings (b).
3. Crossing tracks at other places (c).
4. On or getting on or off trains (d).
5. Not otherwise classed (e).

Trespassers: adults except hoboes or tramps (J).
1. Walking along track (a).
2. Crossing tracks at public highway crossings (b).
3. Crossing tracks at other places (c).
4. On or getting on or off trains (d).
5. Not otherwise classed (e).

NATURE OF INJURY

1. Bruise.
2. Sprain or strain.
3. Cut or laceration.
4. Electrical shock or burn.
5. Other burn.
6. Dislocation.
7. Fracture.
8. Amputation.
9. Not classifiable above, such as concussion, nervous shock, internal injuries, etc.

Each of the above classes should be subdivided to show the part of the body injured and other information as follows:

1. One eye, causing blindness therein.
2. Both eyes, causing total blindness
3. Other injury to eyes.
4. Scalp.
5. Nose.
6. Ears.
7. Mouth or teeth.
8. Skull.
9. Face or head (other part).
10. Collar bone.
11. Ribs.
12. Spine.
13. Back (other part).
14. Chest (other part).
15. Abdomen (not internal injury)
16. Other body injury (external).
17. Internal body injury.
18. Private parts.
19. Shoulder.
20. Upper arm.
21. Elbow.
22. Lower arm.
23. Wrist.
24. Hand.
25. Finger or thumb.
26. Hip.
27. Upper leg.
28. Knee.
29. Lower leg.
30. Ankle.
31. Foot.
32. Toes.
33. Heel.

CODE OF CAUSES

TRAIN ACCIDENTS

1. NEGLIGENCE OF EMPLOYEES

TRAIN ORDERS

1001 Error in transmission or copying.
1002 Misunderstanding by train or engine crew.
1003 Other improper handling by dispatcher.
1004 Other improper handling by operator.
1005 Other improper handling by train or engine crew (including failure to pick up, read or obey).
1006 Meeting point overrunning.
1088 Other negligence in connection with train orders.

CAB SIGNALS

1101 Operation of train contrary to cab signal indications without authority.
1188 Other negligence in connection with cab signals.

AUTOMATIC TRAIN CONTROL

1201 Failure to operate train in accordance with automatic train control.

FIXED SIGNALS

1301 Clear signal displayed for occupied block.
1302 Clear approach signal displayed with home signal at stop.
1303 Train order signal, failure to display.
1304 Restore signal to normal, failure to.
1305 Position of signal improperly changed in face of approaching train.
1306 Other improper display of signals.
1307 Stop signal, disregard of.
1308 Restricting signal, disregard of.
1309 Train-order signal, disregard of.
1310 Switch signal, disregard of.
1311 Signal light out, disregard of.
1312 Failure to keep proper lookout for signals necessitating emergency application of brakes.
1388 Other improper observance or disregard of signals.

HAND SIGNALS

1401 Failure to give hand signal.
1402 Failure to pass hand signal, including failure to be in position to pass.
1403 Failure to regard hand signal, including failure to watch for.
1404 Failure to stop when hand signal could not be seen.
1405 Wrong hand signal given.
1406 Misunderstanding of hand signals given by member of own train or yard crew.
1407 Acceptance of hand signal given by member of another train or yard crew.
1488 Other negligence in connection with hand signals.

TRAIN FLAGGING

(Including use of lanterns, torpedoes and fusees)

1501 Failure to flag.
1502 Failure to go back or ahead a sufficient distance.
1503 Torpedoes, failure to use or place properly.
1504 Fusees, failure to use or place properly.
1505 Other improper flagging, including failure to carry flagman's equipment.
1506 Failure to regard flag, including failure to watch for.
1507 Torpedoes, failure to regard.
1508 Fusees, failure to regard.
1588 Other negligence in connection with train flagging.

AIR BRAKES

1601 Insufficient air pressure, failure of engineman to regard.
1602 Improperly releasing air brakes.
1603 Emergency or severe application from locomotive, unjustifiable.
1604 Improper handling of independent air brake.
1605 Other improper handling by engineman.
1606 Failure to test.
1607 Application from train, unjustifiable.
1608 Pressure retaining valves, failure to set sufficient number.
1609 Failure to have sufficient air brakes in service.
1610 Air not fully coupled.
1611 Other improper handling of air brakes by train or yard crew.
1688 Other negligence in connection with air brakes.

HAND BRAKES

1701 Failure to control by hand brake.
1702 Failure to secure by hand brake including failure to set hand brakes on sufficient number of cars.
1703 Failure to test properly.
1704 Premature release of hand brake.
1788 Other negligence in connection with hand brakes.

SWITCHES

1801 Hand-operated switch, improperly set.
1802 Hand-operated switch, thrown under train.
1803 Hand-operated switch, failure to latch or secure lever.
1804 Hand-operated switch failure to see that points fitted up.
1805 Reverse movement before train had cleared spring switch.
1806 Equipment fouling switch.
1807 Switch, running through.
1808 Derail, running off.
1888 Other negligence in connection with switches.

OTHER FORMS OF NEGLIGENCE

1901 Excessive speed or failure to control in yard limits.
1902 Excessive speed in other than yard limits.
1903 Headlight improperly used.
1904 Superior train, failure to clear.
1905 Meeting point, or passing point, failure to clear switch or other tracks.
1906 Disregard of slow flag or other protection placed by maintenance or other nontrain employees.
1907 Failure to whistle or otherwise warn in accordance with rules or instructions.
1908 Failure to sufficiently reduce speed in accordance with rules or instructions where view was obstructed by weather conditions.
1909 Failure to sufficiently reduce speed in accordance with rules or instructions where view was obstructed by other than weather conditions.
1910 Failure of engineman to keep proper lookout, not otherwise classified.
1911 Moving locomotives, trains, or cars without orders or signals.
1912 Locomotives, trains or cars improperly secured, unexpected movement of.
1913 Low water in locomotive boiler.
1914 Premature opening of cover plates on diesel locomotive crankcase, after overheating of lubricating oil.
1915 Other improper handling of locomotives, rail motor cars or trains by enginemen.
1916 Running of locomotive or rail motor car by unauthorized person.
1917 Absence of man on or at leading car being pushed.
1918 Cutting off cars at excessive speed.
1919 Cutting off cars without rider to control.
1920 Failure or inability of rider to get on cars to control.
1921 Failure to sufficiently slow down cars in retarder.
1922 Stop or excessively slow down cars in retarder.
1923 Failure to place skate or derail ahead of car.
1924 Failure of maintenance or other employees to put out slow flag or otherwise to protect when obstructing track.
1925 Disregard of slow flag or other protection placed by maintenance or other employees.
1926 Failure to remove skate or derail from under car.
1927 Failure to return skate to skate-placing mechanism.
1928 Attempted or actual coupling at excessive speed.
1929 Coupling not properly made.
1930 Improper shifting of cars on or off floats or vessels.
1931 Other improper handling in switching.
1932 Improper movement of locomotives by hostlers.
1933 Turntable or transfer table, failure to align, latch or secure.
1934 Joint failure to protect and disregard of restricting signal.
1935 Joint failure to protect and excessive speed.
1936 Failure by supervisors (Terminal Trainmaster, Yardmaster, etc.) to convey correct information.
1937 Improper routing of car with high or wide load onto line not having sufficient clearance for same.
1988 Other negligence of employees.

2. DEFECTS IN OR FAILURES OF EQUIPMENT

STEAM LOCOMOTIVES

2001 Boiler explosions.
2002 Boilers or appurtenances, other failures of or defects in.
2003 Rods, main and side, crank pins and collars.
2004 Other machinery.
2088 Other defects in steam locomotives (including tenders).

LOCOMOTIVES OTHER THAN STEAM INCLUDING PROPULSION EQUIPMENT OF RAIL MOTOR CARS

2101 Crankcase and air box explosions.
2102 Internal combustion engines and turbines, other failures of, or defects in.
2103 Generators and motor-generator sets.
2104 Traction motor armature bearing seized.
2105 Traction motors, other failures of or defects in.
2106 Current collection systems.
2107 Electrical control and conversion equipment (including batteries).
2108 Hydraulic, mechanical or other nonelectrical power transmission to axles.
2109 Steam generating boiler or appurtenances.
2110 Fires from short circuits or grounds in wiring.
2111 Fires from fuel or lubricating oil leaks.
2112 Other fires, not otherwise classified.
2113 Fumes from internal combustion engine or appurtenances.
2188 Other defects on locomotives other than steam.

TRUCKS

2201 Truck side frame, bent or broken.
2202 Equalizer, bent or broken.
2203 Pedestal tie bar, loose or defective.
2204 Journal box, non-integral type.
2205 Journal bearing assembly, defects, including fires.
2206 Transom, bent or broken.
2207 Truck bolster, bent or broken.
2208 Truck bolster anchor, loose or defective.
2209 Snubbing device in truck bolster guides, locked, broken or otherwise defective.
2210 Center plate.
2211 Center pin, broken or missing.
2212 Side bearing, improper clearance.
2213 Side bearing, broken, defective or missing.
2214 Spring plank, bent or broken.
2215 Swing hanger broken.
2216 Swing hanger pin, broken or missing.
2217 Spring or snubber, missing or defective.
2218 Spring seat or support bar, missing or defective.
2219 Truck safety hanger, loose or defective.
2220 Truck, insufficient weight on any wheel.
2221 Truck, stiff, improper lateral or improper swivelling.
2288 Other truck defects.

WHEELS AND AXLES

2301 Cast-iron wheel, flange broken.
2302 Cast-iron wheel, tread or rim defective.
2303 Cast-iron wheel, broken, overheating.

2304 Cast-iron wheel, broken, other causes.
2305 Cast-steel wheel, flange broken.
2306 Cast-steel wheel, tread or rim defective.
2307 Cast-steel wheel, broken, overheating.
2308 Cast-steel wheel, broken, other causes.
2309 Wrought-steel wheel, flange broken.
2310 Wrought-steel wheel, tread or rim defective.
2311 Wrought-steel wheel, broken, overheating.
2312 Wrought-steel wheel, broken, other causes.
2313 Wheel, other or unknown composition, broken.
2314 Wheel, flange worn.
2315 Wheel, loose or out of gage.
2316 Wheel, tire loose or broken.
2317 Axle, broken between journals.
2318 Journal broken, cold.
2319 Journal broken, overheating.
2387 Other defects in wheels.
2388 Other defects in axles.

AIR BRAKES AND APPURTENANCES

2401 Air compressor.
2402 Air reservoir, or its fittings, safety valve or check valve.
2403 Air brake control valve.
2404 Brake pipe, or fittings, broken or defective.
2405 Air brake hose, broken or burst.
2406 Air brake parts, falling off.
2407 Air brake, sticking.
2408 Air brake, defective, due to snow and ice.
2409 Air brake failure, excessive piston travel.
2410 Triple valves, lazy, dirty, or otherwise defective.
2488 Other air brake defects.

HAND BRAKES, BRAKE RIGGING AND APPURTENANCES

2501 Brake beam, broken, disconnected, displaced, etc.
2502 Brake chains or bolts, breaking or giving way.
2503 Brake chains, kinking, twisting, overlapping, or too long.
2504 Brake hanger, broken or disconnected.
2505 Brake rod, broken, defective, or disconnected.
2506 Brake shaft, broken or defective.
2507 Brake shoe, worn, broken, or missing.
2508 Brake wheel, loose or defective.
2509 Pawl or ratchet, failure or defect.
2510 Brake rigging coming down, other failure or defect.
2511 No brake on car.
2512 Insufficient braking power, not otherwise provided for.
2588 Miscellaneous.

COUPLERS, DRAFT GEAR AND RELATED PARTS

2601 Coupler, broken, not pulled out.
2602 Coupler, improper height.
2603 Jackknifing of couplers.
2604 Couplers passing in attempting to make coupling.
2605 Knuckle, broken or defective.
2606 Knuckle lock or locklift assembly.
2607 Uncoupling device.
2608 Friction buffer or diaphragm.
Coupler or draft gear pulled out or down, due to failure of:
2609 Coupler.
2610 Coupler rivets or swivel pin.
2611 Coupler yoke.
2612 Coupler key.
2613 Coupler key retainer.
2614 Striking casting or coupler carrier.
2615 Sills or draft lugs.
2616 Draft gear carrier.
2617 Cushion underframe parts.
2618 Other parts causing coupler or draft gear to drop.
2688 Other defects in couplers.
2687 Other defects in draft gear.
2688 Other defects in cushion underframe.

CAR STRUCTURE

2701 Sills, bent or broken.
2702 Body bolster.
2703 Other underframe parts.
2704 Sides, spreading or buckling beyond equipment clearance line.
2705 Drop end, falling off.
2706 Passenger car—end gate, falling off.
2707 Floor, material falling from or through.
2708 Side door, falling off.
2709 Drop door, open or defective.
2710 Hatch, dome or manhole cover.
2711 Stake pocket or load retainer.
2788 Other defects in car structure.

OTHER PARTS OF EQUIPMENT

2801 Air dump cars, dumping mechanism.
2802 Crane boom on car or tiedowns for.
2803 Snow plow, flanger, ditcher or spreader defects.
2804 Steam heat connections, dragging or falling off.
2805 Car water tanks.
2806 Axle-driven generator.
2807 Internal combustion power plant for car electrical auxiliaries or refrigeration.
2887 Other defects in car electrical or mechanical equipment for lighting, heating, cooling, radio, etc. (not propulsion).
2888 Other equipment defects.

3. DEFECTS IN OR IMPROPER MAINTENANCE OF WAY AND STRUCTURES

BRIDGES, TRESTLES, CULVERTS, AND TUNNELS

3001 Bridges, structural defect or failure.
3002 Bridges, improper or insufficient maintenance.
3003 Trestles, structural defect or failure.
3004 Trestles, improper or insufficient maintenance.
3005 Culverts, structural defect or failure.
3006 Culverts, improper or insufficient maintenance.
3007 Tunnels, structural defect or failure.
3008 Tunnels, improper or insufficient maintenance.
3088 Other defects in or failures of bridges, trestles, culverts, and tunnels.

TIES AND TIE PLATES

3101 Ties, broken.
3102 Ties, decayed or worn.
3103 Ties, soft or poor quality of timber.
3104 Ties, insufficient number or size.
3105 Tie plates, broken or otherwise defective.
3106 Steel, concrete or other nonwood tie.
3107 Non-metallic tie plate, or non-metallic inserts in metallic tie plate, broken or otherwise defective.
3188 Other defects in ties and tie plates.

RAILS AND JOINTS

3201 Broken rail, with bolted joint.
3202 Broken rail, with welded joints.
3203 Flow of metal.
3204 Crushed head.
3205 Split head.
3206 Split web.
3207 Broken base.
3208 Other forms of rail failures not due to wear.
3209 Rails, spreading because improperly spiked or braced.
3210 Rails, spreading because joints loosely or improperly bolted.
3211 Rails, spreading, other causes.
3212 Rails, giving way or causing accidents because of worn condition.
3213 Rail joints, angle bars or bolts broken or otherwise defective.
3214 Rail joints, failure at, due to insulation for signal apparatus.
3215 Rail joints, loosely or improperly bolted.
3216 Compromise joints, defect, or improper maintenance.
3288 Other defects in or failures of rail joints.

FROGS AND SWITCHES

3301 Frogs, broken or missing bolts.
3302 Frogs, guard rail or fastenings defective or missing.
3303 Frogs, guard rail improperly placed or secured.
3304 Frogs, springs or spring bolts loose or defective.
3305 Frogs, wing rails broken.
3306 Frogs, point broken.
3307 Other defects in frogs.
3308 Switch-detector bar, broken or defective.
3309 Switch, lost motion or out of adjustment.
3310 Switch lug, broken.
3311 Switch point, bent or sprung.
3312 Switch point, broken.
3313 Switch point, worn.
3314 Switch stand or head block, loose, broken, or defective.
3315 Switch, rod broken or disconnected.
3316 Switch, rod bent or sprung.
3317 Switch indicator, defective.
3318 Spring switch, defective.
3319 Keeper or latch, broken, defective, or missing.
3320 Electric or interlocking parts or appurtenances, failure or defect.
3321 Switch, spiked, working loose.
3388 Other defects in or improper maintenance of switches.

INTERLOCKING AND BLOCK SIGNAL SYSTEM

3401 Signal displaying false "clear" for restricting.
3402 Signal displaying false "clear" for stop.
3403 Signal displaying false "restricting" for stop.
3404 Other improper indications of.
3405 Improper location of signal.
3406 Sand, rust or other deposits on rails.
3488 Other defects in, or improper maintenance of, signal system.

OTHER WAY AND STRUCTURE ITEMS

3501 Guard rail improperly placed or secured.
3502 Improper superelevation of track.
3503 Improper alignment of track.
3504 Improper surface of track.
3505 Improper gage of track.
3506 Improper curvature for traffic conditions and equipment used.
3507 Dirty ballast or other poor drainage.
3508 Soft track not otherwise provided for.
3509 Rigid track not otherwise provided for.
3510 Insufficient side entrance.
3511 Insufficient overhead clearance.
3512 Car retarder.
3513 Skates and skate-placing mechanism.
3514 Mules, car dumping equipment and car shakeout devices.
3515 Float bridges.
3516 Fueling facilities.
3517 Sanding facilities.
3518 Water columns and other water supply facilities for servicing equipment.
3519 Turntables and transfer tables.
3520 Dragging equipment detectors.
3521 Rail lubricators.
3522 Catenary, third rail or other wayside current collection apparatus.
3588 Other defects in way and structures.

4. MISCELLANEOUS CAUSES

IMPROPER LOADING

4001 Load too high for proper clearance.
4002 Load too wide for proper clearance.
4003 Load too heavy or other unbalanced loading.
4004 Car overloaded.
Load shifted, due to improper or defective:
4005 Steel banding.
4006 Steel banding retainer.
4007 Cable, chain or rope.

4008 Stakes, blocking, bracing or other fastenings.
4009 Load on two or more cars, failure to adjust for curves, failure to properly block coupler or failure to make uncoupling mechanism inoperative.
4088 Other improper loading of cars.

NEGLIGENCE OF NONEMPLOYEES

4101 Failure to control movement of locomotive or car.
4102 Failure to secure locomotive or car.
4103 Improper use of hand-operated switch or derail.
4106 Tractors, lift trucks, cranes and other portable machines not in clear.
4107 Chutes, ramps, conveyors, pipes and other loading or unloading devices not in clear.
4108 Dirt or other obstructions on track.
4188 Other negligence of nonemployees.

MALICIOUS OR CARELESS ACTS OF NONEMPLOYEES

4201 Switch stand run into by vehicle.
4202 Switch or derail padlock, tampered with.
4203 Other tampering with switch or derail.
4204 Obstruction placed on track.
4205 Track or structure tampered with.
4206 Signal system tampered with.
4207 Brakes or chocks tampered with.
4208 Incendiarism.
4288 Other malicious acts or misbehavior of nonemployees.

OBSTRUCTIONS, FORCES OF NATURE, ETC.

4301 Landslides or boulders on, or foul of track.
4302 Snow or ice on track.
4303 Animals on track.
4304 Switch, derail or frog obstacles in.
4305 Roadway machine or track motor car obstructing track.
4306 Accidents caused by other train accidents.
4307 Track or structures damaged or washed out by floods.
4308 Bridge or trestle, timber construction, damaged by accidental fire.
4309 Timber tunnel lining damaged by accidental fire.
4310 Car damaged by accidental fire.
4386 Other accidental fires.
4387 Other track obstructions.
4388 Other forces of nature.

RAIL-HIGHWAY GRADE CROSSING ACCIDENTS

Struck by locomotive or car:
4401 Passenger automobile.
4402 Bus.
4403 Truck.
4404 Other vehicle.
Ran into side of locomotive or car:
4411 Passenger automobile.
4412 Bus.
4413 Truck.
4414 Other vehicle.
4421 Accident caused by sudden brake application to avoid highway crossing accident.
4422 Highway vehicle struck by locomotive or car at private crossing.
4423 Highway vehicle ran into side of locomotive or car at private crossing.
4488 Other highway grade crossing accidents.

COMBINATION OF TWO OR MORE CAUSES

Wheel flange worn and:
4501 Switch point worn.
4502 Switch and adjoining frog too close together.
4503 Improper surface of track.
4504 Tight gage of track.
4505 Improper loading of car.
Truck stiff, close side bearing clearance or improper swivelling and:
4506 Switch point worn.
4507 Improper surface of track.
4508 Tight gage of track.
4509 Improper loading of car.
4510 Wheel flange worn.
Excessive side bearing clearance and:
4511 Improper surface of track.
4512 Improper superelevation of track on curve.
4513 Improper loading of car.
Slack action and:
4514 Improper surface of track.
4515 Tight gage of track.
4516 Improper loading of car.
4517 Heavy impact and weakened condition of car.
4518 High locomotive tractive effort and light cars on sharp curve.
4588 Other combinations of two or more causes.

OTHER ASCERTAINED CAUSES

4601 Rocking or swaying of car.
4602 Rail slippery.
4603 Car blown out of siding by wind.
4604 Unable to control locomotive or cars on grade.
4605 Use of helper locomotive, not otherwise provided for.
4606 Emergency or severe application of air brakes.
4607 Slack action, not otherwise classified.
4608 Handling bad order equipment, including use of chains, bars, etc., in place of standard coupler.
4609 Cars parted, not otherwise classified.
4610 Vision obscured by smoke, steam, fog, smog, ice, snow, rain, etc.
Use of, or operation of:
4611 Crane car.
4612 Snow plow, flanger, ditcher or spreader.
4613 Air dump car.
4614 Fueling, watering or sanding facilities.
4615 Mules, car dumpers or shakeout devices.
4616 Turntables or transfer tables.
4617 Float bridges.
4618 Car retarder.
4619 Skates or skate-placing mechanism.
4687 Accident investigated—other ascertained cause.
4688 Accident not investigated.

TRAIN-SERVICE ACCIDENTS

5. SPECIFIED GROUPS OF CAUSES

COUPLING AND UNCOUPLING LOCOMOTIVES OR CARS, OR MANIPULATING AIR OR STEAM CONNECTIONS

Coupling and uncoupling locomotives or cars:
5001 Adjusting coupler, unexpected movement of cars due to slack.
5002 Adjusting coupler, unexpected movement of cars due to mistake or misunderstanding in giving or observing hand signals.
5003 Adjusting coupler, unexpected movement of cars due to other causes.
5004 Adjusting coupler, when moving cars were nearing each other.
5005 Adjusting coupler on moving cars, lost footing.
5006 Adjusting coupler with foot, cars moving.
5007 Adjusting coupler with foot, cars not moving.
5008 Adjusting coupler, part of coupler fell striking person.
5009 Uncoupling without using lever.
5010 Uncoupling lever, manipulation of.
5011 Uncoupling, lost footing, or fell from car.
5012 Uncoupling, unexpected movement of cars or locomotives.
5013 Coupling or uncoupling with chains or other emergency appliances.
5014 Coupling or uncoupling damaged or bad-order cars, not otherwise provided for.
5015 Foot caught in frog, switch, guard rail, crossing plank, etc.
5016 Coming in contact with objects or material, etc., or striking parts of body against cars or locomotives while coupling or uncoupling, not otherwise provided for.
5017 Hand, arm, foot, or any part of body caught between projecting load and car, not otherwise provided for.
5018 Stumbling, slipping, or falling, not otherwise provided for.
5019 Struck by freight or other objects falling from cars or locomotives.
5048 Miscellaneous.

Coupling and uncoupling air hose (or turning angle cocks), steam hose, and safety chains:
5051 Air or steam hose, angle cocks or safety chains, cars moved while manipulating.
5052 Air or steam hose, angle cocks or safety chains, going between moving cars to manipulate.
5053 Air hose, uncoupling, struck by hose because of sudden release of air.
5054 Steam hose, burned by hot water or steam from.
5055 Stumbling, slipping, or falling, not otherwise provided for.
5056 Parts defective, or hard to manipulate.
5057 Struck by freight or other objects falling from cars or locomotives, while manipulating.
5098 Miscellaneous.

OPERATING LOCOMOTIVES AND RAIL MOTOR CARS

A. Operating Steam Locomotives

5101 Fueling, watering or sanding, other causes.
5102 Shoveling coal or using other hand tools, other causes.
5103 Burn from firebox, steam or hot water, other causes.
5104 Coming in contact with objects on the locomotive, negligence.
5105 Stumbling, slipping or falling, other causes.
5148 Other accidents while operating steam locomotives, other causes.

B. Operating locomotives other than steam, including rail motor cars

5151 Fueling, watering or sanding.
5152 Using hand tools.
5153 Burn from hot oil, steam, or hot water.
5154 Operating steam generating boiler and appurtenances.
5155 Electrical flash, shock or burn.
5156 Fumes from internal combustion engine or appurtenances.
5157 Coming in contact with objects on the locomotive, defective equipment.
5158 Coming in contact with objects on the locomotive, other causes.
5159 Struck by tools or other objects falling.
5160 Stumbling, slipping, or falling on ground.
5161 Stumbling, slipping, or falling, due to oil leaks.
5162 Stumbling, slipping, or falling, other defective equipment.
5163 Stumbling, slipping, or falling, other causes.
5164 Running of locomotive or rail motor car by unauthorized person.
5165 Checking, oiling locomotive, etc.
5166 Unexpected movement of locomotive not otherwise classified.
5167 Doors, injured by.

5186 Other accidents while operating locomotives other than steam including rail motor cars, negligence.
5187 Other accidents while operating locomotives other than steam including rail motor cars, defective parts.
5188 Other accidents while operating locomotives other than steam including rail motor cars, other causes.

OPERATING HAND BRAKES

5201 Brake chains or bolts breaking or giving way.
5202 Brake chains kinking, twisting, overlapping, or too long.
5203 Brake shaft, broken or defective.
5204 Brake wheel, loose or defective.
5205 Pawl or ratchet, defect in or failure of.
5206 Defective hand brakes not included above.
5207 Pawl slipping or accidentally knocked out of ratchet, no defects.
5208 Brake club slipping in wheel.
5209 Brake club, struck by, because wheel flew around.
5210 Brake club, breaking.
5211 Sudden stopping, starting, lurch, or jerk of train or car.
5212 Slipping or falling because of ice or snow on cars or locomotives.
5213 Losing hold, slipping, or falling, not otherwise classified.
5214 Using or holding hand brakes against air.
5215 Caught between running boards.
5216 Load shifting.
5217 Finger, hand, or other part of body caught between parts of equipment or lading, not otherwise provided for.
5218 Operating ratchet-handle brake, no defect.
5288 Miscellaneous.

OPERATING SWITCHES

5301 Switch lever flying up.
5302 Switch lever or ball falling on or catching hand, foot, or other part of body.
5303 Slipping or falling on ice or snow on tracks or elsewhere.
5304 Tripping, slipping, or falling, not otherwise classified.
5305 Caught between locomotive or car and switch lever or stand.
5306 Struck by locomotive or cars.
5307 Foot, hand, or other part of body caught in or by mechanism of switch.
5388 Miscellaneous.

PERSONS ON LOCOMOTIVES OR CARS COMING IN CONTACT WITH STRUCTURES, ETC.

Person on locomotive or car coming in contact with fixed structure

Overhead:
5401 Standard clearance.
5402 Less than standard clearance (notified).
5403 Less than standard clearance (not notified).
5404 Less than standard clearance (not notified) defective railroad-owned structure.
5405 Less than standard clearance (not notified) nonrailroad - owned structure.
Side:
5406 Standard clearance.
5407 Less than standard clearance (notified).
5408 Less than standard clearance (not notified).
5409 Less than standard clearance (not notified) defective railroad-owned structure.
5410 Less than standard clearance (not notified) nonrailroad-owned structure.

Person on locomotive or car coming in contact with other than fixed structure

Temporary obstruction at less than standard clearance notified:
5411 Overhead.
5412 Side.
Temporary obstruction at less than standard clearance not notified:
Overhead:
5413 Railroad-owned or placed obstruction.
5414 Nonrailroad-owned or placed obstruction.
Side:
5415 Railroad-owned or placed obstruction.
5416 Nonrailroad-owned or placed obstruction.
Portable loading and unloading devices, gangplanks, chutes, etc.:
5417 Standard side clearance.
5418 Less than standard side clearance.
5419 Less than standard side clearance railroad-owned devices, etc.
5420 Less than standard side clearance nonrailroad-owned devices, etc.
Locomotive or car on adjacent track:
5421 Standard side clearance.
5422 Less than standard side clearance (notified).
5423 Less than standard side clearance (not notified).
Tractors, lift trucks, etc.:
5424 Standard side clearance.
5425 Less than standard side clearance railroad-owned tractor, etc.
5426 Less than standard side clearance nonrailroad-owned tractor, etc.
5488 Person on locomotive or car coming in contact with other structures, etc.

GETTING ON OR OFF CARS OR LOCOMOTIVES

5501 Handhold or grab iron, missing or losing hold of.
5502 Handhold or grab iron, defective.
5503 Step, stirrup, or footboard, missing footing or slipping on.
5504 Step, stirrup, or footboard, defective.
5505 Ladder, missing foothold, or slipping on or losing hold of rung.
5506 Ladder, defective.
5507 Striking hands, arms, feet, legs, head, or body against cars or locomotives.
5508 Stepping or tripping on coal, boards, stone, rubbish, or other loose or refuse material, or in holes.
5509 Stepping or tripping on ties, rails, ballast, etc. (part of track).
5510 Slipping on ice or snow on ground.
5511 Slipping on ice or snow on locomotives or freight cars.
5512 Slipping or falling on or from coach steps, foot catching.
5513 Slipping or falling on or from coach steps, ice or snow on step.
5514 Slipping or falling on or from coach steps, defective step.
5515 Slipping or falling on or from coach steps, train starting or stopping.
5516 Slipping or falling on or from coach steps, not otherwise classified.
5517 Slipping or falling on station platform, ice or snow on platform.
5518 Slipping or falling on station platform, defective platform.
5519 Stepping or falling between car and high platform.
5520 Stepping or falling between car steps and low platform.
5521 Slipping or falling on station platform, not otherwise classified.
5522 Falling, slipping, tripping, or ankle turned or sprained, not otherwise classified.
5523 Missing footing on porter's footstool.
5524 Falling from or through bridge or trestle.
5525 Getting on front end of approaching locomotive.
5526 Coming in contact with trucks (baggage, express, mail, etc.).
5527 Coming in contact with or tripping over baggage, express matter, etc.
5528 Coming in contact with nails, splinters, part of lading, etc., on cars, not otherwise provided for.
5529 Struck by loose material, tools, etc., falling on or from locomotives or cars.
5530 Hand or other part of body striking or being struck by loose or swinging car doors, or projections from locomotives or cars.
5531 Trapdoors on coach, injured by.
5532 Otherwise injured by car doors.
5533 Clothing catching.
5534 Sudden stopping, starting, lurch, or jerk of locomotive or car.
5535 Attempting to carry material or tools while getting on or off locomotives or cars.
5536 Jumping from equipment in anticipation of an accident.
5537 Jumping from equipment, while mentally deranged, or to escape from custody, etc.
Coming in contact with fixed structure:
5538 Standard side clearance.
5539 Less than standard side clearance (notified).
5540 Less than standard side clearance (not notified).
5541 Less than standard side clearance (not notified) defective railroad-owned structure.
5542 Less than standard side clearance (not notified) nonrailroad-owned structure.
Coming in contact with other than fixed structures:
5543 Temporary obstruction at less than standard side clearance (not notified) railroad-owned or placed obstruction.
5544 Temporary obstruction at less than standard side clearance (not notified) nonrailroad-owned or placed obstruction.
Portable loading and unloading devices, gangplanks, chutes, etc.:
5545 Standard side clearance.
5546 Less than standard side clearance railroad-owned devices, etc.
5547 Less than standard side clearance nonrailroad-owned devices, etc.
Locomotive or car on adjacent track:
5548 Standard side clearance.
5549 Less than standard side clearance (notified).
5550 Less than standard side clearance (not notified).
Tractors, lift trucks, etc.:
5551 Standard side clearance.
5552 Less than standard side clearance railroad-owned tractor, etc.
5553 Less than standard side clearance nonrailroad-owned tractor, etc.
5588 Getting on or off, not otherwise provided for.

ACCIDENTS AT PUBLIC RAIL-HIGHWAY CROSSINGS

5601 Pedestrian struck by locomtive or car.
5602 Passenger automobile struck by locomotive or car.
5603 Bus struck by locomotive or car.
5604 Truck struck by locomotive or car.
5605 Motorcycle struck by locomotive or car.
5606 Other vehicle, machine or animal struck by locomotive or car.
5607 Pedestrian ran into, or drawn into locomotive or car.
5608 Passenger automobile ran into side of locomotive or car.
5609 Bus ran into side of locomotive or car.
5610 Truck ran into side of locomotive or car.

5611 Motorcycle ran into side of locomotive or car.
5612 Other vehicle, machine or animal ran into side of locomotive or car.
5613 Vehicle ran into roadway structure to avoid locomotive or car.
5614 Accident caused by sudden brake application to avoid highway crossing accident.
5615 Pedestrian passing over, through or under cars on crossing.
5688 Highway crossing accidents due to other causes.

STRUCK BY OR RAN INTO LOCOMOTIVES OR CARS AT PLACES OTHER THAN PUBLIC RAIL-HIGHWAY CROSSINGS

5701 Standing, walking, or running on or along track.
5702 Crossing track at private crossing.
5703 Crossing track not at crossing.
5704 While on public thoroughfare (track in street).
5705 Sitting or lying on track or near track not in clear.
5706 While working on or along track, negligence.
5707 While working on or along track, improper instructions.
5708 While working on or along track, improper protection.
5709 While working on or along track, defective protective devices.
5710 While working on or along track, other causes.
5788 Other accidents to persons by locomotives or cars at places other than public rail-highway crossings.

MISCELLANEOUS CAUSES

FREIGHT, BAGGAGE, EXPRESS OR MAIL

5801 Handling freight.
5802 Lading shifted.
5803 Improper routing of car with high or wide load onto line not having sufficient clearance for same.
5804 Handling baggage, express or mail.
5805 Locomotive or car striking baggage, express, freight or mail, or striking baggage trucks or similar objects.
5806 Baggage or similar articles falling from luggage rack in passenger car.
5807 Baggage or similar articles in passenger car aisle or vestibule, tripping over.
5808 Other accidents involving freight, baggage, express or mail.

BRAKING OR SECURING EQUIPMENT

5811 Emergency or severe application of air brakes, negligence of engineman.
5812 Emergency or severe application of air brakes, negligence of train crew.
5813 Other accidents in braking or securing equipment.

DOORS, WINDOWS, AND RELATED PARTS

5821 Locomotive door, defective.
5822 Locomotive door, no defect.
5823 Freight car door, defective.
5824 Freight car door, no defect.
5825 Caboose door, defective.
5826 Caboose door, no defect.
5827 Baggage car door, defective.
5828 Baggage car door, no defect.
5829 Power-operated passenger car door, defective.
5830 Power-operated passenger car door, no defect.
5831 Hand-operated passengar car door, defective.
5832 Hand-operated passenger car door, no defect.
5833 Passenger car trap door, defective.
5834 Passenger car trap door, no defect.
5835 Passenger car end gate, defective.
5836 Passenger car end gate, no defect.
5837 Gondola car end gate, defective.
5838 Gondola car end gate, no defect.
5839 Hopper car drop door, defective.
5840 Hopper car drop door, no defect.
5841 Car door falling off.
5842 Loose or swinging door projecting beyond equipment clearance line.
5843 Locomotive, caboose or passenger car window, defective.
5844 Locomotive, caboose or passenger car window, no defect.
5845 Glass breaking in locomotive or car door or window.
5846 Other accidents involving doors, windows and related parts.

SERVICING OR MAINTENANCE ACCIDENTS INVOLVING TRAIN OPERATION

5851 Fueling, watering or sanding locomotive or rail motor cars.
5852 Lubrication of locomotive or cars.
5853 Icing of refrigerator cars.
5854 Servicing of car mechanical refrigeration equipment.
5855 Cleaning or washing of locomotive or cars.
5856 Icing or watering of passenger cars.
5857 Servicing of passenger car heating, lighting or air-conditioning equipment.
5858 Locomotive or car coming against locomotive or car being repaired under flag or signal protection.
5859 Locomotive or car coming against locomotive or car being repaired without flag or signal protection.
5860 Locomotive or car being repaired on the road or in yard, not otherwise provided for.
5861 Rerailing locomotives or cars or handling rerailing devices.
5862 While working around wrecks, not otherwise provided for.
5863 Failure of maintenance or other employees to put out slow flag or otherwise to protect when obstructing track.
5864 Disregard of slow flag or other protection placed by maintenance or other employees.
5865 Track motor car, jumping from, in anticipation of being struck by locomotive or car.
5866 Other on-rail roadway machines struck by locomotive or car.
5867 Removing obstacles from track.
5868 Other servicing or maintenance accidents.

STUMBLING, SLIPPING, FALLING, CAUGHT, ETC., NOT ELSEWHERE CLASSIFIED

5871 On snow or ice on locomotives or cars.
5872 On passenger car buffer or foot plate, defective.
5873 On passenger car buffer or foot plate, no defect.
5874 In passenger cars, not elsewhere classified.
5875 Stepping or jumping between locomotives or cars in the same train.
5876 Falling from, not otherwise classified.
5877 Stumbling, slipping or falling on, not otherwise classified.
5878 On snow or ice on ground.
5879 Falling off or through bridges, trestles or retaining walls, equipped with handrails.
5880 Falling off or through bridges, trestles or retaining walls, not equipped with handrails.
5881 On stairways, ramps, station platforms, etc.
5882 Falling into transfer table, turntable, inspection or other pits.
5883 Stepping or tripping into holes or depressions.
5884 On switch or signal parts in place.
5885 On rails, ties or other parts of track in place.
5886 On loose or piled track material.
5887 On nails, splinters or other sharp materials or sharp trash.
5888 On coal, boards or other loose material or loose trash.

Between locomotive or car and fixed structure:

5889 Less than standard side clearance (notified).
5890 Less than standard side clearance (not notified).
5891 Less than standard side clearance (not notified) defective railroad-owned structure.
5892 Less than standard side clearance (not notified) nonrailroad-owned structure.

Between locomotive or car and other than fixed structures:

5893 Temporary obstruction at less than standard side clearance (notified).
5894 Temporary obstruction at less than standard side clearance (not notified).
5895 Temporary obstruction at less than standard side clearance (not notified) railroad-owned or placed obstruction.
5896 Temporary obstruction at less than standard side clearance (not notified) nonrailroad-owned or placed obstruction.
5897 Portable loading and unloading devices, gangplanks, chutes, etc., at less than standard side clearance.
5898 Portable loading and unloading devices, gangplanks, chutes, etc., at less than standard side clearance railroad-owned devices, etc.
5899 Portable loading and unloading devices, gangplanks, chutes, etc., at less than standard side clearance nonrailroad-owned devices, etc.
5900 Tractors, lift trucks, etc., at less than standard side clearance.
5901 Tractors, lift trucks, etc., at less than standard side clearance, railroad-owned tractor, etc.
5902 Tractors, lift trucks, etc., at less than standard side clearance nonrailroad-owned tractor, etc.

Between locomotives and/or cars on adjacent tracks:

5903 Less than standard side clearance (notified).
5904 Less than standard side clearance (not notified).
5905 Caught by nails or splinters.
5906 While standing, walking or running beside locomotives or cars, not elsewhere classified.
5907 Other stumbling, slipping, falling, caught, pinched or crushed.

FLYING OR FALLING OBJECTS, BURNS AND SIMILAR CAUSES

5908 Sparks, cinders or other flying objects, in eye.
5909 Stones, or other objects "picked up" by train.
5910 Other injuries by flying objects.
5911 Coal, coke or other material or lading falling from tenders or cars.
5912 Electrical flash, shock or burn from locomotive or car.
5913 Electrical flash, shock or burn from third rail.
5914 Electrical flash, shock or burn from catenary construction.
5915 Electrical flash, shock or burn from other sources.
5916 Fire or explosion of fuses or torpedoes.
5917 Fire or explosion on locomotive.
5918 Fire or explosion on freight-train car (or work equipment).
5919 Fire or explosion on passenger-train car or rail motor car.
5920 Fire or explosion along right-of-way.
5921 Burned by hot or corrosive substances.
5922 Other burns, not elsewhere classified.
5923 Overcome by fumes or gases, not elsewhere classified.

5924 Other flying or falling objects, burns and similar causes.

OTHER ASCERTAINED CAUSES

5925 Crossing over, under or between locomotives or cars.
5926 Locomotive or car coming against car placed for loading or unloading.
5927 Sudden starting, stopping, lurch or jerk of locomotive or car, not elsewhere classified.
5928 Poling or roping cars.
5929 Car sides spreading or buckling beyond equipment clearance line.
5930 Blocking or chocking cars.
5931 Projections of material, tools, or equipment parts beyond the equipment clearance line on other locomotive or car.
5932 Caught by passenger car buffer or foot plate, defective.
5933 Caught by passenger car buffer or foot plate, no defect.
5934 Passenger car diaphragm.
5935 Emergency or severe application of air brakes, burst or parted air hose.
5936 Emergency or severe application of air brakes, other defective equipment.
5937 Accident investigated—other ascertained cause.

UNASCERTAINED CAUSES

5948 Accident investigated-cause undetermined.
5988 Accident not investigated.

NONTRAIN ACCIDENTS

7. EQUIPMENT

LOCOMOTIVES

Servicing of locomotive, including facilities used for doing this work

7001 Fueling, watering or sanding.
7002 Lubricating or cleaning.
7003 Maintenance of servicing facilities.
7004 Use of portable tools.
7005 Use of scaffolds, ladders, etc.
7006 Use of cranes, hoists, turntables, etc.
7007 Use of shop machinery.
7008 Use of lift trucks and other portable material-handling equipment.
7009 Use of paint spraying or paint removing equipment.
7010 Maintenance of shop buildings or storehouses.
7011 Maintenance of shop machinery.

Accidents while servicing locomotive due to:

7012 Flying objects.
7013 Falling objects.
7014 Electrical flash, shock or burn.
7015 Fire or explosion.
7016 Hot or corrosive substances.
7017 Fumes or gases.
7018 Stumbling, slipping or falling.
7019 Moving locomotive for repairs.
7020 Unexpected movement of locomotive.
7088 Other causes.

CONSTRUCTION SERVICING OR MAINTENANCE OF CARS

A. Car Bodies

7101 Use of portable tools.
7102 Use of scaffolds, ladders, etc.
7103 Use of cranes, hoists, transfer tables, etc.
7104 Use of shop machinery.
7105 Use of lift trucks and other portable material-handling equipment.
7106 Use of paint spraying or paint removing equipment.

B. Car Trucks

7111 Use of portable tools.
7112 Use of cranes, hoists, transfer tables, etc.
7113 Use of shop machinery.
7114 Use of lift trucks and other portable material-handling equipment.
7115 Use of paint spraying or paint removing equipment.

C. Other Equipment

7121 Construction, rebuilding or dismantling of floating equipment.
7122 Operation of floating equipment.
7123 Servicing of floating equipment.
7124 Maintenance of floating equipment.
7131 Lubricating.
7132 Cleaning.
7133 Icing.
7134 Servicing of car mechanical refrigeration equipment.
7135 Servicing of car heaters.
7136 Construction, reconstruction or removal of servicing facilities.
7137 Maintenance of servicing facilities.

Accidents due to:

7141 Flying objects.
7142 Falling objects.
7143 Electrical flash, shock or burn.
7144 Fire or explosion.
7145 Hot or corrosive substances.
7146 Fumes or gases.
7147 Stumbling, slipping or falling.
7148 Moving car for repairs.
7149 Unexpected movement of car.
7188 Other causes.

CONSTRUCTION OR MAINTENANCE OF FACILITIES FOR EQUIPMENT

7201 Construction, reconstruction or removal of shop buildings or storehouses.
7202 Maintenance of shop buildings or storehouses.
7203 Installation or removal of shop machinery.
7204 Maintenance of shop machinery.

MISCELLANEOUS EQUIPMENT

A. Operation (except on public highways) of 7301 Passenger automobiles.

7302 Buses.
7303 Trucks.
7304 Other highway vehicles and machines.

B. Servicing of

7311 Passenger automobiles.
7312 Buses.
7313 Trucks.
7314 Other highway vehicles and machines.

C. Maintenance of

7321 Passenger automobiles.
7322 Buses.
7323 Trucks.
7324 Other highway vehicles and machines.
7388 Accidents involving other equipment not elsewhere classified.

D. Operation (on public highway) of 7401 Passenger automobiles.

7402 Buses.
7403 Trucks.
7404 Other highway vehicles and machines.

8. WAY AND STRUCTURE

BRIDGES, TUNNELS, CULVERTS, ETC.

8001 Use of hand tools at site.
8002 Use of portable power tools at site.
8003 Use of scaffolds, ladders, etc. at site.
8004 Use of paint spraying or paint removing equipment at site.
8005 Use of cranes, derricks, piledrivers, etc. at site.
8006 Loading or unloading material on cars or trucks.
8007 Moving cars in bridge work.
8008 Use of machinery and other equipment at shop.
8009 Moving cars in tunnel work.
8010 Flying objects.
8011 Falling objects.
8012 Electrical flash, shock or burn.
8013 Fire or explosion.
8014 Fumes or gases.
8015 Stumbling, slipping or falling.
8088 Other causes.

OTHER STRUCTURES

A. Freight or Passenger Stations

8101 Use of hand tools at site.
8102 Use of portable power tools at site.
8103 Use of scaffolds, ladders, etc. at site
8104 Use of paint spraying or paint removing equipment at site.
8105 Use of cranes, derricks, piledrivers, etc. at site.
8106 Loading or unloading material on cars or trucks.
8107 Moving cars in station building structure work.

Title 49—TRANSPORTATION

Chapter I—Interstate Commerce Commission

SUBCHAPTER C—CARRIERS BY WATER

[No. 32451]

PART 323—UNIFORM SYSTEM OF ACCOUNTS FOR MARITIME CARRIERS

Miscellaneous Amendments

At a session of the Interstate Commerce Commission, Division 2, held at its office in Washington, D.C., on the 13th day of December 1960.

The matter of accounting regulations prescribed for maritime carriers being under consideration pursuant to provisions of the Interstate Commerce Act, as amended; and,

It appearing, that certain technical modifications of those regulations are necessary in order to provide at this time suitable accounts in which to classify funds which such carriers are now required to maintain pursuant to provisions of the Merchant Marine Act, 1936, as amended, and certain other technical minor amendments are required for clarification and administration of the regulations; and these modifications are of such a nature that, for good cause, the notice of proposed rule making requirements of section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act are deemed unnecessary; therefore,

It is ordered, That the modifications designated "Modifications in the accounts relating to reserve funds and other matters," which are attached hereto and made a part hereof shall become effective December 30, 1960;

It is further ordered, That this order shall be served on all carriers by water subject to provisions of the Interstate Commerce Act which also operate vessels in foreign service, and every lessor thereof, and on every receiver, trustee, executor, administrator, or assignee of any such carrier or lessor, and notice of this order shall be given to the general public by depositing one order with the attached modifications in the office of the Secretary of the Commission at Washington, D.C., and by filing the order with the Director, Office of the Federal Register.

(Sec. 313, 54 Stat. 944, as amended; 49 U.S.C. 913)

By the Commission, Division 2.

[SEAL] HAROLD D. McCOY, Secretary.

Part 323 is amended as follows:

§ 323.301 [Amendment]

Item No. 1. In § 323.301 Capital reserve fund, make the following changes and addition:

In subsection 301–1 Cash and securities, change the title of this subsection to read: Cash and securities, nontrust.

In subsection 301–2 Discounts and premiums, change the title of this subsection to read: Discounts and premiums, nontrust.

At the end of § 323.301 add the following new and additional paragraph:

301–3 Common stock trust. This account shall be charged with the amount of the non-trust portion of the Capital Reserve Fund transferred to the Capital Reserve Fund-Common Stock Trust, the acquisition cost of common stock in which the trust is invested, the income, capital gains, and other principal, and shall be credited with withdrawals therefrom and capital losses in accordance with the provisions of section 607(d) of the Merchant Marine Act, 1936, as amended, and under such rules and regulations as the Maritime Administrator may issue. Subsidiary accounts of the Capital Reserve Fund-Common Stock Trust are to be maintained to record cash, common stocks, and other principal.

§ 323.302 [Amendment]

Item No. 2. In § 323.302 Special reserve fund, make the following changes and addition:

In subsection 302–1 Cash and securities, change the title of this subsection to read: Cash and securities, nontrust.

In subsection 302–2 Discounts and premiums, change the title of this subsection to read: Discounts and premiums, nontrust.

At the end of § 323.302 add the following new and additional paragraph:

302–3 Common stock trust. This account shall be charged with the amount of the non-trust portion of the Special Reserve Fund transferred to the Special Reserve Fund-Common Stock Trust, the acquisition cost of common stock in which the trust is invested, the income, capital gains, and other principal, and shall be credited with withdrawals therefrom and capital losses in accordance with the provisions of section 607(d) of the Merchant Marine Act, 1936, as amended, and under such rules and regulations as the Maritime Administrator may issue. Subsidiary accounts of the Special Reserve Fund-Common Stock Trust are to be maintained to record cash, common stocks, and other principal.

Item No. 3. After § 323.306 add the following three new and additional sections:

§ 323.307 Escrow funds.

This account shall be charged with the amounts required to be deposited in the Escrow fund and credited with disbursements therefrom, in connection with the insurance of loans and mortgages financed by sale of bonds to the general public, pursuant to the provisions of section 1111 of the Merchant Marine Act, 1936, as amended, and/or the provisions of contracts or agreements as may be entered into. These funds shall be reported separately and maintained in accordance with such rules and regulations as the Maritime Administrator may issue.

§ 323.308 Construction funds.

This account shall be charged with the amounts required to be deposited therein, representing the difference between the principal of insured bonds and the principal amount required to be deposited in the Escrow fund or such other amounts required by contracts or agreements entered into, and shall be credited with authorized disbursements therefrom. These funds shall be reported separately and maintained in accordance with such rules and regulations as the Maritime Administrator may issue.

§ 323.310 Restricted funds.

This account shall be established at the time of the first deposit required therein, and shall be charged with deposits pursuant to the provisions of contracts or agreements. This account shall be credited with authorized withdrawals therefrom. These funds shall be reported separately and maintained in accordance with such rules and regulations as the Maritime Administrator may issue.

Item No. 4. In § 323.525 Long-term debt, add to the text in the appropriate numerical sequence reference to § 323.527. Make no change in existing reference to §§ 323.526, 323.530, and 323.534.

Item No. 5. After § 323.526 add the following new and additional section:

§ 323.527 U.S. Government insured Merchant Marine Mortgage bonds and mortgage notes.

This account shall include all U.S. Government insured Merchant Marine mortgage bonds and mortgage notes issued pursuant to the provisions of contracts or agreements, and shall be maintained by vessel.

§ 323.530 [Amendment]

Item No. 6. In § 323.530 Mortgage bonds and debentures, change the title of this section to read: Other mortgage bonds and debentures.

In addition to this change in title, insert in the text between the word "debentures" and the word "and", the following: not provided for in other accounts.

§ 323.779 [Amendment]

Item No. 7. In § 323.779 Other port expenses, list of items (5th item), insert "Saint Lawrence Seaway" so that the item will read:

Canal tolls other than Panama, Suez, and Saint Lawrence Seaway Canals (see account 795).

Item No. 8. In § 323.795 Canal tolls, text of the section, add "Saint Lawrence Seaway" so that the complete text will read as follows:

§ 323.795 Canal tolls.

This account shall include only the cost of tolls levied against vessels for traversing the Panama Canal, Suez Canal and Saint Lawrence Seaway. Tolls assessed for passage through other canals shall be included in account 779, "Other port expenses."

Proposed Rule Making

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY

Internal Revenue Service

[26 CFR (1954) Part 1]

INCOME TAX; TAXABLE YEARS BEGINNING AFTER DECEMBER 31, 1953

Carryover Method of Accounting in Certain Corporate Acquisitions

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act, approved June 11, 1946, that the regulations set forth in tentative form below are proposed to be prescribed by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury or his delegate. Prior to the final adoption of such regulations, consideration will be given to any comments or suggestions pertaining thereto which are submitted in writing, in duplicate, to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Attention: T:P, Washington 25, D.C., within the period of 30 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Any person submitting written comments or suggestions who desires an opportunity to comment orally at a public hearing on these proposed regulations should submit his request, in writing, to the Commissioner within the 30-day period. In such a case, a public hearing will be held, and notice of the time, place, and date will be published in a subsequent issue of the FEDERAL REGISTER. The proposed regulations are to be issued under the authority contained in section 7805 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 (68A Stat. 917; 26 U.S.C. 7805).

[SEAL] CHARLES I. FOX,
Acting Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

The following regulations are hereby prescribed under section 381(c)(4) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, relating to the carryover of method of accounting in certain corporate acquisitions:

§ 1.381(c)(4) Statutory provisions; carryovers in certain corporate acquisitions; items of the distributor or transferor corporation; method of accounting.

SEC. 381. Carryovers in certain corporate acquisitions. • • •

(c) Items of the distributor or transferor corporation. The items referred to in subsection (a) are:

• • • • • •

(4) Method of accounting. The acquiring corporation shall use the method of accounting used by the distributor or transferor corporation on the date of distribution or transfer unless different methods were used by several distributor or transferor corporations or by a distributor or transferor corporation and the acquiring corporation. If different methods were used, the acquiring corporation shall use the method or combination of methods of computing taxable income adopted pursuant to regulations prescribed by the Secretary or his delegate.

§ 1.381(c)(4)–1 Method of accounting.

(a) Carryover requirement—(1) General rule. (i) Section 381(c)(4) provides that, in a transaction to which section 381(a) applies, an acquiring corporation shall use the same method of accounting used by the distributor or transferor corporation on the date of distribution or transfer unless different methods of accounting were used on that date by several distributor or transferor corporations or by a distributor or transferor corporation and the acquiring corporation. If different methods of accounting were used, the acquiring corporation shall use the method or combination of methods of accounting adopted pursuant to this section.

(ii) The acquiring corporation shall take into its accounts the dollar balances of those accounts of the distributor or transferor corporation representing items of income or deduction which, because of its method of accounting, were not required or permitted to be included or deducted by the distributor or transferor corporation in computing taxable income for taxable years ending on or before the date of distribution or transfer. The acquiring corporation shall similarly take into its accounts the dollar balances of those accounts of the distributor or transferor corporation which represent reserves in respect of which the distributor or transferor corporation has taken a deduction for taxable years ending on or before the date of distribution or transfer. The acquiring corporation shall include or deduct in computing its taxable income any item of income or deduction of the distributor or transferor corporation which the distributor or transferor corporation, by reason of its method of accounting, would have been required or permitted to include or deduct for a taxable year ending after the date of distribution or transfer. The acquiring corporation shall not include or deduct in computing its taxable income any item of income or deduction of the distributor or transferor corporation which the distributor or transferor corporation, by reason of its method of accounting, was required or permitted to include or deduct for a taxable year ending on or before the date of distribution or transfer. Items of income and deduction shall have the same character in the hands of the acquiring corporation as they would have had in the hands of the distributor or transferor corporation or corporations if no distribution or transfer had occurred. This section shall have no application to items of income or deduction, or dollar balances, to the extent they are attributable to assets or obligations not distributed or transferred, and shall have no application to items the tax treatment of which is specifically provided for in other paragraphs of section 381(c).

(2) Rules of application. For purposes of section 381(c)(4) and this section, the term "method of accounting" shall have the same meaning as that provided in section 446 and the regulations thereunder. This section shall not be construed as preventing the application of section 269, 453(c), or 482, or the regulations thereunder. For provisions defining the date of distribution or transfer, see paragraph (b) of § 1.381(b)–1. See other paragraphs of section 381(c) and the regulations thereunder for other rules regarding the treatment of the carryover of certain items specifically enumerated therein.

(b) Conditions for continuation of methods of accounting. (1) No differences in methods of accounting. If all the parties to a section 381(a) transaction used the same method of accounting on the date of distribution or transfer, the acquiring corporation shall continue to use such method of accounting, unless the acquiring corporation has obtained the consent of the Commissioner in accordance with paragraph (e) of § 1.446–1 to use a different method of accounting. This subparagraph may be illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). X and Y Corporations use the accrual method as their over-all method of accounting. Both corporations have established a reserve for bad debts under section 166(c). Pursuant to elections made by each corporation they are amortizing trademark and trade name expenditures over a 60-month period under section 177, expensing intangible drilling and development costs under section 263(c), and accruing real property taxes ratably under section 461(c). It is assumed that there are no other items of income or deduction to which paragraph (a) of this section might apply. Y Corporation acquires all of the assets of X Corporation in a transaction to which section 381(a) applies. On and after the date of distribution or transfer Y Corporation must continue, without further election, to use the same over-all method of accounting and the same accounting treatment of the specified items, unless consent of the Commissioner is obtained in accordance with paragraph (e) of § 1.446–1 to change the methods of accounting. Thus, Y Corporation shall add to the balance in its reserve for bad debts account the balance in X Corporation's reserve for bad debts account, shall continue to amortize and deduct over the remaining portion of the 60-month period the unamortized portion of the trademark and trade name expenditures carried over from X Corporation, and shall continue the same treatment of intangible drilling and development costs and of real property taxes.

Example (2). M and N Corporations use the cash receipts and disbursements method of accounting. N Corporation acquires all the assets and assumes all the obligations of M Corporation in a transaction to which section 381(a) applies. M Corporation, immediately prior to the transaction, is entitled to receive $10,000 for unbilled services performed, and has billed, but not received payment for services performed in an amount of $20,000. It has received but not paid invoices amounting to $18,000, and has received services in the amount of $5,000 for which no invoices have been received. Since M and N Corporations are both on the cash receipts and disbursements method, N Corporation must continue to use that method, unless consent of the Commissioner is obtained in accordance with paragraph (e) of § 1.446–1 to change its method of accounting. Accordingly, N Corporation must include in income when received the unrealized receivables of M Corporation and may deduct the payment of those obligations of M Corporation which would have been deductible by such corporation if paid by it. Thus, N Corporation shall treat as ordinary income the receipt by it of M Corporation's $30,000 of receivables, and may deduct upon payment the amount of M Corporation's $23,000 of payables which would have been deductible by it.

(2) Separate businesses. If, after the date of distribution or transfer, the trades or businesses of the parties to a transaction described in section 381(a) are operated as separate and distinct trades or businesses within the meaning of paragraph (d) of § 1.446–1, then the method of accounting employed by the parties to the transaction on the date of distribution or transfer with respect to each trade or business shall be used by the acquiring corporation, unless the acquiring corporation has obtained the consent of the Commissioner in accordance with paragraph (e) of § 1.446–1 to use a different method of accounting. However, if only a single method of accounting may be employed by a taxpayer with respect to a particular item, but different methods were employed by the several corporations on the date of distribution or transfer with respect to such an item, then the acquiring corporation shall adopt the method of accounting described in paragraph (c) of this section for such an item, unless consent of the Commissioner is obtained in accordance with paragraph (d) of this section to use a different method of accounting. This subparagraph may be illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). M Corporation is engaged in a retail furniture business. N Corporation is engaged in a personal service business. M Corporation uses the accrual method of accounting. N Corporation uses the cash receipts and disbursements method of accounting. M Corporation acquires the assets of N Corporation in a transaction to which section 381(a) applies. In accordance with paragraph (d) of § 1.446–1, M Corporation operates as a separate and distinct trade or business the business formerly operated by N Corporation. Unless consent of the Commissioner is obtained in accordance with paragraph (e) of § 1.446–1 to change the method of accounting, M Corporation shall continue to use the cash receipts and disbursements method of accounting with respect to the business formerly operated by N Corporation, and shall use the accrual method of accounting with respect to the retail furniture business.

Example (2). Assume the same facts as in example (1), except that N Corporation has elected under section 171 to amortize bond premium with respect to fully taxable bonds. M Corporation has not made the election to amortize bond premium with respect to such bonds owned by it. M Corporation may not continue separate accounting methods as to amortizable bond premium but must consistently apply only a single method of accounting with respect to such bond premium since the election to amortize bond premium applies to all fully taxable bonds held by the taxpayer. M Corporation shall use the method of accounting described in paragraph (c) of this section for such bond premium, unless consent of the Commissioner is obtained in accordance with paragraph (d) of this section to use a different method of accounting.

(3) Integrated businesses. (i) If, after the date of distribution or transfer, any of the trades or businesses of the parties to a transaction described in section 381(a) are not operated as separate and distinct trades or businesses within the meaning of paragraph (d) of § 1.446–1, then, to the extent that the same methods of accounting were employed on the date of distribution or transfer by the parties to the transaction with respect to any trades or businesses which are integrated or are required to be integrated in accordance with section 446 (d) and the regulations thereunder, the acquiring corporation shall continue to employ such methods of accounting, unless the acquiring corporation has obtained the consent of the Commissioner in accordance with paragraph (e) of § 1.446–1 to use a different method of accounting.

(ii) If, after the date of distribution or transfer, any of the trades or businesses of the parties to a transaction described in section 381(a) are not operated as separate and distinct trades or businesses within the meaning of paragraph (d) of § 1.446–1, then, to the extent that different methods of accounting were employed on the date of distribution or transfer by the parties to the transaction with respect to any trades or business which are integrated or required to be integrated in accordance with section 446(d) and the regulations thereunder, the acquiring corporation shall adopt the method of accounting described in paragraph (c) of this section, unless consent of the Commissioner is obtained in accordance with paragraph (d) of this section to use a different method of accounting.

(iii) The provisions of this subparagraph may be illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). M and N Corporations both use the accrual method as an over-all method of accounting. M Corporation has established a reserve for bad debts while N Corporation uses the specific charge-off method with respect to its bad debts. M Corporation acquires all of the assets of N Corporation in a transaction to which section 381(a) applies and integrates the business formerly operated by N Corporation into the business operated by M Corporation before the date of distribution or transfer. M Corporation shall continue to use the accrual method as its over-all method of accounting, unless consent of the Commissioner is obtained in accordance with paragraph (e) of § 1.446–1 to change its method of accounting. M Corporation shall use the method of accounting described in paragraph (c) of this section with respect to bad debts, unless consent of the Commissioner is obtained in accordance with paragraph (d) of this section to use a different method of accounting.

Example (2). X Corporation conducts two separate and distinct trades or businesses, a personal service business with respect to which the cash receipts and disbursements method of accounting is used and a manufacturing business with respect to which the accrual method of accounting is used. Y Corporation conducts a manufacturing business and uses the accrual method of accounting. Y Corporation acquires all of the assets of X Corporation in a transaction to which section 381(a) applies. After the date of distribution or transfer, Y integrates the manufacturing business formerly operated by X Corporation into the manufacturing business operated by it and continues to operate as a separate and distinct trade or business the personal service business formerly operated by X Corporation. Unless consent of the Commissioner is obtained in accordance with paragraph (e) of § 1.446–1 to change the method of accounting, Y Corporation shall continue to use the accrual method of accounting with respect to the integrated manufacturing business and shall continue to use the cash receipts and disbursements method of accounting with respect to the personal service business.

(4) General rules. In any case where the method of accounting employed on the date of distribution or transfer is continued, it will be unnecessary for the acquiring corporation to renew any election previously made by it or by any distributor or transferor corporation with respect to such method of accounting. Also, the acquiring corporation is bound by the elections previously made by it or by any distributor or transferor corporation with respect to such method of accounting which are in effect on the date of distribution or transfer to the same extent as though the distribution or transfer had not occurred. If, on the date of distribution or transfer, any party to a section 381(a) transaction had no established method of accounting for any item, or came into existence as a result of the transaction, such party shall not be considered to be using a method of accounting for such item or having an over-all method of accounting different from that used by the other parties to the transaction.

(c) Change of method of accounting without consent of Commissioner—(1) General rule. If the acquiring corporation may not continue to use, under the provisions of paragraph (b) of this section, the method of accounting used by it or the distributor or transferor corporation or corporations on the date of distribution or transfer, the acquiring corporation shall use the principal method of accounting of such corporations (as defined in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph), unless the acquiring corporation has obtained the consent of the Commissioner in accordance with paragraph (d) of this section to use a different method of accounting. The principal method of accounting shall be used provided that: (i) such method of accounting clearly reflects the income of the acquiring corporation, and (ii) the Commissioner could have granted permission to the acquiring or distributor or transferor corporations to change to the principal method of accounting. If, pursuant to this paragraph, the principal method of accounting is used by the acquiring corporation all adjustments necessary to reflect the change from the method of accounting previously used by any of the corporations involved shall be taken into account by the acquiring corporation. The amount of such adjustments, the manner in which they are to be taken into account by the acquiring corporation, and the tax attributable thereto, shall be determined and computed in the same manner as if, immediately after the date of distribution or transfer, each of the several corporations that were not using the principal method of accounting on the date of distribution or transfer had initiated a change in accounting method. The change in method of accounting shall be treated as initiated by the taxpayer for purposes of section 481, since the corporations voluntarily entered into the transaction which causes the provisions of section 381 to apply. If the acquiring corporation uses the principal method of accounting, it will be unnecessary for the acquiring corporation to renew any election previously made with respect to such principal method of accounting. Also the acquiring corporation is bound by elections previously made with respect to such principal method of accounting which are in effect on the date of distribution or transfer to the same extent as though the distribution or transfer had not occurred.

(2) Principal method of accounting. (i) The determination of the principal method of accounting shall be made with reference to each integrated trade or business operated by the acquiring corporation after the date of distribution or transfer, and with reference to the methods of accounting previously employed by the parties with respect to the trades or businesses of such parties which are integrated after the date of distribution or transfer. The following factors, for a representative period, are among those which shall be considered for each group of trades or businesses with respect to which one type of over-all method of accounting common to all was employed and these factors shall be compared with comparable factors for the group of trades or businesses with respect to which another type of over-all method of accounting common to all was employed: (a) total assets, (b) gross sales, (c) net profit, and (d) net worth. Whether or not the same over-all method of accounting was employed with respect to all integrated trades or businesses, if the parties to the transaction applied different methods of accounting with respect to particular items of income or deduction a similar comparison of the amount of the item and of related accounts shall be made with respect to such items. Thus, in the case of the treatment of bad debts, trades or businesses which had been using the reserve method of accounting will be compared with the trades or businesses which had been using the specific charge-off method of accounting. The following factors for a representative period are among those to be compared with respect to each group of trades or businesses using the same accounting treatment with respect to bad debts: sales on account, accounts receivable, and the annual deduction with respect to bad debts.

(ii) If there is no principal method of accounting the acquiring corporation shall use the method of accounting adopted in accordance with paragraph (d) of this section.

(3) Examples. The provisions of this paragraph may be illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). M Corporation uses the cash receipts and disbursements method of accounting, while N Corporation uses the accrual method. The principal method of accounting is assumed to be the accrual method. On June 30, 1961, N Corporation acquires all of the assets of M Corporation in a transaction to which section 381(a) applies. N Corporation then integrates its own business with that of M Corporation. N Corporation shall, under such circumstances, use the accrual method of accounting for the integrated business, unless consent of the Commissioner is obtained in accordance with paragraph (d) of this section to use a different method of accounting. All adjustments necessary to place the accounts of M Corporation on the accrual method shall be taken into account by N Corporation. Such adjustments shall be determined and computed in the same manner as if M Corporation had initiated a change in method of accounting as of July 1, 1961.

Example (2). Assume the same facts as in example (1) except that N Corporation acquires all the assets of M Corporation with the exception of certain notes receivable on which interest has accrued. In such case, the total adjustment which N must take into account shall not reflect any adjustment attributable to the notes that are not transferred.

Example (3). P and S Corporations use the accrual method of accounting. P Corporation has established a reserve for bad debts and S Corporation uses the specific charge-off method with respect to bad debts. S Corporation acquires all of the assets of P Corporation in a transaction to which section 381 (a) applies. At such time the balance in P Corporation's reserve for bad debt account is $50,000, deductions attributable to which produced a tax benefit. The specific charge-off method with respect to bad debts is assumed to be the principal method of accounting for that item. S Corporation shall carry over into its accounts the balance of $50,000 in P Corporation's reserve for bad debts account. After the date of distribution or transfer S Corporation shall use the accrual method as the over-all method of accounting, unless consent of the Commissioner is obtained in accordance with paragraph (e) of § 1.446–1 to change the over-all method of accounting. S Corporation shall use the specific charge-off method with respect to bad debts, and shall include in its income the $50,000 reserve for bad debts of P Corporation, unless consent of the Commissioner has been obtained in accordance with paragraph (d) of this section to use a different method of accounting.

(d) Change of method of accounting with consent of Commissioner—(1) General rule. (i) If the acquiring corporation may not continue to use, under paragraph (b), the method of accounting used by it or the distributor or transferor corporation or corporations on the date of distribution or transfer, or may not under paragraph (c) use the principal method of accounting, then the acquiring corporation shall request the Commissioner to determine the appropriate method, or combination of methods, of accounting to be used.

(ii) If an acquiring corporation, to which paragraph (c) of this section applies, wishes to use a method, or combination of methods, of accounting other than the principal method of accounting it shall apply to the Commissioner for permission to use such other method, or combination of methods, of accounting. Permission to use such other method, or combination of methods, of accounting will not be granted unless the acquiring corporation and the Commissioner agree to the terms, conditions and adjustments under which the change to such method or combination of methods will be effected.

(iii) The adjustments necessary to reflect the change from the method of accounting previously used by any of the corporations involved shall be taken into account by the acquiring corporation. The amount of such adjustments, the manner in which they are to be taken into account by the acquiring corporation, and the tax attributable thereto shall be determined and computed in the same manner as if, immediately after the date of distribution or transfer, each of the several corporations, that were not on the date of distribution or transfer using the method or combination of methods of accounting adopted pursuant to subdivision (i) or (ii) of this subparagraph, had initiated a change of accounting method.

(2) Time and manner of making application. Applications under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph for permission to use a method of accounting, or requests for determination of the method of accounting to be used shall be filed with the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Attention: T:R, Washington 25, D.C., not later than 90 days after the date of distribution or transfer. The application shall be accompanied by a copy of the statement described in paragraph (b)(3) of § 1.381(b)–1, and by a statement specifying the nature of the transaction which causes section 381 to apply; the differences in accounting methods used by the corporations concerned; the method or methods of accounting proposed to be used by the acquiring corporation; and the various amounts, if any, of items of income or deduction which will be duplicated or omitted in the computation of taxable income under such proposed method or methods. The Commissioner may also require such other information as may be necessary in order to determine the proper method or methods of accounting to be used by the acquiring corporation.

INCOME TAX; TAXABLE YEARS BEGINNING AFTER DECEMBER 31, 1953

Carryover of Inventories in Certain Corporate Acquisitions

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act, approved June 11, 1946, that the regulations set forth in tentative form below are proposed to be prescribed by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury or his delegate. Prior to the final adoption of such regulations, consideration will be given to any comments or suggestions pertaining thereto which are submitted in writing, in duplicate, to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Attention: T:P, Washington 25, D.C., within the period of 30 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Any person submitting written comments or suggestions who desires an opportunity to comment orally at a public hearing on these proposed regulations should submit his request, in writing, to the Commissioner within the 30-day period. In such a case, a public hearing will be held and notice of the time, place, and date will be published in a subsequent issue of the FEDERAL REGISTER. The proposed regulations are to be issued under the authority contained in section 7805 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 (68A Stat. 917; 26 U.S.C. 7805).

[SEAL] CHARLES I. FOX,
Acting Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

The following regulations are hereby prescribed under section 381(c)(5) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, relating to the carryover of inventories in certain corporate acquisitions:

§ 1.381(c)(5) Statutory provisions; carryovers in certain corporate acquisitions; items of the distributor or transferor corporation; inventories.

SEC. 381. Carryovers in certain corporate acquisitions. • • •

(c) Items of the distributor or transferor corporation. The items referred to in subsection (a) are:

• • • • • •

(5) Inventories. In any case in which inventories are received by the acquiring corporation, such inventories shall be taken by such corporation (in determining its income) on the same basis on which such inventories were taken by the distributor or transferor corporation, unless different methods were used by several distributor or transferor corporations or by a distributor or transferor corporation and the acquiring corporation. If different methods were used, the acquiring corporation shall use the method or combination of methods of taking inventory adopted pursuant to regulations prescribed by the Secretary or his delegate.

§ 1.381(c)(5)–1 Inventories.

(a) Carryover requirement.—(1) In general. Section 381(c)(5) provides that, in a transaction to which section 381(a) applies and in which inventories are received by the acquiring corporation, such inventories shall be taken by the acquiring corporation (in determining its income) on the same basis on which such inventories were taken by the distributor or transferor corporation, unless different inventory methods were used by several distributor or transferor corporations or by a distributor or transferor corporation and the acquiring corporation. If different methods were used, the acquiring corporation shall use the method or combination of methods of taking inventories adopted pursuant to this section.

(2) Rules of application. References in this section to a method or methods of taking inventories are to be construed as referring to both the method or methods of identifying the goods and the method or methods of valuing the goods. The method or methods of taking inventories shall be determined as of the date of distribution or transfer and any corporation, a party to a section 381(a) transaction, whose taxable year does not end on such date shall be considered as using the method or methods of taking inventories that it would have employed had its taxable year ended on such date. This section shall not be construed as preventing the acquiring corporation from adopting an inventory method which, under the provisions of section 471 or 472, and the regulations thereunder, may be adopted without the consent of the Commissioner. For provisions defining the date of distribution or transfer, see paragraph (b) of § 1.381(b)–1.

(b) Conditions for continuation of methods of taking inventories—(1) No differences in methods of taking inventories. If all the parties to a section 381(a) transaction used the same method of taking inventories on the date of distribution or transfer, the acquiring corporation shall continue to use such method of taking inventories, unless the acquiring corporation has obtained the consent of the Commissioner, in accordance with paragraph (e) of § 1.446–1, to use a different method of taking inventories. This subparagraph may be illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). Y and Z Corporations are manufacturing concerns which compute their entire inventories on the first-in first-out method of identification and the cost or market, whichever is lower, method of valuation. Z Corporation acquires all the assets of Y Corporation in a transaction to which section 381(a) applies. On and after the date of distribution or transfer Z Corporation must continue, without further election, to use the first-in first-out method of identifying and the cost or market, whichever is lower, method of valuing all its inventories, unless consent of the Commissioner is obtained in accordance with paragraph (e) of § 1.446–1 to change the method of taking inventories.

Example (2). O and P Corporations are manufacturing companies which compute their entire inventories by the use of the last-in first-out method of identification and the cost basis of valuation. In applying the last-in first-out method both corporations use the dollar-value method, use the double-extension method, pool under the natural business unit method, and value annual inventory increases by reference to the actual cost of goods most recently purchased. P Corporation acquires the assets of O Corporation in a transaction to which section 381(a) applies. On and after the date of distribution or transfer P Corporation must continue, without further election, to use the last-in first-out method of identification, the cost basis of valuation, and, in applying the last-in first-out method, must continue to use the dollar-value method, use the double-extension method, pool under the natural business unit method, and value annual inventory increases by reference to the actual cost of goods most recently purchased, unless consent of the Commissioner is obtained in accordance with paragraph (e) of § 1.446–1 to change the method of taking inventories.

(2) Separate businesses. If, after the date of distribution or transfer, the trades or businesses of the parties to a transaction described in section 381 (a) are operated as separate and distinct trades or businesses within the meaning of paragraph (d) of § 1.446–1, then the method or methods of taking inventories employed by the parties to the transaction on the date of distribution or transfer with respect to each trade or business shall be used by the acquiring corporation, unless the acquiring corporation has obtained the consent of the Commissioner, in accordance with paragraph (e) of § 1.446–1, to use a different method of taking inventories. This subparagraph shall not be construed as precluding the Commissioner under section 471 or 472, and the regulations thereunder, from requiring that the method of taking inventories used in a particular trade or business be used in another trade or business with respect to similar types of goods if, in the opinion of the Commissioner, the use of such method of taking inventories is essential to a clear reflection of income. See paragraph (e) of this section for special rules relating to the use of the last-in first-out method. This paragraph may be illustrated by the following example:

Example. R Corporation is engaged in the production of radios and television sets, and S Corporation is engaged in the production of washers and driers. In computing their inventories both corporations use the cost basis of valuation. R Corporation uses the last-in first-out method of identification, whereas S Corporation uses the first-in first-out method. T Corporation acquires the assets of R Corporation and S Corporation in a transaction to which section 381(a) applies. In accordance with paragraph (d) of § 1.446–1, T Corporation operates as a separate and distinct trade or business each of the businesses formerly operated by R Corporation and S Corporation. Unless consent of the Commissioner is obtained in accordance with paragraph (e) of § 1.446–1 to change the methods of taking inventories, on and after the date of transfer, T Corporation is required to continue to use the method of taking inventories previously used by R Corporation and S Corporation respectively, with respect to each trade or business. However, the Commissioner may require T Corporation to use the last-in first-out method with respect to that portion of the goods in the trade or business formerly operated by S Corporation which are similar to goods in the trade or business formerly operated by R Corporation, if, in his opinion, the use of the last-in first-out method with respect to such similar goods is essential to a clear reflection of income.

(3) Integrated businesses. (i) If, after the date of distribution or transfer, any of the trades or businesses of the parties to a transaction described in section 381(a) are not operated as separate and distinct trades or businesses within the meaning of paragraph (d) of § 1.446–1, then, to the extent that the same methods of taking inventories for particular types of goods were employed on the date of distribution or transfer by the parties to the transaction with respect to any trades or businesses which are integrated or are required to be integrated in accordance with section 446(d) and the regulations thereunder, the acquiring corporation shall continue to employ such methods of taking inventories for such types of goods unless the acquiring corporation has obtained the consent of the Commissioner, in accordance with paragraph (e) of § 1.446–1, to use a different method of taking inventories. This subdivision shall not be construed as precluding the Commissioner under section 471 or 472, and the regulations thereunder, from requiring that the method of taking inventories used in a particular trade or business operated by the acquiring corporation after the date of distribution or transfer with respect to similar types of goods, to be used in another trade or business operated by it after such date if, in the opinion of the Commissioner, the use of such method of taking inventories is essential to a clear reflection of income. However, see paragraph (e) of this section for special rules relating to the use of the last-in first-out method.

(ii) If, after the date of distribution or transfer, any of the trades or businesses of the parties to a transaction described in section 381(a) are not operated as separate and distinct trades or businesses within the meaning of paragraph (d) of § 1.446–1, then, to the extent that different methods of taking inventories for particular types of goods were employed on the date of distribution or transfer by the parties to the transaction with respect to any trades or businesses which are integrated or required to be integrated in accordance with section 446(d) and the regulations thereunder, the acquiring corporation shall adopt the method of taking inventories for such types of goods described in paragraph (c) of this section, unless consent of the Commissioner is obtained in accordance with paragraph (d) of this section to use a different method of taking inventories.

(iii) The provisions of this subparagraph may be illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). O and P Corporations are manufacturing companies which compute their entire inventories by the use of the last-in first-out method of identification and the cost basis of valuation. In applying the last-in first-out method both corporations use the dollar-value method and both use the double-extension method. However, O Corporation pools under the natural business unit method while P Corporation pools under the multiple pool method and O Corporation has elected to value its annual inventory increase by reference to the actual cost of goods most recently purchased, whereas P Corporation has elected to value such increase by reference to the actual cost of the goods purchased during the taxable year in the order of acquisition. P Corporation acquires the assets of O Corporation in a transaction to which section 381(a) applies and integrates the business formerly operated by O Corporation into the business which was operated by P Corporation before the date of the distribution or transfer. P Corporation shall continue to use the last-in first-out method of identification, the cost basis of valuation, and in applying the last-in first-out method, shall continue to use the dollar-value method and the double-extension method, unless consent of the Commissioner is obtained in accordance with paragraph (e) of § 1.446–1 to change the method of taking inventories. P Corporation shall use the method of taking inventories described in paragraph (c) of this section with respect to the method of pooling and the method of valuing annual inventory increases, unless consent of the Commissioner is obtained in accordance with paragraph (d) of this section to use a different method of taking inventories.

Example (2). Y and Z Corporations are engaged in the manufacture of cereal products. Y Corporation uses the first-in first-out method of identifying and the cost or market, whichever is lower, method of valuing its inventories including oats. Z Corporation uses the first-in first-out method of identifying and the cost or market, whichever is lower, method of valuing its inventories, except oats which are valued on the cost method. Y Corporation acquires all of the assets of Z Corporation in a transaction to which section 381(a) applies and integrates the business formerly operated by Z Corporation into the business which was operated by Y Corporation before the date of the distribution or transfer. Y Corporation must continue to use the first-in first-out method with respect to all of its inventories and must continue to use the cost or market, whichever is lower, method of valuing all inventories except oats, unless consent of the Commissioner is obtained in accordance with paragraph (e) of § 1.446–1 to change the method of taking inventories. Y Corporation shall use the method described in paragraph (c) of this section in valuing its inventory of oats, unless consent of the Commissioner is obtained in accordance with paragraph (d) of this section to use a different method of taking inventories.

(4) General rules. In any case where the method of taking inventories employed on the date of distribution or transfer is continued, it will be unnecessary for the acquiring corporation to renew any election previously made by it or by any distributor or transferor corporation with respect to such method of taking inventories. Also, in such case, the acquiring corporation is bound by the elections previously made by it or by any distributor or transferor corporation with respect to such method of taking inventories which are in effect on the date of distribution or transfer to the same extent as though the distribution or transfer had not occurred. If, on the date of distribution or transfer, any party to a section 381(a) transaction had no inventories of a particular type of goods, or came into existence as a result of the transaction, such party shall not be considered to be using a method of taking inventories for the particular type of goods different from that used by the other parties to the transaction. If, on the date of distribution or transfer, any one of the parties to the transaction is not required to take inventories by reason of the use of the cash receipts and disbursements method of accounting, the determination as to whether this method of accounting is to be continued by the acquiring corporation shall be made in accordance with section 381(c)(4) and the regulations thereunder. The acquiring and the various distributor or transferor corporations shall not be considered to be taking inventories on different methods on the date of distribution or transfer merely because the several corporations use different cost accounting systems in computing the cost of inventories. The provisions of this subparagraph may be illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). M Corporation is engaged in manufacturing and computes its inventories under the first-in first-out method of identification and the cost or market, whichever is lower, method of valuation. N Corporation is also engaged in manufacturing and computes its inventories under the first-in first-out method of identification and the cost method of valuation. M Corporation acquires the assets of N Corporation in a transaction to which section 381(a) applies and M Corporation integrates the business formerly operated by N Corporation into the business which was operated by M Corporation before the date of distribution or transfer. On the date of distribution or transfer, N Corporation has inventories of sheet steel while M Corporation has no inventories of this particular type of goods. In all other respects the inventories of the two corporations consist of similar types of goods. M Corporation shall use the first-in first-out method of identification and the cost method of valuation of inventories of sheet steel, unless consent of the Commissioner is obtained in accordance with paragraph (e) of § 1.446–1 to change the method of taking such inventories. For the other goods in its inventories M Corporation shall use the method of taking inventories described in paragraph (c), unless consent of the Commissioner is obtained in accordance with paragraph (d) of this section to use a different method of taking inventories.

Example (2). W Corporation is engaged in the business of raising cattle and uses the cash receipts and disbursements method of computing taxable income under which method inventories are not required to be taken into account. X Corporation is also engaged in the business of raising cattle, and uses the accrual method as an over-all method of accounting under which it has elected to use the "farm-price method" of valuing inventories. The assets of W Corporation are acquired by X Corporation in a transaction to which section 381(a) applies and X Corporation integrates the business formerly operated by W Corporation into the business which was operated by X Corporation before the date of distribution or transfer. Whether X Corporation is required to take inventories will depend upon which over-all method of accounting is used by X Corporation after the date of distribution or transfer in accordance with the provisions of section 381(c)(4) and the regulations thereunder. If the cash receipts and disbursements method is used, X Corporation will not be required to take inventories into account in computing its taxable income. However, if X Corporation uses the accrual method then it shall use the "farm-price method" of taking inventories, unless consent of the Commissioner is obtained in accordance with paragraph (d) of this section to use a different method of taking inventories.

(c) Change of method of taking inventories without consent of Commissioner—(1) General rule. If the acquiring corporation may not continue to use, under the provisions of paragraph (b) of this section, the method of taking inventories used by it or the distributor or transferor corporation or corporations on the date of distribution or transfer, the acquiring corporation shall use the principal method of taking inventories for particular types of goods of such corporation (as defined in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph), unless the acquiring corporation has obtained the consent of the Commissioner in accordance with paragraph (d) of this section to use a different method of taking inventories for such types of goods. The principal method of taking inventories shall be used provided that, in the opinion of the Commissioner, such method clearly reflects the income of the acquiring corporation. If, pursuant to this paragraph, the principal method of taking inventories is used by the acquiring corporation all adjustments necessary to reflect the change from the method of taking inventories previously used by any of the corporations involved shall be taken into account by the acquiring corporation. The amount of such adjustments, the manner in which they are to be taken into account by the acquiring corporation, and the tax attributable thereto, shall be determined and computed in the same manner as if, immediately after the date of distribution or transfer, each of the several corporations that were not using the principal method of taking inventories on the date of distribution or transfer had initiated a change in accounting method. The change in method of accounting shall be treated as initiated by the taxpayer for purposes of section 481, since the corporation voluntarily entered into the transaction which causes the provisions of section 381 to apply. If, pursuant to this paragraph, the acquiring corporation uses the principal method of taking inventories, it will be unnecessary for the acquiring corporation to renew any election previously made with respect to such principal method of taking inventories. Also, in such case, the acquiring corporation is bound by elections previously made with respect to such principal method of taking inventories which are in effect on the date of distribution or transfer to the same extent as though the distribution or transfer had not occurred.

(2) Principal method of taking inventories. (i) The determination of the principal method of taking inventories shall be made with reference to particular types of goods of each integrated trade or business operated by the acquiring corporation after the date of distribution or transfer, and with reference to the methods of taking inventories previously employed by the parties with respect to such types of goods of the trades or businesses of such parties which are integrated after the date of distribution or transfer. The fair market value of the particular types of goods, for a representative period for each group of trades or businesses with respect to which one method of taking inventories common to all was employed shall be compared with the fair market value of comparable goods for such period for other groups of trades or businesses with respect to which another method of taking inventories common to all was employed. The method of taking inventories with respect to a particular type of goods for the group of trades or businesses having the largest fair market value of such goods for a representative period shall be the principal method of taking inventories for that particular type of goods.

(ii) If there is no principal method of taking inventories, the acquiring corporation shall use the method of taking inventories adopted in accordance with paragraph (d) of this section.

(3) The provisions of this paragraph may be illustrated by the following example:

Example. X, Y, and Z Corporations are all engaged in the manufacture of sheet metal. In addition, Y and Z Corporations are engaged in the manufacture of paper containers. X and Y Corporations use the first-in first-out method of identifying goods and the cost method of valuation for all inventories, while Z Corporation uses the first-in first-out method of identifying goods and the cost or market, whichever is lower, method of valuation for all inventories. X, Y, and Z Corporations enter into a transaction to which section 381(a) applies, and the acquiring corporation integrates the sheet metal businesses formerly operated by X, Y, and Z Corporations and also integrates the paper container businesses formerly operated by Y and Z Corporations. The fair market value of the inventories of the sheet metal business for a representative period is $10,000 for X Corporation, $7,000 for Y Corporation, and $15,000 for Z Corporation and each corporation has the same types of goods in the inventories of its sheet metal business. The fair market value of the inventories of the paper container business for a representative period is $6,000 for Y Corporation and $7,000 for Z Corporation and each corporation has the same type of goods in the inventories of its paper container business. The acquiring corporation shall continue to use the first-in first-out method of identifying all goods unless consent of the Commissioner is obtained in accordance with paragraph (e) of § 1.446–1 to change the method of accounting. In determining which is the principal method of valuing inventories for the sheet metal business, the total fair market value of inventories in the sheet metal business of X Corporation and Y Corporation is compared with the fair market value of the inventories in the sheet metal business of Z Corporation. Since the total fair market value ($17,000) for the inventories of the sheet metal businesses of X Corporation and Y Corporation exceeds the fair market value ($15,000) of the inventories of the sheet metal business of Z Corporation, the cost method of valuation is the principal method of taking such inventories. Since the fair market value of the paper container inventories of Z Corporation exceeds the fair market value of the paper container inventories of Y Corporation, the cost or market, whichever is lower, method of valuation is the principal method of taking such inventories. The acquiring corporation shall use the cost method of valuation of the inventories of its sheet metal business, and the cost or market, whichever is lower, method of valuation of the inventories of its paper container business, unless consent of the Commissioner is obtained in accordance with paragraph (d) of this section to use different methods of taking inventories.

(d) Change of method of taking inventories with consent of the Commissioner—(1) General rule. (i) If the acquiring corporation may not continue to use, under paragraph (b) of this section, the method of taking inventories used by it or the distributor or transferor corporation or corporations on the date of distribution or transfer, or may not, under paragraph (c) of this section, use the principal method of taking inventories, then the acquiring corporation shall request the Commissioner to determine the appropriate method of taking inventories.

(ii) If an acquiring corporation, to which paragraph (c) of this section applies, wishes to use a method of taking inventories other than the principal method of taking inventories for a particular type of goods it shall apply to the Commissioner for permission to use such other method of taking inventories. Permission to use such other method of taking inventories will not be granted unless the acquiring corporation and the Commissioner agree to the terms, conditions, and adjustments under which the change to such method will be effected.

(iii) The adjustments necessary to reflect the change from the method of taking inventories previously used by any of the corporations involved shall be taken into account by the acquiring corporation. The amount of such adjustments, the manner in which they are to be taken into account by the acquiring corporation, and the tax attributable thereto shall be determined and computed in the same manner as if, immediately after the date of distribution or transfer, each of the several corporations, that were not on the date of distribution or transfer using the method of taking inventories adopted pursuant to subdivision (i) or (ii) of this subparagraph, had initiated a change of accounting method.

(2) Time and manner of making application. Applications under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph for permission to use a method of taking inventories, or request for a determination of the method of taking inventories to be used, shall be filed with the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Attention: T:R, Washington 25, D.C., not later than 90 days after the date of distribution or transfer. The application shall be accompanied by a copy of the statement described in paragraph (b)(3) of § 1.381(b)–1, and by a statement specifying the nature of the transaction which causes section 381 to apply; the differences in methods of taking inventories used by the corporations concerned; the method of taking inventories proposed to be used by the acquiring corporation; and the amounts of adjustments necessary to prevent duplication or omission in the computation of taxable income under such proposed method. The Commissioner may also require such other information as may be necessary in order to determine the proper method of taking inventories to be used by the acquiring corporation.

(e) Special rules under last-in first-out method. (1) Permission to use last-in first-out method. Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph (b) or (c) of this section, in any case where the last-in first-out method has been used with respect to a particular type of goods by any party to a transaction to which section 381(a) applies, the acquiring corporation may elect, without the consent of the Commissioner, to use the last-in first-out method with respect to all goods of the same type without regard to the principal method of taking inventories. In such a case, the acquiring corporation shall not be required to file a new Form 970 electing the last-in first-out method for goods of that type, but shall include these goods under the election made by the party which elected the last-in first-out method with respect to the particular type of goods.

(2) Carryover of base year inventories and layers of increment. In any case where the acquiring corporation is required or permitted to use the last-in first-out method the base-year inventories and any layers of increment for such inventories prior to the date of the transaction to which section 381 (a) applies must be retained, except that all base-year inventories or layers of increment which occur in the same taxable year must be combined.

(3) Section 1321 election. For purposes of applying section 1321, and the regulations thereunder, relating to the involuntary liquidation of last-in first-out inventories the acquiring corporation shall be treated as though it were the distributor or transferor corporation.

(f) Basis of inventories received. The basis of inventories received by the acquiring corporation from a distributor or transferor corporation shall be determined in accordance with section 334(b)(1) or 362(b), and the regulations thereunder. See also section 1013, and the regulations thereunder.

EXCLUSION OF LOCAL ADVERTISING CHARGES FROM SALE PRICE, FOR PURPOSES OF MANUFACTURERS EXCISE TAXES AND READJUSTMENT OF SALE PRICE FOR PURPOSES OF SUCH TAXES, BY REASON OF ALLOWANCES FOR SUCH ADVERTISING

Notice of Proposed Rule Making

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act, approved June 11, 1946, that the regulations set forth in tentative form below are proposed to be prescribed by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury or his delegate. Prior to the final adoption of such regulations, consideration will be given to any comments or suggestions pertaining thereto which are submitted in writing, in duplicate, to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Attention: T:P, Washington 25, D.C., within the period of 30 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Any person submitting written comments or suggestions who desires an opportunity to comment orally at a public hearing on these proposed regulations should submit his request, in writing, to the Commissioner within the 30-day period. In such case, a public hearing will be held and notice of the time, place, and date will be published in a subsequent issue of the FEDERAL REGISTER. The proposed regulations are to be issued under the authority contained in section 7805 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended (68A Stat. 917; 26 U.S.C. 7805).

[SEAL] CHARLES I. FOX,
Acting Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

The following regulations relating to the exclusion of local advertising charges from sale price, for purposes of the manufacturers excise taxes, and the readjustment of sale price, for purposes of such taxes, by reason of allowances for local advertising, are hereby prescribed under sections 4216(f) and 6416(b)(1), respectively, of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954. The regulations are applicable with respect to articles sold on or after January 1, 1961. To the extent of the subject matter within the scope thereof, such regulations supersede the Regulations on Determination of Price and Price Readjustments (26 CFR (1939) Part 330).

Subpart M—Special Provisions Applicable to Manufacturers Taxes

§ 48.4216(f) Statutory provisions; definition of price; exclusion of local advertising charge from sale price.

SEC. 4216. Definition of price. • • •

(f) Exclusion of local advertising charge from sale price—(1) Exclusion. In determining for purposes of this chapter, the price for which an article is sold, there shall be excluded a charge for local advertising (as defined in paragraph (4)) to the extent that such charge—

(A) Does not exceed 5 percent of the price for which the article is sold (as determined under this section by excluding any charge for local advertising),

(B) Is a separate charge made when the article is sold, and

(C) Is intended to be refunded to the purchaser or any subsequent vendee in reimbursement of costs incurred for local advertising.

In the case of any such charge (or portion thereof) which is not so refunded before the first day of the fifth calendar month following the calendar year during which the article was sold, the exclusion provided by the preceding sentence shall cease to apply as of such first day.

(2) Aggregate amount which may be excluded. In the case of articles upon the sale of which tax was imposed under the same section of this chapter—

(A) The sum of (i) the aggregate of the charges for local advertising excluded under paragraph (1), plus (ii) the aggregate of the readjustments for local advertising under section 6416(b)(1) (relating to credits or refunds for price readjustments), shall not exceed

(B) 5 percent of the aggregate of the prices (determined under this section by excluding all charges for local advertising) at which such articles were sold in sales on which tax was imposed by such section of this chapter.

The preceding sentence shall be applied to each manufacturer, producer, and importer as of the close of each calendar quarter, taking into account the items specified in subparagraphs (A) and (B) for such calendar quarter and preceding calendar quarters in the same calendar year.

(3) No adjustment for other advertising charges. Except to the extent provided by paragraphs (1) and (2), no charge or expenditure for advertising shall serve, for purposes of this section or section 6416(b)(1), as the basis for an exclusion from, or as a readjustment of, the price of any article.

(4) Local advertising defined. For purposes of this section and section 6416(b)(1), the term "local advertising" means only advertising which—

(A) Is initiated or obtained by the purchaser or any subsequent vendee,

(B) Names the article for which the price is determinable under this section and states the location at which such article may be purchased at retail, and

(C) Is broadcast over a radio station or television station or appears in a newspaper.

[Sec. 4216(f) as added by sec. 1, Act of Sept. 14, 1960 (Pub. Law 86–781, 74 Stat. 1017)]

§ 48.4216(f)–1 Exclusion of local advertising charges from sale price.

(a) In general. Section 4216(f) deals with the treatment to be accorded charges made by a manufacturer for, and reimbursements by a manufacturer of expenditures in connection with, the advertising of certain articles subject to excise tax under chapter 32 of the Code. Section 4216(f) provides an exclusion (which is in addition to the exclusions provided by section 4216(a) and the regulations thereunder) in respect of charges for local advertising, as defined in paragraph (b) of this section, for purposes of determining the price for which an article is sold. See paragraph (c) of this section. The exclusion provided by section 4216(f) and paragraph (c) of this section has application only in respect of articles sold on or after January 1, 1961. Section 4216(f) also provides an over-all limitation in respect of the sum of the amount of the exclusions from price as charges for local advertising and the amount of the readjustments authorized under section 6416(b)(1) (relating to credits or refunds for price readjustments) in respect of reimbursements by a manufacturer of expenditures for local advertising. See § 48.4216(f)–2. For provisions prohibiting exclusion from price or readjustment of price in respect of charges for, and reimbursements of expenditures for, advertising other than local advertising, see § 48.4216(f)–3.

(b) Definition of local advertising—(1) In general. For purposes of the regulations under sections 4216(f) and 6416(b)(1), the term "local advertising" means advertising which relates to an article with respect to which tax is imposed under chapter 32 of the Code on the price for which sold and which—

(i) Is initiated or obtained by the purchaser or any subsequent vendee,

(ii) Names the article for which the price is determinable under section 4216 and states the location at which such article may be purchased at retail, and

(iii) Is broadcast over a radio station or television station or appears in a newspaper.

(2) Initiating or obtaining advertising. For purposes of subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, the advertising must be initiated or obtained by one or more of the persons in the chain of distribution of the article (wholesale distributor, jobber, dealer, etc.) who purchased the article for resale. In general, advertising of an article is considered to be initiated or obtained by one or more persons in the chain of distribution of the article if any such person—

(i) Takes an active part in the actual planning and development, or in the arrangements or negotiations leading to the development, of the form and content of the advertising, or

(ii) Contracts for the placement of the advertising.

The participation by the manufacturer of the article in the planning, development, or placement of the advertising is immaterial provided the advertising is in fact initiated or obtained by one or more persons in the chain of distribution of the article. Furthermore, it is immaterial whether or not the advertising is subject to the approval of the manufacturer of the article. However, if the manufacturer of the article both initiates and obtains advertising, such advertising does not qualify as "local advertising".

(3) Identification of article and sales location. To meet the requirements of subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, the advertising must identify the article for which the price is determinable under section 4216 and give the location at which the article may be purchased at retail. All products taxable at the same rate under the same section of chapter 32 of the Code shall be considered to be an "article" for purposes of the preceding sentence. No specific method or means of identification is prescribed. The identification of the article may be made through the use of the name of the manufacturer or the use of an established trade-mark, such as a seal, picture, letter or letters, etc., or a combination thereof. The advertising must identify the particular retail establishment at which the article may be purchased at retail but need not specify the location of such establishment in terms of the number by which the premises are designated or the name of the street on which the retail premises are situated. However, the location of the retail premises must be described sufficiently, as, for example, by reference to a particular named shopping area or shopping center, to enable consumers to find the retail establishment.

(4) Determination of costs of local advertising. Where an advertisement identifies more than one article, and all such articles are not taxable, or are not taxable at the same rate under the same section of chapter 32 of the Code, a reasonable allocation of the cost of the advertisement must be made among (i) articles taxable at the same rate under the same section of the Code and (ii) articles which are not taxable under chapter 32 of the Code. For example, in the case of a single page newspaper advertisement, an allocation of costs reflecting the lineage or space devoted to the specified categories will be considered to reflect a reasonable allocation of the cost of advertising the different articles. As a general rule, only the cost of the "spot" portion identifying the retail establishment is considered "local advertising" in the case of national television or radio programs.

(5) Meaning of "newspaper". The term "newspaper", as used in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, is limited to those publications which are commonly understood to be newspapers and which are printed and distributed periodically at daily, weekly, or other short intervals for the dissemination of news of a general character and of a general interest. The term does not include handbills, circulars, flyers, or the like, unless printed and distributed as a part of a publication which constitutes a newspaper within the meaning of this subparagraph. Neither does the term include any publication which is issued to supply information on certain subjects of interest to particular groups, unless such publication otherwise qualifies as a newspaper within the meaning of this subparagraph. For purposes of this subparagraph, advertising is not considered to be news of a general character and of a general interest.

(c) Exclusion—(1) Conditions and limitations. A charge for local advertising which is required by a manufacturer to be paid as a condition to his sale on or after January 1, 1961, of an article is not a part of the taxable price of the article, to the extent that such charge meets each of the following conditions and limitations:

(i) Such charge does not exceed 5 percent of the difference between (a) an amount which would constitute the taxable price of the article (computed at the time of the sale of the article) if no part of any charge for local advertising were excludable in computing taxable price and (b) the amount of any separate charge for local advertising, whatever the amount of such charge may be.

(ii) Such charge is specifically shown as a separate charge for local advertising on the invoice or statement covering the sale of the article.

(iii) Such charge is billed by the manufacturer with the intention on his part of repaying the amount of the charge to the person purchasing the article from him, or to any person who subsequently purchases the article for resale, in reimbursement of costs incurred for local advertising of such article or some other article or articles taxable at the same rate under the same section of the Code. In the absence of evidence to the contrary, the fact of such intention will be assumed in all cases where the manufacturer and his vendees are parties to an advertising plan which calls for such repayments, or the manufacturer can otherwise establish that the vendees to whom he bills such charges understand and expect that such repayments will be made.

(2) When exclusion ceases to apply. To the extent that a charge for local advertising meets the conditions and limitations stated in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, such charge is excludable in computing the taxable price of the article in respect of which the charge was made. However, the exclusion will cease to apply in respect of any part of such charge which the manufacturer fails to repay, before May 1 of the calendar year following the calendar year in which the article was sold, to the person who purchased the article from him, or to some other person who subsequently purchases the article for resale, in reimbursement of costs incurred for local advertising of such article or some other article or articles taxable at the same rate under the same section of the Code. If, on such May 1, any part of the charge so excluded has not been so repaid, the manufacturer becomes liable for tax at that time in the same manner as if an article taxable under such section of the Code had been sold by him on such May 1 at a taxable price equivalent to that part of the charge not so repaid. However, see paragraph (c)(2) of § 48.6416(b)–1, relating to price readjustments in cases where local advertising charges are not repaid as of such May 1 but are subsequently paid over by the manufacturer to his vendees in reimbursement of costs for local advertising. For provisions relating to the method of determining whether a payment by a manufacturer is or is not attributable to an excluded local advertising charge, see paragraph (b)(3) of § 48.4216(f)–2. In any case where the payment is determined to be attributable to such a charge, the date of the sale in connection with which the charge was made shall be determined on a first-in-first-out basis in respect of the vendee to whom the charge was billed by the manufacturer.

(d) Examples. The application of this section may be illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). During the first calendar quarter of 1961, a manufacturer sold refrigerators to one of his distributors at a total charge of $10,500, exclusive of tax, transportation charges, delivery charges, or other charges which are excludable in computing taxable price pursuant to section 4216(a). This total charge of $10,500 was billed as follows:

Refrigerators	$10,000
Local advertising charge	500
Total charge	10,500

At the time of the manufacturer's sale of the refrigerators, it was his intention, in accordance with the agreement between him and the distributor, to make repayment to the distributor of the local advertising charge, to the extent of expenditures by the distributor for radio, television, or newspaper advertising specifically naming refrigerators or other articles taxable at the same rate under section 4111 which were manufactured by the manufacturer, and giving the location of various retail stores within the distributor's territory where such articles may be purchased. Pursuant to such agreement, the selection of the advertising medium to be employed is to be made by the distributor, who is to plan the advertising subject to approval by the manufacturer, and contract for its placement. In this example, the advertising for which the charge is made qualifies as local advertising, the charge is billed to the manufacturer's vendee as a separate charge, the manufacturer intends to repay the charge to his vendee in reimbursement of costs incurred by the vendee for local advertising, and the charge does not exceed 5 percent of $10,000. Accordingly, the manufacturer's charge of $500 for local advertising is not includible in the taxable price of the refrigerators for purposes of computing and paying the tax imposed by section 4111.

Example (2). Assume the same facts as those stated in Example (1), and assume further that prior to May 1, 1962, the manufacturer has repaid to the distributor, in reimbursement of local advertising expenses incurred by the distributor in connection with refrigerators or other articles taxable at the same rate under section 4111 sold to him by the manufacturer, $400 of the $500 billed as a local advertising charge by the manufacturer in connection with his sale of refrigerators to the distributor in the first quarter of 1961. The manufacturer is liable, as of May 1, 1962, for tax in respect of the $100 which has not been repaid to the distributor. The amount of the tax is determinable at the rate in effect under section 4111 on May 1, 1962, in respect of refrigerators and is includible in the manufacturer's return of tax under such section for the second quarter of 1962.

Example (3). During the first calendar quarter of 1961, a manufacturer sold refrigerators to one of his distributors at a total charge of $11,000, exclusive of tax, transportation charges, delivery charges, or other charges which are excludable in computing taxable price under section 4216(a). This total charge of $11,000 was billed as follows:

Refrigerators	$10,000
Local advertising charge	1,000
Total charge	11,000

At the time of the manufacturer's sale of the refrigerators, it was his intention, in accordance with the terms of a cooperative advertising plan to which the manufacturer and the distributor were parties, to make repayment to the distributor of the local advertising charge. Pursuant to the plan, the repayment would be made to the extent of expenditures by the distributor for radio, television, or newspaper advertising, initiated or obtained by him, specifically naming refrigerators or other articles taxable at the same rate under section 4111 which were manufactured by the manufacturer, and giving the location of various retail stores within the distributor's territory where such articles may be purchased. In this example, only $500 of the manufacturer's charge of $1,000 for local advertising may be excluded in determining the taxable price of the refrigerators for purposes of reporting and paying the tax imposed by section 4111. The remaining $500 may not be excluded in computing the taxable price of the refrigerators since this is the amount by which the $1,000 local advertising charge exceeds 5 percent of $10,000. Thus, the taxable price of the refrigerators in this example is $10,500.

Example (4). Assume the same facts as those stated in Example (1), except that, pursuant to the agreement between the manufacturer and the distributor, the manufacturer is to contract for the placement of the local advertising. Payment of the $500 local advertising charge is to be made by the manufacturer to the person with whom the advertising is placed in satisfaction of the manufacturer's contractual liability to such person. Under these circumstances, the manufacturer's payment of the $500 charge to the person with whom the advertising is placed does not constitute a refund to the purchaser in reimbursement of costs incurred for local advertising.

§ 48.4216(f)–2 Limitation on aggregate of exclusions and price readjustments.

(a) In general. The sum of the amount excluded from taxable price in respect of charges for local advertising, as provided in section 4216(f)(1) and § 48.4216(f)–1, plus the amount of the readjustments for which credits or refunds may be claimed in respect of local advertising, as provided in section 6416(b)(1) and paragraph (c) of § 48.6416(b)–1, is subject to an over-all 5 percent limitation. This limitation applies to each manufacturer, as of the close of each calendar quarter, in respect of all articles taxable under the same section of chapter 32 which were sold by such manufacturer in such quarter (and the preceding quarter or quarters, if any, in the calendar year). For example, a manufacturer selling articles taxable under section 4061 (relating to automobiles, trucks, buses, etc.), and also selling articles taxable under section 4111 (relating to refrigerators, quick-freeze units, etc.), who makes separate charges for local advertising in connection with his sales, or who makes reimbursement of local advertising expenses to his vendees out of moneys previously included in taxable price, in respect of any one or more articles in each of the two groups must apply the limitation separately in relation to the articles taxable under section 4061 and in relation to the articles taxable under section 4111. However, in such case, no breakdown of the separate articles taxable under section 4061, or of the separate articles taxable under section 4111, is required.

(b) Computation of over-all 5 percent limitation—(1) In general. The limitation prescribed by section 4216(f)(2) (the "over-all 5 percent limitation" referred to in paragraph (a) of this section) as to the total of the exclusions from price and readjustments of price which may be claimed for local advertising in respect of all articles taxable under the same section of chapter 32 of the Code shall be computed as of the close of each calendar quarter of the calendar year. The over-all 5 percent limitation is 5 percent of the difference between (i) the amount which would constitute the total taxable price (computed at the time of sale) of all articles taxable under the same section of chapter 32 of the Code sold by the manufacturer during the elapsed calendar quarters of the calendar year, if no part of any charge for local advertising were excludable in computing taxable price, and (ii) the total of all amounts billed as separate charges for local advertising of such articles (whatever the amount of any single charge or the total of all charges). In making the computations under subdivisions (i) and (ii) of this subparagraph, credits or refunds under section 6416(b) of tax paid on the sale of any such articles are to be disregarded and articles sold tax-free by the manufacturer are to be excluded. The amount by which the over-all 5 percent limitation computed as of the close of a particular calendar quarter in respect of articles taxable under the same section of the Code exceeds the sum of the charges for local advertising excluded in computing the taxable price and the amount of reimbursements for local advertising of such articles made during the elapsed calendar quarters of the calendar year, in respect of which credit or refund has been claimed, represents the unused portion of the over-all 5 percent limitation. Such unused portion is the maximum amount of reimbursements for local advertising in respect of which credit or refund may be claimed at the close of the particular calendar quarter, subject to the applicable conditions and limitations governing the right to claim a credit or refund in respect of local advertising (see § 48.6416(b)–1). The unused portion of the over-all 5 percent limitation as of the close of the fourth calendar quarter of a calendar year in respect of which credit or refund may not be claimed as of the close of such quarter must be disregarded in computing the over-all 5 percent limitation for any subsequent calendar quarter. Moreover, the amount of any reimbursements for local advertising made by a manufacturer in a calendar year which is in excess of the amount of such reimbursements in respect of which credit or refund may be claimed, within the over-all limitation, as of the close of the calendar year, may not subsequently serve as the basis for a credit or refund.

(2) Alternative method of computation in certain cases. If during the portion of the calendar year ending with the date as of which the over-all 5 percent limitation is being computed the amount of the local advertising charge separately billed by the manufacturer has not, in respect of any sale of any articles taxable under the same section of chapter 32 of the Code, exceeded the amount excludable pursuant to paragraph (c) of § 48.4216(f)–1 in computing taxable price, the over-all 5 percent limitation as of the close of a particular calendar quarter in respect of articles taxable under such section is 5 percent of the total taxable price (computed at the time of the sale) of all such articles sold tax-paid during the calendar year.

(3) Allocation of amounts paid in reimbursement of expenditures for local advertising. If a manufacturer makes contributions to a local advertising program in connection with which he makes excludable local advertising charges, it is necessary that reimbursements by the manufacturer for local advertising be attributed to the charges for local advertising, to the manufacturer's contributions, or allocated between them. Whether an amount paid by a manufacturer in reimbursement of expenses for local advertising is or is not a repayment of a local advertising charge which was excluded from taxable price under section 4216(f)(1) and § 48.4216(f)–1, shall be determined on the basis of an allocation made under the agreement between the manufacturer and his vendee (or any subsequent vendee).

(c) Examples. The application of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section may be illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). During the first and second calendar quarters of 1961, a manufacturer makes sales of articles taxable under section 4111 to his distributors. The total charges for such sales, exclusive of the tax, transportation charges, delivery charges, or other charges which are excludable, pursuant to section 4216(a), in computing taxable price, are as follows:

First Quarter

Articles taxable under section 4111	$100,000
Local advertising charges	3,000
Total charge	103,000

Second Quarter

Articles taxable under section 4111	$150,000
Local advertising charges	4,000
Total charge	154,000

Assume further that the manufacturer contributes to the advertising plan and that the manufacturer pays $5,500 and $1,000 during the first and second calendar quarters of 1961, respectively, to his distributors in reimbursement of expenses incurred by them for local advertising of the articles purchased from the manufacturer.

Computation as of close of first calendar quarter

1. Amount which would constitute total taxable price (computed at time of sale) if no part of any charge for local advertising were excludable in computing taxable price	$103,000
2. Amounts billed as separate charges for local advertising	3,000
3. Difference	100,000
4. Over-all 5 percent limitation (5 percent of item 3)	5,000
5. Amount excluded in computing taxable price	3,000
6. Unused portion of limitation	2,000
7. Allocation, pursuant to agreement, of $5,500 paid to distributors:
Charges for local advertising	3,000
Contributions by manufacturer	2,500

Readjustment may be claimed in respect of that portion of the total amount repaid to the distributors which is allocated to the manufacturer's contribution ($2,500) to the extent that such portion does not exceed the unused portion of the over-all 5 percent limitation ($2,000). Accordingly, as of the close of the first calendar quarter the manufacturer may claim credit or refund in respect of a readjustment or price in the amount of $2,000.

Computation as of close of second calendar quarter

1. Amount which would constitute total taxable price (computed at time of sale) if no part of any charge for local advertising were excludable in computing taxable price ($103,000+$154,000)	$257,000
2. Amounts billed as separate charges for local advertising ($3,000+$4,000)	7,000
3. Difference	250,000
4. Over-all 5 percent limitation (5 percent of item 3)	12,500
5. Amount excluded in computing taxable price ($3,000+$4,000) plus readjustment claimed at end of first calendar quarter ($2,000)	9,000
6. Unused portion of limitation	3,500
7. Allocation, pursuant to agreement, of $6,500 ($5,500 +$1,000) paid to distributors:
Charges for local advertising	3,500
Contributions by manufacturer	3,000

Although the total reimbursements for local advertising expenses attributable to contributions by the manufacturer ($3,000) does not exceed the unused portion of the over-all 5 percent limitation ($3,500), the manufacturer having taken, at the close of the first calendar quarter, a price readjustment in the amount of $2,000 in respect of his contributions is entitled at the close of the second calendar quarter to claim credit or refund in respect of a price readjustment in the amount of $1,000 ($6,000−$2,000).

Example (2). During the first calendar quarter of 1961, a manufacturer sold articles taxable under section 4111 to his distributors at a total charge of $106,000, exclusive of the tax, transportation charges, delivery charges, or other charges which are excludable, pursuant to section 4216(a), in computing taxable price. This total charge of $106,000 was billed as follows:

Articles taxable under section 4111	$100,000
Local advertising charges	6,000
Total charge	106,000

Assume further that the manufacturer contributes to the advertising plan and that the manufacturer pays $3,000 during the first calendar quarter of 1961 to his distributors in reimbursement of expenses incurred by them for local advertising of the articles purchased from the manufacturer.

Computation as of close of first calendar quarter

1. Amount which would constitute total taxable price (computed at time of sale) if no part of any charge for local advertising were excludable in computing taxable price	$106,000
2. Amounts billed as separate charges for local advertising	6,000
3. Difference	100,000
4. Over-all 5 percent limitation (5 percent of item 3)	5,000
5. Amount excluded in computing taxable price (see paragraph (c) of § 48.4216(f)-1)	5,000
6. Unused portion of limitation	0
7. Allocation, pursuant to agreement, of $3,000 paid to distributors:
Charges for local advertising	2,000
Contributions by manufacturer	1,000

Credit or refund may not be claimed in respect of that portion of the total amount repaid to the distributors ($3,000) which is allocated to the manufacturer's contribution ($1,000) since the amount excluded in computing taxable price is equal to the over-all 5 percent limitation.

§ 48.4216(f)-3 No exclusion or readjustment for other advertising charges or reimbursements.

(a) Exclusions from price. No exclusion in computing the taxable price of any article sold by the manufacturer on or after January 1, 1961, may be allowed in respect of any charge for advertising if, and to the extent that, such charge—

(1) Is for advertising which does not qualify as local advertising within the meaning of section 4216(f)(4) and paragraph (b) of § 48.4216(f)-1, or

(2) Does not satisfy all of the conditions and limitations stated in section 4216(f)(1) and paragraph (c) of § 48.4216(f)-1.

(b) Readjustments of price. No credit or refund under section 6416(b)(1) may be allowed in respect of any amount which was included in the taxable price of an article sold by the manufacturer on or after January 1, 1961, and which was later paid by him to his vendee in reimbursement of costs incurred for advertising, if, and to the extent that, the amount so paid—

(1) Is for advertising which does not qualify as local advertising within the meaning of section 4216(f)(4) and paragraph (b) of § 48.4216(f)-1, or

(2) Is not within the limitation provided in section 4216(f)(2), as computed in accordance with § 48.4216(f)-2, as of the close of the calendar quarter in which the amount is so paid over or as of the close of any subsequent calendar quarter in the same calendar year. See, however, paragraph (c)(2)(ii) of § 48.6416(b)-1, relating to redetermination of price readjustments in cases where local advertising charges excluded from taxable price in one calendar year become taxable as of May 1 of the following calendar year.

Subpart O—Refunds and Other Administrative Provisions of Special Application to Retailers and Manufacturers Taxes

§ 48.6416(b) Statutory provisions; special cases in which tax payments considered overpayments.

SEC. 6416. Certain taxes on sales and services. • • •

(b) Special cases in which tax payments considered overpayments. Under regulations prescribed by the Secretary or his delegate, credit or refund (without interest) shall be allowed or made in respect of the overpayments determined under the following paragraphs:

(1) Price readjustments. If the price of any article in respect of which a tax, based on such price, is imposed by chapter 31 or 32, is readjusted by reason of the return or repossession of the article or a covering or container, or by a bona fide discount, rebate, or allowance, including (in the case of a tax imposed by chapter 32) a readjustment for local advertising (but only to the extent provided in section 4216(f)(2) and (3)), the part of the tax proportionate to the part of the price repaid or credited to the purchaser shall be deemed to be an overpayment. The preceding sentence shall not apply in the case of an article in respect of which tax was computed under section 4223(b)(2); but if the price for which such article was sold is readjusted by reason of the return or repossession of the article, the part of the tax proportionate to the part of such price repaid or credited to the purchaser shall be deemed to be an overpayment.

(2) Specified uses and resales. The tax paid under chapter 32 (or under section 4041(a)(1) or (b)(1)) in respect of any article shall be deemed to be an overpayment if such article was, by any person—

(A) Exported (except in any case to which subsection (g) applies);

(B) Used or sold for use as supplies for vessels or aircraft;

(C) Sold to a State or local government for the exclusive use of a State or local government;

(D) Sold to a nonprofit educational organization for its exclusive use;

(E) Resold to a manufacturer or producer for use by him as provided in subparagraph (A), (B), or (E) of paragraph (3);

(F) In the case of a tire, inner tube, or receiving set, resold for use as provided in subparagraph (C) or (D) of paragraph (3) and the other article referred to in such subparagraph is by any person exported or sold as provided in such subparagraph;

(G) In the case of a liquid taxable under section 4041, sold for use as fuel in a diesel-powered highway vehicle or as fuel for the propulsion of a motor vehicle, motorboat, or airplane, if (i) the vendee used such liquid otherwise than as fuel in such a vehicle, motorboat, or airplane or resold such liquid, or (ii) such liquid was (within the meaning of paragraphs (1), (2), and (3) of section 6420(c)) used on a farm for farming purposes;

(H) In the case of a liquid in respect of which tax was paid under section 4041 at the rate of 3 cents or 4 cents a gallon, used during any calendar quarter in vehicles while engaged in furnishing scheduled common carrier public passenger land transportation service along regular routes; except that (i) this subparagraph shall apply only if the 60 percent passenger fare revenue test set forth in section 6421(b)(2) is met with respect to such quarter, and (ii) the amount of such overpayment for such quarter shall be an amount determined by multiplying 1 cent (where tax was paid at the 3-cent rate) or 2 cents (where tax was paid at the 4-cent rate) for each gallon of liquid so used by the percentage which such person's tax-exempt passenger fare revenue (as defined in section 6421(d)(2)) derived from such scheduled service during such quarter was of his total passenger fare revenue (not including the tax imposed by section 4261, relating to the tax on transportation of persons) derived from such scheduled service during such quarter;

(I) In the case of a liquid in respect of which tax was paid under section 4041(a)(1) at the rate of 3 cents or 4 cents a gallon, used or resold for use as a fuel in a diesel-powered highway vehicle (i) which (at the time of such use or resale) is not registered, and is not required to be registered, for highway use under the laws of any State or foreign country, or (ii) which, in the case of a diesel-powered highway vehicle owned by the United States, is not used on the highway; except that the amount of any overpayment by reason of this subparagraph shall not exceed an amount computed at the rate of 1 cent a gallon where tax was paid at the 3-cent rate or at the rate of 2 cents a gallon where tax was paid at the 4-cent rate;

(J) In the case of a liquid in respect of which tax was paid under section 4041(b)(1) at the rate of 3 cents or 4 cents a gallon, used or resold for use otherwise than as a fuel for the propulsion of a highway vehicle (i) which (at the time of such use or resale) is registered, or is required to be registered, for highway use under the laws of any State or foreign country, or (ii) which, in the case of a highway vehicle owned by the United States, is used on the highway; except that the amount of any overpayment by reason of this subparagraph shall not exceed an amount computed at the rate of 1 cent a gallon where tax was paid at the 3-cent rate or at the rate of 2 cents a gallon where tax was paid at the 4-cent rate;

(K) In the case of any article taxable under section 4061(b) (other than spark plugs and storage batteries), used or sold for use as repair or replacement parts or accessories for farm equipment (other than equipment taxable under section 4061(a));

(L) In the case of tread rubber in respect of which tax was paid under section 4071(a)(4), used or sold for use otherwise than in the recapping or retreading of tires of the type used on highway vehicles (as defined in section 4072(c)), unless credit or refund of such tax is allowable under subsection (b)(3);

(M) In the case of gasoline, used or sold for use in production of special motor fuels referred to in section 4041(b).

(N) In the case of lubricating oil, used or sold for nonlubricating purposes;

(O) In the case of lubricating oil in respect of which tax was paid at the rate of 6 cents a gallon, used or sold for use as cutting oils (within the meaning of section 4092(b)); except that the amount of such overpayment shall not exceed an amount computed at the rate of 3 cents a gallon;

(P) In the case of any musical instrument taxable under section 4151, sold to a religious institution for exclusively religious purposes;

(Q) In the case of unexposed motion picture film, used or sold for use in the making of newsreel motion picture film.

(3) Tax-paid articles used for further manufacture, etc. If the tax imposed by chapter 32 has been paid with respect to the sale of any article by the manufacturer, producer, or importer thereof to a second manufacturer or producer, such tax shall be deemed to be an overpayment by such second manufacturer or producer if—

(A) In the case of any article other than an article to which subparagraph (B), (C), (D), or (E) applies, such article is used by the second manufacturer or producer as material in the manufacture or production of, or as a component part of, another article taxable under chapter 32 manufactured or produced by him;

(B) In the case of—

(i) A part or accessory taxable under section 4061(b),

(ii) A radio or television component taxable under section 4141, or

(iii) A camera lens taxable under section 4171,

such article is used by the second manufacturer or producer as material in the manufacture or production of, or as a component part of, any other article manufactured or produced by him;

(C) In the case of—

(i) A tire or inner tube taxable under section 4071, or

(ii) An automobile radio or television receiving set taxable under section 4141, such article is sold by the second manufacturer or producer on or in connection with, or with the sale of, any other article manufactured or produced by him and such other article is by any person exported, sold to a State or local government for the exclusive use of a State or local government, sold to a nonprofit educational organization for its exclusive use, or used or sold for use as supplies for vessels or aircraft;

(D) In the case of a radio receiving set or an automobile radio receiving set—

(i) Such set is used by the second manufacturer or producer as a component part of any other article manufactured or produced by him, and

(ii) Such other article is by any person exported, sold to a State or local government for the exclusive use of a State or local government, sold to a nonprofit educational organization for its exclusive use, or used or sold for use as supplies for vessels or aircraft; or

(E) In the case of—

(i) A bicycle tire (as defined in section 4221(e)(4)(B)), or

(ii) An inner tube for such a tire,

such article is used by the second manufacturer or producer as material in the manufacture or production of, or as a component part of, a bicycle (other than a rebuilt or reconditioned bicycle).

For purposes of subparagraphs (A) and (B), an article shall be treated as having been used as a component part of another article if, had it not been broken or rendered useless in the manufacture or production of such other article, it would have been so used.

(4) Tires, inner tubes, and automobile radio and television receiving sets. If—

(A)(i) A tire or inner tube taxable under section 4071, or automobile radio or television receiving set taxable under section 4141, is sold by the manufacturer, producer, or importer thereof on or in connection with, or with the sale of, any other article manufactured or produced by him, or

(ii) A radio receiving set or an automobile radio receiving set is used by the manufacturer thereof as a component part of any other article manufactured or produced by him; and

(B) Such other article is by any person exported, sold to a State or local government for the exclusive use of a State or local government, sold to a nonprofit educational organization for its exclusive use, or used or sold for use as supplies for vessels or aircraft, any tax imposed by chapter 32 in respect of such tire, inner tube, or receiving set which has been paid by the manufacturer, producer, or importer thereof shall be deemed to be an overpayment by him.

(5) Return of certain installment accounts. If—

(A) Tax was paid under section 4053(b)(1) or 4216(e)(1) in respect of any installment account,

(B) Such account is, under the agreement under which the account was sold, returned to the person who sold such account, and

(C) The consideration is readjusted as provided in such agreement, the part of the tax paid under section 4053(b)(1) or 4216(e)(1) proportionate to the part of the consideration repaid or credited to the purchaser of such account shall be deemed to be an overpayment.

This subsection shall apply in respect of an article only if the exportation or use referred to in the applicable provision of this subsection occurs before any other use, or, in the case of a sale or resale, the use referred to in the applicable provision of this subsection is to occur before any other use.

[Sec. 6416(b) as amended and in effect Jan. 1, 1959, and as further amended by sec. 201(d), Federal-Aid Highway Act 1959 (73 Stat. 613); sec. 3, Act of Apr. 8, 1960 (Pub. Law 86-418, 74 Stat. 38); sec. 2, Act of Sept. 14, 1960 (Pub. Law 86-781, 74 Stat. 1018)]

§ 48.6416(b)-1 Readjustments of price on which manufacturers or retailers excise tax is based.

(c) Reimbursements in respect of local advertising—(1) In general. In any case in which a manufacturer has paid tax under chapter 32 based on the price of any article sold by him after 1960, and a portion of the price is thereafter paid by the manufacturer to his vendee in reimbursement of expenses for local advertising of such article or any other article taxable at the same rate under the same section of chapter 32 which was sold by such manufacturer, such reimbursement will constitute a price readjustment with respect to which the manufacturer may claim credit or refund, if and to the extent that such reimbursement is within the limitation provided in section 4216(f)(2), as computed in accordance with the provisions of § 48.4216(f)-2 as of the close of the calendar quarter in which the reimbursement is made or as of the close of any subsequent calendar quarter of the same calendar year.

(2) Local advertising charges excluded from taxable price in one calendar year but repaid on or after May 1 of following calendar year—(i) Determination of price readjustments for year in which charge is repaid. In any case where local advertising charges which were excluded in computing the taxable price of an article sold in any calendar year after 1960 are not repaid to the manufacturer's vendee or any subsequent vendee before May 1 of the following calendar year and tax is paid with respect to such charges (see section 4216(f)(1) and § 48.4216(f)-1), any subsequent repayment of such charges to the manufacturer's vendee in reimbursement of expenses incurred for local advertising will constitute a price readjustment with respect to which the manufacturer may claim credit or refund, if and to the extent that such reimbursement is within the limitation provided in section 4216 (f) (2), as computed in accordance with the provisions of § 48.4216(f)–2 as of the close of the calendar quarter in which the reimbursement is made or as of the close of any subsequent calendar quarter of the same calendar year.

(ii) Redetermination of price readjustments for year in which charge was made. In any case where local advertising charges which were excluded in computing the taxable price of an article sold in any calendar year after 1960 are not repaid to the manufacturer's vendee or any subsequent vendee before May 1 of the following calendar year and tax is paid with respect to such charges (see section 4216(f)(1) and § 48.4216(f)–1), the manufacturer may make a redetermination, in respect of the calendar year in which the charge was made, of the price readjustments with respect to which he may claim credit or refund; excluding from such redetermination the local advertising charges made in such calendar year which became taxable as of May 1 of the following calendar year.

[26 CFR (1954) Part 179]

MACHINE GUNS AND CERTAIN OTHER FIREARMS

Notice of Proposed Rule Making

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act, approved June 11, 1946, that the regulations set forth in tentative form below are proposed to be prescribed by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury or his delegate. Prior to the final adoption of such regulations, consideration will be given to any data, views, or arguments pertaining thereto which are submitted in writing, in duplicate, to the Director, Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division, Internal Revenue Service, Washington 25, D.C., within the period of 30 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Any person submitting written comments or suggestions who desires an opportunity to comment orally at a public hearing on these proposed regulations should submit his request, in writing, to the Director within the 30-day period. In such a case, a public hearing will be held, and notice of the time, place, and date will be published in a subsequent issue of the FEDERAL REGISTER. The proposed regulations are to be issued under 68A Stat. 917, 26 U.S.C. 7805, and implement Chapter 53 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 (68A Stat. 721).

[SEAL] DANA LATHAM,
Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

In order to implement the provisions of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended by Public Law 86–478 (74 Stat. 149), and to make certain conforming and clarifying changes, regulations in 26 CFR Part 179 are amended as follows:

1. The statement of authority under which this Part is issued is amended to read as follows:

AUTHORITY: § 179.1 through 179.195 are issued under 68A Stat. 917, 26 U.S.C. 7805, and implement Chapter 53 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 (68A Stat. 721). Related statutes which are interpreted or applied are cited in the text of the section interpreting or applying such a statute or in parentheses at the conclusion of the section.

§ 179.1 [Amendment]

2. Section 179.1 is amended by inserting "(occupational)" between the words "special" and "taxes" in paragraph (a).

§ 179.14 [Deletion]

3. Section 179.14 is deleted.

4. Section 179.20 is amended to read as follows:

§ 179.20 Firearm.

"Firearm" shall mean (a) a shotgun having a barrel or barrels of less than 18 inches in length, or (b) a rifle having a barrel or barrels of less than 16 inches in length, or (c) any weapon made from a rifle or shotgun (whether by alteration, modification, or otherwise) if such weapon as modified has an overall length of less than 26 inches, or (d) any other weapon, except a pistol or revolver, from which a shot is discharged by an explosive if such weapon is capable of being concealed on the person, or (e) a machine gun, and includes (f) a muffler or silencer for any firearm whether or not such firearm is included within the foregoing definition.

§ 179.22 [Amendment]

5. Section 179.22 is amended by adding a second sentence to read as follows: "Except that, bringing a firearm from a foreign country or a territory subject to the jurisdiction of the United States into a foreign trade zone for storage pending shipment to a foreign country or subsequent importation into this country, pursuant to the I.R.C. and this Part, shall not be deemed importation."

§ 179.29 [Amendment]

6. Section 179.29 is amended by striking the words "or creation" and "other weapon" and inserting in lieu of the latter two words, the word "firearm".

7. A new § 179.29a to read as follows is inserted immediately after § 179.29:

§ 179.29a Manual reloading.

Manual reloading shall mean the inserting of a cartridge or shell into the chamber of a firearm either with the hands or by means of a mechanical device controlled and energized by the hands.

§§ 179.32 and 179.33 [Deletions]

8. Sections 179.32 and 179.33 are deleted.

9. Section 179.35 is amended to read as follows:

§ 179.35 Pistol.

"Pistol" shall mean a weapon originally designed, made, and intended to fire a small projectile (bullet) from one or more barrels when held in one hand, and having (a) a chamber(s) as an integral part(s) of, or permanently aligned with, the bore(s); and (b) a short stock designed to be gripped by one hand and at an angle to and extending below the line of the bore(s). The term shall not include any gadget device, any gun altered or converted to resemble a pistol, any gun that fires more than one shot, without manual reloading, by a single function of the trigger, or any small portable gun such as: Nazi belt buckle pistol, glove pistol, or a one-hand stock gun designed to fire fixed shotgun ammunition.

§ 179.43 [Amendment]

10. Section 179.43 is amended by striking, ", the Territories of Alaska and Hawaii,".

11. A new § 179.45 to read as follows is inserted immediately after § 179.44:

§ 179.45 Unserviceable firearm.

"Unserviceable firearm" shall mean a firearm which is incapable of discharging a shot by means of an explosive and incapable of being readily restored to a firing condition.

12. Section 179.50 is amended to read as follows:

§ 179.50 Liability for tax.

Every person who engages in the business of importing, manufacturing or dealing in (including pawnbrokers) firearms in the United States is required to pay a special (occupational) tax for each place where such business is conducted.

13. Section 179.51 is amended to read as follows:

§ 179.51 Special (occupational) tax rates.

(a) The special (occupational) taxes are as follows:

	Per year or fraction thereof
Class 1: Importers of firearms	$500
Manufacturers of firearms, except manufacturers in Class 2	500
Class 2: Manufacturers of firearms whose production is limited to guns with combination shotgun and rifle barrels, 12 inches or more but less than 18 inches in length, from which only a single discharge can be made from either barrel without manual reloading, or guns classified as "any other weapon" under section 5848 (5), I.R.C., or guns of both types	25
Class 3: Pawnbrokers	300
Class 4: Dealers, other than pawnbrokers, except those in Class 5	200
Class 5: Dealers whose dealing in firearms is limited to guns with combination shotgun and rifle barrels, 12 inches or more but less than 18 inches in length, from which only a single discharge can be made from either barrel without manual reloading, or guns classified as "any other weapon" under section 5848 (5), I.R.C., or guns of both types	10

(b) The tax year begins July 1 and ends June 30. Special (occupational) taxes are due and payable on first engaging in business, and thereafter on or before the first day of July each year. Special (occupational) taxes may not be prorated. Persons commencing business at any time after the first day of July in any year are liable for the special (occupational) tax for the complete tax year.

14. Section 179.52 is amended to read as follows:

§ 179.52 Registration, return, and payment of special (occupational) taxes.

Every person, prior to commencing any business taxable under section 5801, I.R.C., must, for each place of business operated by such person, register, file a return (Form 11) with, and pay the proper tax to, the District Director of the collection district in which each such place of business is located. Thereafter, such person must, for each place of business, register, file a return (Form 11), and pay the proper tax on or before the 1st day of July each year during which he continues such business. If a person has paid special (occupational) taxes for a taxable year, the District Director will furnish him a return (Form 11), which must be filled out and executed under penalty of perjury, for registration and tax payment for the succeeding taxable year if that person intends to continue in business. Properly completing, executing, and timely filing of a return (Form 11) will constitute compliance with section 5802, I.R.C. A person doing business under a style or trade name must give his own name, followed by his style or trade name. In the case of a partnership, unincorporated association, firm, or company, other than a corporation, its style or trade name must be given, also the name of each member and his place of residence. The class of business, as described in § 179.51, and the period for which special (occupational) tax is due, must also be stated.

15. Section 179.53 is amended to read as follows:

§ 179.53 The special tax stamp, receipt for special (occupational) taxes.

Upon receipt of a properly completed and executed return (Form 11) accompanied by remittance of the full amount due, the District Director will issue a special tax stamp as evidence of payment of the special (occupational) tax.

16. Section 179.56 is amended to read as follows:

§ 179.56 Engaging in business at more than one location.

A person must pay the special (occupational) tax for each location where he engages in any business taxable under section 5801, I.R.C. However, a person paying a special (occupational) tax covering his principal place of business may utilize other locations solely for storage of firearms without incurring special (occupational) tax liability at such locations. A manufacturer, upon the single payment of the appropriate special (occupational) tax, may sell firearms of the type(s) covered by such tax, if such firearms are of his own manufacture, at the place of manufacture and at his principal office or place of business if no such firearms, except samples, are kept at such office or place of business. When a person changes the location of a business for which he has paid the special (occupational) tax, he will be liable for another such tax unless the change is properly registered with the District Director, as provided in § 179.64.

17. Section 179.57 is amended to read as follows:

§ 179.57 Engaging in more than one business at the same location.

If more than one business taxable under section 5801, I.R.C., is carried on at the same location during a taxable year, the special (occupational) tax imposed on each such business must be paid.

§ 179.58 [Amendment]

18. Section 179.58 is amended by striking "copartnership" and inserting "partnership" in lieu thereof, and by inserting "(occupational)" between the words "special" and "tax".

§ 179.60 [Amendment]

19. Section 179.60 is amended by inserting "(occupational)" between the words "special" and "tax" in the first sentence and striking the expression "Form 11A (Firearms)" in the second sentence and substituting the expression "return, Form 11" in lieu thereof.

§ 179.61 [Amendment]

20. Section 179.61 is amended by inserting "(occupational)" between the words "special" and "tax" preceding the word "liability" in the second sentence.

21. Section 179.62 is amended to read as follows:

§ 179.62 Change in partnership or unincorporated association.

When one or more members withdraw from a partnership or an unincorporated association, the remaining member, or members, may, without incurring additional special (occupational) tax liability, carry on the same business at the same location for the balance of the taxable period for which special (occupational) tax was paid, provided any such change shall be registered in the same manner as required by § 179.60. Where new member(s) are taken into a partnership or an unincorporated association, the new firm so constituted may not carry on business under the special tax stamp of the old firm. The new firm must file a return, pay the special (occupational) tax and register in the same manner as a person who first engages in business is required to do under § 179.52, even though the name of the new firm may be the same as that of the old. Where the members of a partnership or an unincorporated association, which has paid special (occupational) tax, form a corporation to continue the business, a new special tax stamp must be taken out in the name of the corporation.

§ 179.63 [Amendment]

22. Section 179.63 is amended by inserting "(occupational)" between the words "special" and "tax" in the first sentence and inserting "(occupational)" between the words "special" and "tax" in the second sentence.

23. Section 179.64 is amended to read as follows:

§ 179.64 Notice by taxpayer.

Whenever a taxpayer removes his business to a location other than specified in his last special (occupational) tax return (see § 179.52), he shall, within 30 days after the date of removal, file another return (Form 11). Such return shall be designated as "removal registry", set forth the time of removal, and the address of the new location. The taxpayer's special tax stamp must accompany the return for notation by the District Director of the change of location. As to liability in case of failure to register a change of location within 30 days, see § 179.66.

24. Section 179.65 is amended to read as follows:

§ 179.65 Failure to pay special (occupational) tax.

Any person who engages in a business taxable under section 5801, I.R.C., without timely payment of the tax imposed with respect to such business (see § 179.52) shall be liable for such tax, plus the interest and penalties thereon. In addition, such person may be liable for criminal penalties under section 5861, I.R.C.

§ 179.66 [Amendment]

25. Section 179.66 is amended by inserting "(occupational)" between the words "special" and "tax" at the three places where these two words appear together in the section.

26. Section 179.67 is amended to read as follows:

§ 179.67 Delinquency.

Any person liable for special (occupational) tax under section 5801, I.R.C., who fails to file a return (Form 11), as prescribed, will be liable for a delinquency penalty computed on the amount of tax due unless a return (Form 11) is later filed and failure to file the return timely is shown to the satisfaction of the District Director to be due to reasonable cause. The delinquency penalty to be added to the tax is 5 percent if the failure is for not more than one month, with an additional 5 percent for each additional month or fraction thereof during which failure continues, not to exceed 25 percent in the aggregate (section 6651, I.R.C.). However, no delinquency penalty is assessed where the 50 percent addition to tax is assessed for fraud (see § 179.68).

§ 179.69 [Amendment]

27. Section 179.69 is amended by inserting ", possession" between "manufacture" and "or" in the third sentence, and inserting "(occupational)" between the words "special" and "tax" in the last sentence.

§ 179.70 [Amendment]

28. Section 179.70 is amended by inserting "(occupational)" between the words "special" and "taxes" in the first sentence and the second sentence, and by inserting "District" before the word "Director" in the second sentence.

29. Section 179.75 is amended to read as follows:

§ 179.75 Rate of tax.

Except as provided in §§ 179.82, 179.83, and 179.84, a tax of $200 is imposed on the making of any firearm in the United States (whether by manufacture, putting together, alteration, any combination thereof, or otherwise). Such tax shall be paid in advance of the making of the firearm by the person making the firearm. Payment of the tax on the making of a firearm shall be represented by a $200 adhesive stamp bearing the words "National Firearms Act".

§ 179.76 [Deletion]

30. Section 179.76 is deleted.

§ 179.77 [Amendment]

31. Section 179.77 is amended by striking "of the proper denomination (see § 179.76)" in the third sentence and inserting in lieu thereof "(see § 179.75)."

§ 179.78 [Amendment]

32. Section 179.78 is amended by striking "90 days" in the first sentence and inserting "one year" in lieu thereof.

§ 179.82 [Amendment]

33. Section 179.82 is amended by inserting "(occupational)" between the words "special" and "tax" in the first sentence.

34. Section 179.83 is amended to read as follows:

§ 179.83 Altering a firearm, the making of which has previously been taxed.

No tax will be imposed on the making of a firearm from another firearm with respect to which a making tax has been paid under section 5821(a), I.R.C., prior to such making. However, the person so altering or converting such firearm shall notify the Director, Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division, Internal Revenue Service, Washington 25, D.C., in writing immediately thereafter, giving a complete description of the firearm so altered or converted and indicating the changes made.

§ 179.84 [Amendment]

35. Section 179.84 is amended by striking the heading and inserting in lieu thereof "Making a firearm for use of Government agencies or peace officers." and by striking the words "or any Federal officer" in the first sentence.

§ 179.95 [Amendment]

36. Section 179.95 is amended by inserting the words "of the proper denomination" between the words "stamp" and "bearing".

37. Section 179.96 is amended to read as follows:

§ 179.96 Rate of tax.

The transfer tax imposed with respect to firearms transferred within the United States is at the rate of $200 for the transfer of each firearm, except that, the transfer tax imposed with respect to any gun with combination shotgun and rifle barrels, 12 inches or more but less than 18 inches in length, from which only a single discharge can be made from either barrel without manual reloading, and on any gun classified as "any other weapon" under section 5848(5), I.R.C., is at the rate of $5 for the transfer of each such weapon.

38. A new § 179.96a to read as follows is inserted immediately after § 179.96.

§ 179.96a Liability for tax.

The tax imposed on the transfer of a firearm shall be paid by the transferor, except that, if a firearm is transferred without payment of the proper tax, the transferor and transferee shall be jointly and severally liable for such tax.

39. Section 179.98 is amended to read as follows:

§ 179.98 Written application and order required for transfer of firearm.

Except as otherwise provided, no firearm may be transferred in the United States unless a Form 4 (Firearms) covering the transfer of the firearm has been approved by the Director, Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division, Washington 25, D.C. The person seeking to obtain a firearm must complete the items in Form 4 (Firearms), in duplicate, relating to the applicant, execute said form as the applicant, and then submit the form, in duplicate, to the person transferring the firearm. The person desiring to transfer the firearm will complete the items in the Form 4 (Firearms), in duplicate, relating to such a person, affix to the original a "National Firearms Act" stamp of the proper denomination in the space provided (§ 179.96), properly cancel such stamp (§ 179.101), execute the said form, and submit the said form, in duplicate, to the Director for approval. Upon approval, the original of the Form 4 (Firearms) will be returned to the transferor, who may then deliver the firearm and the approved original Form 4 (Firearms) to the applicant.

§ 179.99 [Amendment]

40. Section 179.99 is amended by striking "90 days" in the first sentence and inserting "one year" in lieu thereof.

41. Section 179.103 is amended to read as follows:

§ 179.103 Special (occupational) tax payers.

The transfer tax and the requirements as to the use of Form 4 (Firearms) (§ 179.98) are not applicable where importers or manufacturers in Class 1, pawnbrokers in Class 3 and dealers in Class 4, who have registered and paid special (occupational) tax, transfer any type of firearm to other like manufacturers, like importers, or like dealers (including pawnbrokers), who have registered and paid special (occupational) tax. Manufacturers in Class 2 and dealers in Class 5 may transfer only the types of firearms which they are authorized to produce or deal in to any other properly registered special (occupational) tax payer without payment of transfer tax and without complying with the requirements as to the use of Form 4 (Firearms). Similarly, importers, manufacturers in Class 1, pawnbrokers in Class 3 and dealers in Class 4 may transfer only guns with combination shotgun and rifle barrels, 12 inches or more but less than 18 inches in length, from which only a single discharge can be made from either barrel without manual reloading, and firearms classified as "any other weapon" to manufacturers in Class 2 or dealers in Class 5 without payment of transfer tax and without complying with the requirements relating to the use of Form 4 (Firearms). The class of a special (occupational) tax payer (Class 1 through Class 5) referred to in this section shall be determined by the rate of special (occupational) tax paid by the manufacturer, importer or dealer, as provided in § 179.51. Before a tax-free transfer is made, the transferor must satisfy himself that the transferee is a registered special (occupational) tax payer.

42. Section 179.104 is amended to read as follows:

§ 179.104 Peace officers.

Pursuant to section 5812, I.R.C., the following persons are hereby designated as peace officers entitled to receive firearms without payment of transfer tax or the use of Form 4 (Firearms): Sheriffs, chiefs of police, commissioners of police, superintendents or other chief officers of State police units, including State highway patrols, directors of public safety, and bona fide subordinate officers under the command of the aforementioned persons upon appropriate recommendation of the officials designated. However, when any firearm is transferred tax-exempt under this section, §§ 179.105 and 179.106 must be complied with.

43. A new § 179.104a to read as follows is inserted immediately after § 179.104:

§ 179.104a Government Agencies.

Firearms may be transferred to the United States Government, any State, Territory, or possession of the United States, or to any political subdivision thereof, or to the District of Columbia, without payment of transfer tax or the use of Form 4 (Firearms). However, when any firearm is transferred tax-exempt under this section, §§ 179.105 and 179.106 must be complied with.

44. A new § 179.104b to read as follows is inserted immediately after § 179.104a:

§ 179.104b Unserviceable firearms.

An unserviceable firearm may be transferred as a curiosity or ornament without payment of transfer tax or the use of Form 4 (Firearms). However, when any unserviceable firearm is transferred tax-exempt under this section, § 179.105 must be complied with.

§ 179.105 [Amendment]

45. Section 179.105 is amended by striking the period from the heading and adding "and transfer." and by striking "of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954," in the first sentence and inserting "I.R.C., as implemented by §§ 179.104, 179.104a, and 179.104b," in lieu thereof.

§ 179.106 [Amendment]

46. Section 179.106 is amended by striking "of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954" from the first sentence and inserting "I.R.C., as implemented by §§ 179.104 and 179.104a," in lieu thereof.

§ 179.120 [Amendment]

47. Section 179.120 is amended by striking "already registered," in the first sentence and inserting "registered to him," in lieu thereof.

§ 179.130 [Amendment]

48. Section 179.130 is amended by striking the word "duplicate" in the first sentence and inserting the word "triplicate" in lieu thereof and by deleting the last sentence and inserting the following sentences in lieu thereof: "The approval of an application to import a firearm shall be automatically terminated at the expiration of 6 months, unless upon request, it is further extended by the Director. If a firearm described in the approved application is not imported, prior to the expiration of the permit, the Director should be so notified. Collectors of customs will not permit release of the firearm from customs custody, except for exportation, unless covered by an application which has been approved by the Director and such approval is currently effective."

§ 179.132 [Amendment]

49. Section 179.132 is amended by inserting "(occupational)" between the words "special" and "tax" in the first part of the proviso, and is further amended by striking "special-tax payer" from the latter part of the proviso and inserting "special (occupational) tax payer of a type qualified to import, manufacture, or deal in the firearm transferred" in lieu thereof.

50. Section 179.137 is amended to read as follows:

§ 179.137 Proof of exportation.

Within a six-month's period from date of issuance of the permit to export firearms, the exporter shall furnish or cause to be furnished to the Director, Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division, Internal Revenue Service, Washington 25, D.C., (a) the certificate of exportation (Part 3 of Form 9 (Firearms)) executed by the U.S. Collector of Customs as provided in § 179.136, or (b) the certificate of mailing by parcel post (Part 4 of Form 9 (Firearms)) executed by the postmaster of the post office receiving the parcel containing the firearm, or (c) a certificate of landing executed by a Customs officer of the foreign country to which the firearm is exported, or (d) a sworn statement of the foreign consignee covering the receipt of the firearm, or (e) the return receipt, or a photostat thereof, signed by the addressee or his agent, where the shipment of a firearm was made by insured or registered parcel post. Issuance of a permit to export a firearm and furnishing of evidence establishing such exportation under this section will relieve the actual exporter and the person selling to the exporter for exportation from transfer tax liability. Where satisfactory evidence of exportation of a firearm is not furnished within the stated period the transfer tax will be assessed.

§ 179.139 [Amendment]

51. Section 179.139 is amended by striking "(other than Hawaii)" in the first sentence.

§ 179.151 [Amendment]

52. Section 179.151 is amended by striking the period at the end of the first sentence and inserting in lieu thereof a colon and adding "except that if a manufacturer, importer, or dealer has filed a Form 5 (Firearms) giving notice that a firearm has been transferred, a Form 3 (Firearms) need not be filed with respect to that firearm".

§ 179.171 [Amendment]

53. Section 179.171 is amended by striking "$1" and inserting "$5" in lieu thereof.

§ 179.181 [Amendment]

54. Section 179.181 is amended by inserting "(occupational)" between the words "special" and "taxes" in the first sentence.

§ 179.190 [Amendment]

55. Section 179.190 is amended by inserting "and the provisions of this Part," between "1954," and "shall".

SMALL BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

[13 CFR Part 121]

SMALL BUSINESS SIZE STANDARDS

Notice of Proposed Rule Making

On October 5, 1960 there was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (25 F.R. 9568) a notice to amend the definition of small business for the purpose of sales of Government-owned timber. The proposed amendment resulted in numerous comments with suggested changes thereto. As a result of the consideration of relevant matters presented by interested parties, the aforementioned notice is to be disregarded in view of the following.

Notice is hereby given that pursuant to the authority contained in section 5(b)(6) of the Small Business Act, Pub. Law 85-536, 72 Stat. 386, it is proposed to revise § 121.3-9(b) of the Small Business Size Standards Regulation relating to the definition of small business for the sales of Government-owned timber as set forth below.

Prior to final adoption of such revision consideration will be given to any comments submitted in writing, in duplicate, to the Director, Office of Small Business Size Standards, Small Business Administration, Washington 25, D.C., within the period of thirty days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Information. The major amendments under consideration provide for new requirements that when Government-owned timber is purchased for resale, saw logs to be manufactured into lumber or timber shall be resold only to small business concerns and when such timber is not to be resold it will be manufactured into lumber and timber only by the small business concern. The present restriction that a bidder shall not have been financed by any large concern for one year prior to such purchase has been removed. The proposed revision is as follows:

The Small Business Size Standards Regulation (Revision 1) (24 F.R. 3491), as amended (24 F.R. 7458, 7943, 9329; 25 F.R. 4577, 4711, 4985, 10087) is hereby further amended by deleting § 121.3-9 (b) and substituting in lieu thereof revised § 121.3-9(b) as follows:

(b) Sales of Government-owned timber. (1) In connection with the sale of Government-owned timber a small business is a concern that:

(i) Is primarily engaged in the logging or forest products industry;

(ii) Is independently owned and operated;

(iii) Is not dominant in its field of operation; and

(iv) Together with its affiliates employs not more than 250 persons.

(2) In the case of Government sales of timber reserved for or involving preferential treatment of small businesses, when the Government timber being purchased is to be resold in the form of logs, bolts, pulpwood, or similar products, a concern is a small business when:

(i) It is a small business within the meaning of subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, and

(ii) It agrees that, in the event it sells any saw logs of suitable size for sawing into lumber or timbers, which in fact will be manufactured into lumber or timbers, it will sell only to a concern which qualifies under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph as a small business, unless exemptions are granted for sales of mixed stumpage of hardwood and softwood species or to cover a fair exchange of species and grades.

(3) In the case of Government sales reserved for or involving preferential treatment of small businesses, when the Government timber purchased is not to be resold in the form of saw logs to be manufactured into lumber and timbers, a concern is a small business when:

(i) It meets the criteria contained in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, and

(ii) It agrees that in manufacturing lumber or timbers from such saw logs cut from the Government timber, it will do so only with its own facilities or those of concerns that qualify under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph as a small business.

Notice of Agreements Filed for Approval

Notice is hereby given that the following described agreements have been filed with the Board for approval pursuant to section 15 of the Shipping Act, 1916 (39 Stat. 733, 46 U.S.C. 814):

Agreement No. 8535, between Shaw, Savill & Albion Company, Ltd., Blue Star Line, Ltd., and the carriers comprising the Federal New Zealand Lines and the Port and Associated Lines joint services, provides for the establishment and maintenance of a joint cargo service primarily for the carriage of refrigerated cargo, and with limited passenger accommodations, in the trade from ports in the Dominion of New Zealand to ports on the East Coast of the United States of America and ports in the Gulf of Mexico and the Panama Canal Zone.

Agreement No. 8552, between Shaw, Savill & Albion Company, Ltd., Blue Star Line, Ltd., and the carriers comprising the Federal New Zealand Lines and the Port and Associate Lines joint services (parties to joint service Agreement No. 8535), constituting parties of the first part, and the carriers comprising the M.A.N.Z. Line joint service (parties to Agreement No. 7814, as amended), party of the second part, covers an arrangement with respect to the trade from ports in the Dominion of New Zealand to ports on the East Coast of the United States of America and ports in the Gulf of Mexico and the Panama Canal Zone, whereby (1) the party of the second part agrees to observe the rates, charges and practices with respect to refrigerated cargo, which may be established and maintained under joint service Agreement No. 8535; and (2) the party of the first part agrees to observe the rates, charges and practices with respect to general cargo, which may be established and maintained under Agreement No. 7814.

Agreement No. 8565, between the Board of Port Commissioners of the City of Oakland and West Coast Checkerboard Elevator Company, provides for an exclusive franchise for a term of twenty years to West Coast Checkerboard Elevator Company for the operation of a public utility wharfinger business on certain property in the Port of Oakland for the shipping, receipt and storage of agricultural commodities in bulk only, and the taking of dockage, tolls or wharfage and other terminal charges thereon, and including the performance of accessorial services in connection therewith.

Interested parties may inspect these agreements and obtain copies thereof at the Office of Regulations, Federal Maritime Board, Washington, D.C., and may submit, within 20 days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER, written statements with reference to these agreements and their position as to approval, disapproval, or modification, together with request for hearing should such hearing be desired.

MEMBER LINES OF THE FAR EAST CONFERENCE ET AL.

Notice of Agreements Filed for Approval

Notice is hereby given that the following described agreements have been filed with the Board for approval pursuant to section 15 of the Shipping Act, 1916 (39 Stat. 733, 46 U.S.C. 814):

Agreement No. 17-28, between the member lines of the Far East Conference, modifies the basic agreement of that conference (No. 17, as amended), in the trade from Atlantic and Gulf ports of the United States to ports in Japan, Korea, Taiwan (Formosa), Siberia, Manchuria, China, Hong Kong, Indo-China, and the Republic of the Philippines. The purpose of this modification is to provide that carriers operating under an approved joint service agreement may be admitted to conference membership as a single member, with one vote, and the requirement of furnishing a single deposit, in the same manner as now required for the admission of individual carriers under the conference agreement.

Agreement No. 7997-2, between Lykes Bros. Steamship Co., Inc., and Garcia S.A., Compania Naviera, modifies the West Gulf-Havana Pool Agreement (No. 7997, as amended), in the trade from U.S. Gulf ports, west of but not including New Orleans, to Havana, Cuba. The purpose of the modification is to provide (1) for the removal of Cia. Naviera Cubamar, S.A., as a party to the agreement, (2) preparation of statement of cargo pooled under the agreement as of September 30, 1960, and the settlement of the results of the pool as between the remaining parties as of that date under the terms of the agreement, (3) that on and after October 1, 1960, the tonnage participation of the parties shall be on the basis of 42 percent to Garcia, and 58 percent to Lykes Bros., and (4) that the operation of the agreement shall be suspended as of October 1, 1960, until the first day of the month in which Lykes Bros. shall have resumed its service in the trade covered.

Agreement No. 8433-1, between Kawasaki Kisen Kaisha, Ltd., Osaka Shosen Kaisha, Ltd., and Yamashita Steamship Co., Ltd., modifies approved Agreement No. 8433 of the parties covering a pooling and sailing arrangement in the trade from Japan to U.S. Atlantic Coast ports. The purpose of the modification is to record the understanding of the parties as to the number of sailings to be maintained by each during the year ending September, 1961.

Interested parties may inspect these agreements and obtain copies thereof at the Office of Regulations, Federal Maritime Board, Washington, D.C., and may submit, within 20 days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER, written statements with reference to these agreements and their position as to approval, disapproval, or modification, together with request for hearing should such hearing be desired.

Dated: December 22, 1960.

CIVIL AERONAUTICS BOARD

[Docket 12003; Order No. E-16172]

ALLEGHENY AIRLINES, INC.

Order of Investigation and Suspension

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D.C. on the 23d day of December 1960.

In the matter of certain Hartford/Springfield and Providence fares proposed by Allegheny Airlines, Inc., Docket 12003.

Allegheny Airlines, Inc. (Allegheny) by tariff revision to become effective December 29, 1060, proposes to reduce passenger fares between Providence, on the one hand, and Baltimore, Salisbury, and Washington, on the other hand, to $23.50, the level of the present Hartford/Springfield-Washington fare, and to permit application of this fare between the latter points on routings via Providence. In addition, by tariff revision to become effective January 12, 1961, Allegheny proposes an increase to $23.90 in the Hartford/Springfield-Washington fare, with corresponding increases in the above-mentioned fares to/from Providence. The above-noted routing provision remains unchanged by this latter filing.

Eastern Air Lines, Inc. (Eastern) and American Airlines, Inc. (American) have filed timely complaints (Dockets 11977 and 11980, respectively), requesting investigation and suspension of the first-noted tariff revision. In substance, the carriers allege (1) that nothing is apparent in the present airline cost picture which would indicate that substantial reductions in short-haul fares are warranted or reasonable, particularly on the part of a subsidized carrier, (2) that the commonrating of Hartford and Providence conflicts with the geographical location of the cities since the distance to Providence from Washington exceeds that to Hartford by 43 miles, and (3) that the common fares would prejudice the direct Hartford passenger while granting an undue preference to the passenger traveling to Providence and to Hartford via the indirect routing. American further alleges that the reduced Providence-Washington fare would necessitate reductions of through fares to points south of Washington.

The Board concludes that the questions of lawfulness raised by the complainants warrant an investigation into the instant tariff revisions. The proposals would commonrate two points, one of which is 13.7 percent more distant from Washington than the other, and would entail a reduction of some 11 percent in the fare between Washington and the farther point, Providence. Further, whereas Hartford lies on a reasonably direct route between Washington and Providence, travel to and from this point via Providence involves a 66-mile back-haul segment, resulting in a total circuity of 109 miles, or approximately 35 percent. In view of the appreciable variation in the distances to which the same fare would apply and the magnitude of the proposed reduction in the Washington-Providence fare, we further conclude that suspension is warranted pending investigation.

The Board finds that its action herein is necessary and appropriate in order to carry out the provisions and objectives of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, particularly sections 204(a), 403, 404, and 1002 thereof.

Accordingly, It is ordered that: 1. An investigation be and hereby is instituted to determine whether the fares and routings between Baltimore and Providence, R.I. on 14th and 15th Revised Pages 25; the routing between Hartford and Washington on 15th Revised Page 26; the fares and routings between Hartford and Washington on 16th Revised Page 26; the fares and routings between Providence, R.I., on the one hand, and Salisbury and Washington on the other, on 12th and 13th Revised Pages 27; of Agent C. C. Squire's C.A.B. No. 44, are, or will be, unjust or unreasonable, or unjustly discriminatory, or unduly preferential, or unduly prejudicial, and if found to be unlawful, to determine and prescribe the lawful fares.

2. Pending investigation, hearing, and decision by the Board, the fares and routings described in Ordering Paragraph 1 be and hereby are suspended and their use deferred to and including March 28, 1961 unless otherwise ordered by the Board and that no changes be made therein during the period of suspension except by order or special permission of the Board.

3. The proceeding ordered herein be assigned for hearing before an examiner of the Board at a time and place hereafter to be designated.

4. The complaints of Eastern Air Lines, Inc. and American Airlines, Inc. in Dockets 11977 and 11980, respectively, are consolidated herein.

5. Copies of this order be served upon Allegheny Airlines, Inc., Eastern Air Lines, Inc., and American Airlines, Inc. which are hereby made parties to this proceeding.

This order shall also be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

By the Civil Aeronautics Board:

[SEAL] ROBERT C. LESTER,
Secretary.

MOTOR CARRIER APPLICATIONS AND CERTAIN OTHER PROCEEDINGS

DECEMBER 23, 1960.

The following publications are governed by the Interstate Commerce Commission's general rules of practice including special rules (49 CFR 1.241) governing notice of filing of applications by motor carriers of property or passengers or brokers under sections 206, 209 and 211 of the Interstate Commerce Act and certain other proceedings with respect thereto.

All hearings and pre-hearing conferences will be called at 9:30 o'clock a.m., United States standard time, unless otherwise specified.

APPLICATIONS ASSIGNED FOR ORAL HEARING OR PRE-HEARING CONFERENCE

MOTOR CARRIERS OF PROPERTY

No. MC 263 (Sub No. 122) (REPUBLICATION), filed August 15, 1960, published in the FEDERAL REGISTER, issue of August 31, 1960. Applicant: GARRETT FREIGHTLINES, INC., 2055 Pole Line Road, Pocatello, Idaho. Applicant's attorney: Maurice H. Greene, Boise, Idaho. The subject application, as originally filed sought authority to transport: Ferrophosphorus slag, in bulk, from Don, Idaho over U.S. Highway 30N to Pocatello, Idaho, thence over U.S. Highway 191 to Brigham City, Utah, thence over U.S. Highway 91 to Salt Lake City, Utah, thence over U.S. Highway 40 to Garfield, Utah. At the hearing held November 7, 1960, at Salt Lake City, Utah, before Hearing Examiner Lawrence A. Van Dyke, Jr., the application was amended to include service to Salt Lake City, as an intermediate point. In a Report and Order, served December 9, 1960, the Examiner finds that public convenience and necessity require operation by applicant as a common carrier, by motor vehicle, in interstate or foreign commerce, of ferrophosphorus slag, in bulk, over a regular route, from Don, Idaho, to Garfield and Salt Lake City, Utah, from Don over U.S. Highway 30N to Pocatello, Idaho, thence over U.S. Highway 191 to Brigham City, Utah, thence over U.S. Highway 91 to Salt Lake City, and thence over U.S. Highway 40 to Garfield, Utah, serving Salt Lake City as an intermediate point for delivery only. The purpose of this republication is to advise that any person or persons who may have been prejudiced by the allowance of the amendment, may, within 30 days from the date of this republication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, file an appropriate pleading.

No. MC 704 (Sub No. 23), filed December 15, 1960. Applicant: J. O. (RED) WILLETT PIPE LINE STRINGING CORPORATION, P.O. Box 2836, Monroe, La. Applicant's attorney: Tom B. Kretsinger, Suite 1014–18 Temple Building, Kansas City, Mo. Authority sought to operate as a common carrier, by motor vehicle, over irregular routes, transporting: Commodities, the transportation of which, because of their size or weight, require the use of special equipment or special handling, and related machinery parts and related contractors' materials and supplies, when their transportation is incidental to the transportation by said carrier of commodities which by reason of size or weight require special equipment or special handling, between points in California, Washington, Oregon, Arizona, Nevada, Idaho, Utah, Montana, Wyoming and Colorado.

HEARING: January 23, 1961, at the New Customs House, Denver, Colo., before Examiner Leo W. Cunningham.

No. MC 3252 (Sub No. 27), filed October 3, 1960. Applicant: PAUL E. MERRILL, doing business as MERRILL TRANSPORT CO., 1037 Forest Avenue, Portland, Maine. Applicant's attorney: Francis E. Barrett, Jr. Professional Building, 25 Bryant Avenue, East Milton 86 (Boston), Mass. Authority sought to operate as a common carrier, by motor vehicle, over irregular routes, transporting: Aviation fuel, in bulk, in tank vehicles; from Waltham, Mass., to Houlton, Maine, and refused or rejected shipments, on return.

NOTE: Common control may be involved.

HEARING: February 2, 1961, at the New Post Office and Court House Building, Boston, Mass., before Joint Board No. 69, or, if the Joint Board waives its right to participate, before Examiner Alton R. Smith.

No. MC 13250 (Sub No. 71), filed August 23, 1960. Applicant: J. H. ROSE TRUCK LINE, INC., 3804 Jensen Drive, P.O. Box 16037, Houston 22, Tex. Applicant's attorney: Charles D. Mathews, Brown Building, Austin, Tex. Authority sought to operate as a common carrier, by motor vehicle, over irregular routes, transporting: Commodities, the transportation of which, because of their size or weight, require the use of special equipment or handling, parts thereof, machinery parts, and contractors' materials and supplies, between points in Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Louisiana, and New Mexico, on the one hand, and, on the other, points in Oregon and Washington.

NOTE: Applicant is presently authorized to conduct operations in the states of Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Idaho, Kansas, Louisiana, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota, South Dakota, Texas, Utah and Wyoming, under Certificate No. MC 13250 and subs thereunder. No duplication of present authority is sought by the instant application.

HEARING: January 23, 1961, at the New Customs House, Denver, Colo., before Examiner Leo W. Cunningham.

No. MC 13250 (Sub No. 72), filed August 23, 1960. Applicant: J. H. ROSE TRUCK LINE, INC., 3804 Jensen Drive, P.O. Box 16037, Houston 22, Tex. Applicant's attorney: Charles D. Mathews, Brown Building, P.O. Box 858, Austin, Tex. Authority sought to operate as a common carrier, by motor vehicle, over irregular routes, transporting: Commodities, the transportation of which, because of their size or weight, require the use of special equipment or handling, parts thereof, machinery parts, and contractors' materials and supplies, between points in Nevada, on the one hand, and, on the other, points in Texas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Kansas, and Missouri.

NOTE: Applicant states that no duplication of present authority is sought by the instant application.

HEARING: January 23, 1961, at the New Customs House, Denver, Colo., before Examiner Leo W. Cunningham.

No. MC 17778 (Sub No. 32) (AMENDMENT), filed October 12, 1960, published in the FEDERAL REGISTER issue of November 23, 1960. Applicant: YALE TRANSPORT CORP., 460 12th Avenue, New York, N.Y. Applicant's attorney: Herbert Burstein, 160 Broadway, New York 38, N.Y. Authority sought to operate as a common carrier, by motor vehicle, over irregular routes, transporting: General commodities, except those of unusual value, and except Classes A and B explosives, household goods as defined by the Commission, commodities in bulk, and commodities requiring special equipment; (A) Between Washington, D.C., Baltimore, Md., Philadelphia and Marcus Hook, Pa., and Trenton, N.J., on the one hand, and, on the other, points in Hudson, Essex, Union, Morris, Middlesex, Passaic and Bergen Counties, N.J. (B) Between New York, N.Y., New Rochelle, N.Y., and points in Westchester County, N.Y., within 15 miles of New Rochelle, on the one hand, and, on the other, points in Massachusetts, and points in Connecticut, except that no transportation is authorized for shipments originating in that part of Connecticut east of U.S. Highway 5. (C) Between points in Connecticut and Massachusetts, except that no transportation is authorized for shipments originating in that part of Connecticut east of U.S. Highway 5. (D) Between Providence, R.I., on the one hand, and, on the other, points in Massachusetts and Connecticut, except that no transportation is authorized for shipments originating in that part of Connecticut east of U.S. Highway 5. (E) Between Concord, N.H. and the Massachusetts-New Hampshire Boundary line, including all off-route and intermediate points in New Hampshire, as more particularly set forth in Certificates of Public Convenience and Necessity No. MC–10367 and Sub No. 1 thereunder, formerly owned by Chelsea Contracting and Trucking Co., which Yale Transport Corp. was authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission to acquire in Docket No. MC–F–7246, on the one hand, and, on the other, points in Connecticut and Massachusetts, except that no transportation is authorized for shipments originating in that part of Connecticut east of U.S. Highway 5. Title 3—THE PRESIDENT

Proclamation 3386

MODIFYING PROCLAMATION 3279 [1] OF MARCH 10, 1959, ADJUSTING IMPORTS OF PETROLEUM AND PETROLEUM PRODUCTS

By the President of the United States of America

A Proclamation

WHEREAS, pursuant to section 2 of the act of July 1, 1954, as amended (72 Stat. 678, 19 U.S.C. 1352a), I found and declared that adjustments must be made in the imports of crude oil, unfinished oils, and finished products so that such imports would not threaten to impair the national security and by Proclamation 3279 of March 10, 1959 (24 F.R. 1781), proclaimed such adjustments;

WHEREAS, I find and declare that adjustments must be made in the imports of crude oil and unfinished oils for overestimates and underestimates of total demand:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER, President of the United States of America, acting under and by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and the statutes including section 2 of the act of July 1, 1954, as amended, do hereby proclaim that:

On and after January 1, 1961, Proclamation 3279 of March 10, 1959, as amended by Proclamation 3290 of April 30, 1959, and Proclamation 3328 of December 10, 1959, is hereby further amended as follows:

Subparagraph (1) of paragraph (a) of section 2 is amended to read as follows:

(a)(1) In Districts I-IV the maximum level of imports of crude oil, unfinished oils, and finished products other than residual fuel oil to be used as fuel shall be approximately the amount equal to the arithmetical product, adjusted as provided in this subparagraph, of the total demand in these districts as estimated by the Bureau of Mines for periods fixed by the Secretary of the Interior multiplied by 9 percent. The level so determined for an allocation period shall be increased or decreased by 9 percent of the amount by which the estimated total demand for the allocation period (for imports of crude oils and unfinished oils) most recently ended fell short of or exceeded the actual total demand for that allocation period. Within this maximum level, imports of finished products other than residual fuel oil to be used as fuel shall not exceed the level of imports of such products into these districts during the calendar year 1957 and imports of unfinished oils shall not exceed 10 percent of the permissible imports of crude oil and unfinished oils.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

DONE at the City of Washington this twenty-fourth day of December in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and sixty, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and eighty-fifth.

Proclamation 3387

MODIFYING THE DUTY ON CERTAIN WOOL FABRICS

By the President of the United States of America

A Proclamation

1. WHEREAS, pursuant to the authority vested in him by the Constitution and the statutes, including section 350(a) of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended, 48 Stat. 943, 57 Stat. 125, 59 Stat. 410, the President on October 30, 1947 entered into a trade agreement with certain foreign countries, which trade agreement consists of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade and the Protocol of Provisional Application of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, together with a Final Act, 61 Stat. (Parts 5 and 6) A7, A11 and A2051, including a schedule of United States concessions (hereinafter referred to as "Schedule XX—Geneva 1947");

2. WHEREAS by Proclamation No. 2761A of December 16, 1947, 61 Stat. (pt. 2) 1103, the President proclaimed such modifications of existing duties and other import restrictions of the United States of America and such continuance of existing customs or excise treatment of articles imported into the United States of America as were then found to be required or appropriate to carry out the trade agreement specified in the first recital of this proclamation on and after January 1, 1948;

3. WHEREAS items 1108 and 1109(a), and the appropriate headings, in Part I of Schedule XX—Geneva 1947, which items were given effect by the proclamation of December 16, 1947, read as follows:

Tariff Act of 1930, paragraph	Description of products	Rate of duty
1108	Woven fabrics, weighing not more than four ounces per square yard, wholly or in chief value of wool, regardless of value:
	If the warp is wholly of cotton or other vegetable fiber.	30¢ per lb. and 25% ad val.
	Other	37½¢ per lb. and 25% ad val.
	NOTE: The United States reserves the right to increase the ad valorem part of the rate applicable to any of the fabrics provided for in item 1108 or 1109(a) of this Part to 45 per centum ad valorem on any of such fabrics which are entered in any calendar year in excess of an aggregate quantity by weight of 5 per centum of the average annual production of similar fabrics in the United States during the 3 immediately preceding calendar years.
1109(a)	Woven fabrics, weighing more than four ounces per square yard, wholly or in chief value of wool, regardless of value.	37½¢ per lb. and 25% ad val.

4. WHEREAS, pursuant to the authority cited in the first recital of this proclamation, on April 21, 1951, the President entered into a trade agreement with certain foreign countries, which trade agreement consists of the Torquay Protocol to the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (3 UST (pt. 1) 615, (pt. 2) 1841), including a schedule of United States concessions constituting a United States Schedule to the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (3 UST (pt. 1) 1125) (hereinafter referred to as "Schedule XX—Torquay 1951");

5. WHEREAS by Proclamation No. 2929 of June 2, 1951 (65 Stat. C12), the President proclaimed, effective June 6, 1951, such modifications of existing duties and other import restrictions of the United States and such continuance of existing customs or excise treatment of articles imported into the United States as were then found to be required or appropriate to carry out the trade agreement specified in the fourth recital of this proclamation;

6. WHEREAS item 1109(a), and the appropriate headings, in Part I of Schedule XX annexed to the said Torquay Protocol, which item was given effect by the said proclamation of June 2, 1951, read as follows:

Tariff Act of 1930, paragraph	Description of products	Rate of duty
1109(a)	Woven green billiard cloths in the piece, weighing over 11 but not over 15 ounces per square yard, wholly of wool, regardless of value.	37½¢ per lb. and 20% ad val.

NOTE: This item shall be subject to the note in item 1108 in Part I of Schedule XX (original).

and item 1109(a) was made effective as of June 6, 1951 by the letter of the President to the Secretary of the Treasury dated June 2, 1951 (3 C.F.R. 1949 ed., 1951 Supp., p. 530; 16 F.R. 5386), pursuant to the procedure described in Part I(b)(I) of said Proclamation No. 2929 of June 2, 1951;

7. WHEREAS the President, by Proclamation No. 3160, of September 28, 1956, which proclamation has been amended by Proclamation No. 3225, of March 7, 1958, by Proclamation No. 3285, of April 21, 1959, and by Proclamation No. 3317, of September 24, 1959, invoked the right reserved in the notes to item 1108 in Part I of Schedule XX—Geneva 1947 and to item 1109(a) in Part I of Schedule XX—Torquay 1951 by increasing to not more than 45 per centum the ad valorem of the rate applicable to any of the fabrics provided for in item 1108 or 1109(a) of Part I of Schedule XX—Geneva 1947 (including any of the fabrics provided for in item 1109(a) of Part I of Schedule XX—Torquay 1951) in excess of amounts, not greater than 5 per centum of the average annual production of similar fabrics in the United States during the three immediately preceding calendar years, to be notified by him to the Secretary of the Treasury for each year;

8. WHEREAS Article XXVIII of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade provides that a contracting party may, pursuant to procedures provided for therein, modify or withdraw concessions in its schedules to that Agreement;

9. WHEREAS the procedures of Article XXVIII of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade are being complied with to the extent necessary to permit the modification on January 1, 1961 of the concessions provided for in the items set forth in the third and sixth recitals of this proclamation so that such items may read as hereinafter proclaimed in Part I of this proclamation;

10. WHEREAS reasonable public notice of the intention to conduct the trade agreement renegotiations necessary to accomplish the modifications of the concession hereinafter proclaimed in Part I of the proclamation was given, the views presented by persons interested in such renegotiations were received and considered, and information and advice with respect to such renegotiations were sought and obtained from the Departments of State, Agriculture, Commerce, and Defense, and from other sources;

11. WHEREAS, pursuant to section 3 of the Trade Agreements Extension Act of 1951, 65 Stat. 72, as amended, I transmitted to the United States Tariff Commission for investigation and report a list of articles imported into the United States of America to be considered for possible modification of duties and other import restrictions, imposition of additional import restrictions, or continuance of existing customs or excise treatment in such renegotiations, and the Tariff Commission made an investigation in accordance with that section and thereafter reported to me its determinations made pursuant thereto within the time specified therein; and

12. WHEREAS, as a result of the modifications of the concessions set forth in the third and sixth recitals of this proclamation which are hereinafter proclaimed in Part I of this proclamation, I determine that it is required or appropriate to carry out the trade agreements specified in the first and fourth recitals of this proclamation, that, on and after January 1, 1961, the proclamations specified in the second and fifth recitals of this proclamation be modified as proclaimed in Part II of this proclamation, and that the justification for the proclamations specified in the seventh recital of this proclamation will then cease to exist.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER, President of the United States of America, acting under and by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes, including section 350 of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended, do hereby proclaim that, effective January 1, 1961:

PART I

1. The concessions provided for in items 1108 and 1109(a) in Part I of Schedule XX—Geneva 1947 set forth in the third recital of this proclamation are hereby modified so that such items, and appropriate headings, read as follows:

Tariff Act of 1930, paragraph	Description of products	Rate of duty
1108	Woven fabrics, weighing not more than four ounces per square yard, wholly or in chief value of wool:
	Hand-woven fabrics with a loom width of less than thirty inches; and other fabrics, if valued over $4 per pound and wholly or in chief value of wool of the sheep, in solid colors, imported to be used in the manufacture of apparel for members of religious orders:
	With warp wholly of cotton or other vegetable fiber.	30¢ per lb. and 25% ad val.
	Not with warp wholly of cotton or other vegetable fiber.	37½¢ per lb. and 25% ad val.
	Other:
	With warp wholly of cotton or other vegetable fiber, valued—
	Not over $2 per pound	$1.06 per lb., but not over 30¢ per lb. plus 60% ad val.
	Over $2 per pound	30¢ per lb. and 38% ad val.
	Not with warp wholly of cotton or other vegetable fiber, valued—
	Not over $2 per pound	$1.13½ per lb., but not over 37½¢ per lb. plus 60% ad val.
	Over $2 per pound	37½¢ per lb. and 38% ad val.
1109(a)	Woven fabrics weighing over 4 ounces per square yard, wholly or in chief value of wool:
	Hand-woven fabrics with a loom width of less than 30 inches; and serges weighing not over 6 ounces per square yard, wholly or in chief value of wool of the sheep, valued at over $4 per pound, in solid colors, imported to be used in the manufacture of apparel for members of religious orders	37½¢ per lb. and 25% ad val.
	Other fabrics, valued—
	Not over $2 per pound	$1.13½ per lb. but not over 37½¢ per lb. plus 60% ad val.
	Over $2 per pound	37½¢ per lb. and 38% ad val.

2. The concession provided for in item 1109(a) in Part I of Schedule XX—Torquay 1951 set forth in the sixth recital of this proclamation is hereby modified so that such item, and appropriate headings, read as follows:

Tariff Act of 1930, paragraph	Description of products	Rate of duty
1109(a)	Woven green billiard cloths in the piece, weighing over 11 but not over 15 ounces per square yard, wholly of wool.	37½¢ per lb. and 30% ad val.

PART II

The provisions of items 1108 and 1109(a) of Part I of this proclamation shall be applied, and all proclamations of the President heretofore issued under the authority of section 350 of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended, are terminated insofar as they are inconsistent with this proclamation.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

DONE at the City of Washington this 28th day of December in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and sixty, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and eighty-fifth.

[P.P.C. 612, 29th Rev.]

PART 301—DOMESTIC QUARANTINE NOTICES

Subpart—Khapra Beetle

ADMINISTRATIVE INSTRUCTIONS DESIGNATING CERTAIN PREMISES AS REGULATED AREAS

Pursuant to § 301.76–2 of the regulations supplemental to the Khapra Beetle Quarantine (7 CFR 301.76–2) under sections 8 and 9 of the Plant Quarantine Act of 1912, as amended (7 U.S.C. 161, 162), revised administrative instructions are hereby issued as follows, listing premises in which infestations of the khapra beetle have been determined to exist and designating such premises as regulated areas within the meaning of said quarantine and regulations.

§ 301.76–2a Administrative instructions designating certain premises as regulated areas under the khapra beetle quarantine and regulations.

Infestations of the khapra beetle have been determined to exist in the premises listed in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section. Accordingly, such premises are hereby designated as regulated areas within the meaning of the provisions in this subpart:

ARIZONA

Wayne Brand Farm & Feed Lot, Route 1, Box 629C, Yuma.

CALIFORNIA

Anza Land Company, Borrego Springs, located on Palm Canyon Road, ½ mile east of school on south side of said road.

(b) The portion of each of the following premises in which live khapra beetles were found has received the approved fumigation treatment, but these premises must continue under frequent observation and inspection for a period of one year following fumigation before a determination can be made as to the adequacy of such treatment to eradicate the khapra beetle in and upon such premises. During this period regulated articles may be moved from the premises only in accordance with the regulations in this subpart.

TEXAS

Beaver Egg Farm, Route 1, Box 44, Ysleta.
El Paso Union Stock Yards, 1800 East 11th Street, El Paso.

(Sec. 9, 37 Stat. 318; 7 U.S.C. 162. Interprets or applies sec. 8, 37 Stat. 318, as amended; 7 U.S.C. 161. 19 F.R. 74, as amended; 7 CFR 301.76–2)

These administrative instructions shall become effective December 30, 1960, when they shall supersede P.P.C. 612, Twenty-eighth Revision, effective August 2, 1960 (25 F.R. 7237).

Subsequent to the twenty-eighth revision, effective August 2, 1960, infestations of the khapra beetle were discovered on the following premises of the USDA Forest Service's Tonto National Forest: Roosevelt Ranger Station, located 2 miles east of Roosevelt Dam on Highway 88; Ashdale Ranger Station Corral, located at Cave Creek, Seven Springs Road; Tangle Creek Ranger Station Corral, located on Bloody Basin Road, north of Ashdale Ranger Station; Copper Creek Ranger Station Corral, located 12.5 miles east of Black Canyon Highway on Bloody Basin Road, all in the Phoenix, Arizona area; as well as the H. R. Brooks Corral, 1514 East Cocopah; the Eugene H. Cheves Bird Pen, 1327 West Mackenzie Drive; the Chester Green Poultry Yard, 3730 East Buckeye Road, all in Phoenix, Arizona; and the Van Cochran Chicken Yard, 506 Bakersfield Avenue, Wellton, Arizona. Movement of regulated articles from these properties was immediately stopped. Within a few days the infested premises had been fumigated in their entirety and declared free of khapra beetle infestation. Accordingly, these properties are not being included in this revision.

This revision adds certain premises in Arizona and California to the list of premises in which khapra beetle infestations have been determined to exist, and designates such premises as regulated areas under the khapra beetle quarantine and regulations.

As an informative item, the revision segregates certain regulated premises in Texas where the approved fumigation treatment has been applied to the portion of the premises in which live khapra beetles were found and which are consequently in a somewhat different category than untreated premises.

These instructions impose restrictions supplementing khapra beetle quarantine regulations already effective. They must be made effective promptly in order to carry out the purposes of the regulations. Accordingly, under section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U.S.C. 1003), it is found upon good cause that notice and other public procedure with respect to the foregoing administrative instructions are impracticable and good cause is found for making the effective date thereof less than 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Done at Washington, D.C., this 22d day of December 1960.

Chapter VIII—Commodity Stabilization Service (Sugar), Department of Agriculture

SUBCHAPTER B—SUGAR REQUIREMENTS AND QUOTAS

[Sugar Reg. 815]

PART 815—ALLOTMENT OF THE DIRECT-CONSUMPTION PORTION OF 1960 MAINLAND SUGAR QUOTA FOR PUERTO RICO

Three-Month Period

Basis and purpose. This allotment order is issued under section 205(a) of the Sugar Act of 1948, as amended (herein called the "act"), for the purpose of allotting the portion of the sugar quota for Puerto Rico for the three-month period ending March 31, 1961, which may be filled by direct-consumption sugar among persons who market such sugar for consumption in the continental United States.

Omission of recommended decision and effective date. The record of the hearing regarding the subject of this order shows that the capacity to produce refined sugar in Puerto Rico far exceeds the maximum quantity of Puerto Rican direct-consumption sugar that may be marketed within prospective mainland and local quotas (R. 7). The proceeding to which this order relates was instituted for the purpose of allotting the direct-consumption portion of the mainland quota to prevent disorderly marketing and to afford each interested person an equitable opportunity to market direct-consumption sugar in the continental United States. The allotments made by this order are small in relation to the quantities of sugar that could be produced for marketing and delay in the issuance of the order might result in some persons marketing more than their fair share of the direct-consumption portion of the quota. Therefore, it is imperative that this order become effective on January 1, 1961, in order to fully effectuate the purposes of section 205(a) of the act. Accordingly, it is hereby found that due and timely execution of the functions imposed upon the Secretary under the act imperatively and unavoidably requires the omission of a recommended decision in this proceeding. It is hereby further found that compliance with the 30-day effective date requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act (60 Stat. 237) is impracticable and contrary to the public interest and, consequently, this order shall be effective on January 1, 1961.

Preliminary statement. Under the provisions of section 205(a) of the act, the Secretary is required to allot a quota or proration thereof whenever he finds that allotment is necessary (1) to assure an orderly and adequate flow of sugar or liquid sugar in the channels of interstate or foreign commerce, (2) to prevent the disorderly marketing of sugar or liquid sugar, (3) to maintain a continuous and stable supply of sugar or liquid sugar, or (4) to afford all interested persons an equitable opportunity to market sugar or liquid sugar within the quota for the area. Section 205(a) also provides that such allotment shall be made after such hearing and upon such notice as the Secretary may by regulation prescribe.

Pursuant to the applicable rules of practice and procedure (7 CFR 801.1 et seq.), a preliminary finding was made that allotment of the direct-consumption portion of the quota is necessary and a notice was published on October 4, 1960 (25 F.R. 9425) of a public hearing to be held at Santurce, Puerto Rico, in the Conference Room, Caribbean Area Office, ASC, Segarra Building, on October 21, 1960, at 10:00 a.m., for the purpose of receiving evidence to enable the Secretary to make a fair, efficient and equitable distribution of the direct-consumption portion of the mainland sugar quota for Puerto Rico for the three-month period ending March 31, 1961, or for the calendar year 1961 or a part thereof. The hearing was held at the time and place specified in the notice.

In arriving at the findings, conclusions and regulatory provisions contained herein, all proposed findings and conclusions were carefully and fully considered in conjunction with the record evidence pertaining to the allotment of the direct-consumption portion of the mainland quota. To the extent that findings and conclusions proposed by interested persons are inconsistent with the findings and conclusions contained herein, the specific or implied requests to make such findings and reach such conclusions are denied on the basis of the facts found and stated in connection with the conclusions herein set forth.

Basis for findings and conclusions. Sec. 205(a) of the act reads in pertinent part as follows:

> • • • Allotments shall be made in such manner and in such amounts as to provide a fair, efficient, and equitable distribution of such quota or proration thereof, by taking into consideration the processing of sugar or liquid sugar from sugar beets or sugarcane to which proportionate shares, determined pursuant to the provisions of subsection (b) of Sec. 302, pertained; the past marketings or importations of each such person and the ability of such person to market or import that portion of such quota or proration thereof allotted to him • • •

The record of the hearing regarding the subject of this order shows that the capacity to produce refined sugar in Puerto Rico far exceeds the maximum quantity of Puerto Rican direct-consumption sugar that may be marketed under the probable quotas (R. 6, 7). The direct-consumption portion of the mainland quota for Puerto Rico for the three-month period ending March 31, 1961, was established in Part 811 (25 F.R. 13211) in accordance with the legislative conferees' report on P.L. 86–592 at 37,076 short tons, raw value, which is equal to one-fourth of the direct-consumption limitation which would be effective for a calendar year at the level of sugar requirements of 10,000,000 short tons, raw value.

To prevent disorderly marketing of sugar and to afford all interested persons an equitable opportunity to market sugar within the quota as required by section 205(a) of the act, allotment of the direct-consumption portion of the mainland sugar quota for Puerto Rico for the three-month period ending March 31, 1961, is found to be necessary (R. 7, 8).

While all three factors specified in the provisions of Sec. 205(a) of the act quoted above have been considered, only the "past marketings" and "ability to market" factors have been given percentile weightings in the formula on which the allotment of the direct-consumption portion of the mainland quota for Puerto Rico is based. Testimony indicates that allottees accounting for over 94 percent of the direct-consumption sugar brought into the continental United States do not process sugar from sugarcane and that giving weight to the factor "processing from proportionate shares" would not lead to equitable allotments (R. 9).

The government witness proposed the factor "past marketings" be measured for each processor and refiner by the average annual quantity of direct-consumption sugar which he marketed in the continental United States within the mainland quotas for Puerto Rico during the five years 1956 through 1960, inclusive, expressed as a percentage of the sum of such quantities for all processors and refiners. The witness stated that the use of the quantities marketed in the most recent five-year period will reflect market conditions similar to those which would be expected to occur in the marketing of direct-consumption sugar in the mainland in 1961 or a part thereof, and furthermore that a five-year average of such marketings tends to minimize shortrun influences affecting data for a single year and adds stability to the "past marketings" factor (R. 9).

The government witness proposed that the factor "ability to market" be measured by the largest quantity of direct-consumption sugar marketed in the mainland by each refiner and processor in any one of the past five years, 1956 through 1960, expressed as a percentage of the sum of such quantities for all refiners and processors. The witness stated that marketings of direct-consumption sugar in the recent period, 1956 through 1960, are considered to be the best measure of processor's and refiner's relative ability to market sugar in 1961 or a part thereof, and that the use of a more remote period would not be indicative of current ability to market (R. 10).

In determining allotments of the direct-consumption portion of the mainland quota for the three-month period ending March 31, 1961, the government witness proposed that the factors "past marketings" and "ability to market" be weighted equally as was done in establishing past allotments of the quota (R. 11).

In prior years liquid sugar in a form known as melao cane syrup manufactured in Puerto Rico has been imported into the continental United States for consumption (R. 11, 12). The estimated raw value equivalent of these shipments was 32 short tons in 1958, 26 in 1959, and 31 through August 1960. A sample of this product indicates that it contains less than 6 percent non-sugar solids and is liquid sugar under the definition thereof in the Sugar Act and subject to the quota provisions of the act (R. 11). It was proposed by the government witness that a liquid sugar reserve be established to permit the marketing of liquid sugar in the continental United States by other than named allottees (R. 12).

It was further proposed that the quantity of sugar that may be brought into the continental United States within the direct-consumption portion of the mainland quota for Puerto Rico for the three-month period ending March 31, 1961, less the quantity set aside for liquid sugar shipments by other than named allottees, be allotted by applying 50 percent weight to each of the factors "past marketings" and "ability to market" measured for each allottee as indicated in the preceding paragraphs (R. 13).

At the hearing, Roig Refining Company proposed that the factor "ability to market" be given a weight of 25 percent and that it be measured by basing ability to market on ability to produce. It was proposed that for each allottee the average daily production of the ten consecutive days giving the highest production in either 1959 or 1960 would be multiplied by 300 working days for refiners and by 125 days for mills making refined, washed, or turbinado sugars. From the resulting quantities for each allottee would be deducted 1957–1959 average annual local marketings to obtain the measure of "ability to market" (R. 29). The factor "past marketings" would be measured by the average annual marketings, 1955 through 1959, and weighted 75 percent (R. 29, 32, 33).

Testimony at the hearing indicated that daily production data is not available unless allottees voluntarily supply such data since daily production data are not reported to either the Sugar Division or the Caribbean Area ASC Office (R. 32, 35). It was proposed that if such data are not supplied, the highest production for each allottee during any month in 1959 or 1960 be used in the calculation of the measure of ability (R. 53).

The witness for Central Aguirre Sugar Company testified that production from the 1960 crop was abnormally low because of weather conditions and proposed that the year 1960 should not be included in the measures of "past marketings" and "ability to market", but that the same method and years used for the 1960 allotment method should be used for 1961 (R. 43). Central Roig Refining Company also proposed that the factor "past marketings" be measured by the use of the annual average marketings for the period 1955 through 1959 (R. 26, 27).

In testimony at the hearing and in a brief, Western Sugar Refining Company proposed that the factor "past marketings" be measured by the average annual marketings of each processor during the 15-year period, 1946 through 1960, and that the factor "ability to market" be measured by the highest marketings of each processor during any year of the 15-year period, 1946 through 1960. Equal weight would be given to each such factor (R. 46, 48).

Puerto Rican American Sugar Refinery, Inc., supported the allotment method proposed by the government, and Central San Francisco gave qualified support to such method.

In determining the measure of "past marketings" on the basis of testimony and evidence submitted at the hearings, the use of the years 1955 through 1959 and the omission of the 1960 marketings would not permit consideration of the most recent year in which marketings occurred. Furthermore, it has not been substantiated that 1955 marketings would be as appropriate as 1960 marketings in calculating a measure of "past marketings." The use of the period 1946–1960 does not appear to be as indicative of market conditions expected to occur in 1961 as does the most recent period of 1956 through 1960 which is herein adopted.

In determining the measure of "ability to market", the use of the period 1946–1960 as a measure of ability as proposed by Western Sugar Refining Company would include years immediately after World War II during which marketing conditions, in comparison to the most recent five-year period, are less representative of conditions to be faced in 1961. The use of the period 1955–59, as proposed by Central Aguirre Sugar Company, would eliminate consideration of the most recent year of demonstrated ability which under the circumstances that prevailed and by virtue of its proximity is more representative of conditions to be faced in 1961 than is 1955.

The use of the proposed measure of ability to produce as a basis for measuring "ability to market" does not appear justified on the basis of the testimony and evidence submitted at the hearing. Testimony at the hearing left considerable doubt as to the accuracy with which the proposed method would demonstrate ability to produce. Furthermore, a showing of ability to produce does not necessarily reflect willingness to produce nor ability to market.

On the basis of the record the performance of allottees as reflected in actual shipments of direct-consumption sugar to the mainland is considered the best and most practical measure of "ability to market". The use of the most recent five-year period provides a sufficient period of time for allottees to demonstrate ability to market. The largest quantity marketed by an allottee in any one year during such a recent period would be more indicative of current relative ability to market than the highest year's marketings in a more remote period. The hearing record discloses no information that there has been any impairment in recent years in the capacity of the production facilities of the allottees that are subject to the allotment order issued pursuant to this proceeding. Furthermore, the proration of allotment deficits during each of the last five years provided additional marketing opportunities to allottees who demonstrated ability to utilize additional allotments. In view of the foregoing, the method of measuring the factor "ability to market" proposed by the government witness has been adopted.

In accordance with the record of the hearing (R. 16, 17) provision has been made in the findings and the order to revise allotments without further notice or hearing for purposes of (1) giving effect to the substitution of revised estimates or final data or both for estimates of the quantity of direct-consumption sugar imported into the continental United States by each allottee in 1960, and (2) giving effect to any increase or decrease in the direct-consumption portion of the mainland quota for the three-month period ending March 31, 1961. Also, as proposed in the record (R. 21), the findings and order contain provisions relating to restrictions on marketing similar to those contained in the 1960 Puerto Rican allotment order since such provisions operated successfully in 1960 and no objection was made in the record to their inclusion.

Findings and conclusions. On the basis of the record of the hearing I hereby find and conclude that:

(1) The potential capacity of Puerto Rican processors and refiners to produce direct-consumption sugar during the calendar year 1961 is about 320,000 short tons and this quantity is proportionately far greater than the total quantity of such sugar which may be marketed within the local sugar quotas for Puerto Rico for the three-month period ending March 31, 1961.

(2) The allotment of the direct-consumption portion of the mainland sugar quota for Puerto Rico for the three-month period ending March 31, 1961, is necessary to prevent disorderly marketings of such sugar and to afford each interested person an equitable opportunity to market such sugar in the continental United States.

(3) Assignment of percentile weight to the "processing from proportionate shares" factor in the allotment formula would not result in fair, efficient and equitable allotments.

(4) An allotment of 12 short tons, raw value, shall be established as a liquid sugar reserve to permit the marketing of liquid sugar in the continental United States by persons other than named allottees during the three-month period ending March 31, 1961.

(5) The "past marketings" factor shall be measured by each allottee's percentage of the average entries of direct-consumption sugar by all allottees in the continental United States during the years 1956 through 1960.

(6) The "ability to market" factor shall be measured for each allottee by expressing each allottee's largest entries of direct-consumption sugar into the United States during any one of the past five years, 1956 through 1960, as a percent of the sum of such entries for all allottees.

(7) The quantities of sugar and percentages referred to in paragraphs (5) and (6), above, based on data involving estimates for 1960 direct-consumption entries which shall be used to establish allotments pending availability and substitution of revised or final data for such estimates, are set forth in the following table:

Allottee	Average annual marketings 1956–60		Highest annual marketings 1956–60
	Short tons, raw value (1)	Percent of total (2)	Short tons, raw value (3)	Percent of total (4)
Central Aguirre Sugar Co., a trust	5,010	3.6636	6,931	4.2961
Central Roig Refining Co.	20,542	15.0213	22,000	13.6363
Central San Francisco	1,470	1.0749	1,625	1.0072
Puerto Rican American Sugar Refinery, Inc.	87,644	64.0898	104,778	64.9448
Western Sugar Refining Co.	22,086	16.1504	26,000	16.1156
Total	136,752	100.0000	161,334	100.0000

(8) Allotments totaling the direct-consumption portion of the Puerto Rican mainland quota for the three-month period ending March 31, 1961, less the liquid sugar reserve provided for in Finding (4), above, should be established by giving fifty percent weight to past marketings, measured as provided in Finding (5), above, and fifty percent weight to ability to market, measured as provided in Finding (6), above.

(9) This order may be revised without further notice or hearing for the purpose of substituting revised estimates or final data or both for previous estimates of the Puerto Rican direct-consumption sugar entries by and on behalf of each allottee in 1960 when such revised data or final data or both become part of the official records of the Department.

(10) This order shall be revised without further notice or hearing to revise allotments to give effect to any change in the direct-consumption portion of the quota for Puerto Rico for the three-month period ending March 31, 1961, on the same basis as is provided in these findings for establishing allotments.

(11) Official notice will be taken of (a) estimated and final data for 1960 calendar year marketings of sugar for direct-consumption on the mainland that become a part of the official records of the Department, and (b) any regulation issued by the Secretary which changes the mainland sugar quota for Puerto Rico and the direct-consumption portion thereof established for the three-month period ending March 31, 1961.

(12) Each allottee during the three-month period ending March 31, 1961, shall be restricted from bringing into the continental United States for consumption therein any direct-consumption sugar in excess of the smaller of his allotment established herein or the sum of the quantity of sugar produced by the allottee from sugarcane grown in Puerto Rico and the quantity of sugar acquired from Puerto Rican processors by the allottee during such period for shipment to the mainland within the applicable mainland quota for Puerto Rico. All other persons shall be prohibited from bringing direct-consumption sugar into the continental United States during the three-month period ending March 31, 1961, for consumption therein except such sugar acquired in such period from an allottee within his allotment established herein or sugar brought in within the liquid sugar reserve established for other than named allottees. All persons collectively shall be prohibited from bringing into the continental United States any direct-consumption sugar other than crystalline sugar in excess of the quantity by which the direct-consumption portion of the mainland quota exceeds 31,508 short tons, raw value. Of that part of the direct-consumption portion of the mainland quota that may be filled by either liquid or crystalline sugar, 12 short tons, raw value, shall be reserved to cover shipments of liquid sugar by other than named allottees as provided in Finding (4).

(13) To facilitate full and effective use of allotments, provision shall be made in the order for transfer of allotments under circumstances of a succession of interest.

(14) Allotments established in the foregoing manner and the amounts set forth in the order provide a fair, efficient, and equitable distribution of the direct-consumption portion of the mainland quota, as required by section 205(a) of the act.

Order. Pursuant to the authority vested in the Secretary of Agriculture by sec. 205(a) of the act, and in accordance with the findings and conclusions heretofore made, it is hereby ordered:

§ 815.1 Allotment of the direct-consumption portion of mainland sugar quota for Puerto Rico for the three-month period ending March 31, 1961.

(a) Allotments. The direct-consumption portion of the sugar quota for Puerto Rico for the three-month period ending March 31, 1961, amounting to 37,076 short tons, raw value, is hereby allotted as follows:

Allottee:	Direct-consumption allotment (short tons, raw value)
Central Aguirre Sugar Co., a trust	1,475
Central Roig Refining Company	5,311
Central San Francisco	386
Puerto Rican American Sugar Rfy., Inc.	23,913
Western Sugar Refining Co.	5,979
Liquid sugar reserve for persons other than named above	12
Total	37,076

(b) Restrictions on marketing. (1) During the three-month period ending March 31, 1961, each allottee named in paragraph (a) of this section is hereby prohibited from bringing into the continental United States within an allotment established for such allottee, for consumption therein, any direct-consumption sugar from Puerto Rico in excess of the smaller of (i) the allotment therefor established in paragraph (a) of this section, or (ii) the sum of the quantity of sugar produced by the allottee from sugarcane grown in Puerto Rico, and the quantity of sugar produced from Puerto Rican sugarcane which was sugar acquired by the allottee in 1961 for further processing and shipment within the direct-consumption portion of the mainland quota for Puerto Rico for the three-month period ending March 31, 1961.

(2) During the three-month period ending March 31, 1961, all persons other than the allottees specified in paragraph (a) of this section are hereby prohibited from bringing into the continental United States, for consumption therein, any direct-consumption sugar from Puerto Rico except that acquired from an allottee within the quantity limitations established in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph and that brought in within the liquid sugar reserve for persons other than named allottees.

(3) Of the total quantity of direct-consumption sugar allotted in paragraph (a) of this section, 31,508 short tons, raw value, may be filled only by sugar principally of crystalline structure and the balance may be filled by sugar whether or not principally of crystalline structure, except that 12 short tons, raw value, of such balance is reserved to cover shipments of liquid sugar by other than named allottees.

(c) Revision of allotments. The Director of the Sugar Division, Commodity Stabilization Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, is hereby authorized to revise the allotments established under this section without further notice or hearing to give effect to (1) the substitution of revised estimates or final data for estimates as provided in Finding (9) accompanying this section, and (2) any increase or decrease in the direct-consumption portion of the mainland quota for Puerto Rico for the three-month period ending March 31, 1961, as provided in Finding (10) accompanying this section.

(d) Transfer of marketing rights under allotments. The Director of the Sugar Division, Commodity Stabilization Service, of the Department, consistent with the provisions of the act, may permit a quantity of sugar produced from sugarcane grown in Puerto Rico to be brought into the continental United States for direct-consumption therein by one allottee, or other person, within the allotment or portion thereof established for another allottee upon relinquishment by the latter allottee of an equivalent quantity of his allotment and upon receipt of evidence satisfactory to the Secretary that a merger, consolidation, transfer of sugar-processing facilities, or other action of similar effect upon the allottees or persons involved has occurred.

Chapter IX—Agricultural Marketing Service (Marketing Agreements and Orders), Department of Agriculture

PART 936—FRESH BARTLETT PEARS, PLUMS, AND ELBERTA PEACHES GROWN IN CALIFORNIA

Expenses and Fixing of Rates of Assessment for 1960–61 Season

Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 36, as amended (7 CFR Part 936), regulating the handling of fresh Bartlett pears, plums, and Elberta peaches grown in the State of California, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674), and upon the basis of the recommendation of the Control Committee established under the aforesaid amended marketing agreement and order, it is hereby found and determined that the expenses of the Control Committee in regard to Elberta peaches will amount to $13,500.

Order. In § 936.214 (25 F.R. 4897) delete subparagraph (4) of paragraph (a) and substitute in lieu thereof a new subparagraph (4) as set forth below.

§ 936.214 Expenses and rate of assessment for the 1960–61 season.

(a) Expenses. * * *

(4) Elberta peaches, $13,500.

It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this amendatory order until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 1001–1011) in that: (1) The increase in the budget set forth above does not involve an increase in the rate of assessment heretofore established by the Secretary (25 F.R. 4897); (2) the relevant provisions of said amended marketing agreement and this part requires that rates of assessment fixed for a particular marketing year shall be applicable to all assessable Elberta peaches from the beginning of such year and such rate of assessment shall be sufficient to provide funds for the payment of committee expenses; and (3) the Control Committee and the Commodity Committee in the performance of their duties and functions have incurred expenses in excess of those previously thought likely to be incurred. Therefore, it is essential that this amendatory action be issued immediately so that said committee can meet its obligations.

(Secs. 1–19, 48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U.S.C. 601–674)

Dated: December 27, 1960.

SUBCHAPTER A—MEAT INSPECTION REGULATIONS

PART 17—LABELING

PART 18—REINSPECTION AND PREPARATION OF PRODUCTS

Cured Meat Products

Pursuant to the authority conferred by the Meat Inspection Act, as amended and extended (21 U.S.C. 71–96), and section 306 of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended (19 U.S.C. 1306), Parts 17 and 18 of the Meat Inspection regulations (9 CFR Parts 17 and 18, as amended) are hereby amended as follows:

1. Section 17.8(c)(49) is deleted.
2. Section 17.8(c)(54) is deleted.
3. A new paragraph (e) is added to § 17.8 to read:

(e) In the preparation of the following cured meat products the following restrictions with respect to the use of moisture shall be observed:

(1) Smoked hams, smoked pork shoulders, smoked pork shoulder picnics and smoked pork shoulder butts may not contain more than ten percent added moisture. Smoked beef tongues shall not contain added moisture.

(2) Cooked cured products such as hams, pork shoulders, pork shoulder picnics, pork shoulder butts, or pork loins, either smoked or unsmoked, prepared with either moist or dry heat, and identified as "cooked", "fully cooked", "thoroughly cooked", "ready to eat" or "ready to serve" shall not contain added moisture.

(3) Canned hams, pork shoulders, pork shoulder picnics, pork shoulder butts and pork loins shall not contain more than eight percent added moisture.

4. Section 18.7(n) is deleted.

Implementation of the foregoing changes in the regulations will be accomplished by inspection routines and laboratory analysis of finished products using generally the same inspection and sampling methods now applied to cooked sausage products.

A review of the requirements presently in effect with respect to the preparation of the cured meat products disclosed considerable urgency for prompt change of the regulations to enable the public to obtain the types of products desired. The proposed amendments are less restrictive than the regulations presently in effect. Therefore, under section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U.S.C. 1003) it is found upon good cause that notice of rule making and public participation in the rule making procedure with respect to these amendments would be impracticable and unnecessary and the amendments may be made effective less than 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Accordingly, these amendments shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Done at Washington, D.C., this 23d day of December 1960.

M. R. CLARKSON,
Acting Administrator, Agricultural Research Service.

Title 10—ATOMIC ENERGY

Chapter I—Atomic Energy Commission

PART 20—STANDARDS FOR PROTECTION AGAINST RADIATION

Statement of Considerations

On September 7, 1960 the Commission published in the FEDERAL REGISTER amendments to 10 CFR Part 20 to become effective January 1, 1961. The amendments were designed to bring the Commission's radiation protection standards into accord with the most recent recommendations of the Federal Radiation Council and the National Committee on Radiation Protection and Measurements. Subsequent to publication of the amendments on September 7, 1960, the Commission has received several comments from interested parties requesting clarification and corrections of certain sections of the regulation. The following amendments are designed to clarify and correct the regulation in the following respects:

1. Section 20.3(a)(4) of the regulation permits licensees to determine calendar quarters either (1) as successive 3-month calendar periods starting on January 1 of a year or (2) as successive periods of 13 complete consecutive weeks starting with the first complete calendar week of the year. Film badge processors have indicated that method (1) of determining calendar quarters would present problems to the industry in that every user of film badges on a monthly basis would be required to start his use on the first day of each month, thereby resulting a large influx of badges to be processed at that time of the month with only a few badges during the balance of the month. They have indicated that method (2) of determining calendar quarters is also unsatisfactory in that users of film badges on a two-week calendar basis could not keep records for a 13-week calendar quarter. Since the purpose of the regulation in defining a calendar quarter is limited to assuring that the exposure of individuals during a period of approximately 3 months is restricted to specified amounts, § 20.3(a)(4)(i) is amended to permit 3-month "calendar quarters" to start on any date within January, April, July or October rather than only on the first of the month; and to permit "calendar quarters" determined on a weekly basis to consist of alternating 14-week and 12-week periods, rather than only 13-week periods.

2. Section 20.206(c) requires Form AEC–3, (Notice to Employees), to be posted in every establishment where licensed activities are carried on regardless of whether any restricted areas which require radiation protection control measures exist in such establishment. Some licensees have pointed out that this requirement is unduly burdensome since posting of a Notice in unrestricted areas will result in many employees not working in restricted areas, nor even engaged in work with licensed material, becoming needlessly concerned as to the applicability of the poster to their activities. Since the purpose of the Notice is soley to assure that an employee working in or frequenting a restricted areas would be made aware of the information contained in the poster, § 20.206(c) is amended to require posting in such locations as to assure that employees working in or frequenting restricted areas will observe the Notice on the way to or from work.

3. Section 20.3(a)(14) of the regulation defines "Restricted area" in part as any area access to which is controlled by the licensee. Some licensees have requested clarification of the definition since access is controlled to many areas which have no relation to radioactive material. The definition has been changed by adding the phrase "for purposes of protection of individuals from exposure to radiation and radioactive materials". A corresponding change has been made in the definition of an unrestricted area in § 20.3(a)(17).

4. The Appendix "B" note in the regulation specifies methods of general applicability for determining limits for concentrations where there is a mixture in air or water of more than one radionuclide. It was not contemplated that these methods would necessarily apply in determining concentration limits for unique complex mixtures such as uranium ore dust. The concentration limit for the mixture of radionuclides in uranium ore dust calculated in accordance with these methods is lower by a factor of about 4 than previous concentration limits used for uranium ore dust. The uranium mill licensees have questioned the applicability of the Appendix "B" note methods for deriving a limit for uranium ore dust. The reduction in the limit for uranium ore dust is due to the fractional contribution of the unusually low limit for the radionuclide Thorium-230. The limit for Thorium-230 is based on a retention half-time in the lung of 4 years for pure thorium compounds. However, Thorium-230 does not appear in uranium ore dust as pure thorium compounds. The radionuclides in uranium ore dust of major health concern consist primarily of particles of insoluble uranium, which account for about 99.99 percent of the radionuclides with respect to mass, in secular equilibrium with the daughter products Thorium-230 and Radium-226 which are probably interspersed in a matrix within the uranium particle. Because of the unique physical and chemical state of the mixture of radionuclides in uranium ore dust, it does not appear appropriate to use the retention time for pure Thorium-230 as the basis for establishing a limit for ore dust. Rather, it appears desirable to use a single retention time for the mixture based upon the characteristics of the dust particle in which the radionuclides are fixed in insoluble form.

According, Appendix "B" note has been modified by adding paragraph 4 to establish concentration limits which are specifically applicable to uranium ore dust in air. It is assumed in deriving the new limits that the retention half-life of the individual radionuclides are governed not by their individual characteristics in the pure chemical state but by the characteristics of the dust particles in which the radionuclides are contained. For this purpose, a half-life of 120 days is used. This follows the practice of the International Commission on Radiological Protection and the National Committee on Radiation Protection in using a 120 day half-life for all insoluble materials in the lung except thorium and plutonium. This problem is under study by the Commission and by the Federal Radiation Council and the limits specified should be considered interim values pending the result of such studies. Appropriate revisions will be made in the limits if the studies indicate a need therefor.

Inasmuch as these amendments are intended to relieve from rather than to impose restrictions under regulations currently in effect and will not adversely affect the public health and safety, the Commission has found that general notice of proposed rule-making and public procedure thereon are unnecessary and good cause exists why these amendments should be made effective as of January 1, 1961, the effective date of previously published amendments to Part 20.

Notice is hereby given that effective January 1, 1961, Part 20, Title 10, Code of Federal Regulations, "Standards for Protection Against Radiation," as amended on September 7, 1960 (25 F.R. 8595) is further amended in the following respects:

1. Amend § 20.3(a)(4)(i) to read as follows:

(i) The first period of any year may begin on any date in January; provided that the second, third and fourth periods accordingly begin on the same date in April, July, and October, respectively, and that the fourth period extend into January of the succeeding year, if necessary to complete a three-month quarter. During the first year of use of this method of determination by a licensee, the first period for that year shall also include any additional days in January preceding the starting date for the first period.

2. After the first sentence in § 20.3(a)(4)(ii) add the following sentence: "Alternatively, the four periods may consist of the first 14 complete, consecutive calendar weeks; the next 12 complete, consecutive calendar weeks; the next 14 complete, consecutive calendar weeks; and the last 12 complete, consecutive calendar weeks."

3. Amend § 20.3(a)(14) to read as follows:

(14) "Restricted area" means any area access to which is controlled by the licensee for purposes of protection of individuals from exposure to radiation and radioactive materials. "Restricted area" shall not include any areas used as residential quarters, although a separate room or rooms in a residential building may be set apart as a restricted area;

4. Amend § 20.3(a)(17) to read as follows:

(17) "Unrestricted area" means any area access to which is not controlled by the licensee for purposes of protection of individuals from exposure to radiation and radioactive materials, and any area used for residential quarters.

5. Amend § 20.206(c) to read as follows:

(c) Form AEC–3, "Notice to Employees", shall be conspicuously posted in a sufficient number of places in every establishment where employees are employed in activities licensed by the Commission to permit employees working in or frequenting any portion of a restricted area to observe a copy on the way to or from their place of employment.

6. Add the following paragraph 4 to the note in Appendix "B":

4. If the mixture of radionuclides consists of uranium and its daughter products in ore dust prior to chemical processing of the uranium ore, the values specified below may be used in lieu of those determined in accordance with paragraph 1 above or those specified in paragraphs 2 and 3 above.

a. For purposes of Table I, Col. 1—1×10^{-10} μc/ml gross alpha activity; or 2.5×10^{-11} μc/ml natural uranium; or 75 micrograms per cubic meter of air natural uranium.

b. For purposes of Table II, Col. 1—3×10^{-12} μc/ml gross alpha activity; or 8×10^{-13} μc/ml natural uranium; or 3 micrograms per cubic meter of air natural uranium.

Dated at Germantown, Md., this 22d day of December 1960.

Loans

DECEMBER 23, 1960.

Resolved that the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, upon the basis of consideration by it of the advisability of liberalization as hereinafter set forth of the limitations contained in subdivision (iv) of subparagraph (1) of paragraph (b) of § 545.6–1 of the rules and regulations for the Federal Savings and Loan System with respect to the maximum percentage of value and the maximum repayment period of loans on property designed or used primarily for residential purposes for more than six families but not more than twelve families and the limitation contained in subdivision (v) of said subparagraph (1) with respect to the maximum repayment period of loans on real estate which is improved by an income-producing structure thereon, and for the purpose of effecting such liberalization, hereby amends subdivisions (iv) and (v) of subparagraph (1) of paragraph (b) of said § 545.6–1 to read as follows, effective December 30, 1960:

(iv) 66⅔ percent of the value of property designed or used primarily for residential purposes: Provided, That the loan is an installment loan repayable monthly within 15 years: Provided further, That the foregoing limitations of 66⅔ percent and 15 years in this subdivision shall be 70 percent and 20 years in the case of such a loan on property designed or used primarily for residential use for more than six families: Provided further, That, where a governmental entity certifies to the Federal association, in advance of the making of the loan, that the development, alteration, repair, or improvement of such property is essential to, or in furtherance of the objectives of, a program of slum clearance or urban renewal which has been or is expected to be undertaken in whole or in part by such governmental entity, the loan may be an installment loan repayable monthly within 25 years;

(v) 60 percent of the value of real estate which is improved by an income-producing structure thereon: Provided, That the loan is an installment loan repayable monthly within a period of 20 years.

(Sec. 5, 48 Stat. 132, as amended; 12 U.S.C. 1464. Reorg. Plan No. 3 of 1947, 12 F.R. 4981, 3 CFR, 1947 Supp.)

Resolved further that, as said amendments only relieve restriction, the Board hereby finds that notice and public procedure thereon are unnecessary under the provisions of § 508.12 of the general regulations of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board (12 CFR 508.12) or section 4(a) of the Administrative Procedure Act and, as said amendments relieve restriction, deferment of the effective date thereof is not required under section 4(c) of said Act.

By the Federal Home Loan Bank Board.

[SEAL] HARRY W. CAULSEN,
Secretary.

Title 13—BUSINESS CREDIT AND ASSISTANCE

Chapter I—Small Business Administration

[Amdt. 7]

PART 121—SMALL BUSINESS SIZE STANDARDS

Miscellaneous Amendments

The Small Business Size Standards Regulation (Revision 1) (24 F.R. 3491), as amended, (24 F.R. 5628, 7458, 7943, 9329; 25 F.R. 4577, 4711, 4985, 10087) is hereby further amended by:

§ 121.3–11 [Amendment]

1. Deleting the title for "§ 121.3–11 Definition of Small Business for investment companies" and substituting in lieu thereof the title "§ 121.3–11 Definition of Small Business for assistance by Small Business investment companies."

2. Deleting § 121.3–1 and substituting in lieu thereof revised § 121.3–1 as follows:

§ 121.3–1 Purpose.

This part defines "small business concerns" and establishes standards, criteria and procedures to determine which concerns are "small business concerns" within the meaning of the Small Business Act, as amended (hereinafter referred to as the "Act"), and the Small Business Investment Act of 1958, as amended (hereinafter referred to as the "Investment Act").

3. Amending § 121.3–2 by deleting paragraphs (e) and (i) and substituting in lieu thereof revised paragraph (e) and (i) and adding new paragraphs (l), (m) and (n) as follows:

§ 121.3–2 Definition of terms.

(e) "Concern" means any business entity organized for profit with a place of business located in the United States, including, but not limited to, an individual, partnership, corporation, joint venture, association or cooperative.

* * * * *

(i) "Number of employees" means the average employment of any concern including the employees of its domestic and foreign affiliates based on the number of persons employed on a full time, part time, temporary or other basis during the pay period ending nearest the 15th day of the third month in each calendar quarter for the preceding four quarters. If a concern has not been in existence for four full calendar quarters, "number of employees" means the average employment of such concern and its affiliates during the period such concern has been in existence based on the number of persons employed during the pay period ending nearest the 15th day of each month.

* * * * *

(l) "Size determination" means a ruling by SBA that a concern is or is not a small business within the meaning of this Part.

(m) "Reconsideration" means a review by a Regional Director or Deputy Administrator on written request by an interested party of a prior size determination made by such Regional Director or Deputy Administrator, based on new information furnished with the request.

(n) "Appeal" means a written request for a review of a size determination made by a Deputy Administrator.

(o) "Protest" means a statement in writing from a party having a valid interest in whether or not a bidder on a Government procurement or Government disposal contract is a small business within the meaning of this part, and shall contain the basis for the protest, together with specific detailed evidence supporting the protestant's claim that such bidder is not a small business. A complaint received that a concern is not a small business, but which does not meet the requirements of this paragraph, will not be considered a "protest" and will not be considered.

4. Deleting § 121.3–3 and substituting in lieu thereof revised § 121.3–3 as follows:

§ 121.3–3 Organization.

(a) Deputy Administrator for Administration. The Deputy Administrator for Administration has the overall responsibility for carrying out the Small Business Administration's size standards programs.

(b) Director, Office of Small Business Size Standards. The Director, Office of Small Business Size Standards is responsible for: (1) Reviewing and recommending size standards for all size programs; (2) establishing procedures for the implementation of all size programs; (3) holding industry hearings; (4) issuing advisory opinions on all size cases referred to him by a Deputy Administrator; (5) issuing interpretations of the size standards regulations and criteria; and (6) taking such other actions as may be appropriate for accomplishment of his assigned functions.

(c) Deputy Administrators for Procurement and Technical Assistance, Financial Assistance and the Investment Division. The Deputy Administrators for Procurement and Technical Assistance, Financial Assistance and the Investment Division are responsible for making size determinations within their respective program responsibilities under established regulations, criteria and procedures. They may decide any original size question submitted by SBA field personnel and requests for reconsideration, but not appeals.

(d) Regional Directors. Regional Directors may make original size determinations except those involving requests for Small Business Certificates, questions of dominance, or questions of affiliation arising out of franchise agreements, license agreements or other contractual arrangements.

(e) Size Appeals Board. The organization and authority of the Size Appeals Board is described in § 121.3–6.

5. Deleting § 121.3–4 and substituting in lieu thereof revised § 121.3–4 as follows:

§ 121.3–4 Application for size determination and Small Business Certificate.

(a) An application for a size determination or Small Business Certificate shall be submitted on SBA Form 355, in duplicate, to any SBA field office serving the area in which the applicant is located. The application must be complete and any supporting materials must be attached thereto. If a question of size is submitted by a Small Business Investment Company or an applicant thereto, SBA Form 480 must be submitted together with SBA Form 355. Detailed instructions for completing SBA Form 355 and SBA Form 480 are attached thereto.

(b) Completed SBA Form 355 or SBA Form 480 requesting a Small Business Certificate, or involving a question of dominance, or involving questions of affiliation arising out of franchise agreements, license agreements or other similar contractual arrangements shall be reviewed by the Regional Director who shall insure that all facts are presented adequately in the forms and attachments thereto, and forward them with recommendations to the Deputy Administrator for Procurement and Technical Assistance, the Deputy Administrator for Financial Assistance or the Deputy Administrator for the Investment Division, as appropriate.

(c) Requests for reconsideration. (1) If a Regional Director has made a size determination, the applicant or other interested party may request reconsideration of this determination by filing such request, together with additional information, with the Regional Director. The Regional Director may, upon review of the new information submitted with the request for reconsideration, reverse his original determination.

If no new information is provided or if the new information does not warrant reversal in the opinion of the Regional Director, he shall submit the case to the appropriate Deputy Administrator who shall decide the request for reconsideration.

(2) If a Deputy Administrator has made a size determination, the applicant or other interested party may request reconsideration of this determination by filing such request, together with additional information with the Deputy Administrator. If no new information is provided or if the new information does not warrant reversal in the opinion of the Deputy Administrator, he shall deny such request. An appeal from such denial may be taken by following the procedure set forth in § 121.3–6.

6. Deleting § 121.3–5 and substituting in lieu thereof revised § 121.3–5 as follows:

§ 121.3–5 Protest of small business status.

(a) Any bidder or offerer or other interested party may question the small business status of any bidder or offerer by sending a written protest, as defined in § 121.3–2(o), to the contracting officer responsible for the particular procurement. Any contracting officer who receives such protest or who wishes to protest a bidder or offerer himself shall forward such protest record (or submit his protest) to the SBA Regional Director for the region in which the contracting officer is located. Upon receipt of a protest, the SBA Regional Director shall immediately notify the contracting officer of the date such protest has been received and that the size of the concern being protested is being considered by SBA. The Regional Director shall also advise the SBA Regional Director for the region in which the protested concern is located, and the bidder or offerer of the receipt of the protest, that it is under review, and shall forward to such bidder or offerer a copy of the protest and blank SBA Form 355, Application for Small Business Certificate or Size Determination. The bidder or offerer shall, within three days after receipt of the copy of the protest and SBA Form 355, file said form as directed by the Regional Director and shall attach thereto, a statement in answer to the allegations of the letter of protest, together with evidence to support such position.

(b) After receipt of a protest, SBA shall investigate and determine the small business status of the protested bidder or offerer and notify the contracting officer, the protestant and the protested bidder or offerer of its decision within ten working days, if possible.

7. Deleting § 121.3–6 and substituting in lieu thereof, revised § 121.3–6 as follows:

§ 121.3–6 Appeals.

(a) Appeals organization. (1) The Size Appeals Board is designated as the duly authorized representative of the Administrator and is responsible for reviewing size appeals and issuing final size determinations thereon.

(2) The Size Appeals Board shall consist of two Deputy Administrators neither of whom made the size determination being appealed and the General Counsel. The Director of the Office of Small Business Size Standards shall act as Secretary to the Board, but shall not have a vote. The Size Appeals Board is authorized to conduct such proceedings, to take such actions and to adopt such rules and procedures as may be necessary and appropriate for accomplishment of its assigned functions and for efficient disposition of matters which may properly come before it.

(b) Method of appeal—(1) Who may appeal. Any interested party who has protested the small business status of a concern pursuant to § 121.3–5 and whose protest has been denied by a Deputy Administrator or any concern which has been denied small business status by a determination of a Deputy Administrator pursuant to section 121.3–4 hereof, may appeal from the Deputy Administrator's determination by filing a Notice of Appeal addressed to the Secretary, Size Appeals Board, Small Business Administration, Washington 25, D.C.

(2) Time for appeal. Because of the urgency of pending procurements, appeals in such cases must be filed within five (5) days after receipt of the Deputy Administrator's determination. All other other appeals must be filed within thirty (30) days after receipt of such determination.

(3) Grounds for appeal. The only ground for appeal is the possible error of a Deputy Administrator in applying published size standards regulations. Argument that a published regulation is itself improper may appropriately be presented in writing to the Director, Office of Small Business Size Standards, who shall consider whether such regulation should or should not be amended, and make appropriate recommendations.

(4) Notice of appeal. While no particular form is prescribed for the Notice of Appeal, the following information should be included therein to avoid time consuming delays and necessity for further correspondence:

(i) Name and address of concern on which the size determination was made.

(ii) The character of the determination from which appeal is taken and its date.

(iii) If applicable, the IFB or contract number and date and the name and address of contracting officer.

(iv) A concise and direct statement of the claims why the decision of the Deputy Administrator is deemed erroneous. (See subparagraph (3) of this paragraph.)

(v) Documentary evidence in support of such claims.

(vi) Action sought by the appellant.

(c) Notice to interested parties. The Size Appeals Board will promptly acknowledge receipt of the Notice of Appeal and a copy of such Notice of Appeal will be sent to the appropriate Deputy Administrator, the contracting officer, and other interested parties.

(d) Statement by interested parties. After receipt of a copy of appellant's Notice of Appeal, interested parties may file in duplicate with the Board, a statement as to why the appeal should or should not be dismissed. Such statement must be accompanied by evidence as appropriate. Copies of such statements will be furnished to the appellant. Such statements should be addressed to the Secretary, Size Appeals Board, Small Business Administration, Washington 25, D.C., and in order to be considered must be filed within five (5) days of the receipt of the copy of Notice of Appeal (unless an extension is for cause granted by the Secretary of the Size Appeals Board).

(e) Consideration by the Size Appeals Board. The Size Appeals Board will consider the appeal on the written submissions of the appellant, or may, in its discretion, permit oral presentations by interested parties, and will then, in executive session make its decision.

(f) Notification of decision. The decision of the Size Appeals Board, together with the reasons therefor, will be communicated in writing to the appellant and interested parties as appropriate.

Effective date: This amendment shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

PHILIP MCCALLUM,
Administrator.

Title 14—AERONAUTICS AND SPACE

Chapter III—Federal Aviation Agency

SUBCHAPTER C—AIRCRAFT REGULATIONS

[Reg. Docket No. 612, Amdt. 238]

PART 507—AIRWORTHINESS DIRECTIVES

Sikorsky S–58 Helicopters

As a result of the failure of a reworked input bevel gear on a Sikorsky S–58C helicopter which caused a forced landing, retirement and rework criteria must be established to preclude recurrence of failures of input bevel gears that have been salvaged.

In the interest of safety notice and public procedure hereon are impracticable and good cause exists for making this amendment effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

In consideration of the foregoing, and pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (25 F.R. 6489), § 507.10(a) of Part 507 (14 CFR Part 507), is hereby amended by adding the following new airworthiness directive:

SIKORSKY. Applies to all S–58 helicopters. Compliance required as indicated.

As a result of a recent failure of a salvaged S1635–20011–2 input bevel gear which caused an autorotative landing, the following must be accomplished.

(a) All input bevel gears (S1635–20011–2) salvaged in accordance with instructions in Sikorsky Service Information Circular No. 1635–1127 Revisions A and E must be retired upon the accumulation of 1,200 hours' time in service since salvage unless reworked in accordance with paragraph (b).

(b) Gears salvaged as outlined in paragraph (a) that have accrued less than 1,200 hours' time in service since such salvage work may be reworked prior to accumulating 1,200 hours since such salvage work or at overhaul, whichever occurs first, in accordance with the following:

(1) Strip the chrome plate from the gear by reverse electrolysis. (Use Unichrome 80X, manufactured by United Chrome Co., Waterbury, Conn., or equivalent solution.)

(2) Measure the bearing journal diameter. If the diameter is more than 0.010 inch below the low limit of the manufacturing tolerance, reject the part.

(3) Perform a magnetic inspection on the bearing area of the gear for cracks, concentrating attention on fillet area; e.g., Magnaflux in accordance with SPEC MIL–I–6868.

(4) If cracks exist, reject the gear.

(5) If no cracks exist, proceed as follows:

(i) Machine and blend the fillet radius at the bearing journal using a radius of blending of 0.150 inch with the maximum depth of undercut equal to 0.010/0.015 inch.

(ii) Again perform a magnetic inspection.

(iii) Shotpeen the area to be chrome plated, in accordance with SPEC–MIL–S–13165, at an intensity of 12A2 to 18A2, using S170 shot.

(iv) Bake the gear for five hours at 275° ±10° F.

(v) Anodically clear the gear so as not to embrittle any carburized areas and to prepare the gear for chrome plating.

(vi) In accordance with FED. SPEC QQ–C–320, Class 2, chrome plate the bearing area to the thickness corresponding to the diameter below lower limits of manufacturing tolerance shown in the following table:

Diameter below lower limits of manufacturing tolerance	Chrome plate thickness
0.006	0.005
0.007	0.006
0.008	0.006
0.009	0.007
0.010	0.007

(vii) Bake the gear for five hours at 275° ±10° F.

(viii) Final machine the newly chrome plated O.D. to 5.0382/5.0372 inches. After final machining, the chrome plated area shall have a minimum plate thickness of 0.002 inch.

(ix) Perform magnetic inspection after final machining.

(c) Gears reworked in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (b) shall be retired upon the accumulation of 2,400 hours' total time in service.

(Sikorsky Service Bulletin No. 58B35-3A covers this same subject.)

This amendment shall become effective December 30, 1960.

PART 399—POSITIVE LIST OF COMMODITIES AND RELATED MATTERS

Miscellaneous Amendments

Section 399.1 Appendix A—Positive List of Commodities is amended in the following particulars:

1. The following commodities are added to the Positive List:

Dept. of Commerce Schedule B No.	Commodity description	Unit	Processing code and related commodity group	GLV dollar value limits	Validated license required	Commodity lists
61875	Fabricated steel products: Steel storage tanks, lined, n.e.c., and specially fabricated parts and accessories, n.e.c.: Liquefied gas containers, jacketed only, as follows: (a) liquid fluorine containers of 250 gallons capacity or over; and (b) other liquefied gas containers of 500 gallons capacity or over.[1 2]	Lb.	STEE 3	100	RO	A E-8

[1] This amendment was published in Current Export Bulletin 843, dated December 15, 1960.

Dept. of Commerce Schedule B No.	Commodity description	Unit	Processing code and related commodity group	G.L.V. dollar value limits	Validated license required	Commodity lists
	Steel bars and bar size rods and shapes, cold-finished, except tool steel and concrete reinforcement bars (all cold-drawn or cold-rolled flats and rounds, including bars in rolls or cut lengths, and special sections and bar shapes with cross-sectional dimension of under 3 inches):
62255	Alloy steel bars, cold-finished, except stainless, special types only.[14 15]	Lb.	STEE 3	100	RO	A E-8
62255	Other alloy steel bars, cold-finished, except stainless, as follows: (a) high speed tool steels containing 6 up to and including 10 percent cobalt, less than 5 percent chromium, and no nickel, or (b) glass to metal sealing alloys containing 6 up to and including 20 percent cobalt, less than 5 percent chromium, and no nickel.[3 14]	Lb.	STEE 4	100	RO	E-8
64270	Tool steel bars, alloy steel, special types only.[14 15]	Lb.	STEE 3	100	RO	A E-8
64270	Other tool steel bars, alloy steel, as follows: high speed tool steels containing 6 up to and including 10 percent cobalt, less than 5 percent chromium, and no nickel.[3 14]	Lb.	STEE 4	100	RO	E-8
	Steel wire, n.e.c. (all round, shaped, and flat wire regardless of use):
64813	Uncoated alloy steel wire (except stainless), special types only.[14 15]	Lb.	STEE 3	100	RO	A E-8
64818	Other uncoated alloy steel wire (except stainless), as follows: glass to metal sealing alloys containing 6 up to and including 20 percent cobalt.[3 14]	Lb.	STEE 4	100	RO	E-8
	Shipping containers for oil, gas, and other liquids and solids (all metals):
69102	Unfilled liquefied gas containers, jacketed only, as follows: (a) liquid fluorine containers of 250 gallons capacity or over and (b) other liquefied gas containers of 500 gallons capacity or over.[1 9]	No.	STEE 3	100	RO	A E-8
69103	Unfilled liquefied gas cylinders, jacketed only, as follows: (a) liquid fluorine cylinders of 250 gallons capacity or over; and (b) other liquefied gas cylinders of 500 gallons capacity or over.[9 14]	Lb.	STEE 3	100	RO	A
69108	Welding rods and wires, including brazing rods: Welding rods and wires, electric, iron and steel, special types only.[14 15]	Lb.	STEE 3	100	RO	A E-8
69108	Other welding rods and wires, electric, iron and steel, as follows: (a) high speed tool steels containing 6 up to and including 10 percent cobalt, less than 5 percent chromium, and no nickel, or (b) glass to metal sealing alloys containing 6 up to and including 20 percent cobalt.[3 14]	Lb.	STEE 4	100	RO	E-8
61940	Welding rods and wires, iron and steel, non-electric, special types only.[14 15]	Lb.	STEE 3	100	RO	A E-8
61940	Other welding rods and wires, non-electric, iron and steel, as follows: (a) high speed tool steels containing 6 up to and including 10 percent cobalt, less than 5 percent chromium, and no nickel, or (b) glass to metal sealing alloys containing 6 up to and including 20 percent cobalt.[3 14]	Lb.	STEE 4	100	RO	E-8

[2] The processing code is changed or related commodity group number is changed (see § 372.5(e) of this chapter).
[3] The symbol "A" is deleted in the column headed "Commodity Lists," indicating that the commodity is no longer subject to the IC/DV procedure (see § 373.2 of this chapter).
[11] The commodity coverage is increased, effective December 23, 1960.
[14] The commodity is added to the Positive List under this Schedule B number.
[15] For export control purposes "special types" of alloy steel (including stainless) includes steels containing any of the following characteristics: (1) Alloys with 10 percent or more molybdenum; (2) alloys with 5 percent or more molybdenum and more than 14 percent chromium; (3) alloys with 6 percent or more cobalt, except (a) permanent magnetic metals with a cobalt content of 25 percent or less; (b) high speed tool steels containing up to 10 percent cobalt, less than 5 percent chromium, and no nickel, and (c) glass to metal sealing alloys containing 20 percent or less cobalt, less than 5 percent chromium, and no nickel; (4) alloys containing 4 percent or more columbium, with a total of 38 percent or less of alloying elements, except such steels containing less than 0.4 percent columbium, tantalum, or titanium, including, but not limited to, the following: A 286, Discaloy, W 545, Unitemp 312, 19-9 DL, DX, DW, EME, and Croloy 15-15 N; and (6) precipitation hardening steels as follows: A M 350, A M 355, 17-4 PH, 17-7 PH, PH 15-7 Mo, 17-10 P, 17-14 Cu, Mo, V-2, B, PNM, Stainless W, and FV 520.
[16] On or after January 30, 1961, an Import Certificate (or a Hong Kong Import License) will be required in support of a license application covering exports of this commodity to the countries specified in § 373.2 of this chapter.
[1] The symbol "E" in the column headed "Commodity Lists" indicates that this commodity may be exported under the Periodic Requirements licensing procedure. This symbol is followed by a numerical designation to indicate the P.R.L. Commodity Group to which this commodity has been assigned (see § 370.20 of this chapter).

This item of the amendment shall become effective as of December 23, 1960, except as otherwise indicated in the footnote.

2. The following entries set forth below are substituted for entries presently on the Positive List. Where the Positive List contains more than one entry under a Schedule B number, the entry to be superseded is identified by a numerical reference in parentheses following the commodity description in the revised entry:

Dept. of Commerce Schedule B No.	Commodity description	Unit	Processing code and related commodity group	G.L.V. dollar value limits	Validated license required	Commodity lists
	Steel ingots, blooms, billets, slabs, sheet bars, and tinplate bars:
60178	Billets, blooms, slabs, and sheet bars, alloy steel, special types only; (export prohibited until sheet steel billets in 60174).[14 15]	S. ton	STEE 3	100	RO	A E-7
60178	Other billets, blooms, slabs, and sheet bars, alloy steel, as follows: (a) high speed tool steels containing 6 up to and including 10 percent cobalt, less than 5 percent chromium, and no nickel, or (b) glass to metal sealing alloys containing 6 up to and including 20 percent cobalt.[3 14]	S. ton	STEE 4	100	RO	E-7
60187	Wire rods, alloy steel, special types only.[14 15]	Lb.	STEE 3	100	RO	A E-8
60187	Other wire rods, alloy steel as follows: (a) high speed tool steels containing 6 up to and including 10 percent cobalt, less than 5 percent chromium, and no nickel, or (b) glass to metal sealing alloys containing 6 up to and including 20 percent cobalt.[3 14]	Lb.	STEE 4	100	RO	E-8
	Iron and steel bars and bar size rods and shapes, hot-rolled, except tool steel and concrete reinforcement bars (all hot-rolled flats and rounds, including bars in rolls or cut lengths, and special sections and bar shapes with cross-sectional dimension of under 3 inches):
60220	Alloy steel bars, hot-rolled, except stainless, special types only.[14 15]	Lb.	STEE 3	100	RO	A E-8
60220	Other alloy steel bars, hot-rolled, except stainless, as follows: (a) high speed tool steels containing 6 up to and including 10 percent cobalt, less than 5 percent chromium, and no nickel, or (b) glass to metal sealing alloys containing 6 up to and including 20 percent cobalt.[3 14]	Lb.	STEE 3	100	RO	E-8

This item of the amendment shall become effective as of December 23, 1960.

This item of the amendment shall become effective as of December 16, 1960, except as otherwise indicated in the footnotes.

Shipments of any commodities removed from general license to Country Group R or Country Group O destinations as a result of changes set forth in this amendment which were on dock for lading, on lighter, laden aboard an exporting carrier, or in transit to a port of exit pursuant to actual orders for export prior to 12:01 a.m., December 23, 1960, may be exported under the previous general license provisions up to and including January 16, 1961. Any such shipment not laden aboard the exporting carrier on or before January 16, 1961 requires a validated license for export.

In the Matter of Daniel D. Weinstein and Irwin R. Title, Individually and as Copartners Trading Under Their Own Names

Consent order requiring sellers of corneal contact lenses in Oakland, Calif., to cease advertising falsely that their contact lenses could be worn successfully by all in need of visual correction and without discomfort, would correct all defects in vision and protect the eye, could be worn for a lifetime without change of prescription, etc.

The order to cease and desist is as follows:

It is ordered, That Daniel D. Weinstein and Irwin R. Title, individually and as copartners trading under their own names or under any other name, or names, their representatives, agents and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device, in connection with the sale of contact lenses, do forthwith cease and desist from, directly or indirectly:

1. Disseminating or causing to be disseminated any advertisement by means of the United States mails or by any means, in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, which advertisement represents, directly or by implication that:

(a) All persons can successfully wear their contact lenses;

(b) There is no discomfort in wearing their contact lenses;

(c) All persons can wear respondents' contact lenses all day without discomfort; or that any person can wear said contact lenses all day without discomfort until such person has become fully adjusted thereto;

(d) Eyeglasses can always be discarded upon the purchase of respondents' lenses;

(e) Their contact lenses will correct all defects in vision;

(f) Their contact lenses differ from other contact lenses in that they permit tear and air flow;

(g) Said contact lenses may be worn for a lifetime without change of prescription; or misrepresenting the time that they may be so worn;

(h) Said contact lenses protect the eye unless limited to the small portion of the eye that is covered thereby.

2. Disseminating, or causing to be disseminated, any advertisement, by any means, for the purpose of inducing, or which is likely to induce, directly or indirectly, the purchase of said products, in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, which advertisement contains any representation prohibited in Paragraph 1 above.

By "Decision of the Commission", etc., report of compliance was required as follows:

It is ordered, That respondents Daniel D. Weinstein and Irwin R. Title, individually and as copartners trading under their own names, shall, within sixty (60) days after service upon them of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing, setting forth in detail the manner and form in which they have complied with the order to cease and desist.

Issued: October 21, 1960.

By the Commission.

Title 18—CONSERVATION OF POWER

Chapter I—Federal Power Commission

[Statement of General Policy No. 61-1]

PART 2—GENERAL POLICY AND INTERPRETATIONS

Area Price Levels for Natural Gas Sales by Independent Producers

DECEMBER 23, 1960.

Part 2, General Policy and Interpretations, of Chapter I, Federal Power Commission, of Title 18 of the Code of Federal Regulations, is amended by adding § 2.56, as follows:

§ 2.56 Area price levels for natural gas sales by independent producers.

(a) The Commission in its Statement of General Policy No. 61–1 issued September 28, 1960, first amendment thereto issued October 25, 1960, and second amendment thereto issued December 20, 1960, stated in pertinent part:

This statement establishing rate standards for independent producers of natural gas is issued on our own motion and is based on our experience gained after six years of regulation of independent producers under the Natural Gas Act. By this statement and the appended area price schedules we will set standards for initial and increased rate filings by producers for the sale of natural gas into interstate commerce. These standards will serve as a guide to us and to interested parties in determining whether proposed initial rates should be certificated without a price condition and whether proposed rate changes should be accepted or suspended.

* * * * *

* * * It is essential, particularly in the interest of the consumer for whose protection the statute was enacted, that means be found for making the most effective use possible of the Commission's limited facilities in discharging the new and additional duties called for by the regulation of producers of natural gas. In our opinion, the price standards established by this statement will aid in effectively applying the provisions of the Act to independent producers on a simple, clear and administratively feasible basis, and in a manner fair to all whose interests are affected by Commission regulation. * * *

* * * The geographical areas which we have used are convenient and well known. They are not necessarily in complete accord with geographical and economic factors which may be relevant to the establishment of pricing areas. As experience and changing factors may indicate, we will change or alter these areas from time to time in order to eliminate such inequities as may appear to exist because of our use of geographical boundaries.

In arriving at the price levels for the various areas set forth in the appendix to this statement, we have considered all of the relevant facts available to us. Such consideration included cost information from all decided and pending cases, existing and historical price structures, volumes of production, trends in production, price trends in the various areas over a number of years, trends in exploration and development, trends in demands, and the available markets for the gas. Of necessity, we have not set forth the adjustments to these prices which must be made to take into account every possible provision of every contract which may affect the actual price, such as Btu adjustments, conditions of delivery, etc. The relevance of such adjustments to the basic contract price and the appropriate established price standard must be considered as each filing is made. As it becomes apparent that certain adjustments have general applicability in a specific area, the area price standard will be revised and set forth in greater detail with regard to the exact sale conditions to which the rate applies. We should, however, make it clear that these present price standards apply to pipeline quality gas as that term is generally understood in each area and, except for the Louisiana prices, are inclusive of all taxes.

Two price standards are set for each area. Initial prices in new contracts are, and in many cases by virtue of economic factors, must be higher than the prices contained in old contracts. For this reason, we have found it advisable to adopt two schedules of prices, one pertaining to initial prices in new contracts and one pertaining to escalated prices in existing contracts. It is anticipated that these differences in price levels will be reduced and eventually eliminated as subsequent experience brings about revisions in the prices in the various areas.

These price levels • • • are for the purpose of guidance and initial action by the Commission and their use will not deprive any party of substantive rights or fix the ultimate justness and reasonableness of any rate level. As with the areas, the prices will be adjusted from time to time as such facts as may come before us compel such adjustments. For the present, and in the absence of compelling evidence calling for other action by us, proposed initial sales of natural gas by independent producers which include rates higher than those indicated in the appendix attached to this statement shall be denied a certificate or certificated only upon the condition that lower rates be filed, and all rate changes filed under existing contracts which call for a rate exceeding the indicated price level in the attached appendix to this statement shall be suspended.

Where a proposed price exceeds the indicated rate level and is therefore conditioned or suspended we will, in determining whether the higher price is justified, not necessarily consider only the financial requirements of the individual producer proposing the price but will consider all of the above elements relevant to the industry generally in the area concerned. Similar evidence will also be required from purchasers or their customers who object to any of the price levels or any specific price. Our determination will be in the nature of setting a price for the gas itself from any source questioned and not necessarily a price applicable solely to the party proposing some other price. In this connection we urge that all parties who have any interest in changing an area price join in such a proceeding leading to a determination of a proper revision, if any, in an area price or in the geographical area itself. As there will undoubtedly be numerous parties with an interest in such a proceeding full use should be made of prehearing procedures to reduce the factual issues and consolidate factual presentations to eliminate repetition and duplication of evidence. Because of the impossibility of giving detailed instructions for every proceeding, the precise course of each hearing and the admissibility and relevant weight of each type of evidence must be determined as hearings proceed and we expect to issue additional policy statements from time to time clarifying various aspects of these procedures and principles. The new area rate determinations resulting from such proceedings will represent final determinations of just rates for the areas involved as of the date of the decision and for prior periods.

• • • • • •

As a result of our considerable experience with the effects of favored-nation and price redetermination provisions upon independent producer prices, we concluded that acceptance of settlement offers was desirable in the public interest, appropriate to carry out the provisions of the Natural Gas Act, and beneficial to ultimate consumers, pipeline purchasers and independent producers. In view of the foregoing, an adjustment to the price level for increased rates in Texas District Nos. 2, 3, 4, and 6, when coupled with the elimination of price redetermination provisions and favored-nation provisions in existing filed rate schedules appears to be appropriate.

(b) Accordingly, the Commission provides that: For rate schedules from which favored-nation provisions, price redetermination provisions, and periodic escalation clauses have been eliminated, the area price level for increased rates for natural gas sales by independent producers in Texas District Nos. 2, 3, 4, and 6 is 15 cents per Mcf at 14.65 psia.

(c) For rate schedules from which favored-nation and price redetermination provisions have been eliminated, the area price level for increased rates for natural gas sales by independent producers in Texas District Nos. 2, 3, 4, and 6 is 14.6 cents per Mcf at 14.65 psia, provided, however, that any escalations contained in such rate schedules shall not take effect prior to February 5, 1963, further escalations shall not take effect at less than five-year intervals from the effective date of the initial escalation, and the increase in rate for such escalation shall not exceed one cent per Mcf.

(Sec. 4, 5, 16, 52 Stat. 822, 823, 830; 15 U.S.C. 717c, 717d, 717e)

JOSEPH H. GUTRIDE,
Secretary.

Title 36—PARKS, FORESTS, AND MEMORIALS

Chapter I—National Park Service, Department of the Interior

PART 7—SPECIAL REGULATIONS RELATING TO PARKS AND MONUMENTS

Yellowstone National Park, Wyoming, Montana, Idaho; Boats

On pages 4554 and 4555 of the FEDERAL REGISTER of May 24, 1960, there was published a notice and text of proposed amendments to § 7.13(d), Title 36, Code of Federal Regulations. The purpose of the amendments is to close Shoshone Lake, the Lewis River Channel and certain parts of Yellowstone Lake to machinery-propelled boats, and to prescribe accident reporting and other procedures regulating the operation of boats on the various waters in Yellowstone National Park, Wyoming, Montana, and Idaho.

Interested persons were given an opportunity to submit written comments, suggestions, or objections to the proposal and in addition and to further facilitate participation of the public in this rule making process a representative of the Secretary of the Interior conducted public hearings at Cody, Wyoming, Yellowstone National Park, and Idaho Falls, Idaho. Consideration having been given to findings of the hearings and all other relevant matters presented, it has been determined that the amendments should be and are hereby adopted and are set forth below with the following correction:

In paragraph (d)(12)(iv) the coordinate description for "Flat Mountain Arm" is corrected by changing "44°22'-70" to read "44°22'40"".

These amendments shall become effective at the beginning of the 30th calendar day following the date of this publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER. (39 Stat. 535; 16 U.S.C. 1958 ed., sec. 3).

FRED A. SEATON,
Secretary of the Interior.

DECEMBER 23, 1960.

1. Paragraph (d) of § 7.13 is amended to read as follows:

(d) Boats—(1) Permit. A permit, issued by the Superintendent, is required for all boats operated upon the waters of the Park. This permit must be carried within the boat at all times when any person is aboard, and shall be exhibited upon request to any person authorized to enforce the regulations in this chapter. A violation of the regulations, or disregard of the conditions outlined, by the permittee or other persons using the boat, will constitute cause for the cancellation of the permit.

(2) Commercial operation. No privately-owned boat shall be used to carry passengers for hire or be used in any commercial operation unless the owner thereof shall be authorized to do so by permit or contract issued by the Superintendent or other authorized officer.

(3) Size and type limitation. (i) The following water-borne craft are prohibited from being placed or operated upon the waters of the park:

(a) All privately-owned boats more than 32 feet in length, measured in a straight line through the middle of the boat from bow to stern.

(b) Sailboats of any type.

(c) Houseboats or any similar type watercraft.

(d) All watercraft propelled by airplane type propellers.

(4) Removal of boats. All privately owned boats, boat trailers, water-borne craft of any kind, buoys, mooring floats, and anchorage equipment will not be permitted in the Park prior to May 1 and must be removed by November 1.

(5) Boat equipment and requirements. All boats operated upon Park waters are subject to the following requirements:

(i) All boats operated from sunset to sunrise must display the following lights:

(a) Class A (less than 16 feet in length). A clear white light showing all around the horizon and visible for one mile.

(b) Class I (16 feet to less than 26 feet in length). Same light requirement as Class A boats.

(c) Class II (26 feet to 32 feet in length). Individual running lights, red to port and green to starboard, visible for one mile. A bright white light aft showing all around the horizon and visible for two miles, also a bright white light forward showing from right ahead to two points abaft the beam on both sides and visible for two miles.

(ii) Boats shall carry an approved warning device as follows:

(a) Class A boats. No warning device required.

(b) Class I boats. A hand, mouth, or power operated whistle or horn, capable of producing a blast for at least two seconds duration and audible for a distance of at least one-half mile.

(c) Class II boats. Same requirement as Class I boats except the device shall be capable of producing a blast audible for a distance of at least one mile.

(iii) All boats shall carry an approved life preserver, ring buoy, or buoyant cushion in good and serviceable condition for each person on board. Such devices shall be properly secured and stowed so as to be readily accessible in emergency.

(iv) All boats having built-in or inboard motors shall carry approved fire extinguishers as follows:

(a) Class A and Class I boats. One hand operated and portable fire extinguisher. This may be a 1¼-gallon foam, 4-pound carbon-dioxide, one quart carbon-tetrachloride or a 4-pound dry chemical, or larger.

(b) Class II boats. One fixed carbon-dioxide system and two hand operated, portable extinguishers of an approved type, such as 2½-gallon foam, 15-pound carbon-dioxide or 12-pound dry chemical.

(v) All boats powered with inboard motors which use gasoline as fuel are subject to the following conditions:

(a) Carburetors shall be fitted with an approved device which has demonstrated its ability to arrest backfire.

(b) In decked over boats, two or more ventilators are required, with cowls or equivalent capable of removing gases from bilges in engine and fuel tank compartments. Bilges must be kept free of oil, gasoline and grease.

(c) Drip pans are required on all updraft carburetors. These pans are to be equipped with a fine mesh wire screen cover to prevent the overflow from catching fire.

(d) The fuel tank filler pipe must be outside the cabin and cockpit, and so constructed that spillage of gasoline will not flow into the bilge. A vent of not less than ⅜-inch diameter is required from the fuel tank to the outside of the hull and shall be independent of the filler pipe.

(vi) Galley and cabin stoves shall be of such type and installation as approved by the Underwriters Laboratories.

(a) Approved types of galley stoves are those which use coal, charcoal, wood, alcohol, fuel oil or kerosene as fuel. Stoves which use gasoline as fuel are prohibited.

(b) Where a galley or cabin stove is installed, it shall be firmly attached, insulated from the woodwork, and so located that it does not endanger flammable material.

(vii) General conditions.

(a) Fuel lines must be intact with no leaks and must have a shut-off valve installed near the fuel tank in a readily accessible location.

(b) Electrical wiring must be in good condition.

(c) All boats must carry a bailing bucket on board in addition to whatever bilge pumps or automatic bailing devices with which they may be equipped.

(d) All boats 26 feet or less in length shall be equipped with oars and oarlocks, or carry a sweep adequate to propel the boat in case of engine failure.

(6) Special limits for small boats. (i) The following water-borne craft are prohibited from being operated at a distance of more than one-quarter mile from the shore of any lake:

(a) All boats 16 feet or less in length measured in a straight line through the middle of the boat from bow to stern.

(b) Water-borne craft, such as, canoes, kayaks, and rafts regardless of length.

(7) Rules of the road. The following rules of the road shall be observed:

(i) No person shall operate water-borne craft of any type or description upon any body of water in a reckless or negligent manner so as to endanger the life, limb, or property of any person. To "operate" means to navigate or otherwise use any water-borne craft.

(ii) In narrow channels, boats shall be operated to the right of the middle of the channel.

(iii) When approaching or passing other water craft, speed shall be reduced so that the wake does not endanger the other craft.

(iv) Slow speed shall be maintained in docking and fishing areas so as not to endanger persons or other craft.

(v) Right-of-way shall be given larger craft.

(9) Sanitation. No fish offal, bottles, cans, rubbish, or refuse shall be discarded from any boat or water-borne craft into Park waters, or from docks, or from the shores, or otherwise placed in the waters of the Park. Boats, not equipped with or utilizing sewage and waste treatment equipment (consisting of shredding, retention, and chlorination prior to discharge) are hereby prohibited from discharging head and or galley wastes within one-half mile of low water mark or any domestic water supply intake. All boats or other water-borne craft operating in Park waters shall have a receptacle aboard to contain rubbish and refuse which shall be emptied only into facilities provided at docks or other specified places.

(10) Limitation of boat loads. No boat or other water-borne craft shall be operated on any water of the Park with more than a safe capacity load of passengers or supplies. The following formula shall be used to determine the maximum safe load for boats and other water-borne craft: Maximum safe load (in pounds) = 7½ x length in feet measured through the middle of the boat x width in feet amidship x depth in feet amidship.

(11) Restricted landing areas. Prior to July 1 of each year, the landing of any water-borne craft on the shore of Yellowstone Lake between Trail Creek and Beaverdam Creek is prohibited, except upon written permission of the Superintendent.

(12) Restricted waters. (i) All water-borne craft of every type or description are prohibited on the following lakes or lagoons:

(a) Sylvan Lake.

(b) Eleanor Lake.

(c) Twin Lakes.

(d) Beach Springs Lagoon.

(ii) All water-borne craft of every type or description are prohibited on all Park streams (as differentiated from lakes and lagoons), except as follows:

(a) Yellowstone River from the outlet of Yellowstone Lake to a point 300 yards below Fishing Bridge.

(b) On the channel between Lewis Lake and Shoshone Lake, which shall be open only to hand-propelled water craft.

(iii) Machinery-propelled water-borne craft of every type or description, including, but not limited to, boats, canoes and rafts are prohibited on all waters of the Park except Lewis Lake, the Yellowstone River from the outlet of Yellowstone Lake to a point 300 yards below Fishing Bridge, and those portions of Yellowstone Lake not restricted under subdivision (iv) of this subparagraph, which follows.

(iv) The operation of any machinery-propelled water-borne craft of every type or description, including but not limited to boats, canoes and rafts, is prohibited on the South East, South and Flat Mountain Arms of Yellowstone Lake, mor particularly described as follows:

South Arm: South of a line beginning at a point marked by a monument located on the west shore of the South Arm and approximately one and one-quarter (1¼) miles southerly from Plover Point, said point being approximately 44°21'52.3" North Latitude and 110°21'05.6" West Longitude, then running approximately 8,720 feet due east to a point marked by a monument located on the east shore of the South Arm, said point being approximately 44°21'52.3" North Latitude and 110°19'05" West Longitude.

South East Arm: South of a line beginning at a point marked by a monument located on the north bank of the mouth of Alluvium Creek on the east shore of the South East Arm, said point being approximately 44°22'54.6" North Latitude and 110°14'25.8" West Longitude, then running due west approximately 9,480 feet to a point marked by a monument on the west shore of the South East Arm, said point being approximately 44°22'54.6" North Latitude and 110°16'38.4" West Longitude.

Flat Mountain Arm: West of a line beginning at a point marked by a monument located on the south shore of the Flat Mountain Arm and approximately 10,200 feet easterly from the South West tip of the said Arm, said point being approximately 44°22'13.2" North Latitude and 110°25'07.2" West Longitude, then running approximately 2,800 feet due north to a point marked by a monument located on the north shore of the Flat Mountain Arm, said point being approximately 44°22'40" North Latitude and 110°25'07.2" West Longitude.

(v) The disturbance in any manner or by any means of the birds inhabiting or nesting on either of the islands designated as "Molly Islands" in the South East Arm of Yellowstone Lake is prohibited; nor shall any boat, canoe, or any other water-borne craft approach the shoreline of said islands within one-quarter mile.

(vi) Water skiing, boat racing, towing of aircraft, water pageants, and spectacular or unsafe types of recreational use are prohibited on all park waters.

(vii) These restrictions shall not apply to craft operated for administrative purposes or in emergencies.

(13) Accidents. (i) In the case of collision, accident or other casualty involving any water-borne craft, it shall be the duty of the operator, if and so far as he can do so without serious danger to his own water-borne craft, or persons aboard, to render such assistance as may be practicable and necessary to other persons affected by the collision, accident, or casualty. He shall also give his name, address, and identification of his water-borne craft to any person injured and to the owner of any property damaged.

(ii) A report of any collision or accident that results in property damage in excess of $25.00 or injury or death to any person or persons must be made to the nearest ranger station within 24 hours.

PART 7—SPECIAL REGULATIONS RELATING TO PARKS AND MONUMENTS

Blue Ridge Parkway, Virginia and North Carolina; Use of Radar and Motor Boats

On page 10850 of the FEDERAL REGISTER of November 15, 1960 there was published a notice and text of a proposed amendment to § 7.34 (a)(2) and (h)(2) of Title 36, F.R. The purpose of this amendment is to provide for the use of radiomicrowaves (radar) in checking speeds of motor vehicles and for the operation of motor boats on waters of the Blue Ridge Parkway.

Interested persons were given 30 days within which to submit written comments, suggestions, or objections with respect to the proposed amendment. No comments, suggestions, or objections have been received, and the proposed amendment is hereby adopted without change. This amendment shall become effective at the beginning of the 30th calendar day following the date of this publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

SAM P. WEEMS,
Superintendent,
Blue Ridge Parkway.

1. Section 7.34 is amended by designating the present text as paragraph (a)(1) and by adding a new subparagraph (2) to read as follows:

§ 7.34 Blue Ridge Parkway.

(a) Speed. * * *

(2) The speed of any motor vehicle may be checked on any park road in the Blue Ridge Parkway, in the States of Virginia and North Carolina, by the use of radiomicrowaves or other electrical device when such park road, on which the device is used, is clearly marked "Speed Checked by Radar" or "Speed Radar Enforced" at or near intersections with primary State or Federal highways between which the device is used. The results of such checks shall be accepted as prima facie evidence of the speed of such motor vehicle in any court or legal proceedings where the speed of the motor vehicle is at issue.

2. Section 7.34(h)(2) is amended by the addition of a sentence to read as follows:

(h) Boating. * * *

(2) * * * The provisions of this paragraph shall not be applicable to boats engaged on official business of the Federal Government or used in emergencies in accordance with the directions of the Superintendent.

Chapter I—Veterans Administration

PART 8—NATIONAL SERVICE LIFE INSURANCE

Reinstatement of National Service Life Insurance

In § 8.22, paragraph (d) is amended to read as follows:

§ 8.22 Reinstatement of National Service life insurance.

* * * * *

(d) Inquiry prior to expiration of the grace period. When the insured under a National Service life insurance policy makes inquiry prior to the expiration of the grace period disclosing a clear intent to continue insurance protection, such as a request for information concerning premium rates or conversion privileges, etc., an additional reasonable period not exceeding 60 days may be granted for payment of premiums due; but the premiums in any such case must be paid during the lifetime of the insured.

PART 21—VOCATIONAL REHABILITATION AND EDUCATION

Subpart C—War Orphans' Educational Assistance Under 38 U.S.C. Ch. 35

EDUCATION AND TRAINING FOR THE CHILDREN OF VETERANS WHO DIED OF A SERVICE-CONNECTED DISABILITY INCURRED DURING THE INDUCTION PERIOD

Subpart C, Part 21, Chapter I of Title 38 of the Code of Federal Regulations, is amended by adding § 21.3401 as follows:

§ 21.3401 Education and training for the children of veterans who died of a service-connected disability incurred during the induction period.

(a) Provisions of the law. (1) The first section of Public Law 86-785, amends paragraph (1) of section 1701(a) of title 38, United States Code—

(i) By striking out in the first sentence of such paragraph "or the Korean conflict" and inserting in lieu thereof "the Korean conflict, or the induction period";

(ii) By inserting in the second sentence of such paragraph immediately after "disability" the following: "arising out of service during the Spanish-American War, World War I, World War II, or the Korean conflict"; and

(iii) By adding at the end of such paragraph the following new sentence: "The standards and criteria for determining whether or not a disability arising out of service during the induction period is service-connected shall be those applicable under chapter 11 of this title, except that the disability must (A) be shown to have directly resulted from, and the causative factor therefor must be shown to have arisen out of, the performance of active military, naval, or air service (but not including service described under section 106 of this title), or (B) have resulted (i) directly from armed conflict or (ii) from an injury or disease received while engaged in extrahazardous service (including such service under conditions simulating war)."

(2) Section 2 of the law amends subsection (a) of section 1701, title 38, United States Code by adding a new paragraph as follows:

(9) The term "induction period" means (A) the period beginning September 16, 1940, and ending December 6, 1941, and the period beginning January 1, 1947, and ending June 26, 1950, and (B) the period beginning on February 1, 1955, and ending on the day before the first day thereafter on which individuals (other than individuals liable for induction by reason of a prior deferment) are no longer liable for induction for training and service into the Armed Forces under the Universal Military Training and Service Act.

(3) Section 3 of the law amends subsection (d) of section 1701, title 38, United States Code by striking out "or the Korean conflict" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "the Korean conflict, or the induction period".

(4) Section 4 of the law amends subsection (c) of section 1723, title 38, United States Code—

(i) By deleting "television" and inserting in lieu thereof "open circuit television (except as herein provided)"; and

(ii) By adding at the end thereof the following sentence: "The Administrator may approve the enrollment of an eligible person in a course, to be pursued in residence, leading to a standard college degree which includes, as an integral part thereof, subjects offered through the medium of open circuit televised instruction, if the major portion of the course requires conventional classroom or laboratory attendance."

(5) Section 5 of the law reads as follows:

SEC. 5. In the case of any individual who is an "eligible person" within the meaning of section 1701(a)(1) of title 38, United States Code, solely by virtue of the amendments made by this Act, and who is above the age of seventeen years and below the age of twenty-three years on the date of enactment of this Act, the period referred to in section 1712 of title 38, United States Code, shall not end with respect to such individual until the expiration of the five-year period which begins on the date of enactment of this Act.

(b) Effects of the act. (1) The act extends benefits of the War Orphans' Educational Program to a group of orphans who were not previously eligible, that is, the children of veterans who died of a service-connected disability incurred during the "induction periods" under certain specified conditions. The "induction periods" are defined in paragraph (a)(2) of this section. The law establishes new criteria and standards for determining service connection for disabilities arising out of service in the "induction period" which are more restrictive than those arising out of war service. It also specifically excludes from qualifying service in the "induction period", service defined under section 106, title 38, United States Code. The act does not affect the eligibility of an orphan whose parent died from a service-connected disease or injury which was incurred during the Spanish-American War, World War I, World War II, or the Korean conflict. For such wartime service the standards and criteria for determining whether or not a disability is service-connected are those applicable under chapter 11, title 38, United States Code. However, in order for a child of a person who served during the "induction period" to be eligible for benefits under this act it must be shown that such person died of a service-connected disability and that one of the following criteria is met:

(i) Such service-connected disability must be shown to have resulted directly from, and the causative factor therefor must be shown to have arisen out of, the performance of active military, naval or air service (but not including service described under 38 U.S.C. 106). Under this criterion, it is not sufficient that the disability causing death has been rated as service connected in line of duty for compensation purposes. Thus conditions service connected under the presumptive provisions of the law are excluded. The disease or injury causing death must be found to be directly traceable to the performance of duty and not merely coincident in time with active duty. An indirect causal relationship between a disease and the performance of active duty, for example, would not suffice. Moreover, for a finding that the disease arose directly out of the performance of duty, it must be shown that it is reasonable to expect that such disease would not have been contracted had not the individual been performing active service in the Armed Forces. The disability obviously could not meet the criterion if acquired while on leave or off-duty status. Circumstances incident to the performance of duty of such character as to be a cause of the disability, and without which the disability would not reasonably be expected to have arisen, must be shown. Where the service-connected disability, directly resulting from the performance of duty as indicated in this subdivision, is the contributory cause of death, it may be the basis of a favorable determination.

(ii) The disability must have resulted directly from armed conflict, or directly from an injury or disease received while engaged in extrahazardous service, including such service under conditions simulating war. In determining whether the disability was incurred in extrahazardous service or under conditions simulating war the standards established under § 3.67 of this chapter are for application.

(2) The conditions under which open circuit television may be approved are specified by the law. (Instruction 1, Title 38, United States Code, Chapter 35, Public Law 86-785.)

(72 Stat. 1114; 38 U.S.C. 210)

This regulation is effective December 30, 1960.

Deputy Administrator.

Title 39—POSTAL SERVICE

Chapter I—Post Office Department

PART 14—NONMAILABLE MATTER

PART 15—MATTER MAILABLE UNDER SPECIAL RULES

PART 45—CITY DELIVERY

PART 46—RURAL SERVICE

Miscellaneous Amendments

The regulations of the Post Office Department are amended as follows:

I. Part 14—Nonmailable Matter—is amended by (1) rearranging the regulation under new section headings and amending the regulations therein for the purpose of clarification; (2) by adding regulations regarding the treatment and disposal of dangerous radioactive materials; and (3) by adding a new section 14.9 to show that postmasters must submit certain questions about mailability to the General Counsel. As so amended, Part 14 reads as follows:

PART 14—NONMAILABLE MATTER

Sec.
14.1 Introduction.
14.2 Harmful matter.
14.3 Intoxicating liquors.
14.4 Obscene and indecent matter.
14.5 Lotteries, frauds, and libelous matter.
14.6 Disloyalty and threats to the President.
14.7 Copyright violations.
14.8 Certain foreign communications.
14.9 Opinions on mailability.

AUTHORITY: §§ 14.1 to 14.9 issued under R.S. 161, as amended, sec. 1, 62 Stat. 740, as amended, 741, 761-763, as amended, 768, as amended, 769, 781, as amended, 782; 64 Stat. 451; secs. 501, 4001-4006, 4007, as amended by 74 Stat. 553 (Pub. Law 86-673), 4057, 4353, 74 Stat. 580, 654-657, 666 (Pub. Law 86-682); 5 U.S.C. 22, 18 U.S.C. 871, 876, 877, 1262, 1302, 1305, 1341, 1342, 1461, 1463, 1714-1718, 39 U.S.C. 501, 4001-4007, 4057, 4353.

§ 14.1 Introduction.

(a) Description. Nonmailable matter includes all matter which is by law, regulation, or treaty stipulation prohibited from being sent in the mail or which cannot be forwarded to its destination because of illegible, incorrect, or insufficient address.

(b) Applicability. The harmful or objectionable things identified or described in this part are some of the matter which may not be sent through the mail, as a matter of absolute prohibition. See Part 15 of this chapter for matter mailable only under special rules or conditions. Notwithstanding any statement contained in the regulations of this part, which covers only some of the items prohibited in the mail, the burden rests with the mailer to assure that he has complied with the law. In addition to other nonmailable items mentioned in this part, certain other articles are prohibited in the mail to military post offices overseas. See Part 17 of this chapter.

(c) Penalties for violation. Severe penalties, by fine or imprisonment, or both, are provided for persons who knowingly mail or cause to be mailed, any matter which has been declared nonmailable under law.

(d) Nonconformity with postal regulations. Regardless of its nature, matter may not be mailed in any form if done in violation of postal regulations for such reasons as failure to pay postage, improper size or weight, improper permits, improper addresses, etc.

(e) Responsibility of mailer. When mailers are in doubt as to whether any matter is properly mailable, they should ask the postmaster. Even though the Post Office Department has not expressly declared any matter to be nonmailable, the mailer of such matter may be held fully liable for violation of law if he does actually send nonmailable matter through the mail.

§ 14.2 Harmful matter.

(a) General provisions of law. Any articles, compositions, or materials, which may kill or injure another, or injure the mail or other property, are nonmailable. This includes but is not limited to:

(1) All kinds of poison or matter containing poison.

(2) All poisonous animals, except scorpions (see § 15.3(e) of this chapter), all poisonous insects, all poisonous reptiles, and all kinds of snakes.

(3) All disease germs or scabs.

(4) All explosives, inflammable material, infernal machines, and mechanical, chemical, or other devices or compositions which may ignite or explode.

(b) General examples of harmful matter. Harmful matter includes, among others, that which is likely to destroy, deface, or otherwise damage the contents of the mailbags or harm the person of anyone engaged in the Postal Service, such as caustic poisons (acids and alkalies), oxidizing materials, or highly flammable solids; or which are likely under conditions incident to transportation to cause fires through friction, through absorption of moisture, through spontaneous chemical changes or as a result of retained heat from manufacturing or processing; explosives or containers previously used for shipping high explosives having a liquid ingredient (such as dynamite), ammunition; fireworks; highly flammable liquids or substances; radioactive materials; matches; or articles exhaling a bad odor.

(c) Acceptability if properly packed. When authorized by the Postmaster General, various of the articles specified in this part as being nonmailable may be sent through the mail if they conform to special regulations as to preparation and packaging and if they are not outwardly dangerous, or of their own force dangerous or injurious to life, health, or property. See Part 15 of this chapter.

(d) Radioactive matter. (1) Radioactive materials other than those described in § 15.2(d) of this chapter are nonmailable. Any package of radioactive matter bearing an Interstate Commerce Commission red or blue label as CLASS D POISON or which is marked to indicate that it contains radioactive matter in excess of the quantities listed in § 15.2(d) of this chapter is nonmailable. These labels are illustrated below:

(Printed in Red)

(Printed in Blue)

(2) If a nonmailable package of radioactive material is discovered intact in the mail, the postmaster shall take the following action immediately:

(i) Place the parcel at least 15 feet from other mail or personnel. Under no circumstances shall the package be dispatched.

(ii) Notify the postal inspector in charge promptly, requesting instructions as to disposition of the package.

(3) If a nonmailable package of radioactive material is found to be broken or leaking, the following action shall be taken:

(i) The area around the damaged package shall be isolated to prevent contact of persons with any loose radioactive material. Any conveyor belt, chute, or other equipment or conveyance, including mail bags, in which the radioactive material has leaked should also be isolated. The isolated area shall be roped off or guarded wherever practicable. A temporary sign indicating the presence of radioactive materials with a warning to keep out should be placed at the edge of the roped off area. The postmaster in cooperation with a postal inspector, if one is available, shall immediately request the assistance of qualified persons to check radiation hazards and to supervise salvage and decontamination. This assistance may be obtained from the sender, if he is nearby, or from one of the following:

(a) Local civil defense authorities.

(b) Local health, fire or police department.

(c) Nearest office of U.S. Atomic Energy Commission. See § 14.2(d)(5).

(d) Nearby scientific laboratory.

(e) Nearby military installation.

(ii) When assistance from qualified personnel is delayed, those who were in the immediate area of the contaminated package shall wash thoroughly and make a complete change of clothes and remain isolated so as to prevent spread of the contamination until they have been examined by qualified persons. Exposed clothing and shoes should not be removed from the premises. A report of the incident shall be made to the postal inspector in charge.

(iii) When the incident has been appraised by competent radiological specialists, the postmaster should ascertain the need for medical attention to exposed employees. Injury reports are to be treated like other occupational injuries.

(4) Operations Offices of the United States Atomic Energy Commission are as follows:

Operations office	Mail address	Telephone No.

§ 14.3 Intoxicating liquors.

(a) Spirituous, vinous, malted, fermented, or other intoxicating liquors of any kind containing more than 3.2 percent of alcohol by weight.

(b) Intoxicating liquors containing not more than 3.2 percent of alcohol by weight when addressed to a Territory or district of the United States, the laws of which prohibit the manufacture or sale therein of alcoholic beverages of that content.

(c) Beer, lager beer, ale, porter, wine or other liquors, regardless of alcoholic content, when mailed to Indian wards anywhere or into any Indian reservation.

§ 14.4 Obscene and indecent matter.

(a) Lewd or filthy matter. Obscene, lewd, lascivious, or filthy publications or writings, or mail containing information concerning where, how, or from whom such may be obtained, and matter which is otherwise mailable but which has on its wrapper or envelope any indecent, lewd, lascivious, or obscene writing or printing. Any mail containing any filthy, vile, or indecent thing.

(b) Contraceptive and abortive materials. (1) Anything intended to prevent conception or produce abortion.

(2) Anything advertised or described so as to lead another to use it for preventing conception or producing abortion.

(3) Any written or printed matter giving information as to how to obtain any article or to use any means for preventing conception or producing an abortion.

(4) Any other written or printed matter intended to induce, or incite to, the prevention of conception or the production of abortion.

(c) Inciting to violence. Any matter of a character tending to incite arson, murder, or assassination.

§ 14.5 Lotteries, frauds, and libelous matter.

(a) Lotteries. (1) Any letter, package, postal card, or circular concerning any lottery, gift enterprise, or similar scheme offering prizes dependent in whole or in part on lot or chance.

(2) Any lottery ticket or part thereof or substitute.

(3) Any form of payment for a lottery ticket or share.

(4) Any newspaper, circular, pamphlet, or publication of any kind containing any advertisement of a lottery or similar enterprise, or any list of prizes awarded in such an enterprise.

(b) Fishing contest exception. Paragraph (a) does not apply to any fishing contest not conducted for profit wherein prizes are awarded for the species, size, weight, or quality of fish caught by contestants in any bona fide fishing or recreational event.

(c) Fraudulent enterprises. Anything mailed in pursuance of any scheme for obtaining money or property of any kind through the mail, by means of false or fraudulent pretenses, representations, or promises.

(d) Fictitious matter. Any matter addressed to a person using any fictitious, false, or assumed name, title, or address in conducting, promoting, or carrying on or assisting therein, through the mail, any business scheme or device in violation of law. The recipient must appear at the post office of receipt and be identified. If the addressee fails to appear and be identified, after notification, or if the fictitious character of such mail is established to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General, it is forwarded to the dead letter office as fictitious matter or otherwise disposed of as the Postmaster General directs.

(e) Libelous matter. Any matter otherwise mailable which has on its outside wrapper or envelope, or any postal card or post card carrying on it:

(1) Any libelous, scurrilous, defamatory, or threatening language, whether written or printed, or which by its manner or style of display is obviously intended to reflect injuriously on the character or conduct of another; or

(2) Any language asking for payment of a bill, which by its manner or style of display is defamatory and reflects injuriously on the character of addressee.

§ 14.6 Disloyalty and threats to the President.

(a) Any letter, publication, or thing containing any matter advocating or urging treason, insurrection, or forcible resistance to any law of the United States.

(b) Any letter or other matter containing any threat to take the life of or to inflict bodily harm upon, the President of the United States.

§ 14.7 Copyright violations.

Publications which violate copyright granted by the United States.

§ 14.8 Certain foreign communications.

(a) Matter addressed to foreign countries, posted in violation of law or treaty stipulations.

(b) Matter of any kind giving or offering to give information concerning procurement of a divorce in a foreign country and designed to solicit business in connection with such procurement.

§ 14.9 Opinions on mailability.

Postmasters and other employees at post offices shall not give opinions to the public concerning the mailability of matter under §§ 14.4, 14.5, 14.6, 14.7, 14.8 and §§ 15.5 and 15.6 of this chapter. When there is doubt as to the mailability of any such matter, the postmaster shall withhold it from dispatch or delivery and a sample or a complete statement of the facts shall be submitted to the General Counsel for instructions.

1. Section 2.102 is redesignated as § 2.101.

§ 2.103 [Redesignation]

2. Section 2.103 is redesignated as § 2.102.

3. Section 2.103 is added as follows:

§ 2.103 Government use of non-Government frequencies.

(a) Government stations may be authorized to use non-Government frequencies in the bands above 25 Mc if the Commission finds that such use is necessary for communications between Government and non-Government stations, or that such use is necessary for coordination of Government and non-Government activities: Provided, however, That:

(1) Government operation on non-Government frequencies shall conform with the conditions agreed upon by the Commission and the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization (the more important of which are contained in subparagraphs 2, 3, and 4 of this paragraph), a complete list of which is available for public examination at each of the Commission's Field Engineering and Monitoring Bureau Field Offices;

(2) Such operations shall be in accordance with Commission rules governing the service to which the frequencies involved are allocated;

(3) Such operations shall not cause harmful interference to non-Government stations and, should harmful interference result, that the interfering Government operation shall immediately terminate; and

(4) Government operation has been certified as necessary by the non-Government licensees involved and this certification has been furnished, in writing, to the Government agency with which communication is required.

Proposed Rule Making

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY

Internal Revenue Service

[26 CFR (1954) Part 1]

INCOME TAX; TAXABLE YEARS BEGINNING AFTER DECEMBER 31, 1953

Carryovers of Method of Computing Depreciation Allowance, Installment Method, and Recovery of Bad Debts, Prior Taxes, or Delinquency Amounts

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act, approved June 11, 1946, that the regulations set forth in tentative form below are proposed to be prescribed by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury or his delegate. Prior to the final adoption of such regulations, consideration will be given to any comments or suggestions pertaining thereto which are submitted in writing, in duplicate, to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Attention: T:P, Washington 25, D.C., within the period of 30 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Any person submitting written comments or suggestions who desires an opportunity to comment orally at a public hearing on these proposed regulations should submit his request, in writing, to the Commissioner within the 30-day period. In such a case, a public hearing will be held and notice of the time, place, and date will be published in a subsequent issue of the FEDERAL REGISTER. The proposed regulations are to be issued under the authority contained in section 7805 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 (68A Stat. 917; 26 U.S.C. 7805).

[SEAL] CHARLES I. FOX,
Acting Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

The following regulations are hereby prescribed under section 381(c) (6), (8), and (12) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, relating respectively to the carryovers of method of computing depreciation allowance, installment method, and recovery of bad debts, prior taxes, or delinquency amounts:

Sec.
1.381(c)(6) Statutory provisions; carryovers in certain corporate acquisitions; items of the distributor or transferor corporation; method of computing depreciation allowance.
1.381(c)(6)-1 Depreciation method.
1.381(c)(7) [Reserved]
1.381(c)(8) Statutory provisions; carryovers in certain corporate acquisitions; items of the distributor or transferor corporation; installment method.
1.381(c)(8)-1 Installment method.
1.381(c)(12) Statutory provisions; carryovers in certain corporate acquisitions; items of the distributor or transferor corporation; recovery of bad debts, prior taxes, or delinquency amounts.
1.381(c)(12)-1 Recovery of bad debts, prior taxes, or delinquency amounts.

§ 1.381(c)(6) Statutory provisions: carryovers in certain corporate acquisitions; items of the distributor or transferor corporation; method of computing depreciation allowance.

SEC. 381. Carryovers in certain corporate acquisitions. • • •

(c) Items of the distributor or transferor corporation. The items referred to in subsection (a) are:

• • • • •

(6) Method of computing depreciation allowance. The acquiring corporation shall be treated as the distributor or transferor corporation for purposes of computing the depreciation allowance under paragraphs (2), (3), and (4) of section 167 (b) on property acquired in a distribution or transfer with respect to that part or all of the basis in the hands of the acquiring corporation as does not exceed the basis in the hands of the distributor or transferor corporation.

§ 1.381(c)(6)-1 Depreciation method.

(a) Carryover requirement. (1) Section 381(c)(6) provides that if, in a transaction to which section 381(a) applies, an acquiring corporation acquires depreciable property from a distributor or transferor corporation which computes its allowance for the depreciation of the property under section 167(b)(2), (3), or (4), then the acquiring corporation shall compute its depreciation allowance by the same method used by the distributor or transferor corporation with respect to such property. Thus, if the distributor or transferor corporation used the sum of the years-digits method under section 167(b)(3) with respect to an asset distributed or transferred to an acquiring corporation, then the acquiring corporation shall be required to use the sum of the years-digits method with respect to such asset acquired. The computation of the depreciation allowance with respect to the property acquired shall be made under the provisions of section 167 and the regulations thereunder.

(2) The rules provided in section 381(c)(6) and subparagraph (1) of this paragraph shall apply only with respect to that part or all of the basis of the property in the hands of the acquiring corporation immediately after the date of distribution or transfer as does not exceed the basis of the property in the hands of the distributor or transferor corporation on the date of distribution or transfer. For this purpose, the basis of the property in the hands of the distributor or transferor corporation shall be the adjusted basis provided in section 1011 for the purpose of determining gain on the sale or other disposition of such property. For provisions defining the date of distribution or transfer see § 1.381(b)-1(b).

(b) Portion in excess of distributor or transferor corporation's basis. With respect to that part of the basis of the depreciable property which in the hands of the acquiring corporation exceeds the adjusted basis to the distributor or transferor corporation, the acquiring corporation may use any reasonable method of computing depreciation, other than the methods provided in section 167(b)(2), (3), or (4). See paragraph (b) of § 1.167(b)-0 for methods which are acceptable under section 167(a). See also sections 334(b)(1) and 362(b) for the determination of basis of property in the hands of the acquiring corporation in connection with a transaction to which section 381(a) applies.

(c) Records required. Records shall be maintained in sufficient detail to identify any depreciable property to which this section applies, and to establish the basis thereof.

(d) Agreement under section 167(d). To the extent not inconsistent with paragraph (b) of this section, an acquiring corporation shall be treated as the distributor or transferor corporation in the case of an agreement between the distributor or transferor corporation and the district director under section 167(d) and § 1.167(d)-1 with respect to property to which section 381(c)(6) and this section apply. Thus, in the case where the basis of an asset in the hands of an acquiring corporation exceeds the basis of such asset in the hands of the distributor or transferor corporation, such an agreement will not have the effect of permitting the acquiring corporation to compute its depreciation allowance with respect to such excess basis under the methods provided in section 167(b)(2), (3), or (4). However, the provisions of the agreement will continue to apply with respect to the useful life of the asset.

(e) Change of method of depreciation. Although the acquiring corporation is required to use the method of computing depreciation used by the distributor or transferor with respect to depreciable property to which this section applies, such acquiring corporation may use another method with respect to such property if consent of the Commissioner is obtained in accordance with paragraph (e) of § 1.446-1. Further, subject to the provisions of paragraph (b) of § 1.167(e)-1 the acquiring corporation may change from the declining balance method described in section 167(b)(2) to the straight line method without consent of the Commissioner.

(f) Successive transactions to which section 381(a) applies. The provisions of this section shall apply in the case of successive transactions to which section 381(a) applies. Thus, for example, if X Corporation, a transferor corporation, used the sum of the years-digits method under section 167(b)(3) with respect to an asset transferred to Y Corporation, an acquiring corporation, in a transaction to which section 381(a) applies, and subsequently Y Corporation, using the same method, transfers such asset to Z Corporation in a transaction to which section 381(a) also applies, then Z Corporation shall be required to use the sum of the years-digits method with respect to such asset.

(g) Illustration. The application of this section may be illustrated by the following example:

Example. M and N Corporations compute their taxable incomes on the basis of the calendar year. On December 31, 1959, M Corporation transfers all of its assets to N Corporation in a transaction to which section 381(a) applies. Included among these assets is an item of depreciable property which on that date has an adjusted basis (for determining gain) of $800,000 after M Corporation takes into account for 1959 its allowance for depreciation under section 167(b)(2). The basis attributable to the asset under section 362(b) is determined to be $900,000 in the hands of N Corporation. Under the provisions of section 381(c)(6) and paragraph (a) of this section, N Corporation is required to compute its allowance for the depreciation of the asset under section 167(b)(2) for 1960 and subsequent years but only in respect of $800,000 of its basis. N Corporation may use any reasonable method other than the methods provided in section 167(b)(2), (3), or (4) in computing its depreciation allowance of the remaining $100,000.

§ 1.381(c)(7) [Reserved]

§ 1.381(c)(8) Statutory provisions: carryovers in certain corporate acquisitions; items of the distributor or transferor corporation; installment method.

SEC. 381. Carryovers in certain corporate acquisitions. • • •

(c) Items of the distributor or transferor corporation. The items referred to in subsection (a) are:

• • • • •

(8) Installment method. If the acquiring corporation acquires installment obligations (the income from which the distributor or transferor corporation has elected, under section 453, to report on the installment basis) the acquiring corporation shall, for purposes of section 453, be treated as if it were the distributor or transferor corporation.

§ 1.381(c)(8)-1 Installment method.

(a) Carryover requirement. (1) Section 381(c)(8) provides that if, in a transaction to which section 381(a) applies, an acquiring corporation acquires installment obligations, the income from which the distributor or transferor corporation has elected under section 453 and the regulations thereunder to report on the installment method, then the acquiring corporation shall be treated as the distributor or transferor corporation would have been treated under section 453 had it not transferred the installment obligations. Thus, if the distributor or transferor corporation had properly elected to return income from the sale or other disposition of property giving rise to the obligations on the installment method, then the acquiring corporation shall be required to return the income from all such installment obligations in the same manner and to the same extent as the distributor or transferor corporation, unless consent of the Commissioner to use another method is obtained in accordance with paragraph (e) of § 1.446-1.

(2) Section 381(c)(8) and this section have no application to sales or other dispositions of property made by the acquiring corporation on or after the date of distribution or transfer. For provisions defining the date of distribution or transfer, see § 1.381(b)-1(b). See section 381(c)(4) and the regulations thereunder for rules relating to the proper method or combination of methods of accounting to be used by the acquiring corporation.

(b) Basis of obligations. The basis in the hands of an acquiring corporation of installment obligations described in section 381(c)(8) and paragraph (a) of this section shall be the same as in the hands of the distributor or transferor corporation.

(c) Repossession of property sold in prior years. If the acquiring corporation repossesses property, previously sold by the distributor or transferor corporation, by reason of default by the purchaser in payment of the acquired installment obligations, then the acquiring corporation shall be treated as though it were the vendor corporation for purposes of determining, under section 453 and the regulations thereunder, the gain, loss, income, or deduction with respect to the property repossessed.

§ 1.381(c)(12) Statutory provisions; carryovers in certain corporate acquisitions; items of the distributor or transferor corporation; recovery of bad debts, prior taxes, or delinquency amounts.

SEC. 381. Carryovers in certain corporate acquisitions. • • •

(c) Items of the distributor or transferor corporation. The items referred to in subsection (a) are:

• • • • •

(12) Recovery of bad debts, prior taxes, or delinquency amounts. If the acquiring corporation is entitled to the recovery of bad debts, prior taxes, or delinquency amounts previously deducted or credited by the distributor or transferor corporation, the acquiring corporation shall include in its income such amounts as would have been includible by the distributor or transferor corporation in accordance with section 111 (relating to the recovery of bad debts, prior taxes, and delinquency amounts).

§ 1.381(c)(12)-1 Recovery of bad debts, prior taxes, or delinquency amounts.

(a) Carryover requirement. (1) If, as a result of a distribution or transfer to which section 381(a) applies, the acquiring corporation is entitled to the recovery of a bad debt, prior tax, or delinquency amount on account of which a deduction or credit was allowed to a distributor or transferor corporation for a prior taxable year, and such debt, tax, or amount is recovered by the acquiring corporation after the date of distribution or transfer, then under the provisions of section 381(c)(12) the acquiring corporation is required to include in its gross income for the taxable year of recovery the same amount of income attributable to the recovery as the distributor or transferor corporation would have been required to include under section 111 and the regulations thereunder had the distribution or transfer not occurred.

(2) The rule prescribed by paragraph (a)(1) of this section and by section 381(c)(12) with respect to bad debts, prior taxes, and delinquency amounts applies equally with respect to the recovery by the acquiring corporation of all other losses, expenditures, and accruals made the basis of deductions from the gross income of a distributor or transferor corporation for prior taxable years, including war losses referred to in section 127 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1939, but not including deductions with respect to depreciation, depletion, amortization, or amortizable bond premiums. An item which is not a "section 111 item" for purposes of the regulations under section 111 is not subject to the provisions of section 381(c)(12). The provisions of section 111(c) shall be applied with respect to a recovery by the acquiring corporation in the same manner as they would have been applied by the distributor or transferor corporation.

(b) Amount of recovery exclusion allowable for year of recovery. For the year of any recovery by the acquiring corporation, the amount of the recovery exclusion for the original taxable year shall be determined in accordance with paragraph (b) of § 1.111-1. For the purpose of this paragraph and section 381(c)(12), the recovery exclusion for any year with respect to section 111 items of the acquiring corporation shall be kept separate from the recovery exclusion for any year with respect to section 111 items of each distributor or transferor corporation. The recovery by the acquiring corporation of any section 111 item of such corporation after the date of the distribution or transfer shall be considered separately from recoveries by the acquiring corporation of any such item which was deducted or credited by a distributor or transferor corporation. Any recovery by the acquiring corporation of a section 111 item shall be excluded from the gross income of the acquiring corporation to the extent of the recovery exclusion (1) determined for the original year for which that item was deducted or credited by the specific corporation which claimed the deduction or credit and (2) reduced by the excludable recoveries (whether made by the acquiring corporation, or by the distributor or transferor corporation) in intervening years with respect to the recovery exclusion of such corporation for such original year. There shall be taken into account the effect of net operating loss carryovers and carrybacks or capital loss carryovers.

(c) Illustration of carryover of recovery exclusion—(1) Facts. (i) The application of section 381(c)(12) may be illustrated by the following example. M and N Corporations are both organized on January 1, 1957, and both corporations compute their taxable income on the basis of the calendar year. On December 31, 1959, M Corporation transfers all its assets to N Corporation in a reorganization to which section 381(a) applies.

(ii) The section 111 items of the two corporations for the following taxable years are as follows, identification of such items being made by an appropriate letter:

Taxable year of deduction or credit	M Corporation (transferor)	N Corporation (acquirer)
1957	$500(g)	$200(h)
1958	300(i)	400(j)
1959	600(k)	100(m)

(iii) The recovery exclusions in respect of such taxable years, computed in accordance with § 1.111-1(b)(2), are assumed to be as follows:

Taxable year	M Corporation (transferor)	N Corporation (acquirer)
1957	$400	$150
1958	200	300
1959	500	75

(iv) The recoveries of the abovementioned section 111 items by the two corporations are as follows:

Taxable year of recovery	M Corporation (transferor)	N Corporation (acquirer)
1958	$25 (g)	$50 (h)
1959	50 (g)	20 (h)

OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE CHARGES

Wapato Indian Irrigation Project, Yakima Indian Reservation, Washington

DECEMBER 22, 1960.

Pursuant to section 4(a) of the Administrative Procedure Act of June 11, 1946 (60 Stat. 238 U.S.C. 1001) and pursuant to the Acts of August 11, 1914 and March 7, 1928 (38 Stat. 583, 45 Stat. 210; 25 U.S.C. 385, 387) and by virtue of authority delegated by the Commissioner of Indian Affairs to the undersigned Area Director, Portland Area Office, Portland, Oregon by section 200 of the Commissioner's Order 551 with subsequent approval by the Commissioner by a letter dated December 15, 1960, notice is hereby given of intention to modify § 221.86 Charges, of Title 25, Code of Federal Regulations, dealing with the operation and maintenance charges on assessable lands under the Wapato Indian Irrigation Project, Yakima Indian Reservation, Washington, beginning with calendar year 1961 and for subsequent years until further notice, as follows:

By increasing the annual operation and maintenance assessments under paragraph (b) from $6.00 to $7.00 per acre, and under paragraph (c) for all lands with a storage water right known as "B" lands from 45¢ to 50¢ per acre.

Interested parties are hereby given opportunity to participate in preparing the proposed amendment by submitting their views and data or arguments in writing to Don C. Foster, Area Director, Bureau of Indian Affairs, Post Office Box 4097, Portland 8, Oregon, within 30 days from the date of publication of this notice of intention in the daily issue of the FEDERAL REGISTER.

DON C. FOSTER,
Area Director.

FLATHEAD INDIAN IRRIGATION PROJECT, MONTANA

Delinquent Bills

Basis and purpose. Notice is hereby given that pursuant to the authority vested in the Secretary of the Interior by R.S. 161, sec. 7 (62 Stat. 273), 5 U.S.C. 22, it is proposed to amend 25 CFR 232.21 as set forth below. The purpose of this amendment is to provide for a more realistic reconnection charge in those cases where the Project has discontinued electrical service until the consumer has paid all bills due. The proposed increase in the reconnection charge from $2.00 to $5.00 in § 232.21 is necessary due to present day prices and the extensive rural area that has to be served by the power system.

It is the policy of the Department of the Interior, whenever practicable, to afford the public an opportunity to participate in the rule making process. Accordingly, interested persons may submit written comments, suggestions, or objections with respect to the proposed amendment to the Commissioner, Bureau of Indian Affairs, Department of the Interior, Washington 25, D.C., within thirty days of the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

GEORGE W. ABBOTT,
Assistant Secretary of the Interior.

DECEMBER 27, 1960.

Section 232.21 is amended to read as follows:

§ 232.21 Delinquent bills.

If payment of a bill is not made on or before the fifteenth day of the month following the date of its issue, the project engineer shall discontinue service and shall not restore the same until the consumer has paid all bills then due as well as a $5.00 reconnection charge, and satisfied any deposit requirement which may exist under § 232.5. The discontinuance of service shall not relieve the consumer of liability for minimum monthly payments guaranteed by him under his contract.

RECREATION AND PUBLIC PURPOSES

Notice of Proposed Rule Making

Basis and purpose. Notice is hereby given that pursuant to the authority vested in the Secretary of the Interior by the act of June 14, 1926 (44 Stat. 744) as amended June 4, 1954 (68 Stat. 173), June 23 and September 21, 1959 (73 Stat. 110, 571), and September 13, 1960 (74 Stat. 899; 43 U.S.C. 869, 869:1-4), and by section 2478 of the Revised Statutes (43 U.S.C. 1201), it is proposed to amend portions of 43 CFR, Part 254, as set forth below. A major purpose of this amendment is to incorporate into regulations issued pursuant to the Recreation and Public Purposes Act the provisions of the acts of 1959 and 1960, supra, which (1) made some of the provisions of the Act applicable to the Oregon and California revested and Coos Bay reconveyed lands, (2) modified and limitations as to acreage patentable to qualified applicants in each calendar year, and (3) eliminated the 25-year limitation on the reversionary clauses required by law in patents issued pursuant to the Act. The amendment would also reflect the transition of Alaska from Territorial status to Statehood, and permit the Bureau of Land Management to collect more than one year's rental in advance.

It is the policy of the Department of the Interior whenever practicable to afford the public an opportunity to participate in the rule making process. Accordingly, interested persons may submit written comments, suggestions, or objections with respect to the proposed amendments to the Bureau of Land Management, Washington 25, D.C., within 30 days of the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Sections 254.1, 254.2 and 254.3; paragraphs (c) and (f) of § 254.5; paragraph (b) of § 254.7; paragraph (e) of § 254.8; paragraph (c) of § 254.10; and § 254.13 are amended, all to read as follows:

§ 254.1 Statutory authority.

The act of June 14, 1926 (44 Stat. 741), as amended June 4, 1954 (68 Stat. 173), June 23 and September 21, 1959 (73 Stat. 110, 571), and September 13, 1960 (74 Stat. 899; 43 U.S.C. 869; 869:1-4), authorizes the Secretary of the Interior, under specified conditions, to lease or sell lands for recreational and public purposes. This legislation is referred to as "the act" in the regulations of this part.

§ 254.2 Who may apply.

The following are qualified to make applications under the act; States, Federal and State instrumentalities and political subdivisions, including counties and municipalities; and nonprofit associations and nonprofit corporations.

§ 254.3 Lands subject to disposition.

The act is applicable to any public domain lands except (a) lands withdrawn or reserved for national forests, national parks and monuments, and national wildlife refuges and (b) Indian lands and lands set aside or held for use by or the benefit of Indians. The act is applicable to the Oregon and California Railroad revested grant lands and to the Coos Bay reconveyed wagon-road grant lands only insofar as it applies to leases of land to States and counties and to State and Federal instrumentalities and political subdivisions and to municipal corporations.

§ 254.5 General limitations and conditions on dispositions.

• • • • •

(c) No applicant in any one calendar year can receive under the act patents for land except in conformance with the following:

(1) Any State may acquire in its own name, or in the name of its State park agency, or in the name of any other agency having jurisdiction over the State park system of said State designated by the Governor of the State as its sole representative for acceptance of lands under this provision for recreational purposes, not more than 6,400 acres involving not more than three sites, except that should any State fail in any one calendar year to receive the maximum herein specified, other than small roadside parks and rest sites, additional conveyances may be made thereafter to that State pursuant to any application on file with the Secretary of the Interior on the last day of said year, to the extent that the conveyances would not have exceeded the limitations of said year.[1] In addition, any State may acquire, in its own name or in the name of an agency or instrumentality of such State not more than 640 acres for each of its programs involving public purposes other than recreation.

(2) Any political subdivision of a State and any nonprofit corporation or nonprofit association may acquire in its own name for recreational purposes not more than 640 acres and for public purposes other than recreation an additional 640 acres.

• • • • •

(f) Municipal corporations cannot secure land under this act if it is not within convenient access to the municipality and within the same State as the municipality. Other qualified applicants cannot secure land outside of their political boundaries or other area of jurisdiction.

§ 254.7 Applications.

• • • • •

(b) The acreage applied for in any one application for patent cannot exceed 640 acres except that applications for patent for State park purposes may embrace as much as 6,400 acres, or where provided by law 12,800 acres.

§ 254.8 Purchase price and lease rentals.

• • • • •

(e) A patent applicant, when the land has been appraised, will be required to pay the full purchase price before the patent will be issued. The rental under a lease shall be payable in advance. Upon appraisal of the land, a lease applicant will be required to pay at least the first year's rental before the lease will be issued. Upon the voluntary relinquishment of a lease before the expiration of its term, any rental paid for the unexpired portion of the term will be returned to the lessee upon a proper application for repayment to the extent that the amount paid covers a full lease year or years of the remainder of the term of the original lease.

§ 254.10 Publications; protests; patents; transfers.

• • • • •

(c) All patents under this act will contain a clause providing that if the patentee or its successor attempts to transfer title to or control over the lands to another or the lands are devoted to a use other than that for which the lands were conveyed, without consent of competent authority or prohibits or restricts, directly or indirectly, or permits its agents, employees, contractors, or subcontractors (including without limitation, lessees, sublessees and permittees), to prohibit or restrict, directly or indirectly, the use of any part of the patented lands or any of the facilities thereon by any person because of such person's race, creed, color, or national origin, title shall revert to the United States. Transferees must meet all the qualifications of applicants under the act and will be subject to the terms and conditions of the regulations of this part.

§ 254.13 Cooperation with the National Park Service.

In the furtherance of the purposes of the act of June 23, 1936 (49 Stat. 1894; 16 U.S.C. 17k), the National Park Service will review and make recommendations on all applications for recreational purposes submitted by States or their political subdivisions.

GEORGE W. ABBOTT,
Assistant Secretary of the Interior.

GRAND TETON NATIONAL PARK, WYOMING

Snowplanes and Boats

Basis and purpose. Notice is hereby given that pursuant to section 4(a) of the Administrative Procedure Act, approved June 11, 1946 (60 Stat. 238; 5 U.S.C., 1958 ed., § 1003); authority contained in section 3 of the Act of August 25, 1916 (39 Stat. 535; 16 U.S.C., 1958 ed., section 3); National Park Service Order No. 14 (19 F.R. 8824); and Regional Director, Region Two, Order No. 3 (21 F.R. 1494); it is proposed to amend 36 CFR, Part 7, § 7.22 as set forth below. The purpose of these amendments is to establish reasonable regulations which will provide adequate control over snowplanes and boats and insure a maximum of safety in their use.

It is the policy of the Department of the Interior whenever practicable, to afford the public an opportunity to participate in the rule making process. Accordingly, interested persons may submit written comments, suggestions, or objections with respect to the proposed amendments to the Superintendent, Grand Teton National Park, Moose, Wyoming, within 30 days of the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Issued this 4th day of November 1960.

HARTHON L. BILL,
Superintendent,
Grand Teton National Park.

Two new paragraphs (f), entitled Snowplanes, and (g), Boats, are hereby added:

§ 7.22 Grand Teton National Park.

* * * * *

(f) Snowplanes—(1) Permit. No snowplane shall be operated within Grand Teton National Park without a permit from the Superintendent, who shall have authority to revoke said permit and require the immediate removal of the snowplane upon the failure of the permittee or other persons operating the snowplane to comply with the terms of the permit. This permit must be carried within the snowplane at all times, and shall be exhibited upon request to any person authorized to enforce the regulations in this chapter.

(2) Commercial operation. No snowplane shall be used to carry passengers for hire or be used in any commercial operation without authorization of the Superintendent.

(3) Equipment and requirements. All snowplanes operated within the Park are subject to the following requirements:

(i) All snowplanes must be equipped with a propeller guard, consisting of a combination of horizontal, vertical, and curved steel rods or tubes attached securely to the cab and structural frame of the snowplane, and shall enclose the motor and propeller in such manner that maximum safety for snowplane users will be afforded. The Superintendent shall prescribe a minimum standard for propeller guards on all snowplanes operated within the Park.

(ii) Each snowplane operated within the Park must carry one pair of Snowshoes or Skis, First Aid Kit, 25 ft. of Rope, and a Flashlight on every trip.

(4) Registration of trip. The operator of a snowplane shall register departure time, time of anticipated return, and trip route at one of the following stations: Jackson Lake Snowplane Parking Area, Jackson Lake Ranger Station, or Park Headquarters.

(5) Rules of the road. (i) The operation of any snowplane carelessly and heedlessly in wilful or wanton disregard of the rights or safety of others, or without due caution and at a speed or in a manner so as to endanger or be likely to endanger any person or property is prohibited.

(ii) Failing to keep any snowplane under proper control is prohibited.

(iii) Operating any snowplane in such a manner as to cause same to collide with another snowplane, person, fixed or moving object is prohibited.

(iv) Operating a snowplane which is in an unsafe mechanical condition is prohibited.

(v) Operators of snowplanes shall comply with the instructions of all official signs regarding parking of snowplanes and trailers, hazardous and closed areas, and one-way traffic.

(vi) Snowplanes overtaking and passing slower-moving or parked snowplanes shall pass on the left; snowplanes approaching and meeting shall keep to the right.

(vii) The ignition shall be switched off and the motor stopped whenever a snowplane is parked and the operator leaves the cab. A motor shall not be idled, while parked, without an operator at the controls.

(6) Restricted areas. Snowplanes will not be operated within 300 feet of the upper face of Jackson Lake Dam, or on Jackson Lake north of a line between Lizard Point and the high bluffs south of the mouth of Berry Creek, as designated by warning signs, or near the Warm Springs area on the west side of Jackson Lake, or on any road open to automobile traffic.

(g) Boats—(1) Permit. No privately owned boat, canoe, raft, or other water-borne or floating craft shall be placed or operated upon the waters of Grand Teton National Park without a permit from the Superintendent, who shall have authority to revoke the permit and require the immediate removal of such craft upon the failure of the permittee to comply with the terms and conditions of the permit. This permit must be carried within the boat at all times and shall be exhibited upon request to any person authorized to enforce the regulations in this chapter.

HANDLING OF ANTI-HOG-CHOLERA SERUM AND HOG-CHOLERA VIRUS

Notice of Proposed Rule Making

Notice is hereby given that the Control Agency is considering the issuance, as hereinafter proposed, of an amendment to the rules and regulations of the Control Agency, issued pursuant to the authority contained in Public Law 320, 74th Congress, approved August 24, 1935, as amended (49 Stat. 791, 72 Stat. 454; 7 USC 851–855) and the order regulating the handling of anti-hog-cholera serum and hog-cholera virus (9 CFR Part 131).

All persons who desire to submit data, views or arguments in connection with the proposed amendment should file the same in quadruplicate with the Executive Secretary of the Control Agency, 512 Veterans of Foreign Wars Building, Kansas City 11, Missouri, not later than 30 days after the publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

The proposed amendment is as follows:

1. Amend § 131.201 to read as follows:

§ 131.201 Public information.

Unless otherwise provided in this part, or by specific direction of the Control Agency, all matters required to be filed with the Control Agency and communications with respect to the Marketing Order and these regulations shall be addressed to the Control Agency, Office of Executive Secretary, 512 Veterans of Foreign Wars Building, Kansas City 11, Missouri.

2. Delete present §§ 131.211 and 131.212 setting forth definitions of "Wholesaler" and "Dealer", and insert new § 131.202 to read as follows:

§ 131.202 Terms.

Terms used in the rules and regulations (§§ 131.201 to 131.261) shall have the same meaning as when used in the order, as amended (§§ 131.1 to 131.113), unless the context indicates otherwise.

3. Add a new § 131.212 to read as follows:

§ 131.212 Classes of buyers.

Pursuant to authority contained in § 131.81, the classes of buyers not defined in the order shall be "consumers"; "lay-vaccinator" and "other dealers" as defined in §§ 131.213, 131.214 and 131.215.

§ 131.223 [Amendment]

4. Amend paragraph (b) of § 131.223 by changing the figure "500,000" to "300,000".

§ 131.227 [Amendment]

5. Amend § 131.227 by inserting "–131.55" immediately after "§ 131.51" contained in the first sentence, and by deleting the last sentence of the section and substituting therefor the following: "Serum or virus shall not be delivered on a particular sale unless the posted price for such serum or virus is the same at the times of offer, sale and delivery thereof."

6. Amend § 131.242 to read as follows:

§ 131.242 Manner of classifying wholesalers.

Any person who desires to be classified as a wholesaler shall apply for such classification on a form prescribed by the Control Agency. An applicant shall not be so classified unless he proves to the satisfaction of the Control Agency that he meets the requirements of paragraph (a)(1) of § 131.8 or the requirements of paragraph (a)(2) of §§ 131.8, 131.222 and 131.223. Such applicant shall also meet the requirements of paragraph (b) of § 131.8. An application for classification shall not be considered by the Control Agency until it has been on file in the Office of the Executive Secretary for at least sixty (60) days. The form of such application is as follows:

ELECTRONIC COMPONENT PARTS INDUSTRY; PROCEEDINGS FOR DETERMINATION OF PREVAILING MINIMUM WAGES

Decision on Motion To Exclude Government Counsel

Counsel for the Electronic Industries Association moves to exclude Government Counsel from ex parte consultation in the decisions determining prevailing minimum wages under the Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act in the Electronic Component Parts Industry. It is based on differences between these counsel which arose during the conduct of the hearing. This motion differs from two previously presented by the same counsel representing employer groups in other industries in similar proceedings only in that the details of the differences are not the same, and the relief now sought is somewhat more narrow in scope (24 F.R. 4597, 7763). The present motion is fully governed by the decisions in those proceedings that differences between government counsel and counsel for other parties arising in rule making hearings such as these are not adequate ground for any of the relief there sought. This motion is overruled.

Signed at Washington, D.C., this 23d day of December 1960.

CIVIL AERONAUTICS BOARD

[14 CFR Part 203]

[Economic Regs. Docket No. 12007]

TERMS, CONDITIONS AND LIMITATIONS OF CERTIFICATES OF PUBLIC CONVENIENCE AND NECESSITY; FOREIGN AIR TRANSPORTATION

Notice of Proposed Rule Making

DECEMBER 23, 1960.

Notice is hereby given that the Civil Aeronautics Board has under consideration a proposed amendment of Part 203 of the Economic Regulations which would repeal those provisions which require the filing of Nonstop Notices in Foreign Air Transportation by U.S. Carriers.

The principal features of the proposed regulation are explained in the Explanatory Statement set forth below and the proposed amendment is set forth below. This amendment is proposed under authority of sections 204(a), 401 and 402 of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended (72 Stat. 743, 754, 757; 49 U.S.C. 1324, 1371, 1372).

Interested persons may participate in the proposed rule making through submission of ten (10) copies of written data, views or arguments pertaining thereto, addressed to the Docket Section, Civil Aeronautics Board, Washington 25, D.C. All relevant matter in communications received on or before January 28, 1961, will be considered by the Board before taking final action on the proposed rule. Copies of such communications will be available after January 28, 1961, for examination by interested persons in the Docket Section of the Board, Room 711, Universal Building, 1825 Connecticut Avenue NW., Washington, D.C.

By the Civil Aeronautics Board.

[SEAL] ROBERT C. LESTER,
Secretary.

Explanatory statement. Requirements for United States certificated route air carriers to file notices of intention to inaugurate nonstop service in foreign air transportation have existed for many years. Sections 203.3, 203.4, and 203.7 of Part 203 contain the current regulations in this regard. Section 203.3 requires a holder of a certificate to file with the Board a 20-day written notice of its intention to inaugurate a scheduled nonstop service between points authorized by its certificate if such service is not then regularly scheduled. Under § 203.4, a holder of such a certificate must file a written notice of nonstop service when such service is required in order to comply with any appropriate obligation, duty, or liability imposed by any foreign country upon the certificate holder. Section 203.7 sets forth those persons, other than the Board, upon whom such notice must be served.

Similar requirements for filing nonstop notices also existed at one time in interstate and overseas air transportation but were eliminated several years ago as having outlived their purpose. The Board believes the same situation is now true as respects foreign air transportation.

An examination of foreign air transportation nonstop notice filings over the past few years shows that in all but a very few cases the notice was allowed to stand. Though the filings, recently numbering about 20 per year, have presented few problems, they have cost the carriers and the Government loss of time and paper work. Moreover, the Board is of the opinion that possible hazards that might arise if the requirement is eliminated are minimal.

Proposed rule. Amend Part 203 of the Economic Regulations (14 CFR Part 203) as follows:

1. By deleting therefrom present § 203.3 Nonstop service and inserting in lieu thereof a new section to read as follows:

§ 203.3 Nonstop authorization.

Subject to the provisions of section 405(b) of the Act, the holder of a certificate may inaugurate scheduled nonstop service between any two points not consecutively named in its certificate or approved service plan (if such certificate or approved service plan authorizes service between such points and does not prohibit nonstop service between them) upon the effective date of a schedule page, showing such nonstop service, filed with the Board in accordance with Part 231 of this chapter.

§ 203.4 [Amendment]

2. By amending § 203.4 as follows:

(a) By deleting paragraph (a) and designating paragraphs (b) and (c) as paragraphs (a) and (b) respectively;

(b) By amending the remainder of § 203.4, commencing with newly designated paragraph (b) to read as follows:

(b) To change the terminal point in such foreign country;

such holder shall file with the Board written notice of such requirement. Such notice shall be filed within 20 days after the air carrier shall have been advised of such requirement; shall be conspicuously entitled Notice of Additional Stop Required by Foreign Country, or Notice of Terminal Change Required by Foreign Country, as the case may be, and shall fully set forth the facts and circumstances relating to such requirement. * * * [remainder of § 203.4 unchanged.]

§ 203.7 [Amendment]

3. By amending § 203.7 as follows:

(a) By deleting the phrases "Notice of Nonstop Service in Foreign Air Transportation" and "Notice of Nonstop Service Required by Foreign Country" located in the introductory text of § 203.7.

(b) By deleting paragraph (e) and designating paragraphs (f) and (g) as paragraphs (e) and (f) respectively.

[Docket No. 11959]

REALLOCATION OF CERTAIN FIXED, LAND MOBILE AND MARITIME MOBILE BANDS BETWEEN 25 AND 470 MC

Order Extending Time for Filing Comments

The Commission has before it for consideration a request from United Press International, Inc. to extend the time for filing comments in the above proceeding to January 30, 1961, and to extend the time for filing reply comments to February 12, 1961.

It appearing that United Press International, Inc., after giving the matter considerable study internally and after consultations with engineering and legal counsel, requires additional time for the preparation of comments in its behalf by recently retained counsel; and

It further appearing that United Press International has an interest in the use of radio frequencies for the furtherence of its services to more than 3,000 newspapers, radio and television stations throughout the United States; and that it proposes to file substantive comments and a counter proposal which may be of assistance to the Commission in determining the matters herein; and

It further appearing that the public interest will be served by the inclusion of the above mentioned comments and counter proposal in the material to be considered;

It is ordered, This 23d day of December 1960, pursuant to section 0.322(b) of the Commission's Statement of Delegations of Authority, That the time for filing comments in this proceeding is extended to January 30, 1961, and the time for filing reply comments is extended to February 12, 1961.

Released: December 27, 1960.

BROADCAST STATIONS CONCERNING REQUIREMENTS FOR FREQUENCY MONITORS

Order Extending Time for Filing Comments

In the matter of amendment of Part 3 of the Commission rules governing TV Broadcast Stations concerning requirements for frequency monitors.

The Commission has before it for consideration a request of the National Association of Broadcasters (NAB) filed on December 20, 1960 for an extension of time within which to file comments in the above-entitled proceeding from December 26, 1960 to March 13, 1961.

NAB states that it contemplates submitting the proposal outlined in the proceeding to its Engineering Advisory Committee but that, due to the holiday season, this cannot be done in time to submit comments by the date set by the Commission. It urges that the grant of the additional time will enable it to submit information which will assist the Commission in reaching a final decision in this matter.

The Commission is of the view that the public interest would be served by granting the requested extension of time in order that parties may have the fullest opportunity to submit meaningful and useful data on the proposal which would have an impact on the television broadcast industry. NAB points out further that the present rules waive the requirement for television broadcast stations to install type-approved frequency monitors to February 28, 1961 and that a grant of the instant request would require an extension of the waiver. This may, however, be accomplished at a later date by separate order.

In view of the foregoing: it is ordered, This 21st day of December 1960, that the request of National Association of Broadcasters for an extension of time is granted, and that the time for filing comments in response to the Notice of Proposed Rule Making is extended from December 26, 1960, to March 13, 1961 and the time for filing reply comments is extended from January 6, 1961 to March 23, 1961.

Released: December 23, 1960.

CONELRAD DRILLS AND TESTS

Operator Requirements

1. The Commission has before it for consideration a proposal to amend the operator requirement rules insofar as they pertain to standard broadcast station operation in the Emergency Broadcast System.

2. The Commission, on January 26, 1953, in Docket No. 10214, amended Parts 3 and 13 of its rules to provide that a person holding any class of radio operator license (or permit) who is authorized to perform limited operation of a standard broadcast station, may make adjustments "when a CONELRAD Radio Alert is called * * *" provided that the station's responsible radiotelephone first-class operator shall have previously instructed such person in the adjustments to the transmitter which are necessary to accomplish CONELRAD operation.

3. Under the provision of the above rules, a holder of a restricted radiotelephone operators permit may switch the broadcast transmitter to the Emergency Broadcast System frequency, in the event of a real CONELRAD Radio Alert, but does not permit such an operator to make the necessary transmitter adjustments in order for the station to take part in a test or drill of the Emergency Broadcast System.

4. Emergency Broadcast System drills have been conducted during the past years in accordance with the provisions of § 3.971. There is reason to believe that such drills will continue to be held in the future under the provisions of § 3.970. Many stations conduct tests of the Emergency Broadcast System on a local basis as well as on state and regional basis.

5. Many of the CONELRAD tests have been called when the required radiotelephone first-class operator was not available and thus authorized stations were unable to participate in the necessary tests. The same situation occurred in many instances during the once a year drills.

6. In order to properly train lesser grade operators and to keep them familiar with the necessary Emergency Broadcast System operating procedure as well as to insure operation by all stations having a National Defense Emergency Authorization, it appears necessary to amend the rules to provide that the lesser grade operator may make the necessary transmitter adjustments in order to participate in tests and drills of the Emergency Broadcast System, as well as during a real CONELRAD Radio Alert.

7. The Commission is of the view that a rule-making proceeding should be instituted in this matter in order that interested parties may submit their views on the proposed amendments as set forth below.

8. Authority for the adoption of the proposed amendments is contained in sections 4(i), 301, 303 (b), (c), (f), and (r) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

9. Pursuant to applicable procedures set out in section 1.213 of the Commission's rules, interested parties may file comments on or before January 23, 1961, and reply comments on or before February 3, 1961.

10. In accordance with the provisions of § 1.54 of the rules an original and 14 copies of all written comments shall be furnished the Commission.

Adopted: December 21, 1960.

Released: December 27, 1960.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION,
[SEAL] BEN F. WAPLE,
Acting Secretary.

1. It is proposed to amend that portion of § 3.93(b), which precedes subparagraph (1), to read as follows:

§ 3.93 Operator requirements.

* * * * *

(b) A station which is authorized for non-directional operation with power of 10 kilowatts or less may be operated by persons holding commercial radio operator license of any class when the equipment is so designed that the stability of the frequency is maintained by the transmitter itself within the limits of tolerance specified, and none of the operations, except those specified in subparagraphs (1) through (4) of this paragraph, necessary to be performed during the course of normal operation may cause off-frequency operation or result in any unauthorized radiation. (A person holding any class of radio operator license or permit who is authorized thereunder to perform limited operation of a standard broadcast station may, when a CONELRAD Radio Alert is called, or for the purpose of participation in a drill or test of the Emergency Broadcast System, make adjustments necessary to effect operation in accordance with a National Defense Emergency Authorization: Provided, That the station's full-time radiotelephone first-class operator shall have previously instructed such person in the adjustments to the transmitter which are necessary to accomplish operation in the Emergency Broadcast System.) Adjustments of transmitting equipment by such operators, except when under the immediate supervision of a radiotelephone first-class operator, shall be limited to the following:

2. It is proposed to amend § 13.62(d) to read as follows:

§ 13.62 Special privileges.

* * * * *

(d) When a CONELRAD Alert, or a drill, or test of the Emergency Broadcast System is called a person holding any class of radio operator license or permit who is authorized thereunder to perform limited operation of a standard broadcast station may make any adjustments necessary to effect operation on an Emergency Broadcast System frequency in accordance with the station's National Defense Emergency Authorization: Provided, That the station's responsible first-class radiotelephone operator(s) shall have previously instructed such person in the adjustments to the transmitter which are necessary to accomplish operation in the Emergency Broadcast System.

TABLE OF ASSIGNMENTS

Television Broadcast Stations (Austin and San Marcos, Tex.)

1. Notice is hereby given of proposed rule making in the above-entitled matter.

2. The Commission has under consideration a petition filed on September 21, 1960 (RM-197) and amended on November 3, 1960 by the Texas-Longhorn Broadcasting Corporation, prospective applicant for a television station in Austin, Texas, looking toward an amendment of § 3.606, Table of Assignments, Television Broadcast Stations so as to substitute Channel 67 for 70 at Austin and to reserve for education Channel 18 in that city as follows:[1]

City	Channel No.
	Present	Proposed
Austin, Tex.	7+, 18−, 24, *70−	7+, *18−, 24, 67
Brenham, Tex.	52−	70−
San Marcos, Tex.	53+	80

3. In support of its request petitioner urges that the city of Austin, with a population of 211,500 persons receives only one Grade A television service and is in need of a second TV service; that the proposed change will permit the early establishment of another station without the outlay of a great amount of capital; that it would stimulate interest in other UHF assignments in Austin and in the State of Texas; and that in the event Channel 67 is assigned to Austin, the Petitioner will apply for a construction permit for a station on this channel. Petitioner submits that it is interested in Channel 67 rather than any of the assigned UHF channels in Austin because it has on hand a used transmitter designed for this channel and that a new transmitter or the conversion of the present Channel 67 transmitter would make the cost of the station prohibitive and in addition would delay the construction of the proposed station.

4. The Commission is of the view that a rule making proceeding should be instituted in order that all interested parties may submit their views and relevant data. Both Austin and San Marcos appear in the Table of Assignments attached to the United States-Mexican Television Agreement (UHF) and in conformance with the terms of that agreement any changes in these communities would have to meet with the approval of the Mexican Government.

5. It does not appear that the proposed change in the assignment to Brenham is necessary to accomplish the objective of the petitioner. Austin and Brenham are about 80 miles apart whereas the required spacing for assignments 15 channels apart (picture image taboo) is only 75 miles. A simple change would accomplish the petitioner's objective as follows:

City	Channel No.
	Present	Proposed
Austin, Tex.	7+, 18−, 24, *70−	7+, *18−, 24, 67
San Marcos, Tex.	53+	75

Comments are invited on the question of whether the proposed change in Brenham is necessary and on the desirability of the adoption of the changes outlined above rather than the proposal advanced by petitioner.

6. Authority for the adoption of the amendments proposed herein is contained in sections 4 (i) and (j), 303 and 307(b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

7. Pursuant to applicable procedures set out in § 1.213 of the Commission's rules, interested parties may file comments on or before January 30, 1961, and reply comments on or before February 15, 1961. In reaching its decision on the rule amendments which are proposed herein, the Commission will not be limited to consideration of comments of record, but will take into account all relevant information obtained in any manner from informed sources.

8. In accordance with the provisions of § 1.54 of the rules, an original and 14 copies of all written comments and statements shall be furnished the Commission.

Television Broadcast Stations (Lexington and Winchester, Ky.)

1. Notice is hereby given of rule making in the above-entitled matter.

2. The Commission has under consideration a petition filed November 30, 1960, by Bluegrass Broadcasting Co., Inc. asking that Channel 37 be deleted from Winchester and assigned to Lexington, Kentucky and substituting Channel 70 therefor, now assigned to Lexington, as follows:

City	Channel No.
	Present	Proposed
Lexington, Ky.	18+, 27−, 64, 70+	18+, 27−, 37+, 61
Winchester, Ky.	37+	70+

3. In support of its request petitioner asserts neither channel mentioned in the request (Channels 37 and 70) has been applied for; such assignments are consistent with the Commission's allocation principles; there are two UHF stations in Lexington, Kentucky, WLEX on Channel 18 and WKYT on Channel 27; at the present state of the development of UHF television, it is economically and competitively more practicable to operate on a lower than on a higher UHF channel, being particularly true where operation is desired in a market having one or more UHF stations operating in the lower portion of the UHF band; the assignment of Channel 37 to Lexington would, therefore, equalize competitive opportunities in the market for a third UHF station; and that should Channel 37 be assigned to Lexington petitioner will apply for the channel.

4. The Commission is of the view that rule making proceeding should be instituted so that all interested parties may submit their views on the Bluegrass proposal.

5. Authority for the adoption of the amendments proposed herein is contained in sections 4 (i) and (j), 303, and 307(b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

3. Petitioner further requests it be ordered to show cause why its outstanding authorization for operation of Station WMTV should not be modified to specify operation on Channel 15.

4. Station WMTV is now authorized to operate on Channel 33. In addition to WMTV there are two other commercial stations in Madison, WISC-TV on Channel 3 and WKOW-TV on Channel 27, and non-commercial educational Station WHA-TV on Channel 21. Madison, Wisconsin is thus one of the few intermixed markets in the United States in which there is competition between UHF and VHF stations. WMTV states that while it is generally known to the Commission that UHF stations are at a disadvantage in obtaining economic support when they have VHF competition, it finds that the fact it operates on a higher UHF channel in Madison aggravates this disadvantage to a greater degree than if it were operating on a lower channel.

5. The Commission is of the view that a rule making proceeding should be instituted so that all interested parties may submit their views on the Forward proposal. Forward requests that concurrent with the adoption of the proposed allocation changes its license be modified to specify operation on Channel 15. In the event we decide to amend § 3.606 as proposed, we will then determine what further steps should be taken with respect to the Forward request for modification of its license.

6. Authority for the adoption of the amendments proposed herein is contained in sections 4 (i) and (j), 303 and 307(b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

7. Pursuant to applicable procedures set out in § 1.213 of the Commission's rules, interested persons may file comments on or before January 30, 1961, and reply comments on or before February 15, 1961. All submissions by parties to this proceeding or by persons acting in behalf of such parties must be made in written comments, reply comments or other appropriate pleadings.

8. In accordance with the provisions of § 1.54 of the rules, an original and 14 copies of all written comments and statements shall be furnished to the Commission.

Adopted: December 21, 1960.

Released: December 27, 1960.

TABLE OF ASSIGNMENTS

Television Broadcast Stations (Lancaster and Newark, Ohio)

1. Notice is hereby given of rule making in the above-entitled matter.

2. The Commission has under consideration a petition filed October 17, 1960, by The Newark Public Schools, Newark, Ohio, asking that UHF Channel 28– be deleted from Lancaster, Ohio and assigned to Newark, Ohio, and to reserve that assignment for educational use and that Channel 68– be assigned to Lancaster, Ohio, by amending § 3.606 of our rules as follows:

City	Channel No.
	Present	Proposed
Lancaster, Ohio	28–	68–
Newark, Ohio	60–	*28–, 60–

3. Petitioner states that its proposal would be in compliance with the Commission's rules concerning mileage separations with other station that there is interest and need for an educational television station to serve Newark and its surrounding area. Petitioner states that to provide educational service to the Newark public schools, to Licking County and to portions of other counties in the near future, it is planned that an application will be filed promptly for a UHF translator in Newark to rebroadcast the programs of Station WOSU-TV, Channel 34, Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio. Following the operation of the translator station the Newark Public Schools plan to provide locally produced educational programs using its own station. Channel 60 is now assigned to Newark as a commercial channel for which no authorization is outstanding nor is any application pending. Petitioner is aware that application could be made for this channel and the proposed station operated on a noncommercial basis. However, it is petitioner's understanding that because of propagation and equipment factors greater coverage may be expected on lower UHF channels.

4. The Commission is of the view that a rule making proceeding should be instituted so that all interested parties may submit their views upon the Newark public schools proposal.

5. Authority for the adoption of the amendments proposed herein is contained in sections 4 (i) and (j), 303 and 307(b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

6. Pursuant to applicable procedures set out in § 1.213 of the Commission rules, interested persons may file comments on or before January 30, 1961, and reply comments on or before February 15, 1961. In reaching its decision on the rule amendments which are proposed herein, the Commission will not be limited to consideration of comments on record, but will take into account all relevant information obtained in any manner from informed sources.

7. In accordance with the provisions of § 1.54 of the rules, an original and 14 copies of all written comments and statements shall be furnished the Commission.

Adopted: December 21, 1960.

Released: December 27, 1960.

TABLE OF ASSIGNMENTS

Television Broadcast Stations (Syracuse, Rochester, Elmira, Binghamton and Corning, N.Y., and Williamsport, Pa.)

1. Transcontinent Television Corporation, the licensee of Station WROC-TV, Channel 5, Rochester, New York, has in a petition filed December 19, 1960, requested the Commission to (a) clarify and amplify its notices of proposed rule making in the above-entitled proceedings and (b) to extend the time for filing comments from January 6, 1961, to March 6, 1961, or until a date not earlier than thirty days after the date on which the Commission clarifies and amplifies its notices, whichever is later.

2. In its proposals for Syracuse and Rochester the Commission recognized that coordination with Canada is required and acknowledged the prospect that certain restrictions, particularly regarding transmiter location and power authorized on Channel 13 in Rochester and Channel 9 in Syracuse, might be necessary. We expect to receive the Canadian comments in the near future, at which time the information will be made available to the parties. For this circumstance, and in consideration of the intervening holidays and the engagement of petitioner's legal and engineering counsel in other matters, as recited in the petition, the Commission is of the view that the public interest will be served by reasonably extending the deadlines in these proceedings.

3. Accordingly, it is ordered, This 23d day of December 1960, That the abovementioned petition by Transcontinent Television Corporation is granted to the extent ordered herein, and that the time for filing comments in these proceedings is extended from January 6, 1961, to February 15, 1961, and that the time for filing reply comments is extended from January 17, 1961, to February 27, 1961.

Released: December 27, 1960.

SODIUM HYDROSULFITE FROM FRANCE

Determination of No Sales at Less Than Fair Value

DECEMBER 22, 1960.

A complaint was received that sodium hydrosulfite from France was being sold in the United States at less than fair value within the meaning of the Antidumping Act of 1921.

I hereby determine that sodium hydrosulfite from France is not being, nor likely to be, sold at less than fair value within the meaning of section 201(a) of the Antidumping Act, 1921, as amended (19 U.S.C. 160(a)).

Statement of reasons. It was determined that the quantity sold for home consumption was adequate to base the fair value comparison on the price in the home market. Sales to the United States were made outright to unrelated purchasers. Therefore, purchase price was compared with home consumption price.

In calculating purchase price, deductions were made for freight, insurance, and f.o.b. charges. In computing the home market price, deductions were made for cash discount, commission, technical assistance to purchasers, and average inland freight, and an addition made to reflect the higher cost of export packing. The comparison disclosed that the purchase price was less than the home market price.

There have been no importations of the involved merchandise since August 1960. The volume of imports as to which there was a margin was not more than insignificant. The shipper has decided to discontinue sales to the United States as long as the price differential situation exists between the price at which the merchandise can be sold to importers in the United States and the home market price.

This determination and the statement of reasons therefor are published pursuant to section 201(c) of the Antidumping Act, 1921, as amended (19 U.S.C. 160(c)).

Acting Secretary of the Treasury.

[No. 79]

YUMA IRRIGATION PROJECT, ARIZONA-CALIFORNIA RESERVATION DIVISION, CALIFORNIA

Public Notice of Annual Operation and Maintenance Charges and Annual Water Rental Charges

NOVEMBER 28, 1960.

1. Annual operation and maintenance charges for lands under public notice, Reservation Division. The minimum annual operation and maintenance charge for the Calendar Year 1961 and thereafter until further notice against all lands of the Reservation Division under public notice shall be $10 per irrigable acre, whether water is used or not, payment of which will entitle the water user to 7 acre-feet of water per acre on certain sandy areas shown on the list attached to Public Notice No. 72 dated December 1, 1955, as amended, February 16, 1956, and to 5 acre-feet of water per irrigable acre on all other lands of the Division under public notice. Additional water, if available, will be furnished at the rate of $2.50 per acre-foot payable in advance. Credit equivalent to the amount paid for additional water unused prior to the end of any calendar year will be applied against the minimum charges for water for the following calendar year. No credit will be given for water purchased during any calendar year at the minimum charge but undelivered at the end of said calendar year.

The minimum annual operation and maintenance charge per calendar year for each parcel of land under public notice containing less than one acre shall be $10.

Where in the opinion of the Project Manager, Yuma Projects Office, it may be done without interference with other project requirements, upon written requests filed in advance by a water user who is not delinquent in the payment of any operation and maintenance charges, water will be furnished free of charge for reclaiming lands by the usual methods: Provided, however, That lands for which free water was served during the preceding calendar year will not again be served free water in the absence of evidence satisfactory to the Project Manager that although the water so served free of charge during such preceding year was applied to the land in sufficient quantities over a period of not less than 3 months, the results accomplished during such preceding year were not satisfactory.

All minimum annual operation and maintenance charges shall be due and payable on January 1, 1961, and on January 1 of each year thereafter.

2. Annual water rental charges for other lands, Reservation Division. Irrigation water will be furnished during the calendar year 1961 and thereafter until further notice for lands in the Reservation Division not under public notice which can be irrigated from the present distribution system without further construction expense by the Bureau, upon a rental basis under approved applications for temporary water service, at the following rates: the minimum annual charge shall be $10 per irrigable acre, payment of which will entitle the applicant to 5 acre-feet of water per acre. Additional water, if available, will be furnished at the rate of $2.50 per acre-foot. All charges shall be payable in advance of the delivery of water. Credit will be given for additional water paid for but not used.

3. Penalties. On all payments not made on or before the due dates, there shall be added on the following day a penalty of one-half of one percent of the amount unpaid and a like penalty of one-half of one percent of the amount unpaid on the first day of each calendar month thereafter so long as such default shall continue.

4. Place of payment. All payments should be made to the Bureau of Reclamation, Yuma Air Base, or mailed to Bureau of Reclamation, Bin 151, Yuma, Arizona.

(Act of June 17, 1902, 32 Stat. 388, as amended or supplemented)

Notice of Agreements Filed for Approval

Notice is hereby given that the following described agreements have been filed with the Board for approval pursuant to section 15 of the Shipping Act, 1916 (39 Stat. 733, 46 U.S.C. 814):

Agreement No. 8512, between Skibsaktieselskabet Varild, Aksjeselskapet Marina, Aktieselskabet Glittre, Dampskibsinteressentskabet Garonne, Aktieselskabet Standard and Fearnley & Egers Befragtningsforretning A/S (Norwegian companies under the direction of Fearnley & Eger), and Skibsaktieselskapet Sangstad, Skibsaktieselskapet Solstad, Skibsaktieselskapet Siljestad, Dampskibsaktieselskabet International, Skibsaktieselskapet Mandeville, Skibsaktieselskapet Goodwill and Universal Trading & Shipping Agency Aksjeselskap (Norwegian companies under the direction of A. F. Klaveness & Co.) is a new agreement of these parties providing for the establishment and maintenance of joint cargo, passenger and mail services in world wide trades. Agreement No. 8512, upon approval, will supersede and cancel the present joint service Agreement No. 7655, as amended, of the same parties, except Universal Trading and Shipping Agency Aksjeselskap.

Agreement No. 8061-7, between American President Lines, Ltd., Compania de Transports Oceaniques, Isthmian Lines, Inc., Kawasaki Kisen Kaisha, Ltd., Lykes Bros. Steamship Co., Inc., Mitsui Steamship Co., Inc., Prince Line, Ltd., N.V. Stoomvaart Maatschappij "Nederland", Koninklijke Rotterdamsche Lloyd, N.V., and the carriers comprising five (5) joint services, i.e., Barber-Fern-Ville Lines, Blue Funnel Line, Hoegh Line, Marchessini Lines, and A. P. Moller-Maersk Line, modifies approved Agreement No. 8061, as amended, to include Universal Trading & Shipping Agency Aksjeselskap as a participant in said agreement as a party to the Barber-Fern-Ville Lines joint service. Agreement No. 8061, as amended, covers an arrangement for the apportionment of the carriage of all rubber originating in Siam (except Bangkok local rubber), destined to United States Atlantic and Gulf ports, Whether loaded direct at Siam ports, or transhipped by road, rail or otherwise, to vessels of the carriers at ports in Malaya, Kohsichang or Bangkok.

Agreement No. 7749-2, between the carriers presently comprising the Barber-Wilhelmsen Line joint service, and Universal Trading & Shipping Agency, Aksjeselskap, modifies approved joint service Agreement No. 7749, as amended, to include the latter carrier as a party to the joint service, which operates in the trade from the Far East to Hawaii, Panama Canal Zone, and ports on the Pacific and Atlantic Coasts of the United States (not including any transportation within the purview of the coastwise laws of the United States).

Agreement No. 7668–2, between the carriers presently comprising the Barber-West African Line joint service, and Universal Trading & Shipping Agency, Aksjeselskap, modifies approved joint service Agreement No. 7668, as amended, to include the latter carrier as a party to the joint service, which operates in the trade between Atlantic and St. Lawrence ports of Canada/United States Atlantic and Gulf ports and ports on the West Coast of Africa.

Agreement No. 7653–1, between the carriers presently comprising the Klaveness Line joint service, and Universal Trading & Shipping Agency, Aksjeselskap, modifies approved joint service Agreement No. 7653 to include the latter carrier as a party to the joint service, which operates in the trade between Pacific Coast ports of the United States and Canada and ports in the Far East.

Agreement No. 6060–C, between the member lines of the Pacific Indonesian Conference and the thirteen (13) Norwegian carriers comprising the New Fern-Ville Lines joint service, is a new associate membership agreement of that joint service with said conference which, upon approval, will supersede and cancel Agreement No. 6060–A, as amended, between the conference members and the twelve (12) Norwegian carriers presently comprising the joint service. As an associate member, the joint service will be obligated to abide by all the rates, rules, regulations and decisions of the conference; will have no vote in conference affairs; will be permitted to participate in conference contracts with shippers; and will not share in the expenses of the conference, except as may be specifically agreed upon between the parties.

Agreement No. 5680–G, between the member lines of the Pacific Straits Conference and the thirteen (13) Norwegian carriers comprising the new Fern-Ville Lines joint service, is a new associate membership Agreement of that joint service with said conference which, upon approval, will supersede and cancel Agreement No. 5680–A, as amended, between the conference members and the twelve (12) Norwegian carriers presently comprising the joint service. As an associate member, the joint service will be obligated to abide by all the rates, rules, regulations and decisions of the conference; will have no vote in conference affairs; will be permitted to participate in conference contracts with shippers; and will not share in the expenses of the conference, except as may be specifically agreed upon between the parties.

Agreement No. 57–74, between the member lines of the Pacific Westbound Conference and the thirteen (13) Norwegian carriers comprising the new Fern-Ville Lines joint service, is a new associate membership agreement of that joint service with said conference which, upon approval, will supersede and cancel associate membership Agreement No. 57–63, between the conference members and twelve (12) Norwegian carriers presently comprising the joint service. As an associate member, the joint service will be obligated to abide by all the rates, rules, regulations and decisions of the conference; will have no vote in conference affairs; will be permitted to participate in conference contracts with shippers; and will not share in the expenses of the conference, except as may be specifically agreed upon between the parties.

Agreement No. 7668–2, between the member lines of the Far East Conference, provides for the inclusion of Universal Trading & Shipping Agency Aksjeselskap as a party to the joint membership held by the carriers comprising the Fern-Ville Lines.

ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION

[Docket No. 50–60]

BETHESDA NAVAL HOSPITAL

Notice of Issuance of Utilization Facility License Amendment

Please take notice that the Atomic Energy Commission has issued Amendment No. 2, set forth below, to License No. R–27 issued to Bethesda Naval Hospital. The amendment provides additional safeguards for the operation by the licensee of its reactor Model AGN–201, Serial No. 105, located on its site in Bethesda, Maryland. The Commission has found that operation of the reactor in accordance with the terms and conditions of the license, as amended, will not present any undue hazard to the health and safety of the public and will not be inimical to the common defense and security.

The Commission has found that prior public notice of proposed issuance of this amendment is not necessary in the public interest since the operation of the reactor in accordance with the terms of the license as amended does not present any substantial changes in the hazards to the health and safety of the public from those presented by the previously approved operation of the reactor.

In accordance with the Commission's rules of practice (10 CFR Part 2) the Commission will direct the holding of a formal hearing on the matter of the issuance of the license amendment upon receipt of a request therefor from the licensee or an intervener within thirty days after issuance of the license amendment. Petitions for leave to intervene and requests for a formal hearing shall be filed by mailing a copy to the Office of the Secretary, Atomic Energy Commission, Washington 25, D.C., or by delivery of a copy in person to the Office of the Secretary, Germantown, Maryland, or the AEC's Public Document Room, 1717 H Street, Washington, D.C. For further details see the application for license submitted by Bethesda Naval Hospital on file at the AEC's Public Document Room.

Dated at Germantown, Md., this 21st day of December 1960.

For the Atomic Energy Commission.

R. L. KIRK,
Deputy Director, Division of Licensing and Regulation.

[License No. R–27; Amdt. 2]

License No. R–27, as amended, which authorizes Bethesda Naval Hospital to operate its reactor Model AGN–201, Serial No. 105, located on its site in Bethesda, Maryland, is hereby amended by adding the following additional conditions thereto:

1. A maximum of 0.25 percent excess reactivity may be loaded in the reactor with the glory hole empty and with the access ports containing their design loadings. The total worth of any experiments loaded in the reactor shall not exceed 0.4 percent excess reactivity. The excess reactivity loadings shall be determined at the operating temperature of the reactor.

2. The scram setting on the logarithmic scale micro-microammeter shall be set so that the power level at which the scram is to occur shall not exceed twice the licensed maximum power level and the period at which a scram is to occur shall not be less than five seconds.

3. The range selectors for the two linear channels shall be set so that the operator cannot switch to a scale on which the power level at which a scram is to occur is more than twice the licensed maximum power.

4. The reactor shall not be operated with any of the scram signals by-passed.

5. The licensee shall not conduct any experiment involving moving of the fixed fuel discs of the reactor unless authorized by an amendment to this license.

This amendment is effective thirty days after the date of issuance.

Date of issuance: December 21, 1960.

For the Atomic Energy Commission.

GENERAL DYNAMICS CORP.

Notice of Issuance of Utilization Facility License Amendment

Please take notice that the Atomic Energy Commission has issued Amendment No. 1, set forth below, to License No. R–67. The amendment provides an additional authorization to General Dynamics Corporation to conduct in its TRIGA Mark F reactor (previously designated as "FLAIR") located at Torrey Pines Mesa, California, the non-fueled incore experiments described in its applications for license amendment dated September 30, 1960 and November 16, 1960. The Commission has found that operation of the reactor in accordance with the terms and conditions of the license, as amended, will not present any undue hazard to the health and safety of the public and will not be inimical to the common defense and security.

The Commission has found that prior public notice of proposed issuance of this amendment is not necessary in the public interest since the conduct of the proposed experiments does not present any substantial changes in the hazards to the health and safety of the public from those presented by the previously approved operation of the reactor.

In accordance with the Commission's rules of practice (10 CFR Part 2) the Commission will direct the holding of a formal hearing on the matter of the issuance of the license amendment upon receipt of a request therefor from the licensee or an intervener within thirty days after issuance of the license amendment. Petitions for leave to intervene and requests for a formal hearing shall be filed by mailing a copy to the Office of the Secretary, Atomic Energy Commission, Washington 25, D.C., or by delivery of a copy in person to the Office of the Secretary, Germantown, Maryland, or the AEC's Public Document Room, 1717 H Street, Washington, D.C. For further details see the application for license submitted by General Dynamics Corporation, and (2) a hazards analysis of the proposed operation prepared by the Test and Power Reactor Safety Branch of the Division of Licensing and Regulation, both on file at the AEC's Public Document Room. A copy of item (2) above may be obtained at the AEC's Public Document Room or upon request addressed to the Atomic Energy Commission, Washington 25, D.C., Attention: Director, Division of Licensing and Regulation.

Dated at Germantown, Md., this 22d day of December 1960.

R. L. KIRK,
Deputy Director, Division of Licensing and Regulation.

[License No. R–67; Amdt. 1]

License No. R–67, issued to General Dynamics Corporation, is hereby amended in the following respects:

In addition to the activities previously authorized by the Commission in License No. R–67, General Dynamics Corporation is authorized to conduct, in its TRIGA Mark F reactor (previously designated as "FLAIR") located at Torrey Pines Mesa, California, the non-fueled in-core experiments described in its applications for license amendment dated September 30, 1960, and November 16, 1960. When conducting the experiments, General Dynamics Corporation shall comply with the procedures and limitations set forth in License No. R–67 and the applications for license amendment dated September 30, 1960, and November 16, 1960, and with the additional condition set forth below:

The total reactivity worth of any combination of in-core experiments shall not exceed $4.00.

This amendment is effective as of the date of issuance.

Date of issuance: December 22, 1960.

WILLIAM MARSH RICE UNIVERSITY

Notice of Issuance of Utilization Facility License Amendment

Please take notice that the Atomic Energy Commission has issued Amendment No. 2, set forth below, to License No. R-54 issued to William Marsh Rice University. The amendment provides additional safeguards for the operation by the licensee of its reactor Model AGN-211, Serial No. 101, located on its campus in Houston, Texas. The Commission has found that operation of the reactor in accordance with the terms and conditions of the license, as amended, will not present any undue hazard to the health and safety of the public and will not be inimical to the common defense and security.

The Commission has found that prior public notice of proposed issuance of this amendment is not necessary in the public interest since the operation of the reactor in accordance with the terms of the license as amended does not present any substantial changes in the hazards to the health and safety of the public from those presented by the previously approved operation of the reactor.

In accordance with the Commission's rules of practice (10 CFR Part 2) the Commission will direct the holding of a formal hearing on the matter of the issuance of the license amendment upon receipt of a request therefor from the licensee or an intervener within thirty days after issuance of the license amendment. License No. R-54, as amended, which authorizes William Marsh Rice University to operate its reactor Model AGN-211, Serial No. 101, located on its campus in Houston, Texas, is hereby amended by adding the following additional conditions thereto:

1. A maximum of 0.25% excess reactivity may be loaded in the reactor with the experimental facilities empty. The total worth of any experiments loaded in the reactor shall not exceed 0.4% excess reactivity. The excess reactivity loadings shall be determined at the temperature at which the reactor temperature switch is set.

2. The reactor temperature switch shall not be set below 20° C nor above 25° C.

3. The scram setting on the reactor shall be set so that the power level at which a scram is to occur shall not exceed 150% of the licensed maximum power level and the period at which a scram is to occur shall not be less than five seconds.

4. The licensee shall not modify the composition or configuration of the fuel elements in the reactor unless authorized by an amendment to this license.

[3] The pressure base is 14.65 psia.
[4] Includes 0.25 cents per Mcf for dehydration and 0.64 cents per Mcf for upward Btu adjustment both charged by seller.
[5] Supersedes Placid Oil Co. (Operator), et al.'s FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 15 as amended.
[6] The stated effective date is the first day after expiration of the required 30 days' notice.
[7] Termination date of the suspension period in Docket RI61-213.

The increased rates and charges so proposed may be unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory, or preferential, or otherwise unlawful.

The Commission finds:

(1) Placid Oil Company (Operator), et al's (Placid) contract dated March 16, 1959, designated as Placid's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 29, should be permitted to be filed to supersede Placid's contract dated August 7, 1947, contained in its FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 15.

(2) It is necessary and proper in the public interest and to aid in the enforcement of the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that the Commission enter upon hearings concerning the lawfulness of the several proposed changes and that the above designated rate schedule and supplements be suspended and the use thereof deferred as hereinafter ordered.

The Commission orders:

(A) Placid's superseding Rate Schedule No. 29 is hereby permitted to be filed to supersede that company's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 15, as amended.

(B) Pursuant to the authority of the Natural Gas Act, particularly sections 4 and 15 thereof, the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, and the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (18 CFR, Ch. I), public hearings shall be held upon the dates to be fixed by notices from the Secretary concerning the lawfulness of the several proposed changes and that the above-designated rate schedule and supplements be suspended and the use thereof deferred as hereinafter ordered.

(C) Pending hearings and decisions thereon, the above-designated rate schedule and supplements are hereby suspended and the use thereof deferred until the date indicated in the above "Rate Suspended Until" column, and thereafter until such further time as they are made effective in the manner prescribed by the Natural Gas Act.

(D) Neither the rate schedule and supplements hereby suspended, nor the rate schedules sought to be altered thereby, shall be changed until these proceedings have been disposed of or until the periods of suspension have expired, unless otherwise ordered by the Commission.

(E) Notices of intervention or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D.C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37(f)) on or before February 6, 1961.

By the Commission.

JOSEPH H. GUTRIDE,
Secretary.

[Docket No. CP61-112]

COLUMBIA GULF TRANSMISSION CO.

Notice of Application and Date of Hearing

DECEMBER 22, 1960.

Take notice that on October 6, 1960, as supplemented on October 31, 1960, Columbia Gulf Transmission Company (Applicant), 1125 Brazos Street, Houston 2, Texas, filed in Docket No. CP61-112 an application pursuant to section 7(c) of the Natural Gas Act for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the construction and operation of field facilities to enable Applicant to take into its certificated main transmission pipeline system natural gas which will be purchased from producers thereof from time to time during the calendar year 1961 in the general area of Applicant's existing transmission system, at a total cost not to exceed $1,500,000, with no single project to exceed a cost of $500,000 all as more fully set forth in the application and supplement which are on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

The purpose of this "budget-type" application is to augment Applicant's ability to act with reasonable dispatch in contracting for and connecting to its existing pipeline system new supplies of natural gas in various producing areas generally coextensive with said system.

Applicant proposes to finance the cost of the subject facilities from funds on hand.

This matter is one that should be disposed of as promptly as possible under the applicable rules and regulations and to that end:

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held on January 19, 1961, at 9:30 a.m., e.s.t., in a Hearing Room of the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, D.C., concerning the matters involved in and the issues presented by such application: Provided, however, That the Commission may, after a non-contested hearing, dispose of the proceedings pursuant to the provisions of § 1.30(c) (1) or (2) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure. Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Comission, Washington 25, D.C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before January 13, 1961. Failure of any party to appear at and participate in the hearing shall be construed as waiver of and concurrence in omission herein of the intermediate decision procedure in cases where a request therefor is made.

JOSEPH H. GUTRIDE,
Secretary.

proposed increased rates and charges contained in the above-designated supplements.

(B) Pending hearings and decisions thereon, the above-designated supplements are hereby suspended and the use thereof deferred until the date indicated in the above "Rate Suspended Until" column, and thereafter until such further time as they are made effective in the manner prescribed by the Natural Gas Act.

(C) Neither the supplements hereby suspended, nor the rate schedules sought to be altered thereby, shall be changed until these proceedings have been disposed of or until the periods of suspension have expired, unless otherwise ordered by the Commission.

(D) Supplement No. 5 to Crescent Production Company, Inc.'s FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 15 and Supplement No. 5 to Crescent Drilling Company, Inc.'s FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 2 (proposing increased rates which reflect questionable contract interpretations that should be determined after hearings) shall be effective as of December 25, 1960, with only the Louisiana severance tax reimbursement portion of the proposed rates being subject to refund; Supplement No. 2 to Peake Petroleum Company's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 3 (proposing a revenue-sharing increased rate based upon an increased rate that is effective subject to refund in the proceeding in Docket No. G-19782) shall be effective as of December 25, 1960: Provided, however, That within 20 days from the date of the issuance of this order these Respondents shall file under Docket Nos. RI61-286, RI61-287, RI61-289, respectively, with the Secretary of the Commission their agreements and undertakings to comply with the refunding and reporting procedure required by the Natural Gas Act and § 154.102 of the regulations thereunder. The agreements and undertakings shall be signed by a responsible officer of the corporation accompanied by proper authorization from the Board of Directors and by a certificate showing service of copies upon all purchasers under the rate schedule involved. Unless these Respondents are advised to the contrary within 15 days after the filing of such agreement and undertaking, their agreement and undertaking shall be deemed to have been accepted.

(E) Notices of intervention or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D.C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37(f)) on or before February 6, 1961.

[Docket No. AR61-1 etc.]

ORDER INSTITUTING AREA RATE HEARING, CONSOLIDATING PROCEEDINGS AND PRESCRIBING PRELIMINARY PROCEDURE

DECEMBER 23, 1960.

Area rate proceeding,[1] Docket No. AR61-1; Claude E. Aikman,[2] Docket No. G-18466, et al.; North Central Oil Corportation (Operator), et al.,[3] Docket No. CI60-435, et al.

On September 28, 1960, the Federal Power Commission issued its Statement of General Policy No. 61-1 based upon the Commission's experience gained after six years of regulation of independent producers under the Natural Gas Act. By this Statement and the area schedules set forth therein the Commission has announced standards for both initial and increased area price levels for natural gas sold or to be sold in interstate commerce by producers.

The schedule of prices set forth in the Statement, however, was not intended to constitute a determination of just and reasonable rates, nor was it intended to foreclose any person from an opportunity to justify a particular rate in any area whether higher or lower than that set out in the Statement. Furthermore, it was contemplated that those prices might be revised from time to time as experience, and evidence adduced by parties to appropriate proceeding, might dictate. It was also recognized that the geographical areas underlying the schedule of prices might ultimately be found not proper for the establishment of appropriate pricing areas.

There are presently pending before the Commission numerous producer rate-suspension proceedings under section 4 of the Natural Gas Act. The majority of those proceedings concern proposed increased rates and charges which exceed the price levels set forth in the Commission's Statement of General Policy No. 61-1, as amended. In addition, there are pending numerous applications for certificates of public convenience and necessity under section 7 of the Natural Gas Act where the proposed initial rates exceed such price levels. In order that there may be assured the development of evidentiary records containing all significant facts relevant to the determination of an appropriate price level or levels for the various geographical areas set forth in our Policy Statement, it is necessary and appropriate to initiate and conduct area rate hearings.

More specifically, for immediate purposes, it is necessary and desirable to initiate and conduct an area rate hearing for the purpose of developing facts relevant and appropriate to the determination of a just and reasonable area producer rate, or rates, for or within the geographical area hereinafter described. The area rate hearing so initiated and as hereinafter ordered is to be concerned with the geographical area consisting of the areas of Permian Basin, New Mexico and Texas Railroad Commission Districts Nos. 7(c) and 8, Texas, as designated in our Statement of General Policy No. 61-1 and as more specifically set out in Appendix "D" hereof. The rates presently set forth in our Statement for initial rates and for increased rates, respectively, are identical for each of the three constituent areas.

We have concluded that no useful purpose would be served at this time by delaying the discharge of our primary responsibility under the Act of determining just and reasonable rates by entertaining issues or considering contentions that the areas we have delineated in our Statement might be inappropriate for rate making purposes. Accordingly, for the purposes of this area proceeding we do not propose to consider any evidence looking toward the fixing of rates for sales of gas in areas outside the boundaries of the geographical area we have delineated in Appendix "D" hereto.

In the proceedings at Docket Nos. G-18466, et al., the details of which are set out in Appendix "B" hereof, the Commission has heretofore issued its orders suspending proposed increases in rates and charges for sales of natural gas for resale in interstate commerce within the geographical area above described. The natural gas producers in these docketed proceedings, and other producers in the geographical area, may also be charging and collecting rates which, although not under suspension by the Commission presently, may be unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory or preferential under the Natural Gas Act. In addition, certificate proceedings are pending for the sale of natural gas within the area in which there is involved the question of the appropriate initial rates applicable to such sales of natural gas. These proceedings are designated in Appendix "C" hereof. The interests not only of the producers but of the pipeline companies purchasing gas produced in the area, interested distributing companies, other parties having an interest, and the ultimate consumers for whose protection the Natural Gas Act was enacted, would be best served, and our responsibility under the statute more fully discharged, if all such proceedings were consolidated for hearing purposes with the area rate proceeding herein initiated.

Because of the large number of persons having interests which may be affected by the determination contemplated by this order and the consequent procedural impracticability of permitting unlimited individual participation of all such persons, and in order to expedite the hearing, it is appropriate in the public interest that there be established reasonable limitations upon the number of persons individually participating in the proceeding, the number of attorneys who will be permitted to examine or cross-examine witnesses or otherwise participate in the formal hearings as is contemplated by the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, and the number of witnesses that may be heard upon any issue raised in such proceeding.

The interest of all of the producers in the geographical area as hereinbefore described which are subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, the other persons described above, and the public will also be served by providing for a prehearing conference as contemplated by the Commission's rules of practice and procedure for effectuation of the purposes specifically mentioned in § 1.18 of such rules. Attention is directed to the Commission's views with respect to the use of the conference technique and the ultimate objective of expediting the Commission's hearing proceedings as set forth in Order No. 217. Among other things, the objectives of the conference shall be to consider the type of evidence to be adduced, the order of presentation, the simplification and delineation of the issues, and the number of witnesses to be heard on any issue or subject. The right to participate in such a conference is predicated upon the filing in accordance with the provisions of Paragraph "E" of this order of a statement setting out specifically the interests in the proceeding by the person or persons seeking an opportunity to participate therein and the orders of the Commission or the rulings of the Presiding Examiner with respect thereto. Upon completion of the prehearing conference, the Presiding Examiner shall prepare and file with the Secretary of the Commission a summary report of such conference.

The Commission finds:

(1) To aid in carrying out its authority and responsibility under the Natural Gas Act, it is necessary and proper that the Commission on its own motion institute a proceeding to determine a just and reasonable area rate or rates for sales of natural gas within the geographical area specifically designated in Appendix "D", hereof and that a public hearing be held at a time and place to be designated by order of the Commission.

(2) Good cause exists to consolidate for the purposes of hearing all of the proceedings designated in Appendices "B" and "C" hereto with the rate proceeding contemplated in Finding (1) above and hereinafter instituted.

(3) Prior to the subject hearing to be held as contemplated in Finding (1) above, a prehearing conference should be held at 10:00 a.m. c.s.t. on March 6, 1961, for the purposes set forth in § 1.18 of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, as amended.

Pursuant to the provisions of the Natural Gas Act, particularly sections 4, 5, 7, 14, 15 and 16 thereof,

The Commission orders:

(A) A proceeding is hereby instituted to determine the just and reasonable rate or rates for the sales of natural gas produced in the geographical area specifically designated in Appendix "D" hereto, subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission and a public hearing shall be held in such proceeding at a time and place hereafter to be ordered by the Commission. All persons named in Appendix "A" hereto and all parties on whose behalf such persons have filed FPC gas rate schedules are hereby made respondents in such proceeding.

(B) The proceeding herein before instituted shall also encompass issues as to whether any rate or charge demanded, observed, charged or collected by any natural gas company in connection with such sales is unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory or preferential.

(C) A hearing shall be held in the proceedings designated in Appendix "C" hereto and the proceedings designated in Appendices "B" and "C" be and they are hereby consolidated for the purposes of hearing with the proceeding instituted in Paragraph (A) above.

(D) A prehearing conference be held pursuant to the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, particularly § 1.18 thereof at 10:00 a.m. c.s.t. on March 6, 1961, in a hearing room of the Federal Power Commission, located in the Community Theatre, Midland, Tex., for the purposes specifically set forth in said section of such rules and to afford all interested persons an opportunity to be heard with respect to the procedures to be followed in expeditiously determining the issues to be tried in the formal area rate hearing herein ordered. The prehearing conference proceedings shall be recorded by a reporter and such proceedings shall be recessed and reconvened at the discretion of the Presiding Examiner. Upon completion of the conference the Presiding Examiner shall prepare and file with the Secretary of the Commission his report of the conference, summarizing therein the issues, procedures and other matters considered during such conference and making such recommendations with respect thereto as he may deem appropriate.

(E) Any person who desires to participate in the prehearing conference to be held at the time and place designated in Paragraph (D) shall, on or before February 15, 1961, file with the Secretary of the Commission an original and 3 conformed copies of a statement of position which shall include, but not be limited to, a summarization of the following data:

(i) His interest in and claimed right to be heard in one or more of these consolidated proceedings.

(ii) The extent to which he desires to participate, i.e., a statement of position, presentation of evidence, type of evidence to be presented, number of witnesses, etc.

(iii) His representation, whether as an individual or as a representative for an association, group or segment of the natural gas industry, or of ultimate consumers.

(F) Any person, other than the applicants and respondents specifically named in Appendices "A", "B" and "C", who desires to participate as an intervener in the area rate hearing hereinabove ordered to be held shall, on or before February 15, 1961, file a notice of intervention or a petition to intervene with the Secretary of the Commission setting forth therein the basis claimed for the right to intervene in such proceeding. On or before February 25, 1961, the Secretary of the Commission shall advise all participants in these consolidated proceedings of the names of all persons who have filed notices of intervention or petitions for leave to intervene herein.

(G) A copy of this order shall be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER and served upon each of the respondents set out in Appendix "A", who according to the records of this Commission are known producers of gas within the above described area subject to the Commission's jurisdiction; also upon all purchasers of natural gas in the said area and upon interested State commissions as is provided for in Section 1.19 of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure.

(H) Edward B. Marsh, a duly qualified and appointed (as provided by section 11 of the Administrative Procedure Act) hearing examiner, or his successor legally qualified, appointed and designated, is designated to preside at the hearing herein instituted including the prehearing conference hereinbefore, ordered and is authorized and directed, in so doing, to exercise all of the functions and authority prescribed by the Administrative Procedure Act and this Commission's rules of practice and procedure.

By the Commission (Commissioner Kline concurs except as to the selection of the area involved).

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

CAMPBELL SOUP CO. ET AL.

Notice of Applications for Unlisted Trading Privileges and of Opportunity for Hearing

DECEMBER 27, 1960.

In the matter of applications of the Pacific Coast Stock Exchange for unlisted trading privileges in certain securities.

The above named national securities exchange has filed applications with the Securities and Exchange Commission pursuant to section 12(f)(2) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and Rule 12f–1 thereunder, for unlisted trading privileges in the common stocks of the following companies, which securities are listed and registered on one or more other national securities exchanges:

Campbell Soup Company, File 7–2122.
The Firestone Tire & Rubber Company, File 7–2123.
General Mills, Inc., File 7–2124.
The National Cash Register Company, File 7–2125.
Outboard Marine Corporation, File 7–2126.
Thiokol Chemical Corporation, File 7–2127.
Universal Oil Products Company, File 7–2128.
The Upjohn Company, File 7–2129.

Upon receipt of a request, on or before January 13, 1961 from any interested person, the Commission will determine whether the application with respect to any of the companies named shall be set down for hearing. Any such request should state briefly the title of the security in which he is interested, the nature of the interest of the person making the request, and the position he proposes to take at the hearing, if ordered. In addition, any interested person may submit his views or any additional facts bearing on any of the said applications by means of a letter addressed to the Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington 25, D.C., not later than the date specified. If no one requests a hearing with respect to any particular application, such application will be determined by order of the Commission on the basis of the facts stated therein and other information contained in the official files of the Commission pertaining thereto.

By the Commission.

[SEAL] ORVAL L. DUBOIS,
Secretary.

PART 202—FILLING POSITIONS

Miscellaneous Amendments

1. Effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER § 201.100 is amended by amending subparagraph (4) of paragraph (a) to read as follows and by adding new subparagraphs (6) and (7) to paragraph (b), as follows:

§ 201.100 Exclusions.

* * * * *

(a) The following positions, and the incumbents thereof, are excluded from all of the provisions of the Act, except section 16 thereof, and the regulations in this chapter—

* * * * *

(4) The magistrates, constables and other employees of the magistrates' courts of the Canal Zone Government.

* * * * *

(b) The following positions, and the incumbents thereof, are excluded from the provisions of Parts 202 and 203 of the regulations in this chapter—

* * * * *

(6) Visiting nurses of the Panama Canal Company assigned to the home visit program for beneficiaries of the Cash Relief Act of July 8, 1937, as amended (50 Stat. 478; 68 Stat. 17) who reside in the Republic of Panama.

(7) Non-United States citizen liaison agents of the Police Division of the Canal Zone Government.

2. F.R. Document 60–6161, appearing at 25 F.R. 6317, July 6, 1960, is corrected to change the promulgating clause of the amendment to § 202.9 to read as follows to show that it was intended to amend only the introductory clause of § 202.9 and not the entire section:

"1. Effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, the introductory clause of § 202.9 is amended to read as follows:"

RELEASING NOTES FROM COUNTY OFFICE AFTER RECEIPT OF PAYMENT

Section 366.4(a), Title 6, Code of Federal Regulations (24 F.R. 9075) is revised to provide for temporary retention of notes by the County Supervisor in some circumstances and to read as follows:

§ 366.4 Delivery of satisfactions, notes and other documents.

* * * * *

(a) Delivery of documents after note stamped "paid in full" is received from the Finance Office. The Finance Office, upon receipt of Form FHA–144, "Summary of Remittances," covering the remittance which paid the account in full, will forward to the County Office the note with a "paid-in-full" legend. The note will be returned to the borrower immediately, except that when final payment is made in a form other than currency and coin, U.S. Treasury check, cashier's check or certified check, postal or bank money order, bank draft or a check issued by a responsible lending institution or a responsible title insurance or title and trust company, the note will not be surrendered until fifteen days after the date of final payment, or when the note is needed in making marginal release or satisfaction of the security instrument, the note will be held until the instrument is satisfied. Upon receipt of the note, except as provided above, the County Supervisor will deliver the stamped note, any property insurance policies, and the original mortgage to the borrower. The satisfaction will be executed and delivered in accordance with instructions from the State Director. Any water stock certificates held by the Farmers Home Administration that are the property of the borrower will be transferred to the borrower. Also, any assignment to the Farmers Home Administration of income from the property being released will be terminated as provided in the assignment agreement.

Title 7—AGRICULTURE

Chapter VIII—Commodity Stabilization Service (Sugar), Department of Agriculture

SUBCHAPTER B—SUGAR REQUIREMENTS AND QUOTAS

PART 812—SUGAR REQUIREMENTS AND QUOTAS; HAWAII AND PUERTO RICO

Three Month Period Ending March 31, 1961

On pages 12712 and 12713 of the FEDERAL REGISTER of December 10, 1960, there was published a notice of proposed rule making to issue a regulation determining sugar requirements for 1961 and establishing quotas for the three-month period ending March 31, 1961, for Hawaii and Puerto Rico. Interested persons were given 10 days in which to submit written data, views or arguments for consideration in connection with the proposed regulation.

No comments or objections were received relative to the proposed regulation.

The proposed regulation is hereby adopted without change.

Issued at Washington, D.C., this 27th day of December 1960.

CLARENCE L. MILLER,
Acting Secretary.

Basis and purpose. The purpose of Sugar Regulation 812 is to determine pursuant to sections 201 and 203 of the Sugar Act of 1948, as amended (hereinafter referred to as the "act"), the amount of sugar needed to meet the requirements of consumers in Hawaii and in Puerto Rico and to establish quotas for local consumption in such areas. To the extent required by Sec. 201 of the act, this regulation establishes sugar requirements based on official estimates of the Department of Agriculture and on statistics published by other agencies of the government.

Since the act provides that the Secretary of Agriculture determine during December 1960 sugar requirements for local consumption in Hawaii and in Puerto Rico and establish local consumption quotas for the three-month period ending March 31, 1961, it is found to be impracticable and not in the public interest to comply with the 30-day effective date requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act, and these regulations shall be effective January 1, 1961.

§ 812.1 Sugar requirements and quota—Hawaii.

It is hereby determined, pursuant to section 203 of the act, that the amounts of sugar needed to meet the requirements of consumers in Hawaii for the calendar year 1961 is 45,000 short tons, raw value, and a quota of 11,250 short tons, raw value, is hereby established for Hawaii for local consumption for the three-month period ending March 31, 1961.

§ 812.2 Sugar requirements and quota—Puerto Rico.

It is hereby determined, pursuant to section 203 of the act, that the amount of sugar needed to meet the requirements of consumers in Puerto Rico for the calendar year 1961 is 120,000 short tons, raw value, and a quota of 30,000 short tons, raw value, is hereby established for Puerto Rico for local consumption for the three-month period ending March 31, 1961.

§ 812.3 Restrictions on marketing.

Pursuant to section 209 of the act, for the three-month period ending March 31, 1961, all persons are hereby prohibited from marketing, pursuant to Part 816 of this chapter (23 F.R. 1943), in Hawaii or in Puerto Rico, for consumption therein, any sugar or liquid sugar after the quota for the area for the three-month period ending March 31, 1961, has been filled. Pursuant to section 211(c) of the act, the quota for each area may be filled only with sugar produced from sugarcane grown in the respective area.

STATEMENT OF BASES AND CONSIDERATIONS

Pursuant to section 203 of the act, the provisions of section 201 of the act deemed applicable to the determination of the amounts of sugar needed to meet the requirements of consumers in Hawaii and in Puerto Rico relate to (1) the quantities of sugar distributed for local consumption in Hawaii and in Puerto Rico during the twelve-month period ended October 31, 1960, (2) deficiencies or surpluses in inventories of sugar, and (3) changes in consumption because of changes in population and demand conditions.

The quantities of sugar distributed for consumption in Hawaii and Puerto Rico, including that which was lost in refining after charge to the local quotas, during such twelve-month period were approximately 41,000 short tons of sugar, raw value, and 113,000 short tons of sugar, raw value, respectively.

The official estimate of the total population for Hawaii as of April 1, 1960, is 632,772 and for Puerto Rico 2,349,544. Compared to official estimates of 1959 population, this represents a minute increase for Puerto Rico and a small decline for Hawaii. No official estimate for either of these areas for 1961 is available.

In Hawaii industrial use accounts for a substantial portion of the total consumption of sugar and this demand varies enough to make it a significant factor in the total sugar requirements. Recent trends and year-to-year variations suggest the possibility that requirements may be considerably higher in 1961 than in the twelve months ended October 31, 1960, when distribution was approximately 41,000 short tons, raw value.

In Puerto Rico during the first ten months of 1960, local distribution plus refining losses totaled 92,998 short tons, raw value. If stocks of refiners in Puerto Rico on December 31, 1960, are the same as a year previous, the total quantity of sugar used to meet the local needs in 1960 may approximate 117,000 short tons, raw value. In view of such possible local consumption in 1960, and after making allowance for expected consumption increases in 1961 resulting from population increases, the total sugar needed to meet requirements for local consumption in Puerto Rico in 1961 may be approximately 120,000 short tons, raw value.

Circumstances prevailing in the utilization of quota for local consumption in Hawaii and Puerto Rico are such that no special problems arise nor are the objectives of the act jeopardized if the 1961 local quota is not completely filled. It is, therefore, desirable to establish the 1961 requirements and quotas sufficiently high initially so that later adjustments may be avoided.

In accordance with the above, the requirements for local consumption in Hawaii and Puerto Rico for 1961 have been determined to be 45,000 and 120,000 short tons, raw value, respectively. Pursuant to Public Law 86-592 approved July 6, 1960, the quotas for local consumption in Hawaii and Puerto Rico for the three-month period ending March 31, 1961, have been established at one-fourth of the determined local consumption requirements for 1961.

PART 818—REQUIREMENTS RELATING TO NON-QUOTA PURCHASE SUGAR FOR 1960

The following changes correct references to paragraph (f) of § 818.6 to reflect the change in designation of such paragraph (f) to paragraph (h) made under a previous amendment of § 818.6 (Sugar Regulation 818, Amendment 3; 25 F.R. 9197).

Section 818.6(a)(5) of this chapter is amended by changing the reference to paragraph "(f)" to read paragraph "(h)"; and § 818.9(b)(2) of this chapter is amended by changing the reference to "§ 816.6(f)" contained therein to read "§ 818.6(h)".

Since the amendments made herein merely correct reference to conform with paragraph designation, it is hereby found that compliance with the notice, procedure and effective date requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act is unnecessary, impractical and contrary to the public interest and the amendment herein shall become effective when published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Chapter IX—Agricultural Marketing Service (Marketing Agreements and Orders), Department of Agriculture

[Navel Orange Regulation 199]

PART 914—NAVEL ORANGES GROWN IN ARIZONA AND DESIGNATED PART OF CALIFORNIA

Limitation of Handling

§ 914.499 Navel Orange Regulation 199.

(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 14, as amended (7 CFR Part 914), regulating the handling of Navel oranges grown in Arizona and designated part of California, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601-674), and upon the basis of the recommendations and information submitted by the Navel Orange Administrative Committee, established under the said amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of handling of such Navel oranges, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act by tending to establish and maintain such orderly marketing conditions for such oranges as will provide, in the interests of producers and consumers, and orderly flow of the supply thereof to market throughout the normal marketing season to avoid unreasonable fluctuations in supplies and prices, and is not for the purpose of maintaining prices to farmers above the level which it is declared to be the policy of Congress to establish under the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this regulation until 30 days after publication hereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 1001-1011) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this regulation is based became available and the time when this regulation must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, and a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions hereof effective as hereinafter set forth. The committee held an open meeting during the current week, after giving due notice thereof, to consider supply and market conditions for Navel oranges and the need for regulation; interested persons were afforded an opportunity to submit information and views at this meeting, the recommendation and supporting information for regulation during the period specified herein were promptly submitted to the Department after such meeting was held; the provisions of this regulation, including its effective time, are identical with the aforesaid recommendation of the committee, and information concerning such provisions and effective time has been disseminated among handlers of such Navel oranges; it is necessary, in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act, to make this regulation effective during the period herein specified; and compliance with this regulation will not require any special preparation on the part of persons subject hereto which cannot be completed on or before the effective date hereof. Such committee meeting was held on December 29, 1960.

(b) Order. (1) The respective quantities of Navel oranges grown in Arizona and designated part of California which may be handled during the period beginning at 12:01 a.m., P.s.t., January 1, 1961, and ending at 12:01 a.m., P.s.t., January 8, 1961, are hereby fixed as follows:

(i) District 1: 450,000 cartons;
(ii) District 2: 196,882 cartons;
(iii) District 3: Unlimited movement;
(iv) District 4: Unlimited movement.

(2) As used in this section, "handled," "District 1," "District 2," "District 3," "District 4," and "carton" have the same meaning as when used in said amended marketing agreement and order.

(Secs. 1-19, 48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U.S.C. 601-674)

Dated: December 30, 1960.

Director, Fruit and Vegetable Division, Agricultural Marketing Service.

[Milk Order No. 61]

PART 961—MILK IN PHILADEPHIA, PA., MARKETING AREA

Order Amending Order

§ 961.0 Findings and determinations.

The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.) and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order regulating the handling of milk in the Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order as hereby amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the Act;

(2) The parity prices of milk, as determined pursuant to section 2 of the Act, are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the said marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the order as hereby amended are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest;

(3) The said order as hereby amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as, and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial or commercial activity specified in, a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

(b) Additional findings. It is necessary in the public interest to make this order amending the order effective not later than January 1, 1961. Any delay beyond that date would tend to disrupt the orderly marketing of milk in the marketing area.

The provisions of the said order are known to handlers. The recommended decision of the Deputy Administrator of the Agricultural Marketing Service was issued March 29, 1960, and a revised recommended decision was issued November 14, 1960. The decision of the Assistant Secretary containing all amendment provisions of this order, was issued December 15, 1960. The changes effected by this order will not require extensive preparation or substantial alteration in method of operation for handlers. In view of the foregoing, it is hereby found and determined that good cause exists for making this order amending the order effective January 1, 1961, and that it would be contrary to the public interest to delay the effective date of this order for 30 days after its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER. (Sec. 4(c), Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U.S.C. 1001–1011).

(c) Determinations. It is hereby determined that:

(1) The refusal or failure of handlers (excluding cooperative associations specified in section 8c(9) of the Act) of more than 50 percent of the milk, which is marketed within the marketing area, to sign a proposed marketing agreement, tends to prevent the effectuation of the declared policy of the Act;

(2) The issuance of this order, amending the order, is the only practical means pursuant to the declared policy of the Act of advancing the interests of producers as defined in the order as herein amended; and

(3) The issuance of the order amending the order is approved or favored by at least three-fourths of the producers who participated in a referendum and who during the determined representative period were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the marketing area.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date hereof, the handling of milk in the Philadelphia marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as hereby amended, and the aforesaid order is hereby amended as follows:

1A. In § 961.22(j) delete subparagraph (2) and substitute the following:

(2) The 15th day of the month preceding the start of each calendar quarter, the Class I price for such calendar quarter: Provided, That the Class I price for the calendar quarter of January, February and March 1961 shall be announced on or before January 5, 1961;

1B. In § 961.22(j) delete the word "and" at the end of subparagraph (4), change the period at the end of subparagraph (5) to a semicolon and add the word "and" and add a new subparagraph as follows:

(6) The 15th day of each month, the indexes computed pursuant to § 961.50 (a)(1) for the preceding month, the 12-month average of condensery prices for the period ending with the preceding month calculated in the manner described in § 961.50(a)(3), and the 12-month percentage utilization factor for the period ending with the preceding month calculated in the matter described in § 961.50(a)(4) and (5).

§ 961.50 [Amendment]

2. Delete § 961.50(a) and substitute therefor the following:

(a) Class I milk. For each month in each calendar quarter the price per hundredweight of Class I milk shall be the price computed for such quarter pursuant to subparagraphs (1) through (5) of this paragraph.

(1) Compute the indexes set forth in subdivisions (i) through (v) of this subparagraph for the 2d, 3d and 4th months preceding the first month of the pricing quarter and divide the sum of these indexes by 15. The result shall be the formula index.

(i) Compute an index of wholesale commodity prices, using a 1957–1958 base period, by dividing by 1.183, the average of the four latest weekly index figures (those available on the 15th day of the following month) of wholesale commodity prices as reported on a 1947–1949 base by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, United States Department of Labor.

(ii) Compute an index of prices paid by Pennsylvania farmers per hundredweight for 20 percent protein mixed dairy feed, using a 1957–1958 base period, by dividing by 0.03898 the monthly price for such feed published by the Pennsylvania Federal-State Crop Reporting Service.

(iii) Compute an index of prices received by Pennsylvania farmers for farm products except dairy, using a 1957–1958 base period, by dividing by 2.103 the monthly index published by the Pennsylvania Federal-State Crop Reporting Service.

(iv) Compute an index of prices paid for milk by selected Midwestern condenseries, using a 1957–1958 base period, by dividing by 0.030673 the monthly average prices paid by the following selected Midwestern condenseries:

as reported by the United States Department of Agriculture, and adjust the result for seasonal variation by dividing by the applicable figure indicated below for such month:

January	1.027	July	0.974
February	1.023	August	.986
March	1.011	September	.999
April	.981	October	1.015
May	.968	November	1.022
June	.968	December	1.026

(v) Compute an index of average daily pounds of Class I milk disposition under Order No. 61 and Order No. 110, using a 1957–1958 base period, by dividing by 29,476 the daily average for the month of pounds of Class I milk disposition by producer milk plants under Order No. 61 and fluid milk plants under Order No. 110, excluding Class I milk disposition (on routes or otherwise) outside the marketing areas by any handler whose Class I disposition on routes in the marketing areas is less than 5.0 percent of his total Class I route disposition, and excluding any duplication because of disposition between plants, and adjust the result for seasonal variation by dividing by the applicable figure indicated below for the month:

January	1.009	July	0.946
February	1.023	August	.949

[1] If the formula index is more than 120.0 or less than 80.0 this table shall be extended at the same rate as the increase or decrease in the preceding bracket.

(3) If the annual level of the price for any calendar quarter (the price indicated for the first and third quarters for the bracket in which the formula index computed pursuant to subparagraph (1) falls) adjusted to a price for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content (using the Class I butterfat differential computed for the second month preceding the quarter, pursuant to § 961.51) is greater than $2.60 over the simple average of prices of selected Midwestern condenseries (identified in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph) as reported by the United States Department of Agriculture for the 12-month period ending with the second month preceding the quarter for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat, the Class I price for such quarter shall be adjusted downward (in multiples of 20 cents) to a price so adjusted which will be within such $2.60 variance.

(4) For each month of any calendar quarter the Class I price shall be 20 cents more per hundredweight than the price prescribed in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, adjusted pursuant to subparagraph (3) of this paragraph, if receipts of milk from producers at producer milk plants under Order No. 61 and fluid milk plants under Order No. 110 during the 12-month period ending with the second preceding month are less than 129 percent of total Class I disposition by such plants in the same period (excluding any duplication because of disposition between plants), and shall be an additional 20 cents more if the percentage of such receipts to such disposition is less than 126: Provided, That the price adjustment pursuant to this subparagraph shall not exceed an amount which will result in a Class I price equal to the Class I price for the same quarter of the preceding year plus 80 cents.

(5) For each month of any calendar quarter the Class I price shall be 20 cents less per hundredweight than the price prescribed in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, adjusted pursuant to subparagraph (3) of this paragraph, if receipts of milk from producers at producer milk plants under Order No. 61 and fluid milk plants under Order No. 110 during the 12-month period ending with the second preceding month are more than 139 percent of total Class I disposition by such plants in the same period (excluding any duplication because of disposition between plants), and shall be an additional 20 cents less if the percentage of such receipts to such disposition is more than 142: Provided, That the price adjustment pursuant to this subparagraph shall not exceed an amount which will result in a Class I price equal to the Class I price for the same quarter of the preceding year less 80 cents.

[Grapefruit Reg. 334]

PART 933—ORANGES, GRAPEFRUIT, TANGERINES, AND TANGELOS GROWN IN FLORIDA

Limitation of Shipments

§ 933.1041 Grapefruit Regulation 334.

(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 33, as amended (7 CFR Part 933), regulating the handling of oranges, grapefruit, tangerines, and tangelos grown in Florida, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674), and upon the basis of the recommendations of the committees established under the aforesaid amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of shipments of grapefruit, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this regulation until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 1001–1011) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this regulation is based became available and the time when this regulation must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient; a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions hereof effective as hereinafter set forth. Shipments of all grapefruit, grown in the production area, are presently subject to regulation by grades and sizes, pursuant to the amended marketing agreement and order; the recommendation and supporting information for regulation during the period specified herein were promptly submitted to the Department after an open meeting of the Growers Administrative Committee on December 27, 1960, such meeting was held to consider recommendations for regulation, after giving due notice of such meeting, and interested persons were afforded an opportunity to submit their views at this meeting; the provisions of this regulation, including the effective time hereof, are identical with the aforesaid recommendation of the committee, and information concerning such provisions and effective time has been disseminated among handlers of such grapefruit; it is necessary, in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act, to make this regulation effective during the period hereinafter set forth so as to provide for the continued regulation of the handling of grapefruit, and compliance with this regulation will not require any special preparation on the part of the persons subject thereto which cannot be completed by the effective time hereof.

(b) Order. (1) Terms used in the amended marketing agreement and order shall, when used herein, have the same meaning as is given to the respective term in said amended marketing agreement and order; and terms relating to grade, diameter, standard pack, and standard box, as used herein, shall have the same meaning as is given to the respective term in the United States Standards for Florida Grapefruit (7 CFR 51.750–51.783; 25 F.R. 8219).

(2) During the period beginning at 12:01 a.m., e.s.t., January 2, 1961, and ending at 12:01 a.m., e.s.t., January 16, 1961, no handler shall ship between the production area and any point outside thereof in the continental United States, Canada, or Mexico:

(i) Any grapefruit, grown in the production area, which do not grade at least U.S. No. 1: Provided, That such grapefruit may have discoloration to the extent permitted under the U.S. No. 2 Russet grade, and may have slightly rough texture caused only by speck type melanose;

(ii) Any seeded grapefruit, grown in the production area, which are smaller than 3⅛ inches in diameter, except that a tolerance of 10 percent, by count, of seeded grapefruit smaller than such minimum size shall be permitted, which tolerance shall be applied in accordance with the provisions for the application of tolerances, specified in said United States Standards for Florida Grapefruit; or

(iii) Any seedless grapefruit, grown in the production area, which are smaller than 3$^{9}/_{16}$ inches in diameter, except that a tolerance of 10 percent, by count, of seedless grapefruit smaller than such minimum size shall be permitted, which tolerance shall be applied in accordance with the provisions for the application of tolerances, specified in said United States Standards for Florida Grapefruit.

[Orange Reg. 382]

PART 933—ORANGES, GRAPEFRUIT, TANGERINES, AND TANGELOS GROWN IN FLORIDA

Limitation of Shipments

§ 933.1040 Orange Regulation 382.

(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 33, as amended (7 CFR Part 933), regulating the handling of oranges, grapefruit, tangerines, and tangelos grown in Florida effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674), and upon the basis of the recommendations of the committees established under the aforesaid amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of shipments of oranges, including Temple oranges, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this regulation until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C 1001–1011) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this regulation is based became available and the time when this regulation must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient; a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions hereof effective as hereinafter set forth. Shipments of oranges, including Temple oranges, grown in the production area, are presently subject to regulation by grades and sizes, pursuant to the amended marketing agreement and order; the recommendation and supporting information for regulation during the period specified herein were promptly submitted to the Department after an open meeting of the Growers Administrative Committee on December 27, 1960, such meeting was held to consider recommendations for regulation, after giving due notice of such meeting, and interested persons were afforded an opportunity to submit their views at this meeting; the provisions of this regulation, including the effective time hereof, are identical with the aforesaid recommendation of the committee, and information concerning such provisions and effective time has been disseminated among handlers of such oranges; it is necessary, in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act, to make this regulation effective during the period hereinafter set forth so as to provide for the continued regulation of the handling of oranges, including Temple oranges, and compliance with this regulation will not require any special preparation on the part of the persons subject thereto which cannot be completed by the effective time hereof.

(b) Order. (1) Terms used in the amended marketing agreement and order shall, when used herein, have the same meaning as is given to the respective term in said amended marketing agreement and order; and terms relating to grade, diameter, standard pack, and standard box, as used herein, shall have the same meaning as is given to the respective term in the United States Standards for Florida Oranges and Tangelos (7 CFR 51.1140–51.1178; 25 F.R. 8211).

(2) During the period beginning at 12:01 a.m., e.s.t., January 2, 1961, and ending at 12:01 a.m., e.s.t., January 30, 1961, no handler shall ship between the production area and any point outside thereof in the continental United States, Canada, or Mexico:

(i) Any oranges, except Temple oranges, grown in the production area, which do not grade at least U.S. No. 1 Russet;

(ii) Any oranges, except Temple oranges, grown in the production area, which are of a size smaller than 2$^{8}/_{16}$ inches in diameter, except that a tolerance of 10 percent, by count, of oranges smaller than such minimum diameter shall be permitted, which tolerance shall be applied in accordance with the provisions for the application of tolerances specified in said United States Standards for Florida Oranges and Tangelos: Provided, That in determining the percentage of oranges in any lot which are smaller than 2$^{8}/_{16}$ inches in diameter, such percentage shall be based only on those oranges in such lot which are of a size 2$^{11}/_{16}$ inches in diameter or smaller.

(3) During the period beginning at 12:01 a.m., e.s.t., January 2, 1961, and ending at 12:01 a.m., e.s.t., January 16, 1961, no handler shall ship between the production area and any point outside thereof in the continental United States, Canada, or Mexico:

(i) Any Temple oranges, grown in the production area, which do not grade at least U.S. No. 1 Russet: Provided, That such oranges may have slightly rough texture caused only by scarring, and may have scars and discoloration to the extent permitted under the U.S. No. 2 grade.

(ii) Any Temple oranges, grown in the production area, which are of a size smaller than 2$^{8}/_{16}$ inches in diameter, except that a tolerance of ten percent, by count, for Temple oranges smaller than such minimum diameter shall be permitted, which tolerance shall be applied in accordance with the provisions for the application of tolerances specified in the aforesaid United States Standards for Florida Oranges and Tangelos.

Shipments of tangelos, grown in the production area, are presently subject to regulation by grades and sizes, pursuant to the amended marketing agreement and order; the recommendation and supporting information for regulation during the period specified herein were promptly submitted to the Department after an open meeting of the Growers Administrative Committee on December 27, 1960, such meeting was held to consider recommendations for regulation, after giving due notice of such meeting, and interested persons were afforded an opportunity to submit their views at this meeting; the provisions of this regulation, including the effective time hereof, are identical with the aforesaid recommendation of the committee, and information concerning such provisions and effective time has been disseminated among handlers of such tangelos; it is necessary, in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act, to make this regulation effective during the period hereinafter set forth so as to provide for the continued regulation of the handling of tangelos, and compliance with this regulation will not require any special preparation on the part of the persons subject thereto which cannot be completed by the effective time hereof.

(b) Order. (1) Terms used in the amended marketing agreement and order shall, when used herein, have the same meaning as is given to the respective term in said amended marketing agreement and order; and terms relating to grade, diameter, standard pack, and standard box, as used herein, shall have the same meaning as is given to the respective term in the United States Standards for Florida Oranges and Tangelos (7 CFR 51.1140–51.1178; 25 F.R. 8211).

(2) During the period beginning at 12:01 a.m., e.s.t., January 2, 1961, and ending at 12:01 a.m., e.s.t., January 16, 1961, no handler shall ship between the production area and any point outside thereof in the continental United States, Canada, or Mexico:

(i) Any tangelos, grown in the production area, which do not grade at least U.S. No. 1 Russet; or

(ii) Any tangelos, grown in the production area, which are of a size smaller than 2$^{5}/_{16}$ inches in diameter, except that a tolerance of 10 percent, by count, of tangelos smaller than such minimum diameter shall be permitted, which tolerance shall be applied in accordance with the provisions for the application of tolerances specified in said United States Standards for Florida Oranges and Tangelos.

[Tangerine Reg. 220]

PART 933—ORANGES, GRAPEFRUIT, TANGERINES, AND TANGELOS GROWN IN FLORIDA

Limitation of Shipments

§ 933.1042 Tangerine Regulation 220.

(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 33, as amended (7 CFR Part 933), regulating the handling of oranges, grapefruit, tangerines, and tangelos grown in Florida, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674), and upon the basis of the recommendations of the committees established under the aforesaid amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of shipments of tangerines, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this regulation until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 1001–1011) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this regulation is based became available and the time when this regulation must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient; a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions hereof effective as hereinafter set forth. The committee held an open meeting during the current week, after giving due notice thereof, to consider supply and market conditions for lemons and the need for regulation; interested persons were afforded an opportunity to submit information and views at this meeting; the recommendation and supporting information for regulation grown in Florida, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674), and upon the basis of the recommendations of the committees established under the aforesaid amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of shipments of tangerines, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this regulation until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 1001–1011) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this regulation is based became available and the time when this regulation must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient; a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions hereof effective as hereinafter set forth. [Lemon Reg. 879]

PART 953—LEMONS GROWN IN CALIFORNIA AND ARIZONA

§ 953.986 Lemon Regulation 879.

(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 53, as amended (7 CFR Part 953; 23 F.R. 9053), regulating the handling of lemons grown in California and Arizona, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.; 68 Stat. 906, 1047), and upon the basis of the recommendation and information submitted by the Lemon Administrative Committee, established under the said amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of handling of such lemons as hereinafter provided will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this regulation until 30 days after publication hereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (60 Stat. 237; 5 U.S.C. 1001, et seq.), because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this regulation is based become available and the time when this regulation must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, and a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions hereof effective as hereinafter set forth. The committee held an open meeting during the current week, after giving due notice thereof, to consider supply and market conditions for lemons and the need for regulation; interested persons were afforded an opportunity to submit information and views at this meeting; the recommendation and supporting information for regulation during the period specified herein were promptly submitted to the Department after such meeting was held; the provisions of this regulation, including its effective time, are identical with the aforesaid recommendation of the committee, and information concerning such provisions and effective time has been disseminated among handlers of such lemons; it is necessary, in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act, to make this regulation effective during the period herein specified; and compliance with this regulation will not require any special preparation on the part of persons subject hereto which cannot be completed on or before the effective date hereof. Such committee meeting was held on December 28, 1960.

(b) Order. (1) The respective quantities of lemons grown in California and Arizona which may be handled during the period begining at 12:01 a.m., P.s.t., January 1, 1961, and ending at 12:01 a.m., P.s.t., January 8, 1961, are hereby fixed as follows:

(i) District 1: 27,900 cartons;

(ii) District 2: 158,100 cartons;

(iii) District 3: Unlimited movement.

(2) As used in this section, "handled," "District 1," "District 2," "District 3," and "carton" have the same meaning as when used in the said amended marketing agreement and order.

[Milk Order No. 94]

PART 994—MILK IN COLORADO SPRINGS-PUEBLO MARKETING AREA

Order Amending Order

§ 994.0 Findings and determinations.

The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order regulating the handling of milk in the Colorado Springs-Pueblo marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order as hereby amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the Act;

(2) The parity prices of milk, as determined pursuant to section 2 of the Act, are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the said marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the order as hereby amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order as hereby amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as, and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial or commercial activity specified in, a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

(b) Additional findings. It is necessary in the public interest to make this order amending the order effective not later than January 1, 1961. Any delay beyond that date would tend to disrupt the orderly marketing of milk in the marketing area.

The provisions of the said order are known to handlers. The recommended decision of the Deputy Administrator of the Agricultural Marketing Service was issued October 27, 1960, and the decision of the Assistant Secretary containing all amendment provisions of this order, was issued December 16, 1960. The changes effected by this order will not require extensive preparation or substantial alteration in method of operation for handlers. In view of the foregoing, it is hereby found and determined that good cause exists for making this order amending the order effective January 1, 1960, and that it would be contrary to the public interest to delay the effective date of this order for 30 days after its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER. (Sec. 4(c), Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U.S.C. 1001–1011).

(c) Determinations. It is hereby determined that:

(1) The refusal or failure of handlers (excluding cooperative associations specified in section 8c(9) of the Act) of more than 50 percent of the milk, which is marketed within the marketing area, to sign a proposed marketing agreement, tends to prevent the effectuation of the declared policy of the Act;

(2) The issuance of this order, amending the order, is the only practical means pursuant to the declared policy of the Act of advancing the interests of producers as defined in the order as herein amended; and

(3) The issuance of the order amending the order is approved or favored by at least two-thirds of the producers who during the determined representative period were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the marketing area.

Order relative to handling. The order is hereby amended as follows:

1. Delete § 994.7 and substitute therefor the following:

§ 994.7 Pool plant.

A "pool plant" shall be any plant meeting the conditions of paragraph (a) or (b) of this section except the plant of a handler exempted in § 994.60 or § 994.61:

(a) Any plant, hereinafter referred to as a "distributing pool plant", (1) in which fluid milk products are pasteurized or packaged, (2) from which an amount equal to 50 percent or more of receipts of Grade A milk from dairy farmers and from other pool plants is disposed of as Class I milk, and (3) from which 20 percent or more of the total Class I sales are on routes in the marketing area; and

(b) Any plant, hereinafter referred to as a "supply pool plant", from which during the month not less than 40 percent of its dairy farm supply of Grade A milk is moved to a distributing pool plant(s). Any supply plant which has qualified as a pool plant in each of the months of September through February shall be a pool plant for each of the following months of March through August unless written request for nonpool status for any such month(s) is furnished in advance to the market administrator. A plant withdrawn from supply pool plant status may not be reinstated for any subsequent month of March through August unless it fulfills the shipping requirements of this paragraph for such month.

§ 994.9 [Amendment]

2. In § 994.9 delete the following sentence: "Such milk shall be considered as having been received by such cooperative association at the plant from which it was diverted."

3. Delete § 994.10 and substitute therefor the following:

§ 994.10 Producer.

"Producer" means any person, other than a producer-handler (or a dairy farmer with respect to milk delivered to a pool plant which qualifies as producer milk under another Federal milk order) who produces milk eligible for distribution as Grade A milk in compliance with the fluid milk product requirements of a duly constituted health authority, whose milk is:

(a) Received at a pool plant; or

(b) Diverted from a pool plant to a nonpool plant for the account of the handler operating the pool plant or of a cooperative association, subject to the following limitations and conditions:

(1) The days of production of such person for which milk is diverted during the month may not exceed the days of production for which milk is received at a pool plant, otherwise such person will not be considered a producer with respect to any milk diverted;

(2) For purposes of the requirements of § 994.7, milk diverted for the account of the operator of a pool plant shall be included in the receipts of the pool plant from which diverted; and

(3) For purposes of location adjustments pursuant to § 994.81, milk diverted to a nonpool plant shall be considered to have been received at the location of the nonpool plant to which diverted.

§ 994.44 [Amendment]

4. Delete § 994.44(c) and substitute therefor the following:

(c) Class I milk, if transferred or diverted as a fluid milk product in bulk to a nonpool plant located more than 200 miles, by the shortest highway distance as determined by the market administrator, from the El Paso County Courthouse, but not located in Cache or Weber Counties, Utah.

5. Delete § 994.44(e) and substitute therefor the following:

(e) Class I milk, if transferred or diverted as a fluid milk product in bulk to a nonpool plant located not more than 200 miles, by the shortest highway distance as determined by the market administrator, from the El Paso County Courthouse, or located in Cache or Weber Counties, Utah, unless the following conditions are met:

(1) The transferring handler claims Class II utilization in his report submitted pursuant to § 994.30;

(2) The operator of the nonpool plant maintains books and records showing receipts and utilization of all skim milk and butterfat at such plant which are made available if requested by the market administrator for the purpose of verification;

(3) Class I utilization in the nonpool plant does not exceed the receipts of skim milk and butterfat in Grade A milk from dairy farmers. If Class I utilization exceeds such receipts, the skim milk and butterfat so transferred or diverted shall be Class I to the extent of a pro rata share of total receipts at the nonpool plant from all pool plants and from plants fully subject to other orders that are claimed as Class II utilization or as a class other than Class I under another order; and

(4) If any skim milk or butterfat is transferred to a second nonpool plant under this paragraph, the same conditions of audit, classification and allocation shall apply.

§ 994.46 [Amendment]

6. Delete § 994.46(a)(3) and substitute therefor the following:

(3) Subtract the pounds of skim milk in fluid milk products received from plants regulated under another order issued pursuant to the Act, as specified:

(i) If sour cream was not processed or packaged in the pool plant during the month, subtract from the pounds of skim milk in Class I milk the pounds of skim milk in sour cream packaged in consumer or institutional size packages, classified and priced as Class II milk pursuant to Order No. 41, regulating the handling of milk in Chicago, Illinois, marketing area (Part 941 of this chapter), disposed of in the same packages as received; and

(ii) Subtract from the pounds of skim milk remaining in each class, in series beginning with Class II, the remaining pounds of skim milk in other source milk received from a plant at which the handling of milk is fully subject to the pricing and payment provisions of another marketing agreement or order issued pursuant to the Act.

7. Delete § 994.52 and substitute therefor the following:

§ 994.52 Location differentials to handlers.

For milk which is received from producers at a plant located more than 200 miles by the shortest highway distance, as determined by the market administrator, from the El Paso County Courthouse in Colorado Springs, and which is classified as Class I milk the prices computed pursuant to § 994.51(a) shall be reduced by 31.5 cents if such plant is located more than 200 miles but not more than 210 miles from such Courthouse and by an additional 1.5 cents for each 10 miles or fraction thereof that such distance exceeds 210 miles: Provided, That for the purpose of calculating such differential transfers between pool plants shall be assigned to Class I milk in a volume not in excess of that by which Class I disposition at the transferee plant exceeds the receipts from producers at such plant, such assignment to transferor plants to be made first to plants at which no differential credit is applicable and then in the sequence beginning with the plant at which the lowest location differential credit would apply.

8. Delete § 994.81 and substitute therefor the following:

§ 994.81 Location differential to producers.

For milk which is received at a plant located more than 200 miles but not more than 210 miles by shortest highway distance, as determined by the market administrator, from the El Paso County Courthouse in Colorado Springs, there should be deducted 31.5 cents per hundredweight and an additional 1.5 cents shall be deducted for each 10 miles or fraction thereof that such distance exceeds 210 miles.

(Secs. 1–19, 48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U.S.C. 601–674)

Issued at Washington, D.C., this 28th day of December 1960, to be effective on and after the 1st day of January 1961.

CLARENCE L. MILLER,
Assistant Secretary.

[Milk Order No. 110]

PART 1010—MILK IN WILMINGTON, DEL., MARKETING AREA

Order Amending Order

§ 1010.0 Findings and determinations.

The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth in supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.) and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order regulating the handling of milk in the Wilmington, Delaware, marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order as hereby amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the Act;

(2) The parity prices of milk, as determined pursuant to section 2 of the Act, are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the said marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the order as hereby amended are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest;

(3) The said order as hereby amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manners as, and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial or commercial activity specified in, a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

(b) Additional findings. It is necessary in the public interest to make this order amending the order effective not later than January 1, 1961. Any delay beyond that date would tend to disrupt the orderly marketing of milk in the marketing area.

The provisions of the said order are known to handlers. The recommended decision of the Deputy Administrator of the Agricultural Marketing Service was issued March 29, 1960 and a revised recommended decision was issued November 14, 1960. The decision of the Assistant Secretary containing all amendment provisions of this order, was issued December 15, 1960. The changes effected by this order will not require extensive preparation or substantial alteration in method of operation for handlers. In view of the foregoing, it is hereby found and determined that good cause exists for making this order amending the order effective January 1, 1961, and that it would be contrary to the public interest to delay the effective date of this order for 30 days after its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER. (Sec. 4(c), Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U.S.C. 1001–1011).

(c) Determinations. It is hereby determined that:

(1) The refusal or failure of handlers (excluding cooperative associations specified in section 8c(9) of the Act) of more than 50 percent of the milk, which is marketed within the marketing area, to sign a proposed marketing agreement, tends to prevent the effectuation of the declared policy of the Act;

(2) The issuance of this order, amending the order, is the only practical means pursuant to the declared policy of the Act of advancing the interests of producers as defined in the order as herein amended; and

(3) The issuance of the order amending the order is approved or favored by at least three-fourths of the producers who participated in a referendum and who during the determined representative period were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the marketing area.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date hereof, the handling of milk in the Wilmington marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as hereby amended, and the aforesaid order is hereby amended as follows:

§ 1010.22 [Amendment]

1A. In § 1010.22(j) delete subparagraph (2) and substitute the following:

(2) The 15th day of the month preceding the start of each calendar quarter, the Class I price for such calendar quarter: Provided, That the Class I price for the calendar quarter of January, February, and March 1961 shall be announced on or before January 5, 1961;

1B. In § 1010.22(j) add a new subparagraph as follows:

(4) The 15th day of each month, the indexes computed pursuant to § 1010.50 (a)(1) for the preceding month, the 12-month average of condensery prices for the period ending with the preceding month calculated in the manner described in § 1010.50(a)(3), and the 12-month percentage utilization factor for the period ending with the preceding month calculated in the manner described in § 1010.50(a) (4) and (5).

§ 1010.50 [Amendment]

2. Delete § 1010.50(a) and substitute therefor the following:

(a) Class I milk. For each month in each calendar quarter the price per hundredweight of Class I milk shall be the price computed for such quarter pursuant to subparagraphs (1) through (5) of this paragraph.

(1) Compute the indexes set forth in subdivisions (i) through (v) of this subparagraph for the 2d, 3d and 4th months preceding the first month of the pricing quarter and divide the sum of these indexes by 15. The result shall be the formula index.

(i) Compute an index of wholesale commodity prices, using a 1957–1958 base period, by dividing by 1.183, the average of the four latest weekly index figures (those available on the 15th day of the following month) of wholesale commodity prices as reported on a 1947–1949 base by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, United States Department of Labor.

(ii) Compute an index of prices paid by Pennsylvania farmers per hundredweight for 20 percent protein mixed dairy feed, using a 1957–1958 base period, by dividing by 0.03896 the monthly price for such feed published by the Pennsylvania Federal-State Crop Reporting Service.

(iii) Compute an index of prices received by Pennsylvania farmers for farm products except dairy, using a 1957–1958 base period, by dividing by 2.103 the monthly index published by the Pennsylvania Federal-State Crop Reporting Service.

(iv) Compute an index of prices paid for milk by selected Midwestern condenseries, using a 1957–1958 base period, by dividing by 0.030673 the monthly average prices paid by the following selected Midwestern condenseries

[1] If the formula index is more than 120.0 or less than 80.0 this table shall be extended at the same rate as the increase or decrease in the preceding bracket.

(3) If the annual level of the price for any calendar quarter (the price indicated for the first and third quarters for the bracket in which the formula index computed pursuant to subparagraph (1) falls) adjusted to a price for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content (using the Class I butterfat differential computed for the second month preceding the quarter, pursuant to § 1010.51) is greater than $2.45 over the simple average of prices of selected Midwestern condenseries (identified in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph) as reported by the United States Department of Agriculture for the 12-month period ending with the second month preceding the quarter for milk of 3.5 percent, the Class I price for such quarter shall be adjusted downward (in multiples of 20 cents) to a price so adjusted which will be within such $2.45 variance.

(4) For each month of any calendar quarter the Class I price shall be 20 cents more per hundredweight than the price prescribed in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, adjusted pursuant to subparagraph (3) of this paragraph, if receipts of milk from producers at producer milk plants under Order No. 61 and fluid milk plants under Order No. 110 during the 12-month period ending with the second preceding month are less than 129 percent of total Class I disposition by such plants in the same period (excluding any duplication because of disposition between plants), and shall be an additional 20 cents more if the percentage of such receipts to such disposition is less than 126: Provided, That the price adjustment pursuant to this subparagraph shall not exceed an amount which will result in a Class I price equal to the Class I price for the same quarter of the preceding year plus 80 cents.

(5) For each month of any calendar quarter the Class I price shall be 20 cents less per hundredweight than the price prescribed in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, adjusted pursuant to subparagraph (3) of this paragraph, if receipts of milk from producers at producer milk plants under Order No. 61 and fluid milk plants under Order No. 110 during the 12-month period ending with the second preceding month are more than 139 percent of total Class I disposition by such plants in the same period (excluding any duplication because of disposition between plants), and shall be an additional 20 cents less if the percentage of such receipts to such disposition is more than 142: Provided, That the price adjustment pursuant to this subparagraph shall not exceed an amount which will result in a Class I price equal to the Class I price for the same quarter of the preceding year less 80 cents.

3. Delete § 1010.50(b)(1) and substitute therefor the following:

(b)(1) Butterfat. Add all market quotations (using the midpoint of any weekly range as one quotation) of prices per 40-quart can of fresh sweet cream of bottling quality of 40 percent butterfat content, not including prices for cream carrying special municipal approvals, reported at Philadelphia for each week ending within the month by the United States Department of Agriculture, divide by the number of quotations, subtract $2.00 and divide by 9.19: Provided, That such butterfat value shall not be less than 3.7 times 120 percent of the average of the daily wholesale selling price for Grade A (92-score) butter at New York as reported by the United States Department of Agriculture for the month for which payment is to be made, less 18.0 cents.

§ 1010.51 [Deletion]

4. Delete § 1010.51 and substitute therefor the following:

§ 1010.51 Butterfat differential to handlers.

For milk containing more or less than 3.7 percent butterfat, the class prices for the month, calculated pursuant to § 1010.50, shall be increased or decreased, respectively, for each one-tenth of 1.0 percent variation in butterfat content by the amount calculated pursuant to § 1010.50(b)(1) divided by 37 and rounded to the nearest one-tenth cent.

5. Delete "4.0 percent" in §§ 1010.50 and 1010.71 (b) and (d), and substitute therefor "3.7 percent".

§ 1010.81 [Deletion]

6. Delete § 1010.81 and substitute therefor the following:

§ 1010.81 Butterfat differential to producers.

The applicable uniform prices to be paid each producer pursuant to § 1010.80 shall be increased or decreased, for each one-tenth of 1.0 percent which the average butterfat content of his milk is above or below 3.7 percent, respectively, at a rate determined by dividing by 37 the butterfat value computed pursuant to § 1010.50(b)(1) and rounded to the nearest full cent.

(Secs. 1–19, 48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U.S.C. 601–674)

Issued at Washington, D.C., this 28th day of December 1960, to be effective on and after the 1st day of January 1961.

CLARENCE L. MILLER,
Assistant Secretary.

PART 1032—CARROTS GROWN IN SOUTH TEXAS

Notice of rule making with respect to proposed rules and regulations to be made effective under Marketing Agreement No. 142 and Order No. 132 (7 CFR Part 1032; 25 F.R. 9523), regulating the handling of carrots grown in designated counties in South Texas, issued under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674), was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER December 13, 1960 (25 F.R. 12752).

This notice afforded interested parties an opportunity to file data, views, or arguments pertaining thereto not later than 10 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER. None was filed.

After consideration of all relevant matters, including the proposals set forth in the aforesaid notice which were recommended by the South Texas Carrot Committee, established pursuant to the aforesaid marketing agreement and order, the following rules and regulations are hereby approved to become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

AUTHORITY: §§ 1032.100 to 1032.125 issued under Secs. 1–19, 48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U.S.C. 601–674.

GENERAL

§ 1032.100 Order.

Order means this part (§ 1032.1 to 1032.92; 25 F.R. 9523) regulating the handling of carrots grown in South Texas.

§ 1032.101 Terms.

The terms used in this subpart shall have the same meaning as when used in the order.

§ 1032.102 Communications.

Unless otherwise provided in the order, or by specific direction of the committee, all reports, applications, submittals, requests and communications in connection with the order shall be addressed to the South Texas Carrot Committee, at its principal office.

§ 1032.103 Registered handler.

For purposes of this part any person who operates an established packing house within the production area with commonly accepted adequate facilities for grading and packing carrots for market, and who customarily buys carrots from producers for grading, packing, and marketing shall be recorded by the committee as a registered handler. Any other person who wishes to be listed as a registered handler may make application for registration on forms furnished by the committee. If such applicant has facilities available to him that are determined by the committee to be adequate for grading and packing carrots for market, and he assumes responsibility for inspection of carrots handled by him, and for assessments thereon, he may be approved and recorded as a registered handler. If the committee determines from the available information that the applicant is not entitled to be registered with the committee, he shall be so informed by written notice stating the reason for denial of his application. Any registration of a handler pursuant to this section may be canceled by the committee under circumstances which would have justified denial of his application. Any handler whose registration has been canceled shall be so informed by written notice thereof stating the reason therefor. The committee shall also notify producers of each such cancellation of handler registration through committee bulletins or published notice in local newspapers of general distribution or both.

§ 1032.104 Fiscal period.

The inital fiscal period shall begin on the effective date of this part, October 5, 1960, and end on July 31, 1961. Thereafter, each fiscal period shall begin on August 1 of each year and end on July 31 of the following year, both dates inclusive.

SAFEGUARDS

§ 1032.120 Policy.

Whenever shipments of carrots for special purposes pursuant to § 1032.53 are relieved in whole or in part from regulations issued under § 1032.52, the committee may require information and evidence on the manner, methods, and timing of such shipments as safeguards against the entry of any such carrots in trade channels other than those for which intended. Such information and evidence shall include requirements set forth below with respect to Certificates of Privilege.

§ 1032.121 Qualification.

Before handling carrots for special purposes which do not meet regulations issued pursuant to § 1032.52, a handler, when required by such regulations, must qualify with the committee to handle shipments for special purposes. To qualify he must (a) apply for and receive a Certificate of Privilege indicating his intent to so handle carrots, (b) agree to comply with reporting and other requirements set forth in §§ 1032.120 to 1032.125, inclusive, with respect to such shipments, and (c) receive approval of the committee, or its duly authorized agents, to so handle carrots. Such approval will be based upon evidence furnished in his application for Certificate of Privilege and other information available to the committee.

(a) Applications for a Certificate of Privilege shall be made on forms furnished by the committee. Each application may contain, but need not be limited to, the name and address of the handler; the quantity by grade, size, and quality of the carrots to be shipped; the mode of transportation; the consignee; the destination; the purpose for which the carrots are to be used; and certification to the United States Department of Agriculture and to the committee as to the truthfulness of the information shown thereon, and any other appropriate information or documents deemed necessary by the committee or its duly authorized agents for the purposes stated in § 1032.120.

(b) The committee may require each handler making shipments of carrots for export to include with his application a copy of the Department of Commerce Shippers Export Declaration Form No. 7525–V applicable to such shipment.

§ 1032.123 Approval.

The committee or its duly authorized agents shall give prompt consideration to each application for a Certificate of Privilege. Approval of an application, based upon the determination as to whether the information contained therein and other information available to the committee supports approval, shall be evidenced by the issuance of a Certificate of Privilege to the applicant. Each certificate shall cover a specified period and specified qualities and quantities of carrots to be sold or transported to a designated consignee for the purposes declared.

§ 1032.124 Reports.

Each handler of carrots shipping under Certificates of Privilege shall supply the committee with reports as requested by the committee, or its duly authorized agents, showing the name and address of the shipper; the car or truck identification; the loading point; destination; consignee; the inspection certificate number when inspection is required; and any other information deemed necessary by the committee.

§ 1032.125 Disqualification.

The committee from time to time may conduct surveys of handling of carrots for special purposes requiring Certificates of Privilege to determine whether handlers are complying with the requirements and regulations applicable to such certificates. Whenever the committee finds that the handler or consignee is failing to comply with requirements and regulations applicable to handling of carrots in special outlets and requiring such certificates, a Certificate or Certificates of Privilege issued such handler may be rescinded and subsequent certificates denied. Such disqualification shall apply to, and not exceed, a reasonable period of time as determined by the committee, but in no event shall it extend beyond the date of the succeeding fiscal period. Any handler who has a Certificate rescinded or denied may appeal to the committee in writing for reconsideration of his disqualification.

It is hereby found that good cause exists for not postponing the effective date of these rules and regulations beyond the date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 1001–1011) in that (1) these rules and regulations apply to the handling of carrots grown in the production area and the handling of the 1960–61 winter crop of carrots has begun, (2) it is necessary to place these rules and regulations in effect at the earliest possible date in order to facilitate operations under the marketing agreement and order, and (3) notice hereof has been given by publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER of December 13, 1960 (25 F.R. 12752).

(Secs. 1–19, 48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U.S.C. 601–674)

Effective date: Dated December 28, 1960, to become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

G. R. GRANGE,
Acting Director, Fruit and Vegetable Division, Agricultural Marketing Service.

PART 1032—CARROTS GROWN IN SOUTH TEXAS

Approval of Expenses and Rate of Assessment

Notice of rule making regarding proposed expenses and rate of assessment, to be made effective under Marketing Agreement No. 142 and Order No. 132 (7 CFR Part 1032; 25 F.R. 9523) regulating the handling of carrots grown in designated counties in South Texas, was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER December 10, 1960 (25 F.R. 12712). This regulatory program is effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674). After consideration of all relevant matters presented, including the proposals set forth in the aforesaid notice, which proposals were adopted and submitted for approval by the South Texas Carrot Committee, established pursuant to said marketing agreement and order, it is hereby found and determined that:

§ 1032.201 Expenses and rate of assessment.

(a) The reasonable expenses that are likely to be incurred by the South Texas Carrot Committee to enable such committee to perform its functions pursuant to the provisions of aforesaid marketing agreement and order, during the fiscal period ending July 31, 1961, will amount to $50,000.

(b) The rate of assessment to be effective for the fiscal period ending July 31, 1961, shall be one and one-fourth cents ($0.0125) per 50-pound sack (or crate) of carrots, or the equivalent quantity thereof packed in other containers, of carrots handled during said fiscal period.

(c) The terms used in this section shall have the same meaning as when used in Marketing Agreement No. 142 and Order No. 132.

It is hereby found that good cause exists for not postponing the effective time of this action until 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 1001–1011) in that: (1) the relevant provisions of said marketing agreement and order require that rates of assessment fixed for a particular fiscal period shall be applicable to all assessable carrots from the beginning of such period and (2) the current fiscal period began on October 5, 1960, and the rates of assessment herein fixed will automatically apply to all assessable carrots beginning with such date.

(Secs. 1–19, 48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U.S.C. 601–674)

Dated: December 28, 1960.

G. R. GRANGE,
Acting Director, Fruit and Vegetable Division.

PART 1034—LETTUCE GROWN IN THE LOWER RIO GRANDE VALLEY IN SOUTH TEXAS

Limitation of Shipments

Notice of rule making with respect to proposed Limitation of Shipments regulation to be made effective under Marketing Agreement No. 144 and Order No. 134 (7 CFR Part 1034; 25 F.R. 12227), regulating the handling of lettuce grown in the Lower Rio Grande Valley in South Texas, was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER December 21, 1960 (25 F.R. 13142). This program is effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674).

This notice afforded interested parties an opportunity to file data, views, or arguments pertaining thereto within five days after publication. None was filed.

After consideration of all relevant matters presented, including the proposals set forth in the aforesaid notice, it is hereby found that the limitation of shipments regulation, as hereinafter set forth, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

It is hereby found that good cause exists for not postponing the effective date of § 1034.301 until 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 1001–1011) in that (i) the handling of lettuce grown in the production area will begin on or about the effective date of this section, (ii) more orderly marketing in the public interest than would otherwise prevail will be promoted by regulating the handling of lettuce in the manner set forth below on and after the effective date of this section, (iii) compliance with this section will not require any special preparation on the part of handlers which cannot be completed by the effective date, (iv) reasonable time is permitted under the circumstances for such preparation, and (v) notice has been given of the Limitation of Shipments set forth in this section through publicity in the production area and by publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER of December 21, 1960 (25 F.R. 13142).

§ 1034.301 Limitation of shipments.

No person shall package lettuce on any Sunday during the period beginning on January 8, 1961, through March 26, 1961, inclusive. During the period January 2, 1961, through March 31, 1961, no person shall handle any lot of lettuce grown in the production area unless such lettuce meets the grade requirements of paragraph (a), one of the sizing and pack requirements of paragraph (b), and the container requirements of paragraph (c), or unless such lettuce is handled in accordance with the provisions of paragraphs (d), (e), and (f) of this section.

(a) Grade. 70 percent U.S. No. 1, or better grade, not to exceed an average of 5 percent decay in any lot.

(b) Sizing and pack. Only lettuce that meets one of the following sizing and pack requirements may be handled:

(1) 18 heads per container;
(2) 24 heads per container; or
(3) 30 heads per container.

(c) Container. Lettuce may be handled only if packed in one of the following containers:

(1) A carton with inside dimensions of 10 inches x 14¼ inches x 21⁵⁄₁₆ inches (designated as carrier container No. 7303);

(2) A carton with inside dimensions of 9¾ inches x 14 inches x 21 inches (designated as carrier container No. 7306).

(d) Minimum quantities. Any person may handle up to but not to exceed 5 cartons or 250 pounds of lettuce a day without regard to the requirements of this section or to the inspection and assessment requirements of this part, but this exception shall not apply to any portion of a shipment of over 5 cartons or 250 pounds of lettuce.

(e) Special purpose shipments. The requirements of paragraphs (a), (b), and (c), of this section, and the inspection and assessment requirements of this part, shall not be applicable to lettuce handled for the following special purposes:

(1) Relief or charity;
(2) Experimental purposes; and
(3) Export to Mexico.

(f) Safeguards. (1) Each handler of lettuce which does not meet the requirements of paragraphs (a), (b), and (c) of this section, and which is handled pursuant to paragraph (e) of this section for relief or charity or experimental purposes shall, prior to handling, apply for and obtain a Certificate of Privilege from the committee which shall require the handler to furnish such reports and documents as the committee may require showing that the lettuce was handled for the purpose specified in the Certificate of Privilege.

(2) Each person who sells or otherwise handles lettuce which does not meet the requirements of paragraphs (a), (b), and (c) of this section, and which is handled pursuant to paragraph (e) of this section for export to Mexico, shall maintain the following records with respect to such lettuce:

(i) Name and address of the purchaser;
(ii) Quantity involved in each sale;
(iii) Date of sale; and
(iv) Identification of the vehicle of the purchaser or trucker by make, model, and license number.

(g) Inspection. (1) No handler shall handle any lettuce for which an inspection certificate is required unless an appropriate inspection certificate has been issued with respect thereto.

(2) No handler shall transport or cause the transportation of any shipment of lettuce by motor vehicle for which an inspection certificate is required unless each such shipment is accompanied by a copy of the inspection certificate applicable thereto or by documentary evidence on forms furnished by the committee identifying truck lots to which valid inspection certificates are applicable and a copy of such inspection certificate or committee document, upon request, is surrendered to authorities designated by the committee.

(3) For purpose of operation under this part each required inspection certificate or form required by the committee as evidence of inspection is hereby determined to be valid for a period not to exceed 72 hours following completion of inspection as shown on the certificate or the date shown on the document.

(h) Definitions. The term "U.S. No. 1" shall have the same meaning as set forth in the U.S. Standards for Lettuce (§§ 51.2510 to 51.2524 of this title), including the tolerances set forth therein. All other terms used in this section shall have the same meaning as when used in Marketing Order No. 134 (Part 1034 of this title).

(Secs. 1–19, 48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U.S.C. 601–674)

Effective date: Dated December 28, 1960, to become effective January 2, 1961.

S. R. GRANGE,
Acting Director, Fruit and Vegetable Division.

Title 26—INTERNAL REVENUE

Chapter I—Internal Revenue Service, Department of the Treasury

EDITORIAL NOTE: With the enactment of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 it became necessary to carry two titles 26 in the Code of Federal Regulations: (1) "Title 26—Internal Revenue", containing regulations under the Internal Revenue Code of 1939 (cloth bound books); and (2) "Title 26—Internal Revenue, 1954", containing regulations under the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 (paper bound books). Regulations under the 1939 Code, as made applicable to the corresponding provisions of the 1954 Code by Treasury Decision 6091, 19 F.R. 5167, Aug. 17, 1954, have been systematically superseded by regulations under the 1954 Code.

Since the greater portion of the regulations under the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 will have been issued as of January 1, 1961, two titles are no longer needed. Accordingly, the title heading as of that date is hereby designated "Title 26—Internal Revenue". Regulations under the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 will appear in the FEDERAL REGISTER under the new heading, together with amendatory regulations under the Internal Revenue Code of 1939.

The Code of Federal Regulations volumes will be revised under the new heading as of January 1, 1961. The new volumes will replace: (1) All volumes of the 1949 Edition of the Code, (2) the 1953 revisions of Parts 1 to 79, and Parts 183 to 299, and (3) all volumes issued as of January 1, 1960, under the heading "Title 26—Internal Revenue, 1954". The full text of the 1939 Code regulations, applicable to the 1954 Code provisions and not completely superseded, will be carried in the revision as appendices to appropriate subchapters.

Regulations under tax conventions in Part 7, appearing in Title 26—Internal Revenue, Parts 1 to 79, Revised 1953, and supplements, and Part 82, appearing in Title 26—Internal Revenue, 1949 Ed., Parts 80 to 169, and supplements, are hereby transferred to Subchapter G—Regulations Under Tax Conventions (Part 500 et seq.), and redesignated. Former §§ 505.201 to 505.210 are hereby redesignated §§ 505.301 to 505.310. The following table indicates these redesignations and shows the complete new structure of Subchapter G:

(3) No agreement to participate shall establish any preferences in favor of the bank or other lending institution participating in the loan with SBA, except in participation agreements entered into in accordance with the Early Maturities Participation Plan set forth in § 120.4–6.

2. A new § 120.4–6 is added to read as follows:

§ 120.4–6 Early Maturities Participation Plan.

Early Maturities Participation business loans are authorized on an immediate participation basis whereby the full amount of the early scheduled principal payments on a loan can be applied toward reduction of the participating financial institution's share of the total loan subject to the following limitations:

(a) The financial institution shall participate in an amount not less than the greater of the following sums: (1) the aggregate of the level amortized principal payments due in the first two years of the loan; (2) 25 percent of the loan; (3) the full amount of any existing credit the remaining term of which is more than one year and of any credit the remaining term of which is less than one year upon which payments, if required, have not been made as originally agreed.

(b) All such loans shall be amortized on a level principal payment basis, plus interest, and only such principal payments as are made within 60 days of due date can be applied toward early reduction of the participating institution's share of the total loan. Upon expiration of 60 days after default of any payment of principal or interest due on the loan, unless the default is cured by payment within that period, the proportionate interests of the SBA and the institution participating in the loan shall be frozen or fixed in amounts equal to their respective percentages of exposure as of the date of the last principal payment received prior to the default, and all future payments on the loan from any source shall be paid over to, or credited to the participation of, bank and SBA according to their respective percentages of the frozen or fixed participation.

(c) No such agreement shall establish any preference in favor of the lending institution in any collateral security for the loan and at any time during the term of the loan while the participating institution continues to have an interest, regardless of whether bank's participation has been declared frozen or fixed, the proceeds from the liquidation or sale of any collateral or security supporting the loan, including voluntary or demanded payments by guarantors, or any other principal payments due to be applied in inverse order of maturity, shall be paid over to, or credited to the participation of the institution and SBA in amounts equal to their respective percentages of interest or exposure in the loan based upon the outstanding balance of the loan as of the date such principal payment is received.

(d) Upon the repayment of the aggregate amount of amortized payments due the participating institution it shall be released from the participation and SBA will assume servicing of the loan and sole custody and control of all collateral, provided that at the option of the participating institution it may purchase or enter into a new participation in the loan in an amount not less than its original participation and continue to service the loan. The new participation shall then be liquidated in the same manner as the original participation. The participating institution shall have additional options throughout the whole term of the loan to periodically enter into new participations in the loan, or may at any time purchase or acquire the full outstanding loan.

Effective date. This amendment shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

PHILIP MCCALLUM,
Administrator.

Chapter III—Federal Aviation Agency

SUBCHAPTER E—AIR NAVIGATION REGULATIONS

[Airspace Docket No. 60–LA–51]

PART 600—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS

PART 601—DESIGNATION OF THE CONTINENTAL CONTROL AREA, CONTROL AREAS, CONTROL ZONES, REPORTING POINTS, POSITIVE CONTROL ROUTE SEGMENTS, AND POSITIVE CONTROL AREAS

Revocation of Federal Airway, Associated Control Areas and Reporting Points and Modification and Revocation of Control Area Extensions

On September 2, 1960, a notice of proposed rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (25 F.R. 8490) stating that the Federal Aviation Agency proposed to revoke Amber Federal airway No. 3 in its entirety and its associated control areas and reporting points, revoke the La Junta, Colo., control area extension and modify the Denver, Colo., Colorado Springs, Colo., and Truth or Consequences, N.M., control area extensions. Subsequent to publication of the Notice, on November 3, 1960, a Modification of the Proposal was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (25 F.R. 10553) stating that a further modification of the Colorado Springs and Truth or Consequences control area extensions was proposed.

No adverse comments were received regarding the proposed amendments.

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of the rules herein adopted, and due consideration has been given to all relevant matter presented.

The substance of the proposed amendments having been published, therefore, pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (25 F.R. 12582) and for the reasons stated in the Notice and the subsequent Modification of the Proposal, the following actions are taken:

§§ 600.103, 601.103, 601.4103, and 601.1305 [Revocation]

1. In Parts 600 and 601 (14 CFR 600, 601) the following sections are revoked:

(b) Section 601.103 Amber Federal airway No. 3 control areas (El Paso, Tex., to Great Falls, Mont.).

(c) Section 601.4103 Amber Federal airway No. 3 (El Paso, Tex., to Great Falls, Mont.).

(d) Section 601.1305 Control area extension (La Junta, Colo.).

2. Section 601.1277 (14 CFR 601.1277, 25 F.R. 5451) is amended to read:

§ 601.1277 Control area extension (Denver, Colo.).

That airspace SW of Denver lying within a 34-mile radius of the Denver VOR bounded on the N by VOR Federal airway No. 8 and on the E by VOR Federal airway No. 81, including the area within 5 miles either side of a line bearing 174° True extending from the Aurora, Colo., RBN to 25 miles S of the RBN; the area NE of Denver bounded on the NE by VOR Federal airway No. 132, on the SE by VOR Federal airway No. 160 and on the W by VOR Federal airway No. 89; the area SE of Denver bounded on the NE by VOR Federal airway No. 4, on the E by VOR Federal airway No. 19, on the SW by the Colorado Springs, Colo., control area extension (601.1347) and on the W by VOR Federal airway No. 81.

3. Section 601.1347 (14 CFR 601.1347) is amended to read:

§ 601.1347 Control area extension (Colorado Springs, Colo.).

That airspace bounded by a line beginning at Lat. 39°09'35" N, Long. 104°48'45" W, thence clockwise along the arc of a circle 25 miles in radius centered on Peterson Field (Lat. 38° 48'35" N, Long. 104°42'20" W) to the W edge of VOR Federal airway No. 81, then S along the W edge of Victor 81 to the N edge of VOR Federal airway No. 244, then W along the N edge of Victor 244 to Long. 104°44'00" W, then N to Lat. 38°45'00" N, Long. 104°45'50" W, then NW to Lat. 38°46'05" N, Long. 104°46'50" W, then due W to Long. 104°48'48" W, then N to the point of beginning.

4. Section 601.1444 (14 CFR 601.1444) is amended to read:

§ 601.1444 Control area extension (Truth or Consequences, N.M.).

That airspace within 5 miles either side of the Truth or Consequences VOR 013° True radial extending from the VOR to 17 miles N and within 5 miles either side of the Truth or Consequences VOR 143° True radial extending from the VOR to 23 miles SE. The portion of this control area extension that coincides with the White Sands, N.M., Restricted Area No. 2 (R–521) shall be used only after obtaining prior approval from the Federal Aviation Agency Air Route Traffic Control Center, Albuquerque, N.M.

These amendments shall become effective 0001 e.s.t. March 9, 1961.

Title 29—LABOR

Chapter V—Wage and Hour Division, Department of Labor

SUBCHAPTER A—REGULATIONS

PART 511—WAGE ORDER PROCEDURE FOR PUERTO RICO, THE VIRGIN ISLANDS, AND AMERICAN SAMOA

Miscellaneous Amendments

Part 511 of Title 29, Code of Federal Regulations, which establishes wage order procedure for Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, and American Samoa pursuant to section 5(c) of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 (52 Stat. 1060, as amended, 29 U.S.C. 201 et seq.), has been reviewed in the light of experience in its administration. This review indicates the desirability of amendments: (1) To eliminate the present distinctions between "parties" and "witnesses" and provide that all interested persons who meet the requirements for participation shall be designated as "parties"; (2) to require the submission of pertinent financial statements for a representative period of years by employers who testify as to the lack of economic feasibility of higher minimum wage rates; and (3) to provide for submission of petitions for minimum wage review, when the rate applicable to the petitioner is below the statutory rate, or when the petition concerns an activity not previously considered in arriving at the rate applicable to the petitioner.

Now, therefore, pursuant to authority contained in section 5 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 (52 Stat. 1062, as amended; 29 U.S.C. 205), Reorganization Plan No. 6 of 1950 (64 Stat. 1263; 3 CFR 1949–1953 Comp., p. 1004), and General Order No. 45–A of the Secretary of Labor (15 F.R. 3290), 29 CFR 511.8, 511.13, 511.17, 511.19 are hereby amended to read as hereinbelow set out. These amendments shall be effective on and after March 1, 1961.

1. Section 511.8 is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 511.8 Prehearing statements.

(a) Every employer, employee, trade association, trade union, or group of employers, employees, associations, or unions in the industry as defined, or in such industry elsewhere in the United States, and every other person who, in the judgment of the committee has an interest sufficient to justify the participation he proposes, shall be considered an interested person. No member of the committee may participate as an interested person.

(b) Any interested person who wishes to participate on his own behalf or by counsel shall file a written prehearing statement. Ten days before the first hearing date set for any committee in a notice of hearing concerning minimum wages for Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands, the original and 11 copies of the prehearing statement shall be filed at the Office of the Territorial Director of the Wage and Hour Division, United States Department of Labor, New York Department Store Building, Fortaleza and San Jose Streets, San Juan, Puerto Rico, and one copy at the office of the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division, United States Department of Labor, Washington 25, D.C. If such statements are sent by air mail between Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands and the mainland, such filing shall be deemed timely if postmarked within the time provided. The number of copies of such statements and the times and places for filing them will be specified in the notices of hearings to determine minimum wages for American Samoa. The prehearing statement shall describe the person's interest in the proceeding and contain (1) the prepared statement he proposes to give, if any; (2) a statement of the individual classifications and minimum wage rates, if any, he proposes to support; (3) the written data he proposes to introduce in evidence, including all tangible objective data to be submitted pursuant to § 511.13; (4) the names and addresses of the witnesses he proposes to call and a summary of the evidence he proposes to develop; (5) the name and address of the individual who will present his case; and (6) a statement of the approximate length of time his case will take. If the prehearing statement is in conformity with the above requirements, the person shall have the right to participate as a party. In accordance with section 6(c) of the Administrative Procedure Act, industry committees shall, after considering the advice of committee counsel, issue subpoenas authorized by section 9 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, to parties who make a request therefor accompanied by a clear showing of general relevance and reasonable scope of the evidence sought.

(c) Prehearing statements of parties shall be made available for examination at the offices where they are filed. Each person who files a prehearing statement should, if requested, make himself available for conference with the committee staff to make any needed clarification of his prehearing statement, and arrange details of presenting his testimony or case.

(d) In exceptional circumstances a person who has not filed the prehearing statement required by this section and who does not appear on a witness list filed by a party may nevertheless be permitted, in the discretion of the committee, to offer testimony.

2. Section 511.13 is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 511.13 Evidence.

In accordance with the notice of hearing, the committee and any authorized subcommittee will take official notice of the facts stated in the economic report to the extent they are not refuted by evidence received at the hearing. Other pertinent evidence available to the Department of Labor may be presented at the hearing. The committee itself may call witnesses not otherwise scheduled to testify. Oral or documentary evidence may be received, but the committee shall exclude irrelevant, immaterial, and unduly repetitious evidence. Every interested person who has met the requirements for participation as a party shall have the right to present his case by oral or documentary evidence, to submit rebuttal evidence, and to conduct such cross examination of witnesses called by others as may be required for a full and true disclosure of the facts. Testimony on behalf of an employer or group of employers as to inability to pay the minimum wage rate specified in section 6(a)(1) of the Act, or as to inability to adjust to a higher minimum wage rate than prescribed by any applicable wage order of the Secretary, shall be supported by tangible objective data filed as part of the prehearing statement under § 511.8, including pertinent unabridged profit and loss statements and balance sheets for a representative period of years for the individual firm or firms involved. Such financial data shall include the most recent period of a year or fraction thereof for which data are available. Financial statements filed in accordance with this provision, except those relating to a period of less than a full fiscal year or a fiscal year ending less than 90 days prior to the filing of the prehearing statement, shall be certified by an independent public accountant or shall be sworn to conform to and be consistent with the corresponding income tax returns covering the same years. Evidence of witnesses not present at the hearing may be submitted only by affidavits received with, or as a part of, a prehearing statement which meets the requirements of § 511.8 and satisfactorily explains why each affiant cannot be present. Such affidavits will be received in evidence to the same extent that testimony from affiants would have been admitted had they been present. The committee will give such weight to these statements as it considers appropriate, and the fact that such affiants have not been subject to cross examination may be considered, along with other relevant facts, in assessing the weight to be given such evidence.

3. Section 511.17 is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 511.17 Records.

Each industry committee shall keep a journal recording the time and place of all its meetings, the members present, the votes, and other formal proceedings, including the appointment of subcommittees. Subcommittees shall keep a similar journal. No report of committee or subcommittee discussions need be included. All hearings shall be reported and transcribed within 45 days after the date of the Administrator's order under § 511.18. Promptly after completion of the committee's final report, the committee chairman shall certify the report and transmit it to the Administrator. As soon as practicable thereafter, the committee staff shall transmit to the Administrator (a) all committee and subcommittee journals, (b) all applications for leave to participate as parties together with the record of action thereon, and (c) the transcript of testimony and exhibits together with all papers and requests filed in the proceedings. These documents shall be available for inspection and copying by any interested person at the office of the Administrator during usual business hours.

4. Section 511.19 is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 511.19 Petitions.

Any interested person may at any time file a petition with the Administrator for an amendment to the regulations contained in this part. Any interested person may at any time file a petition with the Administrator for an amendment to a wage order applicable to him, provided: (a) The wage order establishes minimum rates of wages that are not equal to the minimum wage rate prescribed in paragraph (1) of section 6(a) of the Act, or (b) the petition concerns an activity not previously considered in arriving at the wage order. In view of the statutory requirement that the minimum rates of wages established by order under section 8 of the Act be reviewed by an industry committee at least biennially, substantial cause must be shown in support of any petition for an amendment of a wage order out of regular course. Any interested person may also file a petition at any time with the Administrator for a public hearing under section 13(e) of the Act to determine whether economic conditions warrant rules or regulations providing reasonable limitations or allowing reasonable variations, tolerances, or exemptions to or from any or all of the provisions of section 7 of the Act with respect to employees in American Samoa for whom the Secretary of Labor has established minimum wage rates under section 6(a)(3) of the Act and the regulations contained in this part. Whenever it appears to the Secretary of Labor, by reason of such a petition or otherwise, to be probable that such a hearing is likely to reveal that economic conditions warrant such action, notice of such hearing specifying the procedure to be followed will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(Sec. 5, 52 Stat. 1062, as amended; 29 U.S.C. 205)

Signed at Washington, D.C., this 28th day of December 1960.

CLARENCE T. LUNDQUIST,
Administrator.

Title 33—NAVIGATION AND NAVIGABLE WATERS

Chapter II—Corps of Engineers, Department of the Army

PART 203—BRIDGE REGULATIONS

Brandywine River, Del.

Pursuant to the provisions of Section 5 of the River and Harbor Act of August 18, 1894 (28 Stat. 362; 33 U.S.C. 499), § 203.230 governing the operation of drawbridges across Brandywine River, Delaware, is hereby revised to read as follows:

§ 203.230 Brandywine River, Del.; bridges.

(a) Seventh Street bridge, Wilmington, Del. (1) The owner of or agency controlling the bridge will not be required to keep a draw tender in constant attendance.

(2) The owner of or agency controlling the bridge shall provide the appliances and the personnel necessary for the safe, prompt and efficient opening of the draw at any time during the day or night, except as provided in subparagraph (5) of this paragraph, for the passage of any vessel or other watercraft which cannot pass under the closed draw, when the following signal is received: Three blasts of a whistle or horn. When the draw of the bridge can be opened immediately, the draw tender shall reply by two blasts of a whistle or horn. When the draw of the bridge cannot be opened immediately or when the bridge is open and is to be closed immediately, the draw tender shall reply by one blast of a whistle or horn.

(3) Vehicles shall not be stopped on the drawspan, in such manner as to delay the operation of the draw except in case of urgent necessity, nor shall vessels be moored to the bridge fenders or so maneuvered as to unnecessarily hinder or delay the closing of the draw, but all passage over, through, or under the bridge shall be prompt to avoid delay to either land or water traffic.

(4) The owner of or agency controlling the bridge shall provide and keep in good legible condition two board gauges painted white with black figures not less than 6 inches high, to indicate the headroom clearance under the closed span at all stages of the tide. These gauges shall be so placed on the ends of the drawspan fenders that they will be plainly visible to the navigators of a vessel approaching the bridge from either direction.

(5) At least 24 hours' advance notice will be required for opening this bridge at all times during January, February, March and December and between 8:00 p.m. and 6:00 a.m. from April to November, inclusive.

(i) Whenever a vessel unable to pass under the closed bridge desires to pass through the draw, advance notice, as specified, of the time the opening is required shall be given to the authorized representative of the owner of or agency controlling the bridge.

(ii) Upon receipt of such advance notice, the authorized representative of the owner of or agency controlling the bridge, in compliance therewith, shall arrange for the prompt opening of the draw at the time specified in the notice for the passage of the vessel.

(iii) The owner of or agency controlling the bridge shall keep conspicuously posted on both the upstream and downstream sides thereof, in such manner that it can easily be read at any time, a copy of the regulations in this paragraph together with a notice stating exactly how the representative specified in subdivision (i) of this subparagraph may be reached.

(iv) The operating machinery of the draw shall be maintained in a serviceable condition, and the draw shall be opened and closed at intervals frequent enough to make certain the machinery is in proper order for satisfactory operation.

(b) Pennsylvania Railroad bridge above Seventh Street and Highway bridges at Church Street and Sixteenth Street, Wilmington, Del. (1) The draws of these bridges need not be opened for the passage of vessels.

(2) The owners of or agencies controlling the bridges shall keep conspicuously posted on both the upstream and downstream sides of the respective bridges, in such manner that it can easily be read at any time, a copy of the regulations in this paragraph.

Effective date. This section shall become effective upon its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

PART 1—GENERAL PROVISIONS

Appeals From Decisions of Contracting Officers Under Construction, Architect-Engineer and Supply Contracts

1. A new centerhead is added immediately preceding § 1.770 to read as follows: "Appeals from Decisions of Contracting Officers under Construction, Architect-Engineer and Supply Contracts."

2. In § 1.770, the headnote and paragraphs (a) and (c) are amended to read as follows:

§ 1.770 Contract Appeals Board.

(a) Establishment. The Contract Appeals Board has been established in the Office of the Administrator to act as his duly authorized representative to hear and decide appeals of contractors under construction, architect-engineer and supply contracts.

• • • • • •

(c) Short title. The short title of the Board is VACAB.

• • • • • •

3. In § 1.711, paragraph (d) is amended to read as follows:

§ 1.771 Delegation of authority.

• • • • • •

(d) The Board is authorized to require Veterans Administration contracting officers and other Veterans Administration officials having responsibility for or official knowledge of the design of projects, or the award, administration or supervision of construction, architect-engineer or supply contracts, or of work performed thereunder, to furnish the Board such information, technical data, and similar assistance as the Board may require in the performance of its duties. In such event a copy of the request and of the reply will be furnished to the appellant.

• • • • • •

4. In § 1.773(a), subparagraph (1) is amended to read as follows:

§ 1.773 Rules of the Board.

(a) Rule 1; filing of appeals—(1) Notice. A contractor electing to appeal from a written decision of a contracting officer rendered under a construction, architect-engineer or supply contract which contains a clause providing for appeal shall file a written notice as provided in the contract and within the time specified therein.

• • • • • •

5. Section 1.775 is revised to read as follows:

§ 1.775 Effective dates.

(a) Construction, architect-engineer and related contracts. Sections 1.770 through 1.775 are effective for all appeals docketed on or after June 1, 1960. All appeals docketed prior to that date shall be governed by §§ 1.750 through 1.756.

(b) Supply contracts. Sections 1.770 through 1.775 are effective for all appeals docketed on or after January 1, 1961. All appeals docketed prior to that date shall be governed by §§ 1.760 through 1.765.

(72 Stat. 1114; 38 U.S.C. 210)

These regulations are effective January 1, 1961.

Title 41—PUBLIC CONTRACTS

Chapter 1—Federal Procurement Regulations

PART 1-5—SPECIAL AND DIRECTED SOURCES OF SUPPLY

Chapter 1 of Title 41 is amended as set forth below:

1. The part table of contents is amended by adding reference to Part 1-5, as follows:

1-5 Special and directed sources of supply.

2. New Part 1-5 is added to read as follows:

Subpart 1-5.1—[Reserved]
Subpart 1-5.2—[Reserved]
Subpart 1-5.3—[Reserved]
Subpart 1-5.4—[Reserved]
Subpart 1-5.5—[Reserved]
Subpart 1-5.6—[Reserved]
Subpart 1-5.7—[Reserved]
Subpart 1-5.8—[Reserved]

Subpart 1-5.9—Use of GSA Supply Sources by Prime Contractors in Performing Cost-Reimbursement Type Contracts

Sec.
1-5.900 Scope of subpart.
1-5.901 Policy.
1-5.902 Authorization to prime contractors.
1-5.903 Procedure for placing orders.
1-5.903-1 Orders under Federal Supply Schedule contracts.
1-5.903-2 Orders for GSA stores stock.
1-5.904 Furnishing information to contractors.
1-5.905 Payment for GSA stores stock.

AUTHORITY: §§ 1-5.900 to 1-5.905 issued under sec. 205(c), 63 Stat. 390; 40 U.S.C. 486(c).

Subpart 1-5.9—Use of GSA Supply Sources by Prime Contractors in Performing Cost-Reimbursement Type Contracts

§ 1-5.900 Scope of subpart.

This subpart prescribes policies and procedures for the guidance of Federal agencies in authorizing the use of General Services Administration (GSA) supply sources (Federal Supply Schedule contracts and GSA stores stock) by their prime contractors in performing cost-reimbursement type contracts (see § 1-3.404).

§ 1-5.901 Policy.

(a) When a Federal agency deems that it is in the best interest of the Government to do so, the agency shall authorize its prime contractors to utilize GSA supply sources in performing cost-reimbursement type contracts. Before issuing such an authorization the agency should determine the advantage to be obtained therefrom in the performance of such contracts in terms of price, delivery, contract administration, and any other significant factors, and shall take into account any recommendations of the prime contractor.

(b) Government prime contractors shall not be authorized to utilize GSA supply sources in connection with the performance of any fixed-price type contract, whether or not such contract provides for price adjustment, escalation, redetermination or modification, or cost-reduction incentive.

§ 1-5.902 Authorization to prime contractors.

(a) Authorization to prime contractors to utilize GSA supply sources shall be given only if title to property ordered under Federal Supply Schedule contracts will pass to and vest in the Government directly from the Federal Supply Schedule contractor (rather than through the prime contractor), and title to Government-owned property ordered from GSA stores stock will remain in the Government.

(b) Authorizations shall be in writing and shall cite the number of the cost-reimbursement type contract; specify any applicable limitations on the authority, including the period of eligibility; and contain any other pertinent information (e.g., requirements relative to ordering, receiving, inspection, and payment).

(c) Copies of each authorization shall be forwarded to the General Services Administration, Federal Supply Service, Office of Supply Operations, General Services Building, Washington 25, D.C., and to the GSA regional office serving the geographical area in which the facilities of the authorized prime contractor are located.

§ 1-5.903 Procedure for placing orders.

§ 1-5.903-1 Orders under Federal Supply Schedule contracts.

Orders placed by cost-reimbursement type prime contractors under Federal Supply Schedule contracts shall be placed in accordance with the provisions of the applicable Federal Supply Schedule and the authorization. They shall be accompanied by a copy of the authorization (unless a copy was previously furnished to the Federal Supply Schedule contractor) and shall contain a statement as follows:

This order is placed in behalf of the ____(insert name of authorizing Federal agency)____, in furtherance of U.S. Government contract No. ____(insert number of cost-reimbursement type contract)____, pursuant to written authorization dated ____ ____, [1]____. In the event of any inconsistency between the terms and conditions of this order and those of your Federal Supply Schedule contract, the latter will govern.

[1] Insert "a copy of which is attached," or "a copy of which you have on file," or other suitable language, as appropriate.

§ 1-5.903-2 Orders for GSA stores stock.

Orders placed by cost-reimbursement type prime contractors for GSA stores stock shall be placed in accordance with the authorization. They shall show the address to which billings are to be sent and shall contain a statement as follows:

This order is placed in behalf of the ____(insert name of authorizing Federal agency)____, in furtherance of U.S. Government contract No. ____(insert number of cost-reimbursement type contract)____, pursuant to written authorization dated____.

§ 1-5.904 Furnishing information to contractors.

Federal agencies shall assist their prime contractors authorized to use GSA supply sources in obtaining pertinent Federal Supply Schedules and the GSA Stores Stock Catalog and appropriate supplements thereto, and shall furnish them with any other helpful information.

§ 1-5.905 Payment for GSA stores stock.

Bills for GSA stores stock will not be rendered by GSA until after shipment has been made. Agencies should direct their cost-reimbursement type prime contractors to make prompt payment. Contractors should be given permission to pay any such bills upon receipt. Necessary adjustments will be made by GSA subsequent to payment.

Effective date. These regulations are effective April 1, 1961, but may be observed earlier.

Dated: December 27, 1960.

FRANKLIN FLOETE,
Administrator of General Services.

AUTHORITY: §§ 2-1.101 to 2-1.1004 issued under secs. 303, 313, 72 Stat. 747, 752; 49 U.S.C. 1344, 1354.

Subpart 2-1.1—Agency Procurement Regulations System

§ 2-1.101 Purpose.

This subpart establishes a system of Federal Aviation Agency Procurement Regulations (FAPR) for the codification and publication of policies and procedures for the procurement of services and personal property by the Federal Aviation Agency.

§ 2-1.102 Authority.

FAPR are issued in compliance with the Federal Procurement Regulations System prescribed by the Administrator of General Services under the Federal Property and Administrative Services Act of 1949.

§ 2-1.103 Relation to Federal Procurement Regulations System.

The Federal Procurement Regulations System is designed to bring together, under Title 41, Subtitle A, of the Code of Federal Regulations, the procurement regulations applicable to all civilian agencies of the Government. Federal Procurement Regulations (FPR) are Chapter 1. Chapter 2 is assigned for the procurement regulations of the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA). Chapters 3 through 49 will be used by other agencies. FPR (Chapter 1) is subdivided into 49 parts. Parts 1 through 49 of FAPR (Chapter 2) will be used to expand upon or modify the policies and procedures included in FPR. Material issued in the first 49 parts of FAPR will be numerically keyed to the corresponding sections of FPR. Parts 50 through 99 of FAPR will be used for procurement policies and procedures for which there is no counterpart in FPR. The numbering system established by § 1-1.007-2 of this title will be utilized to the maximum practicable extent in FAPR.

§ 2-1.104 Content.

The basic Chapter 2 will contain procurement policies and procedures, prescribed by the Assistant Administrator for Management Services, for uniform application throughout the Federal Aviation Agency. Subsidiary chapters shall be used by Heads of Bureaus and Offices to set forth significant Bureau or Office procurement policies or procedures which are considered to be of interest to the general public. Material which is only for internal guidance of a Bureau or Office may also be included in chapters assigned to them. Chapters for Bureau and Office use are assigned as follows:

Chapter 2A—Bureau of Facilities and Materiel
Chapter 2B—Bureau of Research and Development
Chapter 2C—Bureau of National Capital Airports
Chapter 2D—Office of Management Services (OMS)

§ 2-1.105 Applicability.

Except where a deviation is specifically authorized in accordance with § 2-1.110, Agency employees engaged in procurement activities shall comply with the policies and procedures set forth in FPR and FAPR unless they are optional by their terms. These regulations are not subject to the civil penalty provisions of section 901 of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. 1301).

§ 2–1.106 Exclusions.

Procurement policy or procedure which is expected to be in effect for less than six months or which is instituted on a trial basis will not be included in FAPR.

§ 2–1.107 Issuance.

§ 2–1.107–1 Internal.

FAPR will be published in loose-leaf form for distribution within the Federal Aviation Agency to procurement offices and others concerned. Requests to be placed on the distribution list, or for extra copies, should be addressed to the Printing Section of the Administrative Services Division, OMS.

§ 2–1.107–2 Public.

Those parts of FAPR which contain basic and significant policies and procedures considered to be of interest to the general public will be published in the daily issue of the FEDERAL REGISTER and, in cumulated form, in the Code of Federal Regulations. Copies of FAPR in FEDERAL REGISTER and Code of Federal Regulations form may be purchased by the public, at nominal cost, from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D.C.

§ 2–1.107–3 Coordination.

Responsibility for the development of the basic Chapter 2 of FAPR is assigned to the Materiel Policy Division, OMS. In developing the regulations that Division shall solicit the views of the Bureaus and Offices concerned. The Division shall also provide advice and assistance as required in the development and publication of material to be included in chapters assigned to Bureaus and Offices.

§ 2–1.108 Citation.

Any section of FAPR may be informally identified in internal instructions or correspondence by "FAPR" followed by the section number. Only those sections of the regulations which have been published in the FEDERAL REGISTER may properly be incorporated in contracts by reference. Such sections should be cited as "41CFR" followed by the section number as "41CFR 2–1.108".

§ 2–1.109 Bureau or office implementation.

Bureaus or Offices shall prepare for publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER such instructions, which implement or supplement FPR or FAPR, as are considered to be of interest to the general public. Such material shall be submitted to the Materiel Policy Division, OMS, for review and publication arrangements. Bureaus or Offices may issue additional detailed operating instructions, consistent with FPR and FAPR, using FAPR style and arrangement or such other format as they elect. A copy of each such instruction shall be furnished to the Materiel Policy Division, OMS.

§ 2–1.110 Deviation.

Deviations (as defined in § 1–1.009–1 of this title) shall be kept to a minimum and, with respect to FPR or the basic Chapter 2 of FAPR shall be controlled as follows:

(a) The principal contracting officers in the Washington offices of the Bureau of Facilities and Materiel and the Bureau of Research and Development are each authorized to approve deviation from FPR and FAPR in individual cases in connection with contracts entered into under their immediate supervision, when such action is clearly in the best interests of the Agency. A record of the nature of each such deviation and the justification for it shall be prepared and included in the contract file, with a copy being forwarded promptly to the Materiel Policy Division, OMS. All other deviations shall be approved in advance by the Materiel Policy Division, OMS, and handled in the following manner:

(b) Requests for deviation may be initiated by the principal contracting officer of any procuring activity of the Agency. A request shall cite the specific part or section of FPR or FAPR from which it is desired to deviate, shall set forth the nature of the deviation, and shall give the reasons why such action is considered necessary or desirable. Requests shall be routed through the head of the procuring activity (as defined in § 1–1.206 of this title) for concurrence or additional comments. If the initiating office is at a field location, the request shall also be routed through the cognizant Washington office of the Bureau concerned. After the indicated concurrence has been obtained, requests shall be submitted to the Materiel Policy Division, OMS.

(c) If a requested deviation is considered appropriate, approval will be accomplished as follows:

(1) Where the deviation applies to an individual case, approval will be granted by memorandum addressed to the requesting contracting officer with copies to interested offices. The case file of the requesting office shall include a copy of the request and approval.

(2) Where the deviation applies to a class of cases, necessary coordination with the General Services Administration will be accomplished by the Materiel Policy Division, OMS. The deviation may be issued as a part of FAPR, or the Bureau or Office concerned may be authorized to issue internal instructions which incorporate the deviation.

(d) The requesting office will be notified by memorandum, with copies to other interested offices, whenever a requested deviation is disapproved.

(e) In emergency situations involving individual cases, deviation clearance may be handled by telephone or telegraph and later confirmed in writing.

(f) Requests for deviation may be made at any time, but contracting officers are urged to review new FPR releases as they are issued so that requests for deviation can be considered prior to the effective date of the FPR.

Subpart 2–1.3—General Policies

§ 2–1.315 Use of liquidated damages provisions in procurement contracts.

§ 2–1.315–2 Policy.

(a) Determination, in accordance with § 1–1.315–2 of this title, as to the use of liquidated damages provisions in a contract, and of the rate of such damages, is the responsibility of the contracting officer. In making the determination, he shall be guided by information furnished by the requisitioning office and the following general policies.

(1) The Agency can be expected to suffer damages in an indeterminable amount, and liquidated damages provisions should therefore be used: (i) when compliance with the completion or delivery schedule in a proposed facility or equipment contract is necessary in order to meet established commissioning goals; or (ii) when the contract involves make-ready or pre-production engineering time to such an extent that commissioning goals could not be met if it became necessary to terminate for default and re-procure.

(2) Liquidated damages provisions will generally not be used: In contracts for supplies or services which are for administrative purposes or are "shelf" items normally available within 30 to 45 days from two or more sources; or, in any case where the needs of the Agency can be met by termination and re-procurement if a contractor defaults.

(3 A fixed precentage of value formula shall not be used to establish the rate of damages. The rate per day may be set, however, within a range of from one-twentieth of one percent to one-fifth of one percent of the value of the item contracted for, after consideration of such factors as: The importance of the item in relation to the facility or project for which it is intended; the number of facilities or projects involved; the relative importance of the facility or project in the over-all program of the Agency; the tightness of the contract schedule; and, any unusual damages that can be anticipated.

(4) To the maximum practicable extent, rates shall not be applied to individual units of an item, but rather to quantities of an item, or to groups of items, which are required for delivery or completion at the same time. Rates should generally be expressed in terms of even dollars per day of delay with a minimum of one dollar. Where rates are applied to quantities or groups, assessment of damages will not be prorated for delay of partial quantities.

(5) Unless unusual damages can be specifically anticipated in connection with a particular case, the rate of damages applied to the construction of substantially identical facilities shall be the same in all geographical areas.

(b) Positive follow-up on the contractor's performance and actions to eliminate delays shall be maintained at all times. Serious consideration shall be given to termination of the contract in any case where the accrued damages reach 15% of the contract value.

(c) Where liquidated damages provisions are used, they shall be strictly enforced. In making partial or progress payments, deductions for damages should be made on the basis of the actual number of days of delay multiplied by the rate. Exception may be made if the contractor has applied for an extension of time and provided sufficient information to permit a finding by the contracting officer, or if delays caused by the Government are clearly established. In such cases appropriate adjustments should be made and the contractor notified of the action taken. It is the contractor's responsibility to give notice of delays and to provide evidence to support any remission of damages or contract time extension.

Subpart 2–1.10—Publicizing Procurement Actions

§ 2–1.1003 Synopsis of proposed procurements.

(a) In order to encourage competition, it is the policy of the Federal Aviation Agency to utilize the Department of Commerce Synopsis to the maximum practicable extent. Use of the exceptions permitted by § 1–1.1003 of this title should be kept at a minimum; the exceptions being utilized only when there is clearly no useful purpose to be gained by publicizing the procurement. Procurements originating in Alaska and Hawaii shall be publicized in the Synopsis whenever bids are to be solicited from firms in the Continental United States.

(b) Procurement information shall be prepared and transmitted in accordance with § 1–1.1003–7 of this title. Originating offices served by the General Services Administration—Public Buildings Service teletypewriter system shall submit material through that system. All other offices shall use airmail.

§ 2–1.1004 Synopsis of contract awards.

Publicing of contract awards shall be in accordance with § 1–1.1004 of this title. It should be noted that awards exceeding $25,000 for work to be performed in any of the United States, including Alaska and Hawaii, are required to be published even though the proposed procurement may not have been publicized. Award information shall be submited by regular mail by all procurement offices except those in Alaska and Hawaii which shall use airmail.

2–2.406 Mistakes in bids.
2–2.406–3 Other mistakes disclosed before award.
2–2.406–4 Disclosure of mistakes after award.

AUTHORITY: §§ 2–2.203 to 2–2.406 issued under secs. 303, 313, 72 Stat. 747, 752; 49 U.S.C. 1344, 1354.

Subpart 2–2.2—Solicitation of Bids

§ 2–2.203 Methods of soliciting bids.

§ 2–2.203–1 Mailing or delivering to prospective bidders.

(a) Copies of invitations may be furnished for informational purposes to other non-governmental organizations such as trade associations, and bidding information services, provided they lend some assistance in advertising the requirements. The extent to which supporting papers (drawings, specifications and general provisions) are furnished, will depend on how the organizations intend to use the material. If they merely prepare a synopsis of bid solicitations for distribution to their members or subscribers, the invitation itself should suffice. If, however, they provide a reading room service (such as various trade associations do for construction projects), a complete set of all papers should be furnished without cost.

(b) In connection with invitations for construction, where the cost of reproduction and distribution of plans or drawings is a substantial cost item, the extent of distribution of bidding papers may be controlled by charging prospective contractors and sub-contractors a flat, non-refundable, plan fee. This method is preferred over the use of a refundable deposit system. When the plan fee method is used, arrangements should be made for plans and other bidding papers to be readily available for free inspection at the procurement office, other Federal Aviation Agency offices, trade association reading rooms, and similar locations. The non-refundable plan fee should be $5.00, $10.00, or $15.00 per set. The value of the project and the cost of reproduction and distribution of the plans should be considered in determining which amount is appropriate. No additional charge should be made for plans which are revised or added after the invitation is issued, or for additional plans required by the successful bidder. Plan fees collected are for deposit in the "Miscellaneous Receipts" account.

§ 2–2.203–3 Publicity in newspapers and trade journals.

General contracting authority does not include authority to order advertising in newspapers or periodicals. Where specific authority for such advertising has been delegated, paid advertisements in newspapers and trade journals and similar advertising media may be used to solicit bids for large construction projects (over $500,000) or for other projects where the Agency could not otherwise obtain the full benefit of available competition. Prices paid for advertising shall not exceed commercial rates charged to private individuals. Only Standard Forms SF–1143 and SF–1143a shall be used to place these orders. Paid advertising shall be accomplished in accordance with the procedures contained in Title 7, Chapter 5200, GAO Policy and Procedures Manual.

Title 44, U.S.C., 321 prohibits advertising in any newspaper published and printed in the District of Columbia unless the supplies or labor to be secured are to be furnished or performed in the District of Columbia or in the adjoining counties of Maryland and Virginia.

Subpart 2–2.4—Opening of Bids and Award of Contracts

§ 2–2.406 Mistakes in bids.

§ 2–2.406–3 Other mistakes disclosed before award.

(a) The Chief, Materiel Program Division, Bureau of Facilities and Materiel (BFM), Federal Aviation Agency, Washington, is the designated central authority to make the determinations set forth in § 1–2.406–3 of this title.

(b) Cases referred to the Chief, Materiel Program Division, BFM, shall be accompanied by the data prescribed in § 1–2.406–3(d)(3) of this title.

(c) When a determination has been made by the Chief, Materiel Program Division, the signed original will be forwarded to the contracting officer. All supporting documents submitted by the contracting officer, except his written statement, will be returned to him. The contracting officer shall withhold award action until he has received the signed determination or official notice thereof.

(d) Cases considered doubtful by the contracting officer shall be referred to the Chief Materiel Program Division. The Chief, Materiel Program Division will take appropriate action either to make a determination or to prepare a submittal, over his own signature, to the Comptroller General.

(e) Where a case clearly must be submitted to the Comptroller General for decision (either pursuant to a specific request from the contractor or because the case does not fall within the criteria set forth in § 1–2.406–3 of this title), it may, if urgent, be submitted directly to the Comptroller General by the contracting officer. The submittal shall be coordinated with Agency legal personnel available to the contracting office and shall be accompanied by substantially the same data as required by paragraph (b) of this section. A copy of the submittal letter shall be sent to the Chief, Materiel Program Division. If urgency is not a factor, the case shall be referred to the Chief, Materiel Program Division for submission by him to the Comptroller General.

§ 2–2.406–4 Disclosure of mistakes after award.

(a) Agency contracting officers are authorized to correct mistakes in the kinds of cases contemplated in § 1–2.406–4(a) of this title.

(b) The Chief, Materiel Program Division, Bureau of Facilities and Materiel, Federal Aviation Agency, Washington, is the designated central authority to make the determinations set forth in § 1–2.406–4(b) of this title.

(c) Cases referred to the Chief, Materiel Program Division, shall be accompanied by the data prescribed in § 1–2.406–4(f)(2) of this title.

(d) When a determination has been made by the Chief, Materiel Program Division, the signed original will be forwarded to the contracting officer. All supporting documents submitted by the contracting officer, except his written statement, will be returned to him. Upon receipt of the signed determination, the contracting officer shall take appropriate action to rescind or reform the contract or to notify the contractor that the award will stand as made.

(e) Where administrative determination is precluded by the limitations set forth in § 1-2.406-4 of this title, or where the contractor has specifically requested review by the Comptroller General, the case shall be referred to the Chief, Materiel Program Division. The Chief, Materiel Program Division will take appropriate action either to make a determination or to prepare, in coordination with the Office of the General Counsel, a submittal from the Administrator to the Comptroller General.

Subpart 2-3.8—Price Negotiation Policies and Techniques

AUTHORITY: §§ 2-3.403 to 2-3.808-3 issued under secs. 303, 313, 72 Stat. 747, 752; 49 U.S.C. 1344, 1354.

Subpart 2-3.4—Types of Contracts

§ 2-3.403 Fixed-price type contract.

§ 2-3.403-50 Fixed-price contract with redetermination.

(a) Description. The fixed-price contract with redetermination provides for negotiated adjustment of the initially negotiated contract price, based on costs incurred by the contractor up to the cut-off date specified by the contract. Providing for price redetermination seeks to eliminate or minimize the inclusion of contingency allowances in the price. A fixed-price contract with redetermination may be a maximum price contract, which provides for adjustment downward only, or a flexible price contract, which provides for adjustment upward to a set ceiling as well as downward. Price redetermination may be applied in a variety of ways depending upon the circumstances of the particular case. Paragraph (d) of this section describes the most commonly used methods.

(b) Applicability. Unless precluded by the limitations stated in paragraph (c) of this section, a fixed-price contract with redetermination should be selected in preference to a firm fixed-price contract when: (1) The contract is for a substantial amount, usually in excess of $250,000; (2) lack of previous production experience with the contract items prevents adequate price comparisons; (3) effective competition is lacking; and, (4) the quantity of material or labor required, or the extent of other major costs, cannot be determined with reasonable accuracy until some of the work has been accomplished.

(c) Limitations. Redetermination should not be used as a substitute for the negotiation of close initial prices. A fixed-price contract with redetermination should not be used when: a target price substantially free of contingencies, or a reasonable maximum price, cannot be initially negotiated; and, a firm fixed-price cannot be established at an early stage in the contract performance.

(d) Use. In the negotiating process, provision for price redetermination should be made when the contractor has presented his lowest proposal for a firm fixed-price contract but the negotiator believes that the price is still unreasonably high. Steps in the process and factors to be considered are:

(1) Price redetermination will usually be applied to the full quantity of the contract items or services (retroactive and forward redetermination). In situations where it is possible to establish fair and reasonable firm fixed-prices for an initial portion of the contract items or services but not for all, redetermination may be applied only to the subsequent portion which is subject to contingencies (forward redetermination).

(2) When the cost factors which cause the quoted price to be considered unreasonably high cannot be identified, for example, when contingencies appear to be buried in the overhead costs, a maximum price contract is indicated. Under this type the negotiator and the contractor agree upon the maximum price which will be paid and upon the time when redetermination will be made whether that price or a lower price will be paid.

(3) If major contingency factors in the quoted price can be readily identified, but the contractor is unwilling to eliminate them, a flexible price contract should be used. In such a case, the negotiator and the contractor agree upon a target price which is their best estimate of a fair and reasonable price with contingency factors reduced to a minimum. A ceiling price will also be agreed upon which takes into account a reasonable allowance for contingencies. The ceiling price should be set at a level which provides reasonable risk assumption by the contractor. The ceiling price usually should not be more than 10 percent above the target price. A ceiling price is subject to adjustment resulting solely from the operation of any contract clause which provides for equitable adjustment or other revision of the contract price because of changes or upon the occurrence of an event or contingency. The negotiator and the contractor will fix the redetermination time at which the price will be adjusted upward toward the ceiling or downward without limit.

(4) In establishing the redetermination time, at least two dates are involved. One is the cut-off date, usually set at the end of a month to permit more ready segregation of costs incurred. The cut-off date may be a specific date or it may be expressed in terms of the end of the month in which: there is delivery of a specified number of percentage of units; or, there has been incurred a specified percentage of the estimated cost or of the total dollar value of the contract. A date must also be established for submission by the contractor of his redetermination price proposal and supporting data. This should be within 30 days after the cut-off date. If redetermination applies to other than the entire contract, the applicable part must be identified and the dates when the new price becomes effective will be fixed. When there are different kinds of items in a contract, it may be desirable to have a separate redetermination for each. More than one redetermination may also be desirable for a long production run of the same item or where preproduction engineering constitutes a substantial part of the contract. Since the contractor has little incentive to keep his costs low prior to redetermination, it should be provided for at the earliest possible time consistent with the availability of sufficient factual data to permit the setting of a firm fixed-price. Except under very unusual circumstances the redetermination time should not be later than the incurrence of 40% of the estimated contract costs.

(5) Prompt redetermination at the specified time is an essential element of this type of contract. This requires assuring that the contractor submits his redetermination proposal and supporting data on time, obtaining appropriate audit service, and reaching agreement with the contractor on the firm fixed-price. The redetermination process should not be permitted to extend beyond 30 to 45 days after the date set for the contractor's submission of his proposal.

(6) If redetermination is to be included in contracts which provide for progress payments, the Progress Payment clause should reserve to the contracting officer the right to withhold or reduce progress payments and increase the liquidation rate when he believes such action is necessary to avoid overpayment. In connection with partial payments for deliveries made, if any substantial proportion of the contract items are to be delivered prior to redetermination, it may be necessary to provide, in the contract, for withholding or limiting payments to avoid overpayment and the necessity for obtaining refunds.

(e) Contract clause. Because of the variety of ways in which price redetermination may be applied, no standard price redetermination clause is prescribed. The clause to be used must be tailored to the circumstances involved in the particular procurement action. The following subjects should be appropriately covered:

(1) What part of the price, if any, is not subject to redetermination.

(2) Provision for a ceiling on the total amount to be paid under the contract.

(3) Provision of dates for cut-off and submission of redetermination proposal(s); and effective date of redetermination, if required.

(4) Description of way in which redetermination proposal shall be submitted and extent of supporting data, with reservation of right to require additional data.

(5) Provision for prompt redetermination negotiation and withholding of payments if redetermination proposal is not submitted at the required time and in proper detail.

(6) Provision for the maintenance of suitable accounts and records by the contractor and all subcontractors performing on other than a firm fixed-price basis; and for access by the Government, until three years after final payment under the prime contract, to the accounts and records of the contractor, of all first-tier subcontractors, and of all lower-tier subcontractors performing on other than a firm fixed-price basis. (This requirement is supplemental to the mandatory Examinations of Records clause contained in Standard Form 32.)

(7) Provision for certification by the contractor to the currency and accuracy of the cost data submitted in support of his redetermination proposal.

(8) Prohibition of cost-plus-percentage-of-cost subcontracting and provision for advance approval by the contracting officer of cost-plus-fee subcontracts and such other subcontracts as appropriate.

(9) Provision for contract modification to reflect the redetermined prices.

(10) Provision for limitation or withholding of payments and for refund of any overpayments.

(11) Provision that failure to agree on a redetermined price within a specified time (usually 60 days) after the date set for submission of the redetermination proposal shall be handled under the "Disputes" clause of the contract, and that the contracting officer's decision thereon shall constitute redetermination under the contract, subject only to the contractor's right of appeal.

§ 2-3.404 Cost-reimbursement type contracts.

§ 2-3.404-3 Cost-plus-fixed-fee contract.

(a) Limitations. In Agency cost-plus-fixed-fee contracts for architectural or engineering services relating to public works or utility projects, the fee shall not exceed the limitation established by section 304(b) of the Federal Property and Administrative Services Act of 1949. In other cost-plus-fixed-fee contracts, the fee (based on the estimated cost of the contract exclusive of fee, as determined at the time of entering into the contract) shall generally not exceed: 10% in contracts for experimental, developmental or research work; and 7% in all other contracts. Exceptions may be made only if justified by unusual circumstances and if advance written approval is obtained from the Head of the Bureau or Office in which the contract is to be executed. Under no circumstances may fees exceed the statutory limitations established by section 304(b) of the Federal Property and Administrative Services Act, which are: 15% for contracts for experimental, developmental, and research work; and 10% for all other contracts except those for architectural and engineering services. In accordance with § 1-3.401 of this title, the limitations contained in this section shall be applied to cost-plus-fixed-fee subcontracts under prime contracts which are on other than a firm fixed-price basis.

Subpart 2-3.8—Price Negotiation Policies and Techniques

§ 2-3.802 Preparation for negotiation.

(a) Price breakdowns. Contractors should be required to submit price breakdowns to support their proposals for negotiated contracts and contract modifications. In cases where contracting officers can make a reasonably accurate estimate of the material and labor required, in advance of receipt of the proposal, and the probable value of the contract or modification will not exceed $10,000 this requirement may be waived. If items covered by the contract are standard commercial type and comparison with list or market prices can be easily made, this requirement may also be waived. The contractor's price breakdown should list all of the cost elements considered and, in the case of production contracts, should include as a minimum: direct labor hours, and wage rates and trends, for both engineering and production type labor; engineering and production burden rates based on direct labor value or, where special circumstances justify, on machine hours; kind and cost of material (raw stock, shelf items, purchase parts, and subcontracted items); overhead rate (general and administrative); and profit. Requests for Proposals should clearly require that if additional cost elements are included in a proposal, they should be separately listed. Contracting officers should require such other support of burden, overhead, and wage rates as appear appropriate. In all cases, the right should be reserved to the contracting officer to request additional supporting data.

§ 2-3.808-3 Cost analysis.

(a) An analysis of the price breakdown submitted by the contractor shall be made whenever the conditions set forth in § 1-3.808-3(a) of this title exist. The extent of the analysis shall be that which, in the judgment of the contracting officer, will assure that the price to the Government, under the type of contract selected will be fair and reasonable. The case file of every negotiated contract shall include a statement by the contracting officer setting forth the basis on which the contract price was considered to be reasonable and a detailed analysis of the contractor's breakdown. If such an analysis is not made, the contracting officer will explain the basis for making an exception.

(b) The following factors should be considered in evaluating specific elements of costs to determine the reasonableness of price. If other elements in specific situations appear proper for analysis, they should also be used. Appropriate use should be made of available audit and engineering services.

(1) Direct labor hours. Where the contractor has produced similar or like items in the past, he should be required to relate the present proposal to his experience in the previous item. This should include comparison of direct labor hours for preliminary design, general engineering, production engineering, and production. If quality control is charged as a direct cost, the direct labor hours for this function should also be included. If like or similar items have been produced by another contractor, comparison with the current proposal should also be made. In the absence of being able to make either of the above comparisons, contracting officers should refer the direct labor proposal to his own engineering sources for review and recommendation.

(2) Wage rates and trends. Contractors should be required to provide current wage rates by type of direct labor included in the proposal. If the wage rates used exceed current rates, contractors should be required to show the basis for the change in trend.

(3) Burden rates. Contractors should be required to show the basis used in establishing whatever burden rates are included; such basis should relate to recent past experience and the reliability of projections should be supported.

(4) Material. Contractors should provide a listing, including prices and sources, of raw stock, purchase parts, and subcontracted items. The method, if any, for handling of spoilage and scrap should be explained. Where material costs are a significant part of the contract price, review and recommendations by Agency engineering personnel should be obtained.

(5) Tooling and test equipment. Proposals for production contracts should list and price any items of tooling and special test equipment required for performance. Negotiation should be directed toward having the contractor capitalize the cost of these items. Where this is impracticable, the reliability of the pricing should be examined, the disposition of any items paid for or furnished by the Government should be determined, and proper controls should be established.

(6) Pre-production costs. In proposed contracts for $100,000 or other involving "first-run" or "pre-production" quantities, separate breakdowns should be provided by the contractor of the start up or pre-production costs, and of the production costs.

(7) General and administrative costs. Contractors will indicate the basis on which general and administrative costs are calculated and distributed. Such presentation should indicate whether such costs are related to the value of direct labor, cost of sales or other.

(8) Other costs. Proposals should clearly establish the basis and necessity, if any, for special costs such as travel, sales commissions, royalties, or manufacturer's excise tax.

PART 2-9—PATENTS, DATA AND COPYRIGHTS

Subpart 2-9.50—Retention of Patent and Royalty Rights

Sec.
2-9.5000 Scope of project.
2-9.5001 Policy.

AUTHORITY: § 2-9.5000 and § 2-9.5001 issued under secs. 303, 313, 72 Stat. 747, 752; 49 U.S.C. 1344, 1354.

Subpart 2-9.50—Retention of Patent and Royalty Rights

§ 2-9.5000 Scope of project.

This Subpart codifies, in FAPR, Federal Aviation Agency Order 56, which sets forth the Agency policy with respect to the retention of rights and recovery of costs in connection with negotiated contracts where research or development is a significant part of the work.

§ 2-9.5001 Policy.

In negotiating contracts under which the Government pays a part of all of the costs of research or development, it is the policy of the Federal Aviation Agency to retain, for the benefit of the United States, rights to data and patent rights, in reasonable proportion to the contributions of the Agency and the contractor; and to recover the Federal Aviation Agency's contribution toward such research and development through royalties to the Government upon commercial exploitation of the products developed thereby.

Effective date. These regulations are effective immediately.

Dated: December 28, 1960.

Assistant Administrator for Management Services.

Chapter 5—General Services Administration

PART 5-1—GENERAL

Part 5-1 is amended by adding a new Subpart 5-1.52, to read as follows:

Subpart 5-1.52—Testing Articles and Commodities

Sec.
5-1.5201 General.
5-1.5202 Acceptance testing.
5-1.5203 Certification testing.
5-1.5204 Qualification (QPL) testing.
5-1.5205 Research or development testing.

AUTHORITY: §§ 5-1.5201 to 5-1.5205 issued under sec. 205(c), 63 Stat. 390; 40 U.S.C. 486(c).

Subpart 5-1.52—Testing Articles and Commodities

§ 5-1.5201 General.

(a) Articles testing is conducting to determine conformance with specification and standard requirements and to aid in the development of new or revised specifications and standards. This subpart establishes certain types of article testing, including the facilities therefor, and prescribes policy regarding the fixing and collection of fees for such testing.

(b) The facilities of the General Services Administration, other Federal agencies, independent testing laboratories, manufacturers and others, as appropriate, may be used in the conduct of tests.

§ 5-1.5202 Acceptance testing.

(a) Acceptance testing is conducted to determine conformance with requirements of purchase descriptions or specifications before a shipment is accepted. Such testing shall not be undertaken solely for the purpose of furnishing information to a producer or vendor as to conformance of his article or commodity with specification requirements.

(b) Normally, the cost of services for acceptance testing of representative samples of a shipment shall be borne by GSA. However, if the samples tested fail to meet the requirements of the specification or purchase description, the contractor shall be required to pay any additional costs incurred as a result of such failure. Consequently, where it is anticipated that testing may be required, the contract shall contain a specific provision for charging contractors with any additional test costs.

(c) The contracting officer shall, upon request, inform the contractor of test charges involved when testing will be performed by a Federal Supply Service testing laboratory. When a testing facility other than a Federal Supply Service laboratory performs all or part of the required tests, the contractor shall be assessed the actual amount of the costs incurred by the Government as a result of testing in such a facility.

§ 5-1.5203 Certification testing.

(a) Certification testing is conducted to determine conformance of an article or commodity with a specification requirement for the purpose of executing a certificate of compliance where such certification is called for by the specification.

(b) A certificate of compliance with specification requirements from a recognized laboratory may be a requirement in a Federal Specification. When there is a lack of suitable commercial testing facilities, producers or vendors may obtain such certification from a Government laboratory such as the National Bureau of Standards, and shall be required to bear the cost of such testing, including all components of such cost. GSA will arrange for the required testing upon receipt of a request from a producer or vendor and payment of the required test fee.

§ 5-1.5204 Qualification (QPL) testing.

(a) Qualification testing is conducted to determine conformance of an article or commodity with the qualification requirements of a specification for inclusion of the article or commodity in a Qualified Products List (QPL).

(b) Where such tests will serve predominantly the interest of producer or vendor, GSA shall fix the test fee in such an amount as will recover the cost of conducting such test, including all components of such cost, determined in accordance with accepted accounting principles. Usually the producer or vendor shall be required to bear the cost of testing to qualify an article or commodity for inclusion in a qualified products list, except when it is determined that making such tests will not serve predominantly the interest of the producer or vendor. This may be the case where adequate competition has not been developed in industry because of the issuance of an insufficient number of qualification approvals or sources of supply have not been sufficiently established to assure availability. Where it is determined that making such tests will not serve predominantly the interest of the producer or vendor, GSA shall determine the test fee in an amount determined to be reasonable, giving due consideration to the interests of the Government.

(c) Normally, payment shall be made to the General Supply Fund and appropriate reimbursement shall be made by GSA to an agency whose laboratory conducted the tests. In certain cases the producer or vendor may be required to submit his product to one or more independent testing laboratories approved by GSA. In such cases, the producer or vendor may be directed to pay the testing fee directly to the laboratory which conducted the test.

(d) The original and four copies of all OPL test reports, where testing is conducted outside of GSA facilities, shall be forwarded to and be retained in GSA.

§ 5-1.5205 Research or development testing.

(a) Research or development testing is conducted to determine whether a new article or commodity which is not covered by an existing specification may be suitable for Government use or to aid in the development of contemplated specifications and standards.

(b) Where tests are conducted in the development of specifications or standards, those procedures in § 5-1.5204 (b) and (c) pertaining to test fees shall apply.

Effective date. These regulations are effective immediately.

Dated: December 23, 1960.

FRANKLIN FLOETE,
Administrator.

Chapter 9—Atomic Energy Commission

GENERAL; PROCUREMENT BY NEGOTIATION

The following regulations are added to this chapter:

PART 9-1—GENERAL

Subpart 9-1.3—General Policies, Specifications and Standards

Sec.
9-1.305-1 Mandatory use of Federal Specifications.
9-1.305-3 Deviations from Federal Specifications.
9-1.305-5 Use of Federal and Interim Federal Specifications in construction of contracts.
9-1.306-1 Mandatory use and applications of Federal Standards.
9-1.307 Purchase descriptions.
9-1.350 AEC Specifications and Standards.
9-1.350-1 Special Specifications and Standards.
9-1.350-2 AEC Design Criteria.
9-1.351 Distribution of Federal Specifications and Standards.
9-1.352 Index of Military (Army, Navy, Air Force) Specifications and Standards.

Subpart 9-1.5—Contingent Fees

9-1.500 Scope of subpart.
9-1.501 Applicability.
9-1.507 Use of Standard Form 119.
9-1.507-1 Form prescribed.

Subpart 9-1.11—Qualified Products

9-1.1101 Procurement of Qualified Products.
9-1.1150 Distribution of Qualified Products Lists.

AUTHORITY: §§ 9-1.305-1 to 9-1.1150 issued under sec. 161(q), 70 Stat. 1069; 42 U.S.C. 2201(q). Implement and supplement sec. 205(c), 63 Stat. 390; 40 U.S.C. 486(c).

Subpart 9-1.3—General Policies, Specifications and Standards

§ 9-1.305-1 Mandatory use of Federal Specifications.

The policies and procedures established by FPR 1-1.305 shall be complied with by AEC for all direct procurement except as provided in § 9-1.305-5 below. Managers of Operations are responsible for obtaining compliance on the part of cost-type contractors with the policies and procedures set forth in this subpart to the extent practicable and compatible with meeting program objectives, except AEC contractors must use paper specification standards published by the Joint Committee on Printing for the purchase of paper to be used in contractor-operated field printing plants authorized by the Joint Committee on Printing.

§ 9-1.305-3 Deviations from Federal Specifications.

Subject to the requirements of FPR 1-305.3, Managers of Operations, Heads of Divisions and Offices, Headquarters, or their representatives specifically designated for this purpose, may authorize deviations from Federal Specifications in connection with AEC direct procurement. In those cases where use of Federal Specifications are required under § 9-1.305-1 above, information required by FPR 1-1.305-3(5) with respect to deviations shall be forwarded through channels to the Director, Division of Construction and Supply.

§ 9-1.305-5 Use of Federal and Interim Federal Specifications in construction contracts.

When specifications for AEC construction are prepared by private firms, Managers of Operations and Heads of Divisions or Offices, Headquarters, are responsible for obtaining compliance with this policy to the extent practicable and compatible with meeting program objectives.

§ 9-1.306-1 Mandatory use and applications of Federal Standards.

The policies and procedures established by FPR 1-1.306 for the development and use of Federal Standards shall be complied with by AEC to the same extent as provided for Federal Specifications in § 9-1.305-1, 3, 5 above.

§ 9-1.307 Purchase descriptions.

Specifications should be in such terms as to permit full and free competition among all potential suppliers. However, technical reasons may occasionally exist for using specifications which limit competition by requiring certain types of material or articles, such as replacement parts, auxiliary equipment and tools required for use with major equipment. Restrictive specifications may be used to meet special requirements, provided, (a) AEC needs cannot reasonably be met in any other manner, and (b) a complete justification for the restriction is reduced to writing and included in the contract file.

§ 9-1.350 AEC Specifications and Standards.

§ 9-1.350-1 Special Specifications and Standards.

When special specifications or standards are used by an Operations Office or Headquarters on a recurring basis or used by two or more Operations Offices or contractors, consideration should be given to converting them to Departmental specifications. Accordingly, contracting officers are urged to bring to the attention of the Director, Division of Construction and Supply, any such special specifications which they believe may be of use to more than one Operations Office. The Division of Construction and Supply will notify field offices of the existence of any AEC specification.

§ 9-1.350-2 AEC Design Criteria.

Part 6300 AEC Manual, Design Criteria, shall be complied with in the preparation of specifications for construction work.

§ 9-1.351 Distribution of Federal Specifications and Standards.

AEC does not maintain a central distribution point for specifications and standards. Index of Federal Specifications and Standards may be obtained by submission of an order direct from field offices to the Stores Division, Federal Supply Service, GSA, Region 3, 7th and D Streets SW., Washington 25, D.C. Copies of Federal Specifications and Standards may be obtained in the same manner. In emergency cases, when time does not permit obtaining copies from the above source, single copies may be obtained without charge from any GSA Regional Office Business Service Center. Contractors not authorized to purchase from Government sources of supply may obtain the index and copies of Federal Specifications and Standards from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D.C.

Operations Offices and Headquarters shall maintain current copies of these indexes and supplements and shall maintain files of current copies of Federal Specifications and Standards covering all items which are purchased on a recurring basis for which specifications or standards are available. Managers of Operations are responsible for assuring the availability of the indexes and Federal Specifications and Standards to cost-type contractors.

§ 9-1.352 Index of Military (Army, Navy, Air Force) Specifications and Standards.

May be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D.C. Copies of Specifications and Standards are ordered from the cognizant Military activity developing each particular specification or standard.

Subpart 9-1.5—Contingent Fees

§ 9-1.500 Scope of subpart.

This subpart prescribes the use by AEC of the "covenant against contingent fees" and sets forth the policies in regard to AEC direct procurement and cost-type contractor procurement.

§ 9-1.501 Applicability.

(a) AEC direct procurement. The provisions and policies of FPR 1-1.5 shall apply to all AEC direct procurement.

(b) Cost-type contractor procurement. Heads of Divisions and Offices, Headquarters, and Managers of Operations shall assure that a "covenant against contingent fees," comparable to that which appears in AEC direct contracts, is incorporated in all subcontracts entered into by AEC cost-type contractors.

§ 9-1.507 Use of Standard Form 119.

§ 9-1.507-1 Form prescribed.

Each Standard Form 119 completed in connection with an AEC direct contract, together with other relevant information, shall be reviewed by the Office of the General Counsel (or the Office of the Chief Counsel in the field) prior to the initiation of appropriate action. An information copy of each such form, together with a record of action taken, shall be forwarded to the Director, Office of Contract Policy, Headquarters.

Subpart 9-1.11—Qualified Products

§ 9-1.1101 Procurement of qualified products.

This subpart prescribes policies and procedures for the procurement of qualified products from lists of such products established by the Government. These procedures are applicable to AEC direct procurement and, to the extent authorized by the Contracting Officer, to cost-type contractor procurement.

Whenever procurement of qualified products is to be made by formal advertising, AEC contracting officers shall insert in invitations for bids the provision contained in FPR 1-1.11(b). This provision may be modified by AEC contracting officers with the advice of Counsel for their use in requests for proposals.

§ 9-1.1150 Distribution of qualified products lists.

Qualified products lists are distributed by GSA directly to Headquarters and Operations Offices. These lists shall be redistributed by contracting officers only to those persons authorized to use them. Such persons may include responsible procurement personnel of cost-type contractors. The contents of such lists shall not be divulged to unauthorized persons. AEC contracting officers shall maintain records of the distribution of the lists. Extra copies may be obtained through the Office of Contract Policy, Headquarters.

PART 9–3—PROCUREMENT BY NEGOTIATION

Subpart 9–3.6—Small Purchases

Sec.
9–3.600 Scope of subpart.
9–3.603–2 Data to support small purchases.
9–3.604 Imprest funds (petty cash) method.
9–3.604–3 Agency responsibilities.
9–3.605–1 Standard Form 44.
9–3.605–2 Standard Forms 147 and 148.

AUTHORITY: §§ 9–3.600 to 9–3.605–2 issued under sec. 161(q), 70 Stat. 1069; 42 U.S.C. 2201(q). Implement and supplement sec. 205(c), 63 Stat. 390; 40 U.S.C. 486(c).

Subpart 9–3.6—Small Purchases

§ 9–3.600 Scope of subpart.

The policies and procedures for the purchase of supplies and non-personal services from commercial sources when the aggregate amount involved in any one transaction does not exceed $2,500 shall be those prescribed in FPR 1–3.6. They are applicable only to AEC direct procurement. However, in developing procurement policies and procedures with cost reimbursement-type contractors, Managers of Operations should encourage adoption of comparable procedures in order to keep the administrative cost of small purchases to a minimum consistent with good business practices.

§ 9–3.603–2 Data to support small purchases.

The manner of securing quotations and the nature and extent of documentation to be required for small purchases are for determination by Heads of Divisions and Offices, Headquarters, and Managers of Operations, but should be limited to a minimum consistent with the objective of reducing the cost of handling small purchases. Normally, confirmation of purchase orders issued after the material has been received should not be required unless such confirmation is requested by the supplier. Documentation can be accomplished by the purchaser and receiver endorsing the invoice.

§ 9–3.604 Imprest funds (petty cash) method.

§ 9–3.604–3 Agency responsibilities.

The procedures for the establishment and use by the AEC of imprest funds are set forth in AEC Manual 1120–13.

§ 9–3.605–1 Standard Form 44.

The use of Standard Form 44 is optional within the AEC. Contracting and procurement officers shall be held accountable for books of Standard Form 44 issued to them. Heads of Divisions and Offices, Headquarters, and Managers of Operations shall issue detailed instructions, consistent with the provisions in Standard Form 44 and FPR 1–3.605–1, providing for accountability and safeguarding of the forms when used. Contracting and procurement officers, when using this form, will obtain any necessary obligation of funds and will limit procurement actions to items not otherwise restricted by law or regulation.

§ 9–3.605–2 Standard Forms 147 and 148.

The use of Standard Forms 147 and 148 is optional within the AEC. When in the judgment of the Director, Headquarters Services, or Managers of Operations the use of the forms will simplify the procurement process, they may authorize the use of the forms.

These regulations are effective January 1, 1961.

Dated at Germantown, Md., this 8th day of December 1960.

For the Atomic Energy Commission.

A. R. LUEDECKE,
General Manager.

PART 9–2—PROCUREMENT BY FORMAL ADVERTISING

Sec.
9–2.000 Scope of part.
9–2.102 Policy.
9–2.105–50 Prebidding conferences.
9–2.2 Solicitation of bids.
9–2.201(b)(10) Preparation of invitation for bids.
9–2.202–50 Postponement of bid openings.
9–2.203–3(b) Paid advertisements.
9–2.4 Opening of bids and award of contract.
9–2.401 Receipt and safeguarding of bids.
9–2.402 Opening of bids.
9–2.406 Mistakes in bids.
9–2.406–4 Disclosure of mistakes after award.
9–2.407 Award.
9–2.407–1 General.
9–2.407–50 Government estimates.
9–2.407–8 Protests against award.
9–2.408 Information to bidders.

AUTHORITY: §§ 9–2.000 to 9–2.408 issued under sec. 161(q), 70 Stat. 1069; 42 U.S.C. 2201(q). Implement and supplement sec. 205(c), 63 Stat. 390; 40 U.S.C. 486(c).

§ 9–2.000 Scope of part.

This part implements and supplements the requirements for procurement of personal property and non-personal services (including construction) by formal advertising set forth in FPR 1–2.

§ 9–2.102 Policy.

(a) Procurement by formal advertising for AEC direct procurement shall be followed, except where negotiation is authorized by the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended, or the Federal Property and Administrative Services Act of 1949, as amended. Direct AEC procurement of supplies and services by formal advertising shall comply with the requirements of this part and FPR 1–2.

(b) Procurement by cost-type contractors shall be effected by methods calculated to assure such full and free competition as is consistent with securing the required supplies or services. While exact compliance with the practices and procedures set forth in this part and FPR 1–2 is not required of such contractors, they should be followed to the greatest extent practicable in order to assure the award of business on an impartial basis. AEC contracting officers shall use the substantive provisions of this part and FPR 1–2 as a guide or standard in reviewing procurement practices and procedures of cost-type contractors.

§ 9–2.105.50 Prebidding conferences.

Wherever considered advantageous, prebidding conferences should be held with prospective bidders, and their suppliers, prior to receipt of bids to outline principal features of a construction project; to answer questions and to identify any ambiguity or obscurity concerning the proposed construction and the plans and specifications; and to solicit suggested changes in design or in special conditions of the contract which would result in more economical construction. Changes or clarifications found to be necessary as a result of a prebidding conference shall be included in addenda to the invitation for bids.

§ 9–2.2 Solicitation of bids.

§ 9–2.201(b)(10) Preparation of invitations for bids.

When an option to increase or decrease the quantities specified is employed, the percentage inserted in the option should not normally exceed 25 percent and in no event shall it exceed 50 percent without prior authorization of the Director of the Headquarters division or office concerned. The following language is suggested for incorporation in invitations for bids:

> The Government reserves the right to increase or decrease the quantity specified in any item of the schedule by _____ per cent without change in the unit price, if at any time during the life of the contract such an increase or decrease shall be determined to be in the interests of the Government.

When the contract contains a provision for termination for convenience of the Government, the words "or decrease" in the option may be deleted.

§ 9–2.202–50 Postponement of bid openings.

(a) Whenever such action is determined by the contracting officer to be in the best interest of the Government, bid openings may be postponed by issuance and distribution to all prospective bidders of an amendment (see FPR 1–2.207) to the invitation for bids. Notices of postponement shall be issued by mail or telegraph as early as possible, but in any event prior to the time specified for the opening of bids.

(b) Bid openings shall be postponed when an important segment of prospective bidders requests additional time for filing their bids, or the contracting officer is on notice, or has reason to believe, that the specified opening date is not appropriate or is not conducive to the maximum practicable competition.

(c) Bid openings may be postponed, if determined by the contracting officer to be practicable and in the best interests of the Government, when the contracting officer has reason to believe that the bids of an important segment of bidders have been delayed in the mails for causes beyond their control, and without fault or negligence of the bidders concerned, such as, but not limited to, flood, fire, accident, heavy snow, or strikes.

§ 9–2.203–3(b) Paid advertisements.

When it is deemed necessary to use paid advertisements in newspapers, written authority for such publication shall be obtained from the Manager of Operations or the Director of the Headquarters division or office concerned.

§ 9–2.4 Opening of bids and award of contract.

§ 9–2.401 Receipt and safeguarding of bids.

Envelopes, or other outer covering, containing identified bids shall be time-stamped (indicating the place, date, and time of receipt) upon receipt, either in a mail room or other receiving point at the address specified in the invitation.

§ 9–2.402 Opening of bids.

At the bid opening, the relative merits of any bids shall not be discussed by the person opening the bids, or the contracting officer, with the bidders, their representatives, or with casual observers. No statements shall be issued by the bid opener or the contracting officer at a bid opening bearing on the award, the possibility of a readvertisement, mistakes in bids, etc. No oral instructions shall be given to bidders at any time during the opening. Protests of bidders and inquiries regarding the award of contract shall be referred to the contracting officer after the completion of the bid opening procedure.

§ 9–2.406 Mistakes in bids.

Pursuant to FPR 1–2.406–3(b), the Director, Office of Contract Policy, is delegated authority to make the determinations under FPR 1–2.406–3. Mistakes in bids prior to award (other than obvious clerical errors) shall be submitted to the Director, Office of Contract Policy, Headquarters, through the division or office director concerned, accompanied by the data set forth in Part 1–2.406–3(d)(3). The Director, Office of Contract Policy, will promptly notify the contracting officer of the course of action to be taken.

§ 9–2.406–4 Disclosure of mistakes after award.

(a) For AEC direct procurement. If a mistake in bid is alleged after award, the bidder shall be requested to furnish evidence in explanation of the mistake. Such evidence shall be referred, through the director of the division or office concerned, to the Division of Finance, Headquarters, for appropriate action.

(b) For cost-type contractor procurement. (1) Mistakes not in excess of $500. AEC cost-type contractors may correct mistakes (obvious clerical errors in any amount may be corrected informally) in connection with bids and subcontracts, provided:

(i) The mistake is not in excess of $50.00; or

(ii) The mistake is in excess of $50.00, but not in excess of $500.00, and the prior written approval of the AEC contracting officer has been obtained.

(2) All other alleged mistakes in contractor procurement.

(i) In any case of alleged mistake not covered by (b)(1) above where the Manager of Operations, subject to his delegated contractual authority, and with the advice of AEC counsel, determines that (a) relief would be granted under applicable law, and (b) part or all of any cost resulting from granting relief is allowable under the terms of the prime contract, the Manager of Operations may approve the granting of relief and approve the costs determined to be allowable under the prime contract. If either of the above determinations cannot be made, the Manager of Operations may deny the relief requested or deny reimbursement or credit for the resulting cost or he may refer the request with all supporting data and his recommendation through the division director concerned to the Division of Finance, Headquarters.

(ii) In determining whether relief should be granted pursuant to (2)(i) above, in cases where the subcontract was executed or the work continued after assertion of the alleged mistake, the Manager of Operations may consider the merits of the alleged mistake as of the time it was asserted, provided the subcontract was executed or the work continued pursuant to an understanding that in so doing, the subcontractor was not waiving any rights.

(iii) The relief granted under (2)(i) above may in cases where rescission is an appropriate remedy, be authorization of a modification in specified amounts, or terms or conditions approved by the Manager of Operations in lieu of rescission.

(3) Information required to substantiate corrections.

(i) In support of corrections made under authority of (b)(1) above, a written statement signed by the cost-type contractor shall be placed in the file setting forth:

(a) The relevant information respecting the mistake including a copy of the claim of mistake together with any supporting documents;

(b) A determination by the cost-type contractor that the mistake was made in good faith, and is of the type that would be corrected under the cost-type contractor's normal practices and procedures;

(c) The mistake is of such a nature that correction thereof is justified by considerations of fair dealing, having regard for such factors as the degree of care exercised by the claimant and the diligence of the claimant in discovering and asserting the mistake;

(d) That the contract price as corrected does not exceed the second lowest bid where procedures similar to those of formal advertising were followed; and

(e) That the correction is made pursuant to § 9–2.406–4(b).

(ii) In cases referred to in (b)(1)(ii) above, there shall be attached to the information submitted by the cost-type contractor, as required by paragraph (3)(i) above, a written finding by the AEC contracting officer that there is adequate evidence to support the assertion of a mistake and that the proposed correction appears to be fair and reasonable.

(iii) In support of corrections made under authority of (b)(2) above, Managers of Operations shall make a written justification in support of a determination that (a) relief would be granted under applicable law, and (b) part or all of any costs resulting from granting relief is allowable under the terms of the prime contract.

(4) Submissions to the Director of Finance, Headquarters, shall be accompanied by the data set forth in FPR 1–2.406–3(d)(3).

§ 9–2.407 Award.

§ 9–2.407–1 General.

Awards for construction services shall not be made to other than the low bidder as to price, except with the written approval of the Director of the Headquarters division or office concerned, the Manager of Operations or, if they authorize, the written approval of the Contract Review Board.

§ 9–2.407–50 Government estimates.

For construction contracts and subcontracts under cost-type contracts, a Government estimate of costs shall be prepared prior to opening of bids in order to determine the reasonableness of bids received. The services of the architect-engineer, operating contractor, or construction contractor will be used as appropriate in the preparation of such estimates.

§ 9–2.407–8 Protests against award.

After providing the Comptroller General with a notice of intent to make an award, and formal or informal advice is obtained concerning the current status of the case (see FPR 1–2.407–8(b)(2)), the contracting officer shall obtain approval of his superior officer to make an award where a protest has been submitted to the Comptroller General and it is necessary to make an award before the matter is resolved.

§ 9–2.408 Information to bidders.

With respect to cost-type contractors, Managers of Operations are responsible for assuring compliance with the requirements of FPR 1–2.408. In the event that cost-type contractors find such requirements unacceptable because they are inconsistent with established commercial practices, the release of award information as prescribed by FPR 1–2.408 shall be accomplished by the Operations Office concerned.

These regulations are effective January 1, 1961.

Dated at Germantown, Maryland, this 9th day of December 1960.

Title 47—TELECOMMUNICATION

Chapter I—Federal Communications Commission

[Docket No. 13767(RM-190, 193); FCC 60-1553]

PART 3—RADIO BROADCAST SERVICES

Television Broadcast Stations (Susanville, Alturas and Redding, Calif.)

1. The Commission has before it for consideration the notice of proposed rule making (FCC 60-1064) issued in this proceeding on September 12, 1960, in response to conflicting petitions to amend § 3.606, Table of Assignments, Television Broadcast Stations.

2. Petitioner, California-Oregon Television, Inc. (hereinafter referred to as Cal-Ore), licensee of television Station KIEM-TV, Eureka, California, on July 6, 1960, filed a request (RM-190) to amend the Table of Assignments as follows:

City	Channel No.
	Present	Proposed
Alturas, Calif.	9	13-
Redding, Calif.	7	7, 9
Eureka, Calif.	13-	13
Twin Falls, Idaho	13-	13+
Eugene, Oreg.	13	13+
LaGrande, Oreg.	13+	13

3. Petitioner, Cal-Ore, urges the reallocation of Channel 9 from Alturas to Redding on the ground that Channel 9 is not occupied by an operating station in Alturas; that no application has been filed for the use of Channel 9; and that the proposed allocation of Channel 13- to Alturas will retain a VHF TV outlet for Alturas, which can be utilized in the future. In addition, Cal-Ore urges the reallocation on the ground that the reassignment of Channel 9 will make possible the institution of a second local VHF outlet in Redding, thus providing competitive television service to that city and its environs; that the Redding area needs and can support a second VHF station; that the addition of a second channel to Redding will improve the program service now offered by making available more local programs and a full schedule of network shows and shows of national importance; that the requested reallocation comports with all of the Commission's Rules with respect to existing standards and mileage separations and will not affect the service of any existing station. Finally, Cal-Ore states that if the allocation of a second TV channel to Redding is approved it intends to file application for authority to operate a station on said channel.

4. On August 16, 1960, James E. McKahan, licensee of Radio Station KSUE at Susanville, California, and Shasta Telecasting Corporation (hereinafter referred to as Shasta), licensee of Station KVIP-TV (Channel 7) at Redding, California, filed a conflicting petition (RM-193) which requests the following amendment of the Table of Assignments:

City	Channel No.
	Present	Proposed
Alturas, Calif.	9	13+
Susanville, Calif.	- -	9

Petitioners McKahan and Shasta also suggest that with the assignment of Channel 13+ to Alturas, Station KOVR at Stockton, California, change its operation from 13+ to 13 even.

5. Petitioners Shasta and McKahan support their request to move Channel 9 to Susanville rather than to Redding on the ground that the community of Susanville receives no direct television service; that the establishment of a local television channel would provide the community with access to network and other programs of national and regional importance; that the advent of a first local television station would make available to the local business community an additional advertising media to supplement the local radio station and weekly newspaper; that the proposed substitution of Channel 13 for Channel 9 in Alturas would not deprive Alturas of any service should an application for new television facilities be filed for that community; that the proposed change conforms with all of the Commission's Rules with respect to existing standards and mileage separations; and that if the Shasta-McKahan proposal is accepted, petitioners intend to file an application for authorization to operate a station on Channel 9 in Susanville.

6. Comments and reply comments were filed by petitioners Cal-Ore and McKahan-Shasta, and by Golden Empire Broadcasting Company, licensee of Station KHSL-TV, Chico, California, in opposition to the petition of Cal-Ore. The Commission also received a letter from Antenna-Vision, Inc., the operator of a cable TV system in Susanville. After careful consideration, the Commission is now prepared to render a decision herein.

7. Susanville is located in the southern part of Lassen County which in turn is situated in northeastern California. Preliminary census data indicates a population of 5,559 for the city in 1960 and a population of 13,497 for the county. These figures represent a gain of 4.1 percent (from 5,338) for the city and a loss of 26.9 percent (from 18,474) for the county compared to the 1950 figures. Susanville is presently served by the local radio station, KSUE, operated by McKahan, and a weekly newspaper. A CATV system is subscribed to by 972 homes and makes available KOLO-TV, Reno (NBC, CBS, ABC) KHSL-TV, Chico (CBS), and KCRA-TV, Sacramento (NBC). KOLO-TV, Reno and KCRA-TV, Sacramento, are also available through the UHF translator operations of K70CC and K72AJ which serve Susanville and the surrounding area. While Shasta and McKahan admit that Susanville is not a large community (they estimate that the proposed VHF channel would serve from eight to nine thousand people at the present time), petitioners insist that the area has "great promise of extensive growth in the immediate future". McKahan, as manager of the local radio station, has observed the area and feels that the time is ripe for the operation of a local television station. He has been supported by various local groups and individuals who approve the attempt to bring local TV broadcasting to Susanville.

8. Redding is situated in the northern end of the Sacramento Valley in the southern part of Shasta County. The population of Redding is 12,601, up from 10,256 in 1950. Shasta County's population has increased 61.6 percent since 1950 and now stands at 58,830. The entire northern part of the Sacramento Valley comprising the Redding-Chico market has experienced similar growth. Chico, some 60 miles to the south of Redding in Butte County, has grown from 12,272 to 14,591 in the decade; and the population of Butte County has increased 25 percent. Tehama County, which lies between Shasta and Butte Counties has grown some 31 percent to 25,330. Shasta (licensee of KVIP-TV, Redding) itself has published figures from Standard Rate and Data Service which indicate that the Redding-Chico market has increased 11.3 percent (288,200 to 321,000) from May 1956 to June 1959. KVIP-TV, Channel 7, presently serves Redding with primary ABC network programs plus NBC. In addition, Redding receives coverage from KHSL-TV, Channel 12, Chico, which carries the CBS network. Similarly, KVIP-TV is received by homes in Chico and northern Butte County. Tehama County receives nearly complete overlapping service from KVIP-TV and KHSL-TV. There is no UHF television service in Redding or the area which constitutes the Redding-Chico market.

9. To support the allocation of Channel 9 to Susanville, petitioners Shasta and McKahan state that the proposed assignment conforms with the allocation priorities of the Sixth Report and Order, and would best serve the "public interest". They stress that Redding presently is served by a local station and also receives the programs of KHSL-TV, Chico, while Susanville has no local station to fulfill the programming needs of the community and must rely upon an inferior and expensive CATV system (an allegation which is controverted by Antenna-Vision, Inc.).

10. Cal-Ore, on the other hand, urges that the allocation of Channel 9 to the Susanville area would be an uneconomic utilization of scarce VHF facilities. Within the existing Commission rules and mileage separation requirements they state that 3 UHF channels could be assigned to Susanville. Because the assignment of either a VHF or UHF channel to Susanville will result, in any event, in a set conversion problem (due to the existence of the 2 UHF translator stations and the CATV system), Cal-Ore urges that the public interest would best be served by the allocation of UHF channels to Susanville, thus providing the basis upon which competitive service could operate in that community while giving to Redding a competitive VHF outlet in an all-VHF market. To this Shasta and McKahan answer that the character of UHF propagation is such that in the mountainous Susanville area a UHF station could not survive, that a signal with the quality of VHF is needed to reach what they admit will be a comparatively small viewing audience. They also propose that a UHF channel be assigned to Redding rather than Channel 9.

11. Upon careful consideration the Commission is of the view that the public interest would best be served by the allocation of Channel 9 to Redding. This assignment will make available to Redding a second VHF channel and to the Redding-Chico market a third competitive service. While the City of Redding considered by itself might not warrant a second local station, the Redding-Chico market is an area of dynamic growth in which a third competitive service can be accommodated. The Commission is not convinced by the pleas of Golden Empire Broadcasting Company (KHSL-TV, Chico) or of Shasta KVIP-TV, Redding) that sustained, serious economic injury will accrue to them should a third station be assigned to the Redding-Chico market.

12. Of prime concern to the Commission in reaching this result is the desire to attain the most efficient assignment of limited VHF channels. As against a viewing populace of eight or nine thousand persons in Susanville, another television station in Redding would service over 300,000 persons according to Shasta's own figures. Without passing upon Cal-Ore's proposal to assign UHF channels to Susanville, Shasta and McKahan's protest that UHF is not technically feasible in the mountainous Susanville area would seem to be answered by Stations K70CC and K72AJ, UHF translators operating in the area.

13. Shasta and McKahan's counterproposal to assign a UHF channel to Redding cannot be considered seriously. Such an assignment would create an intermixture problem where none existed previously and would not provide a competitive service to the Redding-Chico area.

14. Shasta and McKahan's additional contention regarding Cal-Ore's putative monopolistic position in Northern California and Southern Oregon is an argument which cannot be considered in these proceedings. We are concerned here with rule making: Changes in the television Table of Assignments and not with the qualifications of an applicant to operate a television station.

15. The Commission is of the view, therefore, that on balance the allocation of Channel 9 to Redding will provide for the most efficient distribution of existing television channels in northern California. This allocation will make available a third competitive VHF service in an area which has shown substantial growth in the last 10 years as compared with the Susanville and Lassen County area. Such assignment in the view of the Commission will best serve the public interest. The request of California-Oregon Television, Inc. to assign Channel 9 to Redding, California, therefore, is granted; and the request of James E. McKahan and Shasta Telecasting Corporation to assign Channel 9 to Susanville, California, is denied.

16. Cal-Ore advanced several offset carrier changes on Channel 13 with the simultaneous allocation of Channel 13— to Alturas. The Commission is of the view that the substitution of Channel 13+ for Channel 9 in Alturas, as advanced by Shasta and McKahan, is the least complicated proposal. This substitution will not require any offset carrier changes at the present time. A change in offset for KOVR-TV, Stockton, California, from 13+ to 13 even may be desirable if, and when, broadcasting on 13+ from Alturas is begun. Such a decision, however, may be deferred until a request to operate a station on 13+ in Alturas is received by the Commission.

17. Authority for the adoption of the amendment herein is contained in sections 1, 4 (i) and (j), 301, 303 and 307(b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act.

18. In view of the foregoing: It is ordered, That effective January 30, 1961, the Table of Assignments contained in § 3.606 of the Commission's rules and regulations is amended, insofar as the communities named are concerned, as follows:

City	Channel No.
Alturas, Calif.	13+
Redding, Calif.	7, 9

EDITORIAL NOTE: The heading of Title 50, Code of Federal Regulations, is hereby changed to read as set forth above.

Chapter I—Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, Fish and Wildlife Service, Department of the Interior

SUBCHAPTER B—HUNTING AND POSSESSION OF WILDLIFE

PART 14—IMPORTATION OF FEATHERS OF WILD BIRDS

Permit Fees and Quota Allocations

On pages 12741 and 12742 of the FEDERAL REGISTER of December 13, 1960, there was published a notice and text of proposed revision of Part 14, Title 50, Code of Federal Regulations. The purpose of this revision is to establish a user's charge or fee for importation permits issued under Part 14 and to revise the methods of allocation and reallocation of annual import quotas among the qualified applicants. Interested persons were given 15 days in which to submit written comments, suggestions, or objections to the proposed revision.

Inasmuch as no comment, suggestions, or objections have been received, the proposed revision of Part 14, Title 50, Code of Federal Regulations, is hereby adopted without change and is set forth below, to become effective September 1, 1961.

ELMER F. BENNETT,
Acting Secretary of the Interior.

DECEMBER 29, 1960.

Sec.

14.1 Fees and applications for importation permits.
14.2 Filing dates for applications.
14.3 Allocation of calendar year quotas.
14.4 Reallocation of unused calendar year quotas.
14.5 Issuance of importation permits.
14.6 Tenure of importation permits.
14.7 Compliance with other regulations.

AUTHORITY: §§ 14.1 to 14.7 issued under par. 1518, 46 Stat. 661, as amended; 19 U.S.C. 1001, par. 1518.

§ 14.1 Fees and applications for importation permits.

(a) Effective September 1, 1961 and thereafter, a fee of $10 will be charged for any importation permit issued pursuant to this part. Such fee must be submitted at the time and in the form prescribed in §§ 14.2(b) and 14.3(d).

(b) All persons desiring to share in the allocation of annual import quotas of skins bearing feathers of the grey jungle fowl (Gallus sonneratii), the mandarin duck (Dendronessa galericulata), and the following species of pheasant: Lady Amherst pheasant (Chrysolophus amherstiae), golden pheasant (Chrysolophus pictus), silver pheasant (Lophura nycthemera), Reeves pheasant (Syrmaticus reevesii), blue-eared pheasant (Crossoptilon auritum), and brown-eared pheasant (Crossoptilon mantchuricum), must apply during the periods specified in § 14.2 by letter addressed to the Director, Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, Washington 25, D.C. The letter must contain the following information:

(1) Name and address of applicant, nature of business, and the purpose for which feathers are required.

(2) Port at which entry has been or is to be made.

(3) Quantity of each species of bird skin or part thereof for which an importation permit is desired.

(4) Certification, that in the case of grey jungle fowl and mandarin duck, the skins are to be used only in the manufacture of fishing flies.

§ 14.2 Filing dates for applications.

Each application for a quota allocation must be postmarked during the dates set forth in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section in order to be considered.

(a) Applicants desiring to participate in the allocation of calendar year quotas shall submit applications from September 1 through September 30 of the year preceding the calendar year for which quota allocations are to be made.

(b) Applicants desiring to participate in the reallocation of such portions of the established annual quotas as may become available for reallocation, shall submit applications from July 1 through July 31 of the calendar year for which the unused portions of the quota allocations were originally made, and in order to be considered, such applications must be accompanied by the prescribed $10 fee in the form of a postal money order or a check made payable to the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife.

§ 14.3 Allocation of calendar year quotas.

As promptly as possible after the closing date for filing, all applications timely filed will be considered and tentative quotas allocated by the method set forth in paragraphs (a) through (e) of this section. For the purposes of this section, the six species of pheasant named in § 14.1 shall be grouped together and considered as one species.

(a) The number of eligible applicants for skins of grey jungle fowl, mandarin duck, and pheasants, respectively, shall be divided into the quotas of skins available for the ensuing calendar year for the respective species, to determine the number of skins of each species the several applicants would be entitled to import on an equal basis.

(b) Any applicant for an allocation in an amount equal to or less than the average quantity established for all applicants pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section is entitled to receive an allocation of the quantity for which he applied.

(c) After the allocations are made under paragraph (b) of this section, all remaining unallocated quantities of skins of the respective species shall be allocated equally among those applicants who applied for more than the average quantities determined under paragraph (a) of this section. However, no applicant shall be allocated a quantity of skins in excess of the number applied for.

(d) Each applicant shall then be furnished a tabulation by Registered or Certified Mail, Return Receipt requested, of the quantities of each species requested and the quantities proposed to be allocated to each applicant. Each applicant must then report by letter addressed to the Director, postmarked not later than 30 days after date of receipt of the notice of proposed allocations, that he accepts the proposed allocation. The letter must contain satisfactory proof, such as a copy of a currently confirmed order, that orders have been placed for the importing of his allocation of bird skins and must be accompanied by the prescribed $10 fee in the form of a postal money order or a check made payable to the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife. Applicants failing to respond to the notice of proposed allocations or failing to furnish the prescribed fee shall be deemed to have withdrawn their applications. Applicants who submit the required showing and fee by other than Registered or Certified Mail, do so at their own risk.

(e) Any quantities of bird skins of the respective species which become available for allocation through the failure of applicants to submit the proper showing as required in paragraph (d) of this section, shall promptly be allocated among those applicants whose requests were not satisfied in full, using the methods prescribed in paragraphs (a) through (c) of this section to determine the additional quantity of skins allowable to each such applicant.

§ 14.4 Reallocation of unused calendar year quotas.

Any portion of the calendar year quotas which may become available for reallocation through surrender or nonuse, in whole or in part, of permits expiring on June 30 of any year, shall be reallocated as promptly as possible after the closing date for filing among applicants who have submitted proper applications in accordance with § 14.2(b). Such reallocations shall be made by the method prescribed in § 14.3 (a) through (c). If the quantities of the respective species of bird skins are insufficient to permit reallocation among all applicants by such method, preference shall be given to those applications bearing the earliest postmark.

§ 14.5 Issuance of importation permits.

As soon as practicable after the annual quota allocations or reallocations have been determined, the quotas allocated to successful applicants shall be evidenced by importation permits, issued in letter form, directed to the respective Collectors of Customs at the Ports of Entry specified in the applications. Such permits shall authorize the entry, or withdrawal from warehouse, of the quantities of bird skins allocated to each applicant. Until such time as it shall be found necessary to reduce the import quota established for pheasants, importation permits will not differentiate between the six species of pheasant named in § 14.1, but will authorize the importation of a stated number of pheasant skins in the aggregate, without specifying the species. A copy of the importation permit will be furnished each successful applicant as notice to him of his allocation. Importation permits are nontransferable and are subject to cancellation only if it is determined that the permit has been mistakenly issued, that the applicant has made a material misrepresentation in connection therewith, or if the permittee informs the Director that he will be unable to bring or import his quota of bird skins into the United States during the period specified in the permit. Permits are also subject to the further conditions set forth in § 14.6.

§ 14.6 Tenure of importation.

(a) Importation permits covering the calendar year quota allocations are issued as of January 1, and remain in effect through June 30 of the year of issue. No extension of time shall be granted on such permits and any portion of the quota allocations which become available through surrender or nonuse, in whole or in part, of a permit expiring on June 30, shall be reallocated among applicants who submit proper applications.

(b) Importation permits covering the reallocations made pursuant to § 14.2 (b) shall be issued as promptly as possible after July 31 and remain in effect through December 31 of the year of issue. No extension of time shall be granted on such permits, and any portion of the quotas so reallocated which are not imported through surrender of nonuse of reallocation permits, in whole or in part, on or before December 31 of the year of issue, shall lapse and no further allocation thereof shall be made.

§ 14.7 Compliance with other regulations.

Any importation permitted by the regulations in this part is also subject to any applicable health, quarantine, customs, or other requirements imposed by law or by regulation of duly authorized Federal or State agencies and munici-

Notice of Proposed Rule Making

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act, approved June 11, 1946, that the regulations set forth in tentative form below are proposed to be prescribed by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury or his delegate. Prior to the final adoption of such regulations, consideration will be given to any comments or suggestions pertaining thereto which are submitted in writing, in duplicate, to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Attention: T:P, Washington 25, D.C., within the period of 30 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Any person submitting written comments or suggestions who desires an opportunity to comment orally at a public hearing on these proposed regulations should submit his request, in writing, to the Commissioner within the 30-day period. In such a case, a public hearing will be held and notice of the time, place, and date will be published in a subsequent issue of the FEDERAL REGISTER. The proposed regulations are to be issued under the authority contained in section 7805 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 (68A Stat. 917; 26 U.S.C. 7805).

[SEAL] DANA LATHAM,
Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

The following regulations are hereby prescribed under section 381(c)(2) (carryover of earnings and profits) and (16) (carryover of certain obligations of distributor or transferor corporation) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954. Except as otherwise provided therein, such regulations shall apply to liquidations and reorganizations, the tax treatment of which is determined under such Code.

Sec.
1.381(c)(2) Statutory provisions; carryovers in certain corporate acquisitions; items of the distributor or transferor corporation; earnings and profits.
1.381(c)(2)-1 Earnings and profits.
1.381(c)(16) Statutory provisions; carryovers in certain corporate acquisitions; items of the distributor or transferor corporation; certain obligations of distributor or transferor corporation.
1.381(c)(16)-1 Obligations of distributor or transferor corporation.

§ 1.381(c)(2) Statutory provisions; carryovers in certain corporate acquisitions; items of the distributor or transferor corporation; earnings and profits.

SEC. 381. Carryovers in certain corporate acquisitions. • • •

(c) Items of the distributor or transferor corporation. The items referred to in subsection (a) are:

• • • • • •

(2) Earnings and profits. In the case of a distribution or transfer described in subsection (a)—

(A) The earnings and profits or deficit in earnings and profits, as the case may be, of the distributor or transferor corporation shall, subject to subparagraph (B), be deemed to have been received or incurred by the acquiring corporation as of the close of the date of the distribution or transfer; and

(B) A deficit in earnings and profits of the distributor, transferor, or acquiring corporation shall be used only to offset earnings and profits accumulated after the date of transfer. For this purpose, the earnings and profits for the taxable year of the acquiring corporation in which the distribution or transfer occurs shall be deemed to have been accumulated after such distribution or transfer in an amount which bears the same ratio to the undistributed earnings and profits of the acquiring corporation for such taxable year (computed without regard to any earnings and profits received from the distributor or transferor corporation, as described in subparagraph (A) of this paragraph) as the number of days in the taxable year after the date of distribution or transfer bears to the total number of days in the taxable year.

§ 1.381(c)(2)-1 Earnings and profits.

(a) In general. (1) Section 381(c)(2) requires the acquiring corporation in a transaction to which section 381(a) applies to succeed to, and take into account, the earnings and profits, or deficit in earnings and profits, of the distributor or transferor corporation as of the close of the date of distribution or transfer. In determining the amount of such earnings and profits, or deficit, to be carried over, and the manner in which they are to be used by the acquiring corporation after such date, the provisions of section 381(c)(2) and this section shall apply. For purposes of section 381(c)(2) and this section, if the distributor or transferor corporation accumulates earnings and profits, or incurs a deficit in earnings and profits, after the date of distribution or transfer and before the completion of the reorganization or liquidation, such earnings and profits, or deficit, shall be deemed to have been accumulated or incurred as of the close of the date of distribution or transfer.

(2) If the distributor or transferor corporation has accumulated earnings and profits as of the close of the date of distribution or transfer, such earnings and profits shall (except as hereinafter provided in this section) be deemed to be received by, and to become a part of the accumulated earnings and profits of, the acquiring corporation as of such time. Similarly, if the distributor or transferor corporation has a deficit in accumulated earnings and profits as of the close of the date of distribution or transfer, such deficit shall (except as hereinafter provided in this section) be deemed to be incurred by the acquiring corporation as of such time. In no event, however, shall the accumulated earnings and profits, or deficit, of the distributor or transferor corporation be taken into account in determining earnings and profits of the acquiring corporation for the taxable year during which occurs the date of distribution or transfer.

(3) Any part of the accumulated earnings and profits, or deficit in accumulated earnings and profits, of the distributor or transferor corporation which consists of earnings and profits, or deficits, accumulated before March 1, 1913, shall be deemed to become earnings and profits, or deficits, of the acquiring corporation accumulated before March 1, 1913, and any part of the accumulated earnings and profits of the distributor or transferor corporation which consists of increase in value of property accrued before March 1, 1913, shall be deemed to become earnings and profits of the acquiring corporation consisting of increase in value of property accrued before March 1, 1913.

(4) If the acquiring corporation and each distributor or transferor corporation has accumulated earnings and profits as of the close of the date of distribution or transfer, or if each of such corporations has a deficit in accumulated earnings and profits as of such time, then the accumulated earnings and profits (or deficit) of each such corporation shall be consolidated as of the close of the date of distribution or transfer in the accumulated earnings and profits account of the acquiring corporation. See subparagraph (6) of this paragraph for determination of the accumulated earnings and profits (or deficit) of the acquiring corporation as of the close of the date of distribution or transfer.

(5) If (i) one or more corporations a party to a distribution or transfer has accumulated earnings and profits as of the close of the date of distribution or transfer, and (ii) one or more of such corporations has a deficit in accumulated earnings and profits as of such time, the total of any such deficit shall be used only to offset earnings and profits accumulated, or deemed to have been accumulated under subparagraph (6) of this paragraph, by the acquiring corporation after the date of distribution or transfer. In such instance, the acquiring corporation will be considered as maintaining two separate earnings and profits accounts after the date of distribution or transfer. The first such account shall contain the total of the accumulated earnings and profits as of the close of the date of distribution or transfer of each corporation which has accumulated earnings and profits as of such time, and the second such account shall contain the total of the deficits in accumulated earnings and profits of each corporation which has a deficit as of such time. The total deficit in the second account may not be used to reduce the accumulated earnings and profits in the first account (although such earnings and profits may be offset by deficits incurred, or deemed to have been incurred, after the date of distribution or transfer) but shall be used only to offset earnings and profits accumulated, or deemed to have been accumulated under subparagraph (6) of this paragraph, by the acquiring corporation after the date of distribution or transfer.

(6) In any case in which it is necessary to compute the accumulated earnings and profits, or the deficit in accumulated earnings and profits, of the acquiring corporation as of the close of the date of distribution or transfer and such date is a day other than the last day of a taxable year of the acquiring corporation—

(i) If the acquiring corporation has earnings and profits for its taxable year during which occurs the date of distribution or transfer, such earnings and profits (a) shall be deemed to have accumulated as of the close of such date in an amount which bears the same ratio to the undistributed earnings and profits of such corporation for such year as the number of days in the taxable year preceding the date following the date of distribution or transfer bears to the total number of days in the taxable year, and (b) shall be deemed to have accumulated after the date of distribution or transfer in an amount which bears the same ratio to the undistributed earnings and profits of such corporation for such year as the number of days in the taxable year following such date bears to the total number of days in such taxable year. For purposes of the preceding sentence, the undistributed earnings and profits of the acquiring corporation for such taxable year shall be the earnings and profits for such taxable year reduced by any distributions made therefrom during such taxable year.

(ii) If the acquiring corporation has an operating deficit for its taxable year during which occurs the date of distribution or transfer, then, unless the actual accumulated earnings and profits, or deficit, as of such date can be shown, such operating deficit shall be deemed to have accumulated in a manner similar to that described in subdivision (i) of this subparagraph.

(7) This paragraph may be illustrated by the following examples, in which it is assumed that none of the accumulated earnings and profits, or deficits, consist of earnings and profits or deficits accumulated, or increase in value of property accrued, before March 1, 1913.

Example (1). (i) M and N Corporations make their returns on the basis of the calendar year. On June 30, 1959, M Corporation transfers all its assets to N Corporation in a statutory merger to which section 361 applies. The books of the two corporations reveal the following information:

Description	M Corporation (transferor)	N Corporation (acquirer)
Accumulated earnings and profits at close of calendar year 1958	$100,000	$150,000
Earnings and profits of taxable year ending June 30, 1959	$15,000
Earnings and profits of calendar year 1959		$36,500
Distributions during calendar year 1959	0	0

(ii) As of the close of June 30, 1959, N acquires from M accumulated earnings and profits of $115,000. Since M and N each has accumulated earnings and profits as of the close of the date of transfer, M's accumulated earnings and profits are added to N's accumulated earnings and profits as of such time. However, no part of M's accumulated earnings and profits is taken into account in determining N's earnings and profits for the calendar year 1959. Therefore, N's earnings and profits for the calendar year 1959 are $36,500.

Example (2). (i) X and Y Corporations make their returns on the basis of the calendar year. On June 30, 1959, X Corporation transfers all its assets to Y Corporation in a statutory merger to which section 361 applies. The books of the two corporations reveal the following information:

Description	X Corporation (transferor)	Y Corporation (acquirer)
Accumulated earnings and profits at close of calendar year 1958	$20,000	$100,000
Deficit in earnings and profits for taxable year ending June 30, 1959	(80,000)	---
Earnings and profits of calendar year 1959	---	36,500
Distributions during calendar year 1959	0	0

(ii) As of the close of June 30, 1959, Y acquires from X a deficit in accumulated earnings and profits in the amount of $60,000. This deficit may be used only to reduce those earnings and profits of Y which are accumulated, or deemed to have accumulated, after June 30, 1959. Accordingly, as of December 31, 1959, the accumulated earnings and profits of Y amount to $118,100; at such time Y also has a separate deficit in accumulated earnings and profits in the amount of $41,600. These amounts are determined as follows:

Accumulated earnings and profits of Y as of the close of 1958	$100,000
Add:
Portion of undistributed earnings and profits of Y for 1959 deemed to have accumulated as of close of June 30, 1959 ($36,500×181/365)	18,100
Accumulated earnings and profits of Y as of close of June 30, 1959, and also as of Dec. 31, 1959	118,100
Portion of undistributed earnings and profits of Y for 1959 deemed to have accumulated after June 30, 1959 ($36,500×184/365)	18,400
Less:
Deficit in accumulated earnings and profits acquired by Y from X Corporation as of close of June 30, 1959	(60,000)
Separate deficit in accumulated earnings and profits of Y as of Dec. 31, 1959	(41,600)

Example (3). Assume the same facts as in example (2), except that on September 15, 1959, Y Corporation makes a cash distribution of $96,500. The entire distribution is a dividend: $36,500 from earnings and profits for the taxable year 1959 and $60,000 from earnings and profits accumulated as of December 31, 1958. Accordingly, as of December 31, 1959, Y has accumulated earnings and profits of $40,000, and also has a separate deficit in accumulated earnings and profits of $60,000. These amounts are determined as follows:

Earnings and profits of Y for calendar year 1959	$36,500
Accumulated earnings and profits of Y as of close of 1958	100,000
Total	136,500
Less:
Distributions during 1959	96,500
Accumulated earnings and profits of Y as of Dec. 31, 1959	40,000
Deficit in accumulated earning and profits acquired from M as of close of June 30, 1959	(60,000)
Less:
Portion of Y's undistributed earnings and profits for 1959 deemed to have accumulated after June 30, 1959	0
Separate deficit in accumulated earnings and profits of Y as of Dec. 31, 1959	(60,000)

Example (4). (i) M and N Corporations make their returns on the basis of the calendar year. On June 30, 1959, M Corporation transfers all its assets to N Corporation in a statutory merger to which section 361 applies. The books of the two corporations reveal the following information:

Description	M Corporation (transferor)	N Corporation (acquirer)
Accumulated earnings and profits at close of calendar year 1958	$100,000	$50,000
Earnings and profits for taxable year ending June 30, 1959	10,000	-------
Deficit in earnings and profits for calendar year 1959	-------	(146,000)
Distributions during calendar year 1959	0	0

(ii) Assuming that N has not shown its actual accumulated earnings and profits, or deficit, as of the close of June 30, 1959, N has a deficit in accumulated earnings and profits at such time which amounts to $22,400, determined as follows:

Accumulated earnings and profits of N as of close of 1958	$50,000
Less:
Portion of deficit in earnings and profits of N for 1959 deemed to have accumulated as of close of June 30, 1959 ($146,000×181/365)	(72,400)
Deficit in accumulated earnings and profits of N as of close of June 30, 1959, and also as of Dec. 31, 1959	(22,400)

As of the close of June 30, 1959, N acquires from M accumulated earnings and profits in the amount of $110,000, no part of which may be offset by N's own deficit of $22,400; however, such earnings and profits may be offset by deficits incurred, or deemed incurred, by N after June 30, 1959. Thus, as of December 31, 1959, N has the abovementioned deficit of $22,400; at such time N also has accumulated earnings and profits in the amount of $36,400, determined as follows:

Accumulated earnings and profits acquired from M as of close of June 30, 1959	$110,000
Less:
Portion of deficit in earnings and profits of N for 1959 deemed to have accumulated after June 30, 1959 ($146,000×184/365)	(73,600)
Accumulated earnings and profits of N as of Dec. 31, 1959	36,400

Example (5). Assume the same facts as in example (4), except that on September 9, 1959, N Corporation makes a cash distribution of $100,000. The amount of $82,000 is a dividend from accumulated earnings and profits, computed as follows:

Accumulated earnings and profits acquired from M as of close of June 30, 1959	$110,000
Less:
Deficit in earnings and profits of N for 1959 deemed to have accumulated from June 30 through Sept. 8, 1959 ($146,000×70/365)	($28,000)
Accumulated earnings and profits as of close of Sept. 8, 1959	82,000

As of December 31, 1959, N Corporation has a deficit in accumulated earnings and profits of $68,000, computed as follows:

Deficit in accumulated earnings and profits of N as of close of June 30, 1959	($22,400)
Add:
Portion of N's deficit in earnings and profits for 1959 deemed to have accumulated after Sept. 8, 1959 ($146,000×114/365)	(45,600)
Deficit in accumulated earnings and profits of N as of Dec. 31, 1959	(68,000)

Example (6). (i) X, Y, and Z Corporations make their returns on the basis of the calendar year. On June 30, 1959, X Corporation and Y Corporation transfer all their assets to Z Corporation in a statutory merger to which section 361 applies. The books of the three corporations reveal the following information:

Description	X Corporation (transferor)	Y Corporation (transferor)	Z Corporation (acquirer)
Accumulated earnings and profits (or deficit) at close of calendar year 1958	$35,000	($25,000)	($20,000)
Earnings and profits (or deficit) for taxable year ended June 30, 1959	5,000	(5,000)	-------
Earnings and profits for calendar year 1959	-------	-------	36,500
Distributions during 1959	0	0	0

(ii) As of the close of June 30, 1959, Z acquires from Y a deficit in accumulated earnings and profits of $30,000. As of such time, Z's own deficit in accumulated earnings and profits amounts to $1,900, determined as follows:

Deficit in accumulated earnings and profits of Z as of close of 1958	($20,000)
Less:
Portion of undistributed earnings and profits of Z for 1959 deemed to have accumulated as of close of June 30, 1959 ($36,500×181/365)	18,100
Deficit in accumulated earnings and profits as of close of June 30, 1959	(1,900)

The total deficit of $31,900 may be used only to offset earnings and profits of Z accumulated, or deemed to have accumulated, after June 30, 1959; such deficit may not be used to reduce the accumulated earnings and profits of $40,000 acquired from X as of the close of June 30, 1959. Thus, as of December 31, 1959, the accumulated earnings and profits of Z amount to $40,000; at such time Z Corporation also has a separate deficit in accumulated earnings and profits in the amount of $13,500, determined as follows:

Deficit in accumulated earnings and profits as of close of June 30, 1959	($31,900)
Less:
Portion of undistributed earnings and profits of Z for 1959 deemed to have accumulated after June 30, 1959 ($36,500×184/365)	18,400
Separate deficit in accumulated earnings and profits as of Dec. 31, 1959	(13,500)

Example (7). X and Y Corporations make their returns on the basis of the calendar year. On December 31, 1954, X transfers all its assets to Y in a statutory merger to which section 361 applies. The books of the two corporations reveal the following information:

Description	X Corporation (transferor)	Y Corporation (acquirer)
Accumulated earnings and profits (or deficit) at close of calendar year 1954	($50,000)	$210,000
Earnings and profits (or deficit) for calendar year:
1955	---------	5,000
1956	---------	(20,000)
1957	---------	70,000
1958	---------	60,000
1959	---------	55,000
Cash distributions on:
Sept. 1, 1957	---------	80,000
Sept. 1, 1958	---------	40,000
Sept. 1, 1959	---------	30,000

The balances in the accumulated earnings and profits account and the separate deficit account of Y Corporation at the close of the taxable year involved are as follows:

Year	Deficit acquired from X Corporation	Accumulated earnings and profits of Y Corporation
1954	($50,000)	$210,000
1955	(45,000)	210,000
1956	(45,000)	190,000
1957	(45,000)	180,000
1958	(25,000)	180,000
1959	None	180,000

(b) Successive acquisitions. (1) If, as of the date of distribution or transfer, either the acquiring corporation, or the distributor or transferor corporation, or both, is considered under paragraph (a) of this section to be maintaining separate earnings and profits accounts as the result of a prior transaction or transactions to which section 381(a) applied, the accumulated earnings and profits, or deficit in accumulated earnings and profits, of each such corporation shall be combined with the appropriate earnings and profits account of the other such corporation. For example, if, as of the date of transfer, the acquiring corporation and the transferor corporation are each maintaining separate accounts, one containing accumulated earnings and profits and the other containing a deficit in accumulated earnings and profits, the amounts in the two accumulated earnings and profits accounts shall be combined into one account, and the amounts in the two deficit accounts shall be combined into a second account, and the amount in one combined account may not be used to offset the amount in the other combined account.

(2) This paragraph may be illustrated by the following examples, in which it is assumed that none of the accumulated earnings and profits, or deficits, consist of earnings and profits or deficits accumulated, or increase in value of property accrued, before March 1, 1913.

Example (1). (i) X, Y, and Z Corporations make their returns on the basis of the calendar year. On June 30, 1958, X Corporation transfers all its assets to Z Corporation in a statutory merger to which section 361 applies, and on August 31, 1958, Y Corporation transfers all its assets to Z Corporation in another statutory merger to which section 361 applies. The books of the three corporations reveal the following information:

Description	X Corporation (transferor)	Y Corporation (transferor)	Z Corporation (acquirer)
Accumulated earnings and profits (deficit) at close of calendar year 1957	($40,000)	$10,000	$60,000
Deficit in earnings and profits for taxable year ending June 30, 1958	(5,000)	-------	-------
Earnings and profits for taxable year ending Aug. 31, 1958	-------	2,000	-------
Earnings and profits of calendar year 1958	-------	-------	36,500
Distributions during calendar year 1958	0	0	0

(ii) As of the close of June 30, 1958, Z acquires from X a deficit in accumulated earnings and profits in the amount of $45,000, which deficit may be used only to reduce those earnings and profits of Z which are accumulated, or deemed to have been accumulated, after June 30, 1958. As of the close of August 31, 1958, Z acquires from Y earnings and profits of $12,000, no portion of which may be reduced by the deficit acquired by Z from X. Accordingly, as of December 31, 1958, Z has accumulated earnings and profits of $90,100, and also has a separate deficit in accumulated earnings and profits of $26,600. These amounts are determined as follows:

Accumulated earnings and profits of Z as of Dec. 31, 1957	$60,000
Add:
Portion of undistributed earnings and profits of Z for 1958 deemed to have accumulated as of close of June 30, 1958 ($36,500×181/365)	18,100
Accumulated earnings and profits of Z as of June 30, 1958	78,100
Add:
Accumulated earnings and profits acquired by Z from Y as of close of Aug. 31, 1958	12,000
Accumulated earnings and profits of Z as of close of Aug. 31, 1958, and also as of Dec. 31, 1958	90,100
Deficit in accumulated earnings and profits acquired by Z from X as of close of June 30, 1958	(45,000)
Less:
Portion of undistributed earnings and profits of Z for 1958 deemed to have accumulated from June 30 through Aug. 31, 1958 ($36,500×62/365)	-6,200
Separate deficit in accumulated earnings and profits of Z as of Aug. 31, 1958	(38,800)
Less:
Portion of undistributed earnings and profits of Z for 1958 deemed to have accumulated after Aug. 31, 1958 ($36,500×122/365)	12,200
Separate deficit in accumulated earnings and profits of Z as of Dec. 31, 1958	(26,600)

Example (2). (i) Assume the same facts as in example (1), plus the additional fact that on June 30, 1959, Z Corporation transfers all its assets to M Corporation (which makes its return on the basis of the calendar year) in a statutory merger to which section 361 applies, and that as of such time M Corporation is considered to be maintaining separate earnings and profits accounts as the result of a previous transaction to which section 381(a) applied. The books of the two corporations reveal the following information:

Description	Z Corporation (transferor)	M Corporation (acquirer)
Accumulated earnings and profits as of Dec. 31, 1958	$90,100	$50,000
Separate deficit in accumulated earnings and profits as of Dec. 31, 1958	(26,000)	(30,000)
Earnings and profits for taxable year ending June 30, 1959	5,000	-------
Earnings and profits of calendar year 1959	-------	36,500

(ii) As of June 30, 1959, M acquires from Z accumulated earnings and profits of $90,100, which amount is combined with M's own accumulated earnings and profits of $50,000; M also acquires from Z a deficit in accumulated earnings and profits of $21,600 ($26,600 minus $5,000), which amount is combined with M's own deficit of $11,900. The total deficit of $33,500 may be used only to reduce earnings and profits of M which are accumulated, or deemed to have accumulated, after June 30, 1959. Accordingly, as of December 31, 1959, M has accumulated earnings and profits of $140,100, and also has a separate deficit in accumulated earnings and profits in the amount of $15,100. These amounts are determined as follows:

Deficit of M as of Dec. 31, 1958	($30,000)
Less:
Portion of M's undistributed earnings and profits for 1959 deemed to have accumulated as of close of June 30, 1959 ($36,500×181/365)	18,100
Deficit of M as of June 30, 1959	(11,900)
Plus:
Deficit of Z as of June 30, 1959	(21,600)
Combined deficit of M as of close of June 30, 1959	(33,500)
Less:
Portion of M's undistributed earnings and profits for 1959 deemed to have accumulated after June 30, 1959 ($36,500×184/365)	18,400
Separate deficit of M as of Dec. 31, 1959	(15,100)
Accumulated earnings and profits of M as of Dec. 31, 1958, and also as of June 30, 1959	50,000
Accumulated earnings and profits of Z as of Dec. 31, 1958, and also as of June 30, 1959	$90,100
Combined accumulated earnings and profits of M as of close of June 30, 1959, and also as of Dec. 31, 1959	140,100

(c) Distribution of earnings and profits pursuant to reorganization or liquidation. (1) If, in a reorganization to which section 381(a)(2) applies, the transferor corporation pursuant to the plan of reorganization distributes to its stockholders property consisting not only of property permitted by section 354 to be received without recognition of gain, but also of other property or money, then the accumulated earnings and profits of the transferor corporation as of the close of the date of transfer shall be computed by taking into account the amount of the distribution which is properly chargeable to earnings and profits, regardless of whether such distribution occurs before or after the close of the date of transfer.

(2) If, in a distribution to which section 381(a)(1) (relating to certain liquidations of subsidiaries) applies, the acquiring corporation receives less than 100 percent of the assets distributed by the distributor corporation, then the accumulated earnings and profits of the distributor corporation as of the close of the date of distribution shall be computed by taking into account the amount of the distribution to minority stockholders which is properly chargeable to earnings and profits, regardless of whether such distribution occurs before or after the close of the date of distribution.

§ 1.381(c)(16) Statutory provisions; carryovers in certain corporate acquisitions; items of the distributor or transferor corporation; certain obligations of distributor or transferor corporation.

SEC. 381 Carryovers in certain corporate acquisitions. * * *

(c) Items of the distributor or transferor corporation. The items referred to in subsection (a) are:

* * * * *

(16) Certain obligations of distributor or transferor corporation. If the acquiring corporation—

(A) Assumes an obligation of the distributor or transferor corporation which, after the date of the distribution or transfer, gives rise to a liability, and

(B) Such liability, if paid or accrued by the distributor or transferor corporation, would have been deductible in computing its taxable income, the acquiring corporation shall be entitled to deduct such items when paid or accrued, as the case may be, as if such corporation were the distributor or transferor corporation. A corporation which would have been an acquiring corporation under this section if the date of distribution or transfer had occurred on or after the effective date of the provisions of this subchapter applicable to a liquidation or reorganization, as the case may be, shall be entitled, even though the date of distribution or transfer occurred before such effective date, to apply this paragraph with respect to amounts paid or accrued in taxable years beginning after December 31, 1953, on account of such obligations of the distributor or transferor corporation. This paragraph shall not apply if such obligations are reflected in the amount of stock, securities, or property transferred by the acquiring corporation to the transferor corporation for the property of the transferor corporation.

§ 1.381(c)(16)–1 Obligations of distributor or transferor corporation.

(a) Deduction allowed to acquiring corporation. (1) If, in a transaction to which section 381(a) applies, the acquiring corporation assumes an obligation of a distributor or transferor corporation which gives rise to a liability after the date of distribution or transfer and if the distributor or transferor corporation would be entitled to deduct such liability in computing taxable income were it paid or accrued after that date by such corporation, then, under the provisions of section 381(c)(16) and this section, the acquiring corporation shall be entitled to deduct such liability as if it were the distributor or transferor corporation. However, section 381(c)(16) shall not apply to an obligation which is reflected in the amount of consideration, that is, the stock, securities, or other property, transferred by the acquiring corporation to a transferor corporation or its shareholders in exchange for the property of that transferor corporation. An obligation which is so reflected in the amount of consideration will be treated as an item or tax attribute not specified in section 381(c)(16). See paragraph (b)(3) of § 1.381(a)–1. Any deduction allowed under section 381(c)(16) to the acquiring corporation shall be taken by that corporation in the taxable year ending after the date of distribution or transfer in which the liability is paid or accrued by that corporation as the case may be.

(2) For purposes of section 381(c)(16) and this section, the term "obligation" includes any type of unforeseen charge or contingent liability. Thus, the phrase "assume an obligation" includes the assumption of responsibility for a possible deductible expense or other charge. Section 381(c)(16) shall apply to obligations assumed in a transaction to which section 381(a) applies whether they are assumed by agreement of the parties or by operation of law.

(3) The acquiring corporation may not take a deduction under section 381(c)(16) in respect of an obligation of a distributor or transferor corporation which gives rise to a liability on or before the date of distribution or transfer. For purposes of section 381(c)(16), an obligation of a distributor or transferor corporation gives rise to a liability when the liability would be accruable by a taxpayer using the accrual method of accounting notwithstanding the fact that the distributor or transferor corporation is not using the accrual method of accounting. See paragraph (a)(2) of § 1.461–1.

(b) Distribution or transfer occurring under the Internal Revenue Code of 1939. Subject to the provisions of section 381(c)(16) and this section, a corporation which would have been an acquiring corporation under the provisions of section 381(a) and paragraph (b) of § 1.381(a)–1 if the date of distribution or transfer had occurred on or after the effective date of the provisions of subchapter C, chapter 1 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, applicable to a liquidation or reorganization, as the case may be, shall be entitled to take a deduction for amounts paid or accrued in any taxable year beginning after December 31, 1953, in respect of any obligation which it has assumed from a corporation which would have been a distributor or transferor corporation under the provisions of section 381(a) and paragraph (b) of § 1.381(a)–1 if the date of distribution or transfer had occurred on or after such effective date.

(c) Examples. The application of section 381(c)(16) may be illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). X and Y Corporations compute their taxable income on the basis of the calendar year, and both corporations use an accrual method of accounting. On December 31, 1954, Y Corporation acquires the assets of X Corporation in a transaction to which section 381(a) applies. By reason of State law, Y Corporation is required to assume responsibility for all of the obligations for which X Corporation is then, or may become, liable. On the date of transfer, a claim for damages on account of the alleged negligence of an alleged agent is pending against X Corporation; but X Corporation has never admitted liability, and the chances for recovery are considered so remote that the contingent liability is not in any way reflected in the amount of consideration transferred by Y Corporation in exchange for the assets of X Corporation. After commencement of legal action by the claimant and in order to eliminate the possibility of injury to its business, Y Corporation settles the claim in 1958 by paying the nominal amount of $3,000. Assuming that such sum would have been deductible under section 162 if paid by X Corporation, Y Corporation may take a deduction for such sum under section 381(c)(16) and this section in computing its taxable income for 1958. If in this case, Y Corporation had transferred $500 less in stock, securities, or other property in exchange for the assets of X Corporation because of the possibility of liability arising out of the pending claim, Y Corporation would not be entitled to any deduction under section 381(c)(16) and this section upon the settlement of the claim. Similarly, if in this case, Y Corporation had transferred $10,000 less in stock, securities, or other property in exchange for the assets of X Corporation to cover any unknown or contingent liabilities, Y Corporation would not be entitled to any deduction upon the settlement of the claim.

Example (2). M and N Corporations compute their taxable income on the basis of the calendar year, and both corporations use the cash receipts and disbursements method of accounting. On December 31, 1958, N Corporation acquires the assets of M Corporation in a transaction to which section 381(a) applies. Pursuant to agreement, N Corporation assumes responsibility for all of the obligations for which M Corporation is then, or may become, liable. On December 15, 1958, M Corporation ordered and had delivered at a price of $500 fuel oil, payment for which was due on January 15, 1959. On January 15th, N Corporation pays the $500 bill incurred by M Corporation. Since M Corporation was using the cash receipts and disbursements method of accounting, it is not entitled to a deduction with respect to this fuel oil for its taxable year ending on the date of transfer because it made no payment in such taxable year. Moreover, N Corporation is not entitled to a deduction under section 381(c)(16) and this section upon paying for the fuel oil because the liability for the fuel oil arose prior to the date of transfer. It is, therefore, immaterial in this case whether or not the liability for the fuel oil was reflected in the amount of stock, securities, or other property transferred by N Corporation in exchange for the assets of M Corporation.

MILK IN WORCESTER, MASSACHUSETTS MARKETING AREA

Notice of Recommended Decision and Opportunity To File Written Exceptions on Proposed Amendments to Tentative Marketing Agreement and to Order

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), notice is hereby given of the filing with the Hearing Clerk of this recommended decision of the Deputy Administrator, Agricultural Marketing Service, United States Department of Agriculture, with respect to proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and order regulating the handling of milk in the Worcester, Massachusetts marketing area. Interested parties may file written exceptions to this decision with the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D.C., not later than the close of business the 7th day after publication of this decision in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The exceptions should be filed in quadruplicate.

Preliminary statement. The hearing on the record of which the proposed amendments, as hereinafter set forth, to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, were formulated, was conducted at Worcester, Massachusetts, on December 1, 1960, pursuant to notice thereof which was issued November 21, 1960 (25 F.R. 11174).

The material issues on the record of the hearing relate to:

1. Extension of the 46-cent nearby farm location differential area.

2. Need for emergency action in effecting the proposed order changes.

Findings and conclusions. The following findings and conclusions on the material issues are based on evidence presented at the hearing and the record thereof:

1. Extension of the 46-cent nearby farm location differential area. That portion of Connecticut east of the Connecticut River, the State of Rhode Island, and the Massachusetts counties of Bristol and Plymouth should be included in the area to which the 46-cent nearby farm location differential is applicable under the Worcester order.

The present area to which the differential applies consists of six Massachusetts counties and seven towns in New Hampshire and Vermont. Similar nearby differentials are effective under the other New England Federal orders although they are applicable to different (but to some degree overlapping) areas. Areas within which nearby differentials are paid have been adopted in all the New England milk orders (the Boston order differential has been in effect for more than 20 years) in recognition of the patterns of supply and price in the respective markets which had been customary before regulation.

The marketing area of the Worcester order was extended to 17 additional towns on September 1, 1960 and the pool plant provisions under the New England orders were changed to provide that a plant distributing in two or more Federally-regulated markets should be pooled in the market where the greatest proportion of sales from such plant are made. At least three handlers receiving milk from dairy farms located in Connecticut became regulated pool handlers under the Worcester order as a result of the amendments. Although the dairy farmers delivering to the three handlers have farms located in an area of both the Southeastern New England and Connecticut milksheds where a 46-cent nearby differential has been paid, they are not eligible to receive the similar differential provided under the Worcester order for which other nearby producers are eligible.

Eastern Connecticut is relatively rural in nature and serves as a natural production area for the southern portion of the Worcester marketing area comprised of the towns of Southbridge, Dudley, Webster and the surrounding territory. Producers and handlers have had longstanding arrangements for the disposition of milk produced in this portion of the Worcester market supply area which are now threatened to be disrupted unless the nearby area is extended. While the affected producers could in most cases deliver their milk to pool plants under a Connecticut or Southeastern New England order and continue to receive a nearby differential, this could result in uneconomic and inefficient transportation and handling of milk.

One Worcester handler proposed that the Connecticut towns of Thompson, Union and Woodstock be added to the nearby area since this area represents his source of supply in Connecticut. Another handler with a multiple plant operation has producers with farms widely dispersed throughout that part of Connecticut east of the Connecticut River. At the expense of efficient transportation and handling of milk, this handler has shifted approximately 400 cans (about 35,000 lbs.) per day of milk which was formerly received at the Dudley, Massachusetts plant regulated under the Worcester order to his Connecticut pool plant located in Putnam, Connecticut in order that the producers involved could continue to receive the nearby differential in the manner of other producers similarly located. Such handler testified that he has been planning to close his Putnam plant in the near future and to transfer the operations at that plant to his Dudley plant under the Worcester order, but that this plan is being inhibited by the present nearby differential situation.

Retention of the milk as part of the Worcester market supply of these handlers would require them competitively to pay the equivalent of the nearby differential as an additional payment above the uniform price, thus placing them at a cost disadvantage with other Worcester handlers purchasing nearby milk.

Worcester handlers are at a disadvantage also in buying milk from farms located in Connecticut, in competition with Connecticut and Southeastern New England handlers. Extension of the nearby differential area would mitigate price differences existing among neighboring farms in Massachusetts and Connecticut from which milk is delivered to the same plant. Worcester handlers thus would be enabled to compete in the purchase of milk on reasonable terms with regulated handlers in adjacent markets. For competitive reasons and efficient marketing of milk, it is desirable that producers who could receive the nearby differential under adjacent markets be afforded similar opportunity under the Worcester order.

A cooperative association of producers operates a pool plant in the Worcester area and a pool plant in the Southeastern New England area. These plants serve as balancing and surplus disposal plants for the respective markets. During excess supply periods they provide an outlet for producer milk which for various reasons cannot be received at other pool plants. Projected construction of an expressway may force relocation of the Worcester plant. The producer association also is considering a program to combine the operations of both the Worcester and Southeastern New England plants in a new plant which could effectively serve both markets.

Need exists for better coordination of the nearby differential area under this order with similar areas under the Southeastern New England and Connecticut orders, where the milksheds overlap substantially that of the Worcester market. While the nearby differential areas of the Southeastern New England and Connecticut markets extend well into the nearby area of the Worcester milkshed, the reverse is not true at this time, i.e., the Worcester differential area does not extend as far into the nearby milkshed areas of the other two markets. The present pattern of differential areas does not permit the Worcester market equal competitive opportunity to secure milk which might well gravitate to that market as the natural market outlet. Expansion of the nearby differential area as proposed will mitigate this condition and thus assist in implementing in the Worcester market the amendments (affecting all New England orders) made effective September 1, 1960, which were designed to make possible ready shifts of milk among markets as market circumstances and the allocation of supplies require. It would not be reasonable to delay expansion of the Worcester differential area to the communities specified herein if the result would be to inhibit the potential shifting of plants or producers to effect efficient handling and to gain the best available outlets.

There is no indication that extension of the Worcester nearby differential to Eastern Connecticut, Rhode Island, and the counties of Bristol and Plymouth, Massachusetts will qualify immediately any substantial quantity of additional milk for differential payments in the Worcester market. The only plant (referred to above) with any substantial number of producers who would receive the nearby differential which is likely to be added to the Worcester market in the near future is essentially a fluid milk operation. If added, it would bring Class I sales to the Worcester pool, thus minimizing any possible reduction in the uniform price as the result of a wider application of such differentials.

Such extension will recognize the technological advances in the transportation and handling of milk which makes possible plant combinations and improved allocation of supplies among markets with overlapping milksheds. Such plant combinations also tend to make possible more efficient handling of the available supplies of nearby milk.

Although a representative of certain nearby producers testified that any substantial increase in the nearby differential area should be made only on the basis of joint consideration of such differential areas under the various New England orders, no testimony was offered which would indicate that the enlarged area adopted under the Worcester order would be improperly related to like areas under the other orders.

For these reasons the differential area should be revised as provided in this decision.

2. Need for emergency action effecting the proposed order changes. The changes hereinafter set forth were supported by the major cooperative association representing producers serving the market and by all handlers appearing at the hearing. Proponents requested emergency action. However, the problems outlined by proponents of the enlarged area, although significant and deserving of early solution, are not such as to provide a serious threat to the maintenance of orderly marketing conditions in the procurement area of the Worcester market.

Therefore, elimination of the recommended decision and the opportunity for exceptions thereon is not warranted.

Rulings on proposed findings and conclusions. A brief and proposed findings and conclusions were filed on behalf of an interested party. This brief, proposed findings and conclusions and the evidence in the record were considered in making the findings and conclusions set forth above. To the extent that the suggested findings and conclusions filed by such party are inconsistent with the findings and conclusions set forth herein, the requests to make such findings or reach such conclusions are denied for the reasons previously stated in this decision.

General findings. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) The tentative marketing agreement and the order, as hereby proposed to be amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the Act;

(b) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the Act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the proposed marketing agreement and the order, as hereby proposed to be amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(c) The tentative marketing agreement and the order, as hereby proposed to be amended, will regulate the handling of milk in the same manner as, and will be applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in, a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Recommended marketing agreement and order amending the order. The following order amending the order regulating the handling of milk in the Worcester, Massachusetts, marketing area is recommended as the detailed and appropriate means by which the foregoing conclusions may be carried out. The recommended marketing agreement is not included in this decision because the regulatory provisions thereof would be the same as those contained in the order, as hereby proposed to be amended:

1. Delete § 999.64(a) of the Worcester order and substitute therefor the following:

(a) With respect to milk delivered by a producer whose farm is located in Hampshire, Franklin, Hampden, Hampshire, Middlesex, Norfolk, Plymouth or Worcester Counties in Massachusetts, or in Rhode Island, or east of the Connecticut River in Connecticut or in the towns of Brookline, Greenville, Hinsdale, Hollis, Mason, or New Ipswich in New Hampshire, or Vernon, Vermont, there shall be added 46 cents per hundredweight, unless such addition gives a result greater than the Class I price pursuant to §§ 999.40 and 999.42 which is effective at the plant to which such milk is delivered in which event there shall be added an amount which will give as a result such price.

Issued at Washington, D.C., this 28th day of December 1960.

ROY W. LENNARTSON,
Deputy Administrator.

ICE CREAM, FRENCH ICE CREAM, ICE MILK, AND FRUIT SHERBETS; FROZEN DESSERTS; DEFINITIONS AND STANDARDS OF IDENTITY

Notice of Proposals To Amend Standards of Identity With Regard to the Optional Ingredients Mono- and Diglycerides

Notice is given that Distillation Products Industries, Rochester, New York, has filed a petition proposing that the subparagraphs designating mono- and diglycerides as permitted optional ingredients in the definitions and standards of identity for ice cream and fruit sherbets (21 CFR 20.1(f)(3) and 20.4 (e)(3)) be amended by adding at the end of each such subparagraph the following sentence: "When a preparation having a high proportion of monoglycerides (over 90 percent) is used, it may be preblended with edible fat in an amount not exceeding 20 percent by weight of such blend and the total amount of such blend used shall not exceed 0.2 percent of the weight of the finished frozen food."

Since the standards of identity for french ice cream and ice milk (21 CFR 20.2 and 20.3) are cross-referenced to the standard for ice cream, amending the ice cream standard as proposed would have the effect of similarly modifying the standards for french ice cream and ice milk.

Recently, there have become available supplies of fat-forming fatty acids that have been tested and found to be free of chickedema factor. Such supplies are suitable for production of mono- and diglycerides of such fatty acids. In recognition of this development, the Commissioner of Food and Drugs on his own initiative hereby proposes that the sentence "Monoglycerides or diglycerides or both from the glycerolysis of edible fats" as it occurs in paragraph (f)(3) of the standard for ice cream (21 CFR 20.1 (f)(3)) and in paragraph (e)(3) of the standard for fruit sherbets (21 CFR 20.4 (e)(3)) be changed to read "Monoglycerides or diglycerides or both of fat-forming fatty acids."

Pursuant to the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (secs. 401, 701, 52 Stat. 1046, 1055, as amended 70 Stat. 919, 72 Stat. 948; 21 U.S.C. 341, 371) and the authority delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs by the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare (25 F.R. 8625), all interested persons are invited to present their views in writing regarding the proposals published in this notice. Views and comments should be submitted in quintuplicate, addressed to the Hearing Clerk, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Room 5440, 330 Independence Avenue SW., Washington 25, D.C., prior to the thirtieth day following the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Dated: December 22, 1960.

Notice of Filing of Petition

Pursuant to the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 409(b)(5), 72 Stat. 1786; 21 U.S.C. 348(b)(5)), notice is given that a petition has been filed by Atlas Powder Company, Wilmington 99, Delaware, proposing the issuance of a regulation to provide for the safe use of polyoxyethylene (20) sorbitan tristearate as an emulsifier in cake mixes, alone or in combination with polyoxyethylene (20) sorbitan monostearate, as follows:

(1) It is used alone in an amount not to exceed 3,200 parts per million (0.32 percent).

(2) It is used in combination with polyoxyethylene (20) sorbitan monostearate in any combination providing no more than 4,600 parts per million (0.46 percent) of polyoxyethylene (20) sorbitan monostearate and no more than 3,200 parts per million (0.32 percent) of polyoxyethylene (20) sorbitan tristearate and providing a total combination not exceeding 4,600 parts per million (0.46 percent).

FEDERAL AVIATION AGENCY

[14 CFR Parts 600, 601, 608]

[Airspace Docket No. 60-WA-273]

FEDERAL AIRWAYS, CONTROL AREAS, CONTROL ZONES AND RESTRICTED AREAS

Revocation, Designation and Alteration of Restricted Areas, Designation of Control Zone, Revocation and Alteration of Control Area Extensions and Alteration of Federal Airway

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (14 CFR 409.13), notice is hereby given that the Federal Aviation Agency is considering an amendment to Part 601 and §§ 600.-6267, 601.1005, and 608.18 of the regulations of the Administrator, the substance of which is stated below.

The Federal Aviation Agency has under consideration the revocation of Jacksonville, Fla., Restricted Areas R-161A, R-161B, R-161C, and R-161D; designation of Restricted Areas at Stevens Lake, Putnam, and Switzerland, Fla.; and the alteration of Pinecastle, Fla., Restricted Area R-165. The Jacksonville Restricted Area R-161A is an area of approximately 1,403 square miles designated for bombing, gunnery and rocket training from the surface to unlimited. Restricted Area R-161B is an area of approximately 113 square miles designated for high density all-weather training from 5,000 feet MSL to unlimited. Restricted Area R-161C is an area of approximately 64 square miles designated for high density all-weather training from 8,000 feet MSL to unlimited. Restricted Area R-161D is an area of approximately 1,070 square miles designated for high density all-weather training from 15,000 feet MSL to unlimited. These areas comprise a total of approximately 2,650 square miles and are designated for continuous use. The controlling agency is Commander Fleet Air, NAS, Jacksonville.

A review by the FAA of the utilization of these areas indicates that an excessive amount of special use airspace is assigned to contain the aeronautical activity presently conducted therein by the Department of the Navy. This Notice represents the culmination of more than one year of intensive study of the activities in the R-161 complex and informal discussions between this Agency and the Navy in an attempt to arrive at a mutually satisfactory redescription of the restricted airspace needed to serve Navy requirements in the vicinity of Jacksonville. We have been unable to reach agreement primarily due to the contention of the Department of the Navy representatives that the restricted airspace which would be revoked (as outlined herein) is required to encompass flight training and terminal area flight operations to and from the Navy airfields within this complex. Navy representatives have pointed out the high volume of such flight operations and the fact that introduction of other air traffic into this area could result in delays to and disruption of such training activities, possibly resulting in these training programs falling behind the normal schedule. It is contrary to the policy of the Federal Aviation Agency and to the public interest to designate segments of restricted airspace to protect terminal area flight operations and routine flight training activities from interference and air traffic delays which are caused by the transit of the navigable airspace by other users. The normally acceptable level of air safety is properly obtained through adherence to applicable regulations and rules of good operating practice, rather than by limiting or otherwise restricting the flow of traffic. It is notable in this regard that none of the military services chooses to confine operations of this nature or volume solely to restricted airspace. Therefore, it is proposed to replace the R-161 complex with new Restricted Areas of smaller dimensions designated on a joint use basis, and reduce the size of the Pinecastle Restricted Area (R-165). This would provide sufficient airspace wherein the hazardous activities conducted by the Department of the Navy, NAS Jacksonville could be accommodated. These restricted areas are described as follows:

Stevens Lake, Fla., Restricted Area

Description by geographical coordinates. Within a 3 nautical mile radius centered at Lat. 29°53'20" N., Long. 82°01'25" W., and within ½ nautical mile either side of the 038° and 120° True bearings from the center extending from the 3 nautical mile radius to 7 nautical miles northeast and southeast of the center, excluding that area more than 2 statute miles from the center lying within 1 statute mile either side of the 220° True bearing from the center.

Designated altitudes. Surface to 14,000 feet MSL.

Time of designation. 0800 to 1630 e.s.t., Monday through Friday.

Controlling agency. Federal Aviation Agency, Jacksonville, Fla., Air Route Traffic Control Center.

Putnam, Fla., Restricted Area

Description by geographical coordinates. Within a 3 nautical mile radius of Lat. 29° 47'00" N., Long. 81°41'00" W.

Designated altitudes. Surface to 14,000 feet MSL.

Time of designation. 0800 to 1600 e.s.t., daily.

Controlling agency. Federal Aviation Agency, Jacksonville, Fla., Air Route Traffic Control Center.

Switzerland, Fla., Restricted Area

Description by geographical coordinates. Within a 3 nautical mile radius of Lat. 30° 03'00" N., Long. 81°37'00" W., excluding the portion east of a line extending from Lat. 30°05'30" N., Long. 81°35'10" W. to Lat. 30° 00'50" N., Long. 81°34'45" W.

Designated altitudes. Surface to 14,000 feet MSL.

Time of designation. 0800 to 1600 e.s.t., daily.

Controlling agency. Federal Aviation Agency, Jacksonville, Fla., Air Route Traffic Control Center.

The Switzerland Restricted Area would cause a reduction in the normal width of VOR Federal airway No. V-267 of one mile (a similar situation presently exists where R-161A overlaps this airway). However, this situation would only be temporary inasmuch as, upon completion of construction by the Navy of a replacement target complex in the vicinity of Rodman, Fla., approximately January 1, 1962, the Switzerland Restricted Area would be revoked and a new restricted area based on the Rodman target substituted therefor.

The Pinecastle, Fla., Restricted Area R-165 is presently designated within a six nautical mile radius of Lat. 39°06'52" N., Long. 81°42'55" W., from the surface to unlimited. Its time of designation is continuous. A review of this area indicates that the present area could be reduced and still adequately accommodate the activities conducted in R-165. This area would be designated as follows:

Pinecastle, Fla., Restricted Area R-165

Description by geographical coordinates. Within a 3¼-nautical mile radius of Lat. 29°06'52" N., Long. 81°42'55" W., with extensions ½ nautical mile either side of the 137° and 317° True bearings from the center, extending from the 3¼-mile radius to 7 nautical miles southeast and northwest of the center.

Designated altitudes. Surface to Flight Level 350.

Time of designation. 0800 to 2200 e.s.t., daily.

Controlling agency. Commander Fleet Air, NAS, Jacksonville.

In addition to the alteration of Restricted Areas near Jacksonville, the Federal Aviation Agency has under consideration the designation of a control zone southwest of Jacksonville and the redesignation of the Jacksonville control area extension (§ 601.1005).

The Jacksonville, Fla., control zone would be designated within a 5-mile radius of Jacksonville NAS (Lat. 30°14'00" N., Long. 81°41'00" W.), within a 5-mile radius of Cecil, Fla., NAS (Lat. 30°13'00" N., Long. 81°52'45" W.), within 2 miles either side of the 271° True radial of the Cecil VOR extending from the Cecil NAS 5-mile radius zone to 12 miles west of the VOR, within 2 miles either side of the 181° True radial of the Cecil VOR extending from the Cecil NAS 5-mile radius zone to 12 miles south of the VOR, within 2 miles either side of the 084° True radial of the Cecil VOR extending from the Cecil NAS 5-mile radius zone to the Jacksonville NAS 5-mile radius zone, within 2 miles either side of the 271° True radial of the Jacksonville NAS, TACAN extending from the Jacksonville NAS 5-mile radius zone to the Cecil NAS 5-mile radius zone, within 2 miles either side of the 097°, 127° and 231° True radials of the Jacksonville NAS TACAN extending from the Jacksonville NAS 5-mile radius zone to 6 miles east, southeast and southwest of the TACAN.

The Jacksonville, Fla., control area extension would be redesignated within 5 miles either side of the 064° True radial of the Jacksonville VOR extending from the VOR to 20 miles northeast and that airspace southwest of Jacksonville bounded on the north by VOR Federal airway No. 22, on the east by VOR Federal airway No. 267, on the south and west by a line beginning at Lat. 29°25'25" N., Long. 81°31'25" W., extending northwest to Lat. 29°33'50" N., Long. 81°47'50" W., thence southwest to Lat. 29°20'50" N., Long. 81°57'00" W., thence south along Long. 81°57'00" W., to the northern boundary of VOR Federal airway No. 159 thence along the northern boundary of Victor 159 to its intersection with VOR Federal airway No. 157 at Ocala, Fla., thence via the eastern boundary of VOR Federal airway No. 157 to its intersection with Victor 22.

The above control zone and control area extension would provide protection for aircraft executing prescribed instrument approach and departure procedures at the Cecil and Jacksonville Naval Air Stations and terminal operations within the greater Jacksonville terminal area.

In addition, the Ocala (§ 601.1431) and the Gainesville, Fla. (§ 601.1428) control area extensions would be revoked since the Jacksonville control area extension would provide adequate protection for IFR operations at the Gainesville Municipal Airport and the Ocala, Taylor Airport. The description of VOR Federal airway No. 267 would be amended to provide reference to the Switzerland Restricted Area in lieu of R-161A.

Interested persons may submit such written data, views or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate to the Chief, Air Traffic Management Field Division, Federal Aviation Agency, P.O. Box 1689, Fort Worth 1, Tex. All communications received within forty-five days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendment. No public hearing is contemplated at this time, but arrangements for informal conferences with Federal Aviation Agency officials may be made by contacting the Regional Air Traffic Management Field Division Chief, or the Chief, Airspace Utilization Division, Federal Aviation Agency, Washington 25, D.C. Any data, views or arguments presented during such conferences must also be submitted in writing in accordance with this notice in order to become part of the record for consideration. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received.

The official Docket will be available for examination by interested persons at the Docket Section, Federal Aviation Agency, Room B-316, 1711 New York Avenue NW., Washington 25, D.C. An informal Docket will also be available for examination at the office of the Regional Air Traffic Management Field Division Chief.

This amendment is proposed under section 307(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (72 Stat. 749; 49 U.S.C. 1348).

Issued in Washington, D.C., on December 28, 1960.

CHARLES W. CARMODY,
Chief, Airspace Utilization Division.

FEDERAL AIRWAYS, CONTROL AREAS AND REPORTING POINTS

Revocation

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (14 CFR 409.13), notice is hereby given that the Federal Aviation Agency is considering an amendment to Parts 600 and 601 of the regulations of the Administrator, the substance of which is stated below.

Blue Federal airway No. 39 extends from Philipsburg, Pa., to Elmira, N.Y. The Federal Aviation Agency is considering revoking Blue 39. It is the policy of this Agency to revoke L/MF airways wherever adequate VOR airways are available, and it appears that the route from Philipsburg to Elmira is adequately served by VOR Federal airway No. 35. In addition, the Federal Aviation Agency IFR peak-day airway traffic survey for the period July 1, 1959, through June 30, 1960, shows no aircraft operations on Blue 39. Therefore, it appears that the retention of this airway is unjustified as an assignment of airspace. Accordingly, the Federal Aviation Agency proposes to revoke Blue 39 and its associated control areas. Adoption of this proposal would not necessarily result in discontinuance of the low frequency navigational aids associated with Blue 39. Any proposal to discontinue one or more of these aids would be processed in accordance with current Agency procedures. In addition, § 601.4639, relating to reporting points on Blue 39, would be revoked.

Interested persons may submit such written data, views or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate to the Chief, Air Traffic Management Division, Federal Aviation Agency, Federal Building, New York International Airport, Jamaica 30, N.Y. All communications received within forty-five days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendment. No public hearing is contemplated at this time, but arrangements for informal conferences with Federal Aviation Agency officials may be made by contacting the Regional Air Traffic Management Division Chief, or the Chief, Airspace Utilization Division, Federal Aviation Agency, Washington 25, D.C. Any data, views or arguments presented during such conferences must also be submitted in writing in accordance with this notice in order to become part of the record for consideration. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received.

The official Docket will be available for examination by interested persons at the Docket Section, Federal Aviation Agency, Room B-316, 1711 New York Avenue NW., Washington 25, D.C. An informal Docket will also be available for examination at the office of the Regional Air Traffic Management Division Chief.

This amendment is proposed under section 307(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (72 Stat. 749; 49 U.S.C. 1348).

Issued in Washington, D.C. on December 23, 1960.

Chief, Airspace Utilization Division.

CONTROL AREAS

Designation of Control Area Extension

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (14 CFR 409.-13), notice is hereby given that the Federal Aviation Agency is considering an amendment to Part 601 of the regulations of the Administrator, the substance of which is stated below.

The Federal Aviation Agency has under consideration the designation of a control area extension at Deming, N. Mex., to include the area within a 40-mile radius of the Deming VOR extending clockwise from a line 5 miles northwest of and parallel to the 023° True radial to a line 5 miles southeast of and parallel to the 058° True radial of the VOR and bounded on the southwest by the 148° and 293° True radials of the Deming VOR. This control area extension would provide protection for aircraft executing the prescribed high altitude instrument approach procedure based on the Deming VOR.

Interested persons may submit such written data, views or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate to the Chief, Air Traffic Management Field Division, Federal Aviation Agency, P.O. Box 1689, Fort Worth 1, Tex. All communications received within forty-five days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendment. No public hearing is contemplated at this time, but arrangements for informal conferences with Federal Aviation Agency officials may be made by contacting the Regional Air Traffic Management Field Division Chief, or the Chief, Airspace Utilization Division, Federal Aviation Agency, Washington 25, D.C. Any data, views or arguments presented during such conferences must also be submitted in writing in accordance with this notice in order to become part of the record for consideration. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received.

The official Docket will be available for examination by interested persons at the Docket Section, Federal Aviation Agency, Room B-316, 1711 New York, Avenue N.W., Washington 25, D.C. An informal Docket will also be available for examination at the office of the Regional Air

Traffic Management Field Division Chief.

This amendment is proposed under section 307(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (72 Stat. 749; 49 U.S.C. 1348).

Issued in Washington, D.C. on December 23, 1960.

CONTROL AREAS

Designation of Control Area Extension

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (14 CFR 409.13), notice is hereby given that the Federal Aviation Agency is considering an amendment to Part 601 of the regulations of the Administrator, the substance of which is stated below.

The Federal Aviation Agency has under consideration the designation of a control area extension at Du Bois, Pa., to include the area within 8 miles northwest and 5 miles southeast of the 056° True bearing from the Du Bois, Pa., radio beacon extending from the radio beacon to 17 miles northeast, within 5 miles either side of the 238° True bearing from the Du Bois radio beacon extending from the radio beacon to the northern boundary of VOR Federal airway No. 6, and within 5 miles either side of the 148° True bearing from the Du Bois radio beacon extending from the radio beacon to the northern boundary of VOR Federal airway No. 6. This proposed control area extension would provide protection for aircraft operating under instrument flight rule conditions while executing prescribed instrument approach procedures at the Du Bois-Jefferson County Airport and while transitioning from the Brookville, Pa., and the Rockton, Pa., intersections to the Du Bois radio beacon prior to commencing approach procedures.

Interested persons may submit such written data, views or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate to the Chief, Air Traffic Management Division, Federal Aviation Agency, Federal Building, New York International Airport, Jamaica 30, N.Y. All communications received within forty-five days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendment. No public hearing is contemplated at this time, but arrangements for informal conferences with Federal Aviation Agency officials may be made by contacting the Regional Air Traffic Management Division Chief, or the Chief, Airspace Utilization Division, Federal Aviation Agency, Washington 25, D.C. Any data, views or arguments presented during such conferences must also be submitted in writing in accordance with this notice in order to become part of the record for consideration. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received.

The official Docket will be available for examination by interested persons at the Docket Section, Federal Aviation Agency, Room B-316, 1711 New York Avenue NW., Washington 25, D.C. An informal Docket will also be available for examination at the office of the Regional Air Traffic Management Division Chief.

This amendment is proposed under section 307(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (72 Stat. 749; 49 U.S.C. 1348).

Issued in Washington, D.C. on December 23, 1960.

[Airspace Docket No. 60-KC-86]

CONTROL AREAS AND CONTROL ZONES

Alteration

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (14 CFR 409.13), notice is hereby given that the Federal Aviation Agency is considering amendments to §§ 601.2075 and 601.1034 of the regulations of the Administrator, the substance of which is stated below.

The Springfield, Mo., control zone is presently designated within a 5-mile radius of the Springfield Municipal Airport and within 2 miles either side of the southeast and northwest courses of the Springfield radio range extending 10 miles northwest of the radio range and within 2 miles either side of the 019° and 199° True radials of the Springfield VOR extending from the Springfield Municipal Airport to a point 10 miles northeast of the VOR. The Springfield, Mo., control area extension is presently designated as all that area within a 25-mile radius of the Springfield radio range station.

The Federal Aviation Agency has under consideration the alteration of the Springfield control zone and the Springfield control area extension as follows:

1. Revoke the northwest control zone extension based on the Springfield radio range. This extension is no longer required since the prescribed instrument approach procedures are being changed so that protection would be provided by the 5-mile radius zone.

2. Alter the northeast control zone extension based on the Springfield VORTAC (formerly VOR) 019° and 199° True radials by terminating it at the VORTAC and by changing the designation from the 199° to the 200° True radial. The portion of this extension northeast of the VORTAC is in excess of that required for the protection of aircraft executing the prescribed VORTAC instrument approach procedure. The alignment of the control zone extension would be changed to coincide with the final approach course.

3. Redesignate the Springfield control area extension as the area within a 23-mile radius of the Springfield Airport extending clockwise from the western boundary of VOR Federal airway No. 71 southeast of the airport to the eastern boundary of VOR Federal airway No. 63 southwest of the airport. This revised control area extension in conjunction with the control areas associated with the airways converging at Springfield would provide adequate protection for aircraft executing prescribed instrument approach procedures to the Springfield, Mo., Airport.

If these actions are taken, the Springfield, Mo., control zone would be redesignated within a 5-mile radius of the Springfield Airport (Lat. 37°14'35" N, Long. 93°23'20" W.), and within 2 miles either side of the 200° True radial of the Springfield VORTAC extending from the 5-mile radius zone to the VORTAC. The Springfield control area extension would be redesignated as the area south of Springfield between VOR Federal airways No. 63 and 71 within a 23-mile radius of the Springfield, Mo., Airport (Lat. 37°14'35" N, Long. 93°23'20" W).

Interested persons may submit such written data, views or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate to the Chief, Air Traffic Management Field Division, Federal Aviation Agency, 4825 Troost Avenue, Kansas City 10, Mo. All communications received within forty-five days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendment. No public hearing is contemplated at this time, but arrangements for informal conferences with Federal Aviation Agency officials may be made by contacting the Regional Air Traffic Management Field Division Chief, or the Chief, Airspace Utilization Division, Federal Aviation Agency, Washington 25, D.C. Any data, views or arguments presented during such conferences must also be submitted in writing in accordance with this notice in order to become part of the record for consideration. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received.

The official Docket will be available for examination by interested persons at the Docket Section, Federal Aviation Agency, Room B-316, 1711 New York Avenue NW., Washington 25, D.C. An informal Docket will also be available for examination at the office of the Regional Air Traffic Management Field Division Chief.

This amendment is proposed under section 307(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (72 Stat. 749; 49 U.S.C. 1348).

Issued in Washington, D.C., on December 23, 1960.

[Airspace Docket No. 60-NY-146]

FEDERAL AIRWAYS AND CONTROL AREAS

Alteration

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (14 CFR 409.13), notice is hereby given that the Federal Aviation Agency is considering an amendment to §§ 600.6004 and 601.1067 of the regulations of the Administrator, the substance of which is stated below.

VOR Federal airway No. 4 extends in part from Louisville, Ky., to Lexington, Ky. Victor 4 north alternate between these two cities is aligned via the intersection of the Louisville VORTAC 083° and the Lexington VOR 294° True radials. The Lexington control area extension is designated as the airspace within a 40-mile radius of the Lexington VOR extending clockwise from VOR Federal airway No. 4, east of Lexington to VOR Federal airway No. 4 south alternate, west of Lexington; and within a 25-mile radius of the Lexington VOR extending clockwise from VOR Federal airway No. 4 south alternate, west of Lexington to VOR Federal airway No. 4, east of Lexington.

The Federal Aviation Agency has under consideration a proposal by the Air Transport Association of America to alter Victor 4 north alternate from Louisville to Lexington and the Lexington control area extension. It is proposed to redesignate Victor 4 north alternate from the Louisville VORTAC via the intersection of the Louisville VORTAC 081° and the Lexington VOR 303° True radials; to the Lexington VOR. This alteration would align Victor 4 north alternate over the Capitol City Airport, Frankfort, Ky., thereby facilitating the air traffic management of aircraft arriving and departing the Capitol City Airport from the Louisville and Lexington terminals. The control areas associated with Victor 4 north alternate are so designated that they would automatically conform to the altered segment. Accordingly, no amendment relating to such control areas would be necessary.

Concurrently, it is proposed to alter the Lexington control area extension to include the area north of Frankfort, bounded on the northeast by VOR Federal airway No. 97 west alternate, on the south by VOR Federal airway No. 4 north alternate, and on the northwest by VOR Federal airway No. 502. This addition to the Lexington control area extension would provide protection for aircraft executing prescribed instrument approach procedures at the Capitol City Airport.

Interested persons may submit such written data, views or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate to the Chief, Air Traffic Management Division, Federal Aviation Agency, Federal Building, New York International Airport, Jamaica 30, N.Y. All communications received within forty-five days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendment. No public hearing is contemplated at this time, but arrangements for informal conferences with Federal Aviation Agency officials may be made by contacting the Regional Air Traffic Management Division Chief, or the Chief, Airspace Utilization Division, Federal Aviation Agency, Washington 25, D.C. Any data, views or arguments presented during such conferences must also be submitted in writing in accordance with this notice in order to become part of the record for consideration. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received.

The official Docket will be available for examination by interested persons at the Docket Section, Federal Aviation Agency, Room B-316, 1711 New York Avenue N.W., Washington 25, D.C. An informal Docket will also be available for examination at the office of the Regional Air Traffic Management Division Chief.

This amendment is proposed under section 307(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (72 Stat. 749; 49 U.S.C. 1348).

Issued in Washington, D.C., on December 23, 1960.

[47 CFR Part 3]

[Docket No. 13905 (RM-202); FCC 60-1552]

TABLE OF ASSIGNMENTS

Television Broadcast Stations (Columbia, Camden, and Lancaster, S.C.)

1. Notice is hereby given of rule making in the above-entitled matter.

2. The Commission has before it for consideration a petition filed October 12, 1960, by Palmetto Radio Corporation, licensee of UHF Station WNOK-TV, authorized to operate on Channel 67+, Columbia, South Carolina, for rule making to amend Section 3.606, Table of Assignments, Television Broadcast Stations, as follows:

Location	Channels
	Present	Proposed
Columbia, S.C.	10-, *19+, 25-, 67+	10-, 14, 25-, *31-
Camden, S.C.	14	19+
Lancaster, S.C.	31-	67+

Petitioner also requests that the Commission direct it to show cause why its outstanding authorization for operation on Channel 67+ should not be modified to specify operation on Channel 14.

3. In support of its requests, petitioner asserts that:

(a) With the exception of Channel 67+, now occupied by petitioner, none of the channels which would be reallocated under this proposal is occupied by an operating station, so that the requested reallocation would not cause any loss of service; there never has been an operating station on Channel 14 in Camden, Channel 31- in Lancaster, or on Channel *19+ in Columbia, and a construction permit for a television station to operate on Channel 14 in Camden was recently cancelled by the Commission after it had noted that primary among the reasons given by the permittee for the delay in construction was its belief that the proposed station could not succeed financially under the present economic conditions in Camden; there is no immediate prospect of the use of either of the channels assigned to Camden or Lancaster, communities of approximately 7,000 each according to preliminary 1960 Census figures, and if applications for stations should be filed in the future, the needs of these small communities could be served by operations on Channels 19+ and 67+; no application has been filed for the use of Channel *19+ in Columbia so that the transfer of this channel to Camden and the subsequent designation of Channel 31- as Columbia's noncommercial educational channel would cause no inconvenience or hardship, and future applications for such a station could be adequately accommodated on Channel 31-;

(b) There is no application pending for the use of any of the channels which would be shifted under the proposal;

(c) The proposal is in complete compliance with the applicable minimum separation requirements specified in § 3.610 of the Commission's rules.

(d) Petitioner has filed comments (which it considers its first and basic proposal) in Docket No. 13340 in which it requested that the Commission allocate at least one additional VHF channel to Columbia and that petitioner be permitted to transfer its operations to a VHF channel so allocated; but in view of the fact that implementation of that proposal may not occur, or, that, if occurring, it may not occur until the passage of a great deal of time, petitioner is requesting the reallocation of channels in the instant rule-making proceeding;

(e) Before the filing of the aforementioned comments by petitioner in Docket No. 13340, First Carolina Corporation filed an application for a construction permit to construct a new television station on UHF Channel 25- in Columbia, and, since this would seriously jeopardize the survival of petitioner on high-band UHF Channel 67+, petitioner already being in competition with an established local VHF station and as many as ten VHF stations serving at least part of its service area, petitioner filed simultaneously with the instant petition an application for Channel 25-;

(f) If petitioner obtains a VHF channel under proceedings in Docket No. 13340, or if it obtains authority to operate on Channel 14 in the instant proceeding, it will withdraw its application for Channel 25—, but if neither of the aforementioned contingencies occurs, petitioner will pursue the appliaction for Channel 25— and endeavor to show it to be in the public interest to authorize their use of that channel.

4. Although not timely filed, First Carolina Corporation has herein filed comments in response to "Notice of Petition for Rule Making Filed" which favor the petition on the grounds that granting it will remove the present conflict involving Channel 25—, will provide a third television service to Columbia and will improve the UHF service to that city.

5. The Commission is of the view that rule making proceedings should be instituted in this matter in order that all interested parties may submit their views and relevant data.

6. If it is determined by the Commission that the rule amendments proposed herein will serve the public interest, the Commission will take such further action as may be appropriate with respect to outstanding authorizations. We accordingly defer action upon petitioner's request for issuance of an order to show cause.

7. Authority for the adoption of the amendment proposed herein is contained in section 4(i), 303, 307(b) and 316 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

8. Pursuant to applicable procedures set out in § 1.213 of the Commission's rules, interested persons may file comments on or before January 9, 1961, and reply comments on or before January 19, 1961. All submissions by parties to this proceeding or by persons acting in behalf of such parties must be made in written comments, reply comments, or other appropriate pleadings.

9. In accordance with the provisions of § 1.54 of the Commission's rules and regulations, an original and 14 copies of all written comments and statements shall be furnished the Commission.

Adopted: December 21, 1960.

Released: December 28, 1960.

ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION

NS SAVANNAH

Notice of Public Hearing

The NS Savannah, the first merchant vessel to be powered by atomic energy, has been undertaken as a joint project of the Atomic Energy Comission and the Maritime Administration pursuant to the Act of July 30, 1956, 70 Stat. 731, 46 U.S.C. 1206. The Atomic Energy Commission has the responsibility to provide a developed nuclear power plant for the NS Savannah and to assure the protection of the public health and safety in construction and operation of the nuclear power plant. This program, being performed under contract with the Commission, is exempt from the licensing requirements and procedures of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended. However, the Commission finds that, prior to initial loading of nuclear fuel in the NS Savannah, a public hearing should be held to permit public participation in the Commission's review of nuclear safety aspects of the vessel's construction, test and demonstration program.

Accordingly, and pursuant to section 161(c) of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended, notice is hereby given that a non-adjudicatory public hearing will be held at 10:00 a.m. on February 1, 1961, in the Auditorium of the Atomic Energy Commission at Germantown, Maryland. The hearing will be conducted by a presiding officer to be designated by the Chief Hearing Examiner of the Commission.

At the hearing, the presiding officer will receive testimony as to whether there is reasonable assurance that the NS Savannah nuclear power plant may be safely fueled and operated for test and demonstration purposes, at one or more locations, in accordance with the procedures set forth in the Final Safeguards Report for the NS Savannah. The hearing will cover the following: (1) reactor fueling, startup, and zero and low-level tests; (2) test operations at power; and (3) sea trials and propulsion plant demonstrations.

Testimony will be received from the following contractors: George C. Sharp, Inc. (naval architects); The Babcock & Wilcox Company (reactor designer and builder); and the New York Shipbuilding Corporation (shipbuilder and operator during test and demonstration program). Testimony will also be received from the Joint AEC-Maritime Group responsible for administration of the Savannah project, from the Atomic Energy Commission's Division of Compliance, from the Hazards Evaluation Staff of the Commission's Division of Licensing and Regulation and from the following bodies: Oak Ridge National Laboratory, United States Coast Guard, Public Health Service, and the American Bureau of Shipping.

Following the examination of the witnesses who present the above testimony, and any cross-examination by the presiding officer and by counsel for the above witnesses, statements will be received from interested members of the public who request permission to testify. These statements may be either written or oral; oral presentations shall not exceed 30 minutes. There will not be cross-examination or formal intervention by members of the public. Upon conclusion of the hearing, the record will be held open for an additional fifteen days for the filing of written statements by any member of the public.

When the hearing record is closed, the presiding officer will permit the participants to submit proposed findings of fact based upon the record. He will then transmit the entire hearing record to the Commission, and will make a recommended report thereon to the Commission, concerning which the participants may submit comments to the Commission. To the extent practicable, the Hearing Examiner will utilize the procedure provided in 10 CFR Part 2 of the Commission's rules of practice, with respect to the procedure provided in this paragraph. All hearings, papers, and documents in this proceeding shall be public, and a copy thereof shall be filed in the Public Document Room. Upon consideration of the hearing record and such additional information as it deems necessary and appropriate, the Commission will decide whether to authorize startup, test operation and sea trials, and if so, will prescribe such conditions as may be warranted.

Notice is hereby given that the Final Safeguards Report submitted by the contractors and the reports of the Atomic Energy Commission's Advisory Committee on Reactor Safeguards in this matter are available for public inspection at the AEC Public Document Room, 1717 H Street NW., Washington, D.C. Requests by members of the public to submit written or oral statements at the public hearing, and written statements offered for the record, may be submitted by mailing to the Secretary, Atomic Energy Commission, Washington 25, D.C.

Dated at Germantown, Md., this 27th day of December 1960.

For the Atomic Energy Commission.

WOODFORD B. MCCOOL,
Secretary.

NOTICE OF NEW TIMING CODE ON WWV

On January 1, 1961, the National Bureau of Standards will commence a regular broadcast from WWV of a timing code which gives the day, hour, minute and second (Universal Time) and which is locked in phase to the frequency and time signals. The code is a 36 binary digit 100 pulses per second code carried on 1000 cycles per second modulation. A complete time frame is one second. The code will be broadcast for 1 minute intervals and 10 times per hour. Except at the beginning of each hour, it immediately follows the standard frequencies of 440 and 600 cycles per second. The code was broadcast experimentally during the interval, April to August 1960, and is described in "Experimental Timing Code Added to WWV Broadcasts," NBS Technical News Bulletin, Vol. 44, No. 7, pp. 114–115, July 1960.

[Docket No. 13900; FCC 60-1526]

GENERAL TELEPHONE COMPANY OF CALIFORNIA

Memorandum Opinion and Order Designating Matter for Hearing on Stated Issues

In re application of General Telephone Company of California, Docket No. 13900, File No. 557-C2-P-61; for a construction permit to establish a new two-way common carrier station in the Domestic Public Land Mobile Radio Service at Santa Barbara, California (Station KME440).

1. Sylvan B. Malis, d/b as Coast Mobilphone Service (hereinafter called Protestant), licensee of Domestic Public Land Mobile Radio station KMD348 in Santa Barbara, California, on November 23, 1960 timely filed herein a protest and petition for reconsideration pursuant to sections 309(c) and 405, respectively, of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, with respect to the grant without hearing, on October 18, 1960, of the above indicated application of General Telephone Company of California (hereinafter called General). The contested application is for a construction permit to provide a new two-way communication service in the Domestic Public Land Mobile Radio Service at Santa Barbara, California. General timely filed its opposition on December 5, 1960, and Protestant timely filed its reply thereto on December 13, 1960.

THE PROTEST

2. In support of his protest, Protestant asserts that he is a party in interest within the meaning of section 309(c) of the Communications Act, since Protestant is a miscellaneous common carrier[1] licensee of two-way station KMD348 in the Domestic Public Land Mobile Radio Service at Santa Barbara, California and that the Commission's grant of the captioned matter adversely affects the Protestant in that it authorizes a new two-way radio communications service which will be in direct competition with Protestant's station. Protestant alleges that station KMD348 is, at present, operating at only one-third its capacity in spite of active efforts to expand service and increase the number of subscribers; that General has failed to make any specific showing of public need for additional facilities; that General's proposed service would only divide the market, diminish Protestant's revenues, and threaten the continuation of service by station KMD348, which can only result in deterioration of service to the public. Protestant further alleges that General does not have a right to use the proposed transmitter site on Lavigia Hill in Santa Barbara, as specified in General's application; that the Public Utilities Commission of the State of California instituted proceedings, on September 1, 1960, in its Case No. 6945, to determine whether the miscellaneous common carriers operating in the Domestic Public Land Mobile Radio Services should be brought under the regulation of that Commission; that the staff of the State Commission has indicated that the miscellaneous Domestic Public Land Mobile Radio Service carriers should be treated as natural monopolies, having the right to a certain degree of area exclusivity; that, as a result of the California Public Utilities Commission action, the City Council of Santa Barbara, on October 18, 1960, postponed until November 22, 1960 considerations of General's request to use the proposed transmitter-antenna site.

3. Protestant requests that the application be stayed and designated for hearing.

OPPOSITION TO THE PROTEST

4. General asserts that it is a "telephone corporation" within the meaning of section 234 of the Public Utilities Code of California and is now providing local telephone service to certain communities in Southern and Central California, including the City and County of Santa Barbara, under a certificate of public convenience and necessity issued by the State Public Utilities Commission; that the rates, charges, practices, classifications and regulations for the proposed mobile telephone service will be as set forth in General's tariff now on file with the State Public Utilities Commission; that General's service will afford both a "general" and "dispatch" service as defined in § 21.1[2] of our rules and will be a part of, and interconnected with, the toll and exchange network of General and its connecting carriers; that Protestant offers only a "dispatch" service which is not interconnected with the toll and exchange network of any landline telephone company; that General will, thus, provide a needed service which Protestant cannot offer; that General's survey of the area has indicated a need for the type of service proposed by General; that the order of the California Public Utilities Commission in Case No. 6945 is directed against all miscellaneous common carriers in California, including Protestant; that neither General nor any other landline company has been made a party to this proceeding; that the California case is, in no way, concerned with the principle of exclusivity of service between miscellaneous common carriers, on the one hand, and landline telephone companies, on the other; that the California Commission staff did not recommend exclusivity of service areas as between miscellaneous common carriers and landline telephone companies but, rather, predicated the need for a rule of exclusivity on the limited number of frequencies available for public mobile use in most communities; that, under § 21.501 (b) and (c) of our rules, separate and distinct groups of frequencies are authorized for miscellaneous common carriers and landline telephone companies; that no final decision by the California Public Utilities Commission has been made; and that a delay of General's proposed service, pending ultimate resolution of the issues before the California Commission, would not be in the public interest; that, as a result of a meeting of the City Council of Santa Barbara on November 22, 1960, relative to General's request to use the Vic Trace Reservoir site as its transmitter-antenna location, the City Clerk, by letter of November 23, 1960, advised General that the proposed site is on city owned property and is currently zoned for residential only (even though several other transmitters, including Protestant's are located in the same area); that a special use permit is required and that the City Council will withhold further consideration of the matter until a recommendation is received on the conditional use permit. General indicated that it will file, within a few days, application for the conditional use permit and that, should such permit be denied, it will then seek appropriate modification of its construction permit. For these reasons, General requests that the Protest be denied, or, in the alternative, that the Commission not stay the grant pending hearing, if a hearing is found necessary.

5. The reply to the opposition, filed on December 13, 1960, has also been considered in the disposition hereof.

DISPOSITION OF THE PROTEST

6. Upon the allegations of adverse economic impact, we find and conclude that Protestant is a party in interest. The matters relating to competition appear to require determination upon a hearing record, consistent with views set forth in the next paragraph. The question relative to the antenna site also requires exploration.

7. General's request that the captioned grant now be stayed pending disposition of the protest must be granted. The record now before us shows that General will offer both a "general" and "dispatch" communication service which will be interconnected with the toll and exchange network of General and connecting carriers (which service Protestant does not afford) and that General's survey of the area showed an interest in such service by potential users. Accordingly, it appears that there is an implicit, if not explicit, public need for such service. It further appears that the Commission, in its Report and Order adopted April 27, 1949 in the matter of general mobile service (FCC Docket Nos. 8658, 8965, 8972, 8973, 8974, 9001, 9018, 9046 and 9047) stated, in part, in connection with the disposition of Docket No. 8658—

> The Commission has, in the disposition of this docket and the related proceedings, made provision for a host of non-common carrier communications services, including the taxicab service, as well as providing for the development of competitive communications common carrier systems. In the latter case, we have taken particular care to provide a family of frequencies within which the development of common carrier mobile radio systems by enterprises other than existing telephone companies may take place. These dispositions have been effected advisedly, and with the purpose, among others, of fostering the development of competing systems, techniques, and equipments.

The principles announced in the above quoted Docket are implemented in § 21.501 (b) and (c) of the rules applicable to this service, wherein separate and exclusive groups of frequencies are allocated for miscellaneous common carriers and landline telephone companies. Our stated purpose of fostering the development of competing systems, techniques and equipment has, in the light of experience since 1949, proved to be salutary and the pleadings in the matter now before us do not alter this view. For all of these reasons, we find and conclude that the public interest requires that this grant remain in effect pending final determination hereof.

8. Accordingly, it is ordered, That the protest is allowed and the matter is designated for hearing upon the following issues substantially as proposed by the Protestant, with necessary editorial changes:

A. To determine the nature and extent of service proposed by General, including rates, charges, practices, classifications, regulations, personnel and facilities pertaining thereto.

B. To determine the nature and extent of the service now provided by Protestant over the facilities of station KMD348, including the rates, charges, practices, classifications, regulations, personnel and facilities pertaining thereto.

C. To determine the areas and population served by Protestant's station KMD348.

D. To determine the area and population to be served by General's proposed facilities.

E. To determine the need for the proposed service of General, and the nature and extent of any benefits to the public which would accrue as a result of General's proposed service.

F. To determine whether any disadvantage to the public will accrue as a result of General's proposed service.

[1] Counsel should be prepared to advise the Examiner as to: (1) The availability of 1960 U.S. Census population data; and (2) whether waivers of § 3.28(c) will in fact be involved with respect to their particular applications.

[1] A "miscellaneous" common carrier is one which does not operate an associated landline telephone facility—but only operates a mobile radio facility. (See § 21.1 of Commission rules). Typically at the present time, such MCC services are not interconnected with telephone landline facilities. Protestant here does not allege that he is interconnected or that he has sought, or will seek such interconnection.

[2] Section 21.1 of our rules defines "general" and "dispatch" service as follows: Dispatch communication. Two-way voice communication, normally of not more than one minute's duration, between common carrier base and land mobile stations, or between a common carrier land mobile station and a landline telephone station not connected to a public message telephone system. General communication. Two-way voice communication, through a base station, between a common carrier land mobile station and a landline telephone station connected to a public message landline telephone system, or between two common carrier land mobile stations via a base station.

G. To determine whether the proposed antenna site as described in the subject application is available for use by General.

H. To determine whether, in the light of the determinations made upon the foregoing issues, the Commission should sustain the protest and set aside the grants of the applications herein.

9. It is further ordered, That General may construct and implement the captioned facilities pursuant to the terms and conditions stated in the protested construction permit, pending a final decision by the Commission with respect to the evidentiary hearing herein provided; and

10. It is further ordered, That the hearing on the issues specified above shall be held at the Commission's offices in Washington, D.C. on a date, and before an Examiner, to be announced in a subsequent order; and

11. It is further ordered, That the burden of proof on issues A, D, E and G, which are adopted by the Commission, is placed on General, and the burden of proof on issues B, C, F and H, which are not specifically adopted by the Commission, is placed on the Protestant; and

12. It is further ordered, That the Protestant and the Chief, Common Carrier Bureau are made parties to the proceedings herein; and

13. It is further ordered, That the parties desiring to participate herein shall file their appearance on or before the time specified in § 1.140 of our rules; and

14. It is further ordered, That Protestant's request that the Commission, pursuant to section 405 of our Act, reconsider its action granting the captioned application is, in view of the action taken above, dismissed as moot.

ALLOCATION OF FREQUENCY BANDS FOR SPACE COMMUNICATIONS

Supplement to Notice of Inquiry

1. On May 18, 1960 the Commission adopted a Notice of Inquiry in this proceeding, calling for initial comments on or before March 1, 1961, on eight specific issues. Developments in recent months point up the need for an early concentration of effort in some areas of interest and for an expansion of the original issues. The Commission therefore wishes (1) to focus attention on a more clearly delineated "issue three" with the hope that interested parties will concentrate their efforts thereon for the March 1 filing; (2) to introduce a new but corollary issue—the selection of sites for earth terminals; and (3) to amend its request with regard to the number of copies of reports to be filed in this proceeding.

2. Issue three is revised herewith to read as follows:

Under what conditions can frequency bands for space communication be shared with other services—

a) in the case of passive relays?
b) in the case of active relays?
c) in the case of other space systems and functions?

Replies to this question should recognize that the emissions of the sharing services may be incompatible and should specify (1) the type of sharing service, i.e., fixed, mobile, radionavigation, etc., (2) transmitter powers, (3) antenna gains and orientations, (4) geographical separations, (5) the minimum angle above the horizon to which the earth terminal antennas will be oriented, (6) orbital characteristics of the satellite system being considered, i.e., altitude, degree of randomness, orbital plane, with or without attitude control, with or without station-keeping, etc., (7) the area to be served by the space system, if other than world-wide, and (8) any other pertinent information.

3. A new issue, No. 9, is added herewith to this proceeding:

9. Assuming, at least initially, (1) that existing surface communications must continue to function, and (2) that geographical separation is the key to successful sharing of frequency bands; it appears that earth terminals should be located in sparsely settled areas, away from concentrations of communication installations. Therefore, should the Commission, on the basis of criteria developed pursuant to the new issue three, give consideration to amending its rules at an early date to establish protected geographical areas to be held in reserve for the installation of future earth terminals for civil communication systems via space relays? If such a concept were adopted, it might be advisable to prohibit, for example, the use of certain frequency bands between 1215 Mc and 10,000 Mc within "X" miles of a given site for all uses other than space communication. Comments are requested on geographical areas which might be appropriate for such a protected reserve status and the frequency limits between which it would be applied.

4. Because of the wide interest being displayed in the general subject of space communication, and the difficulties encountered in reproducing voluminous reports, it is requested that thirty copies of each report be filed in this proceeding rather than fifteen as originally specified. Initial comments in this proceeding are still to be filed on March 1, 1961. As announced in the original notice, subsequent reports on all issues in this proceeding may be filed upon dates to be specified by further orders of this Commission.

5. Clause 1 of the first paragraph of this supplemental notice reflects the urgency with which the Commission views the subject matter of space communications. In view of that urgency the Commission does not deem itself precluded during the pendency of this proceeding from undertaking or authorizing such research activities and functions with respect to space communications as it deems appropriate.

Adopted: December 21, 1960.

Released: December 28, 1960.

FEDERAL REGISTER

VOLUME 25 Number 254

Washington, Saturday, December 31, 1960

Regulations of the Secretary of Defense

Title 32—NATIONAL DEFENSE

Chapter I—Office of the Secretary of Defense

REORGANIZATION AND REVISION OF CHAPTER

32 CFR Chapter I has been recodified in its entirety, except for Subchapter A—Armed Services Procurement Regulations, which retains its present numbering of Parts 1 to 30.

For convenient reference, there is shown below a table listing the former part numbers, their headings, and their newly assigned part numbers. Following that is the new Table of Contents, and a reprint of all regulations in Chapter I published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on or before November 30, 1960, and effective as to facts arising on or after December 1, 1960. Not included in this reprint is the former Part 71 of Subchapter E—Armed Forces Industrial Defense Regulations, since publication of this document in the FEDERAL REGISTER and Code of Federal Regulations has been discontinued.

NOTE: All of the regulations in this chapter, except the Armed Services Procurement Regulations (Subchapter A), have been reorganized and renumbered. The following table lists the former part numbers and headings, and indicates their position in the reorganized chapter.

Subpart A—Introduction

§ 1.100 Scope of subpart.

This subpart sets forth (a) introductory information pertaining to the subchapter (its purpose, applicability, content, and arrangement), and (b) instructions for amending, implementing, disseminating, and deviating from the subchapter.

§ 1.101 Purpose of subchapter.

This subchapter, issued by the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Supply and Logistics) by direction of the Secretary of Defense, and in coordination with the Secretaries of the Army, Navy, and Air Force, establishes for the Department of Defense, uniform policies and procedures, relating to the procurement of supplies and services under the authority of chapter 137, Title 10 of the United States Code, or under other statutory authority.

§ 1.102 Applicability of subchapter.

This subchapter shall apply to all purchases and contracts made by the Department of Defense, within or outside the United States, for the procurement of supplies or services which obligate appropriated funds (including available contract authorizations), unless otherwise specified herein (but see § 1.109-4).

§ 1.103 Arrangement of subchapter.

§ 1.103-1 General plan.

The subchapter is divided into parts, each one of which deals with a separate aspect of procurement, and each part is further subdivided into subparts and sections.

§ 1.103-5 Dating contract clauses.

Contract clauses in this subchapter are identified by showing the month and year of issuance of the clause, as most recently revised, in parentheses immediately after the title, e.g. Incentive Price Revision (Jul. 1958). Where an alternative paragraph is provided for insertion in a clause, the identifying date is shown in parentheses immediately following the text of the paragraph. In contract forms using ASPR clauses, each clause should be shown with its identifying date in the manner prescribed above, except that (a) standard forms are not subject to this requirement and (b) Department of Defense forms and Departmental forms that were issued prior to October 1, 1960 should not be revised solely to meet this requirement. Where a clause to be used in a contract represents a deviation from this subchapter, a date will not be shown.

§ 1.104 Content of subchapter.

This subchapter will contain policies and procedures relating to the procurement of supplies and services and is designed to achieve maximum uniformity throughout the Department of Defense. Hence, implementation of this subchapter by the Military Departments should be kept to a minimum. This subchapter will be amended, from time to time, to set forth improved procedures which reduce contract preparation time, simplify and standardize contract forms within the Department of Defense, and improve the contracting process by standardizing procedures and instructions. In this connection, personnel at all levels, particularly the contracting level, are encouraged to submit through appropriate channels suggestions, based on operating experience, to reduce administrative burden, simplify contract forms and procedures, and otherwise accomplish the foregoing objectives.

§ 1.105 Amendment of subchapter.

This subchapter may be amended from time to time by the issuance of "Revisions", by the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Supply and Logistics) after coordination with the Secretaries of the Army, Navy, and Air Force. Unless otherwise directed in a particular case by the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Supply and Logistics), proposed amendments shall be submitted to the Armed Services Procurement Regulation Committee. Proposals for amendments originating within the military departments shall be submitted to the Chairman of the Armed Services Procurement Regulation Committee by the departmental members of the Committee. However, where unusual circumstances warrant, the Secretaries may submit proposals for amendments to the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Supply and Logistics).

§ 1.106 Other Department of Defense publications.

§ 1.106-1 Department of Defense directives and instructions.

Policies and procedures concerned primarily with procurement may be published in Department of Defense directives or instructions under any of the following circumstances:

(a) When the subject matter is classified.

(b) When the subject matter is not suitable for inclusion in this subchapter.

(c) As an interim measure, pending subsequent incorporation in the subchapter.

(d) When the policy or procedure is expected to be effective for a period of less than 6 months.

§ 1.106-2 Memorandums addressed to the Secretaries.

When the subject matter relates to one-time requests for information or instructions on a particular or individual matter, memorandums may be addressed to the Secretaries of the military departments.

§ 1.107 Dissemination and effective date of the subchapter and revisions.

This subchapter, and revisions thereof, will be distributed by the Departments to all interested activities and individuals. The military departments shall obtain from the Government Printing Office the number of copies of this subchapter, and revisions thereof, as are required to make distribution to all interested activities and individuals in each respective department. Revisions of this subchapter shall be effective at all applicable echelons 90 days after date of issuance, unless otherwise prescribed in any such revision.

§ 1.108 Publications of the Military Departments.

The Military Departments and procuring activities may issue directives and other publications to implement the Armed Services Procurement Regulation and other Department of Defense publications mentioned in § 1.106. Such implementation shall consist of providing for such delegations of authority and assignment of responsibilities and only such other implementing actions as are essential to the respective procurement operations of the Departments. Duplication of this subchapter shall be avoided to the extent feasible. In areas which are not fully covered by this subchapter, each Military Department may, consistent with the provisions of this subchapter, and other Department of Defense publications mentioned in § 1.106, maintain and issue such policies and procedures as are necessary for the efficient performance of procurement operations: Provided, however, That no Department shall adopt any policy or procedure (including methods, systems, instructions, practices, and contract clauses) which involves a major policy question without first coordinating with the other Military Departments through the ASPR Committee and obtaining the approval of the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Supply and Logistics) or, alternatively at the option of the Materiel Secretary through use of the Materiel Secretaries' Weekly Conference. Such approval involving Departmental publications shall be secured in advance unless exigency of the situation requires immediate action. Secretaries will determine whether a major policy question is involved. One copy of Departmental publications and directives (including those of procuring activities) will be furnished to the other Military Departments and to the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Supply and Logistics).

§ 1.109 Deviations from this subchapter and Department of Defense publications governing procurement.

§ 1.109-1 Applicability.

For the purposes of this section, a deviation shall be considered to be any of the following:

UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN LIBRARIES

(a) When a prescribed contract clause is set forth verbatim in this subchapter or a Department of Defense Directive, use of a contract clause covering the same subject matter which varies from the subchapter coverage or a Directive constitutes a deviation.

(b) When a Standard, DD, or other form is prescribed by subchapter or a Department of Defense Directive, use of any other form for the same purpose constitutes a deviation.

(c) Alteration of a Standard, DD, or other form (other than Departmental forms), except as authorized by subchapter or a Department of Defense Directive constitutes a deviation.

(d) When limitations are imposed in subchapter or a Department of Defense Directive upon the use of a contract clause, form, procedure, type of contract, or any other procurement action, including but not limited to the making or amendment of a contract, or actions taken in connection with the solicitation of bids or proposals, award, administration or settlement of contracts, the imposition of lesser or greater limitations constitutes a deviation.

(e) When a policy, procedure, method or practice of conducting procurement actions of any kind at any stage of the procurement process is covered by this subchapter, any policy, procedure, method, or practice which is inconsistent with that set forth constitutes a deviation.

§ 1.109–2 Deviations affecting one contract or transaction.

Deviations from this subchapter or a Department of Defense Directive which affect only one contract or procurement may be made or authorized in accordance with Departmental procedures: Providing, (a) Special circumstances justify a deviation and (b) written notice of such deviations is furnished to the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Supply and Logistics) and to the other Military Departments. Such written notice shall be given in advance of the effective date of such deviations unless exigency of the situation requires immediate action.

§ 1.109–3 Deviations affecting more than one contract or contractor.

Except as authorized in § 1.109–2, deviations from this subchapter or a Department of Defense Directive will not be effected unless approved in advance by the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Supply and Logistics): Provided however, That unanimous approval by the members of the ASPR Committee will constitute approval of the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Supply and Logistics) of all matters except those involving major policy. Written requests for such approval will be submitted to the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Supply and Logistics) through the ASPR Committee as far in advance as exigencies of the situation will permit, or alternatively, at the option of the Materiel Secretary concerned, through use of the Materiel Secretaries' Weekly Conference.

§ 1.109–4 Conflicts between Government-to-Government agreements and this subchapter.

In the event of any specific conflict between the provisions of this subchapter and any treaty or executive agreement to which the United States is a party, such treaty or agreement will govern: Provided, however, If such conflict affects a provision of this subchapter which is based on the requirements of law, such conflict shall, in accordance with Departmental procedures, be referred to the ASPR Committee for consideration. Any procurement action which constitutes a deviation from a provision of this subchapter based on a requirement of law shall be held in abeyance pending consideration by the ASPR Committee.

§ 1.110 Reports of purchases and contracts.

Periodic and special reports on purchases and contracts are prescribed by the Department of Defense. These reports are designed to meet statutory and other Congressional requirements, requirements of Federal agencies, and provide all levels of management with data on which to formulate procurement policy as well as to determine the extent of adherence to prescribed policy. Basic to the preparation of all these regular and special reports, so far as they affect individual contracting officers, is DD Form 350 (Individual Procurement Action Report) (§ 16.807). Each item of this form enters into the preparation of reports furnished the President, the Congress, and other Federal agencies, and is used for management purposes within the Department of Defense. The accuracy, completeness, and timeliness of these reports are fully dependent on the careful preparation and prompt submission of DD Form 350.

§ 1.111 Reports of suspected criminal conduct and non-competitive practices.

§ 1.111–1 Suspected criminal conduct.

Reports of possible violations of Federal criminal statutes relating to procurement shall be made by each respective Department in accordance with procedures prescribed by that Department. Department of Defense policies and procedures with respect to the debarment, ineligibility, and suspension of bidders are set forth in Subpart F of this Part 1.

§ 1.111–2 Non-competitive practices.

(a) Unless bids or proposals are genuinely competitive, contract prices tend to be higher than they should be. If the Secretary concerned or his representative considers that any bid received after formal advertising evidences a violation of the antitrust laws, he is required by 10 U.S.C. 2305(d) to refer such bids to the Attorney General for appropriate action. Similarly, evidence of such violations in negotiated procurements should be referred to the Attorney General. Practices which are designed to eliminate competition or restrain trade and which may evidence possible violations of such laws include collusive bidding, follow-the-leader pricing, rotated low bids, uniform estimating systems, sharing of the business, identical bids, etc.

(b) Contracting officers will report such practices in accordance with Departmental procedures. Reports of identical or equal bids or proposals should not be submitted automatically, but only where there is some reason to believe that those bids or proposals may not have been arrived at independently. Such reports should be accompanied by conformed copies of bid or proposal and contract documents and by other supporting data. The report should set forth:

(1) The non-competitive pattern or situation under consideration;

(2) Purchase experience in the same product or service for a reasonable period of time (one or more years) prior to the receipt of the bids or proposals under consideration, including unit and total contract price and abstracts of bids;

(3) Community of financial interest among bidders, insofar as is known;

(4) The extent, if any, to which specification requirements or patents restrict competition;

(5) Information which may be available with respect to the pricing system employed in bids or proposals believed to reflect non-competitive practices; and

(6) Any other information deemed pertinent.

(c) Evidence of non-competitive bid practices which, in the opinion of the Secretary concerned or his representative, may violate the antitrust laws shall be forwarded to the Attorney General.

§1.112 Federal procurement regulations and General Services Administration regulations relating to procurement of supplies and services.

All policy and procedural matter of Federal Procurement Regulations (See Chapter I of Title 41) and General Services Administration regulations which are to be made applicable to the Department of Defense and are within the scope of this subchapter will be codified herein prior to compliance therewith by the Military Departments. The applicable Department of Defense Directives covering the assignments of responsibility for the purchasing of specific supplies under Interagency Purchase Assignment will be incorporated by reference in this subchapter. For Department of Defense implementation of Federal Supply Schedules, see § 5.103.

§ 1.113 Code of conduct.

All governmental personnel engaged in procurement and related activities shall conduct business dealings with industry in a manner above reproach in every respect. Transactions relating to expenditure of public funds require the highest degree of public trust to protect the interests of the Government. While many Federal laws and regulations place restrictions on the actions of Governmental personnel, the latter's official conduct must, in addition, be such that the individual would have no reticence about making a full public disclosure thereof.

Subpart B—Definitions of Terms

§ 1.201 Definitions.

As used throughout this subchapter, the following terms shall have the meanings set forth below:

§ 1.201–1 Change order.

"Change order" means a written order, signed by the contracting officer, directing the contractor to make changes which the Changes clause of the contract (§§ 7.103–2 and 7.203–2 of this subchapter) authorizes the contracting officer to order without the consent of the contractor.

§ 1.201–2 Contract modification.

Contract modification means any written alteration in the specification, delivery point, rate of delivery, contract period, price, quantity, or other contract provisions of an existing contract, whether accomplished by unilateral action in accordance with a contract provision, or by mutual action of the parties to the contract. It includes (a) bilateral actions such as supplemental agreements, and (b) unilateral actions such as change orders, administrative notices of the exercise of a contract changes, notices of termination, and option.

§ 1.201–3 Contracting officer.

"Contracting officer" means any officer or civilian employee of any military department who, in accordance with departmental procedures, has been or shall be designated a contracting officer (and whose designation has not been terminated or revoked) with the authority to enter into and administer contracts and make determinations and findings with respect thereto, or any part of such authority, as hereinafter provided.

§ 1.201–4 Contracts.

"Contracts" means all types of agreements and orders for the procurement of supplies or services. It includes awards and notices of award; contracts of a fixed-price, cost, cost-plus-a-fixed-fee, or incentive type; contracts providing for the issuance of job orders, task orders or task letters thereunder; letter contracts, letters of intent, and purchase orders. It also includes amendments and supplemental agreements with respect to any of the foregoing.

§ 1.201–5 Department and Military Department.

"Department and Military Department" include the Department of the Army, the Department of the Navy, and the Department of the Air Force.

§ 1.201–6 Department of Defense.

"Department of Defense" comprises the Office of the Secretary of Defense and the military departments.

§ 1.201–7 Head of a procuring activity.

"Head of a procuring activity" includes, for the Army, the chiefs of the technical services, the Zone of Interior Army commanders, the Chief of the National Guard Bureau, the Commanding General of the Military District of Washington, U. S. Army and the commanding generals of the major oversea commands; for the Navy, the Chief of each Bureau, the Chief of Naval Research, the Aviation Supply Officer, the Commander, Military Sea Transportation Service, and the Commandant of the United States Marine Corps; for the Air Force, the Commander, Air Materiel Command. It also includes the Executive Director of the Military Medical Supply Agency, the Executive Director of the Military Petroleum Supply Agency, and the head of any other procuring activity hereafter established. The number and designation of Heads of Procuring Activities within any military department may be changed by directive of the Secretary.

§ 1.201–8 Includes.

"Includes" means "includes but is not limited to."

§ 1.201–9 Labor surplus area concern.

See § 1.801–1.

§ 1.201–10 May.

"May" is used in a permissive sense. The words "no person may * * *" mean that no person is required, authorized, or permitted to do the act prescribed.

§ 1.201–11 Negotiate and negotiation.

"Negotiate and negotiation," when applied to the making of purchases and contracts, refer to making purchases and contracts without formal advertising.

§ 1.201–12 Possessions.

"Possessions" includes the Virgin Islands, the Canal Zone, Guam, American Samoa, Midway Island, and the guano islands, but does not include any territory or Puerto Rico.

§ 1.201–13 Procurement.

"Procurement" includes purchasing, renting, leasing, or otherwise obtaining supplies or services.

§ 1.201–14 Procuring activity.

"Procuring activity" includes, for the Army, the technical services, the continental armies, the National Guard Bureau, the Military District of Washington, and the major oversea commands; for the Navy, each Bureau of the Navy Department, the Office of Naval Research, the Aviation Supply Office, the Military Sea Transportation Service and the United States Marine Corps; for the Air Force, the Air Matériel Command. It also includes the Military Medical Supply Agency, the Military Petroleum Supply Agency, and any other procuring activity hereafter established. The number and designation of particular procuring activities of any military department may be changed by directive of the Secretary.

§ 1.201–15 Secretary.

"Secretary" means the Secretary, the Under Secretary, or any Assistant Secretary of any Military department.

§ 1.201–16 Shall.

"Shall" is used in an imperative sense.

§ 1.201–17 Small business concerns.

See § 1.701–1.

§ 1.201–18 Sources of supplies.

(a) Sources of supplies shall include only (1) manufacturers, (2) construction contractors, and (3) regular dealers.

(b) As used in paragraph (a) of this section:

(1) A manufacturer is a person or firm—

(i) Who owns, operates, or maintains a factory or establishment that produces on the premises the materials, supplies, articles, or equipment required under the contract or of the general character described by the specifications; or

(ii) Who, if newly entering into a manufacturing activity of the type described in subdivision (i) of this subparagraph, has made all necessary prior arrangements for manufacturing space, equipment, and personnel, to perform the manufacturing operations required for contract performance;

And who, prior to being awarded a contract, satisfies the contracting officer that it qualifies under subdivision (i) or (ii) of this subparagraph;

(2) A regular dealer is any one of the following:

(i) A person or firm who owns, operates, or maintains a store, warehouse or other establishment in which the materials, supplies, articles, or equipment of the general character described by the specifications and required under the contract are bought, kept in stock, and sold to the public in the usual course of business; or

(ii) In the case of supplies of particular kinds (lumber and timber products, coal, machine tools, raw cotton, petroleum, green coffee, tea, agricultural liming materials, or hay, grain, feed, or straw), a person or firm satisfying the requirements of the Regulations of the Secretary of Labor (41 CFR 50–201.101 (b) and 50–201.603 (f)) under the Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act (41 U. S. C. 35), as amended from time to time;

who, prior to being awarded a contract, satisfies the contracting officer that it is engaged in an established regular business meeting all of the criteria of subdivision (i) or (ii) of this subparagraph. (It is not enough in the case of a regular dealer to show only that arrangements have been made to set up such a business; before an award can be made, the dealer must show that it is an established going business regularly dealing in the particular supplies, or supplies of the general character, sought by the Government.)

(3) While 41 U. S. C. 35 covers only transactions exceeding $10,000 the Department of Defense policy is to apply the above standards in transactions of $10,000 or less. The above definitions shall not apply to contracts for supplies no part of which will be manufactured or furnished within the United States, its Territories, Puerto Rico, or the Virgin Islands.

(c) A manufacturer, construction contractor, or regular dealer may bid, negotiate, and contract through an authorized agent: Provided, That the agency is disclosed, and the agent acts and contracts in the name of his principal. In this connection, see the clause entitled, "Covenant Against Contingent Fees" set forth in § 7.103–20 of this chapter and the procedures prescribed for obtaining information concerning contingent or other fees, as set forth in Subpart E of this part.

UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN LIBRARIES

§ 1.201–19 Amendment and supplemental agreement.

"Amendment and supplemental agreement" are synonymous, and mean any contract modification which is accomplished by the mutual action of the parties.

§ 1.201–20 Supplies.

"Supplies" means all property except land or interests in land. It includes public works, buildings, facilities; ships, floating equipment, and vessels of every character, type, and description, together with parts and accessories thereto; aircraft and aircraft parts, accessories, and equipment; machine tools; and the alteration or installation of any of the foregoing. "Supplies" as used in this subchapter is synonymous with "property" as described in 10 U.S.C. 2303(b).

§ 1.201–21 United States.

"United States," when used in a geographic sense, means the States and the District of Columbia.

Subpart C—General Policies

§ 1.300 Methods of procurement.

§ 1.300–1 Competition.

All procurements, whether by formal advertising or by negotiation, shall be made on a competitive basis to the maximum practicable extent.

§ 1.300–2 Formal advertising.

Purchases and contracts for supplies and services shall be made by formal advertising in all cases in which the use of such method is feasible and practicable under the existing conditions and circumstances. Procurement by formal advertising shall be in accordance with detailed requirements and procedures set forth in Part 2 of this subchapter.

§ 1.300–3 Negotiation.

If the use of formal advertising is not feasible and practicable, purchases and contracts for supplies and services may be negotiated in accordance with the detailed requirements and procedures set forth in Part 3 of this subchapter.

§ 1.301 Interdepartmental and coordinated procurement.

Supplies and services may be obtained in appropriate circumstances as provided in Part 5 of this subchapter by such means as interdepartmental and coordinated procurement.

§ 1.302 Sources of supplies.

§ 1.302–1 Government agencies.

To the extent possible, supplies shall be obtained from surplus property in the hands of disposal agencies, or from surplus or excess stocks in the hands of any Government agency. Interdepartmental purchases shall be made in accordance with the provisions of part 5 of this subchapter.

§ 1.302–2 Sources outside the Government.

Irrespective of whether the procurement of supplies or services from sources outside the Government is to be effected by formal advertising or by negotiation, competitive proposals ("bids" in the case of procurement by formal advertising, "quotations" in the case of procurement by negotiation) shall be solicited from all such qualified sources of supplies or services as are deemed necessary by the Contracting Officer to assure such full and free competition as is consistent with the procurement of types of supplies and services necessary to meet the requirements of the Department concerned, and thereby to obtain for the Government the most advantageous contract—price, quality, and other factors considered.

§ 1.302–3 Production and research and development pools.

(a) Description. A production or research and development pool is a group of concerns (1) who have associated together for the purpose of obtaining and performing jointly, or in conjunction with each other, contracts for supplies or services, or for research and development, for Defense use, (2) who have entered into a pool agreement governing their organization, relationship, and procedure, and (3) whose agreement has been approved either in accordance with section 708 of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended (Defense Production Pool), or in accordance with sections 9(d) or 11 of the Small Business Act, Pub. Law 85–536 (Small Business Pools). Pool participants are exempt from the "manufacturer or regular dealer" requirement of the Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act and of § 1.201–18.

(b) General rule. Except as provided in this section, a pool shall be treated for purposes of Government procurement on exactly the same basis as any other prospective or actual contractor.

(c) Ascertainment of status. The contracting officer is responsible for ascertaining whether a group of firms seeking to do business with the Government is a pool. In ascertaining the status of a group representing that it is a pool, contracting officers may rely on a copy of the SBA or OCDM notification of approval of the pool. Each Department will expeditiously disseminate to contracting officers information received from SBA or OCDM concerning the approval of pools.

(d) Contracting with pools. (1) A bid or proposal of a pool is not eligible for award to the pool unless submitted either by the pool in its own name or by an individual member expressly disclosing that it is on behalf of the pool. Except as to contracts to be awarded to incorporated pools, the contracting officer shall prior to award to a pool require to be deposited with him a certified copy of a power of attorney from each member of the pool who is to participate in the performance of the contract authorizing an agent to execute the bid, proposal, or contract on behalf of such member. A copy of each such power of attorney shall be appended to each executed copy of the contract retained by the Government.

(2) Membership in a pool shall not of itself preclude individual members from submitting bids or proposals as individuals on appropriate procurements. Bids or proposals submitted by an individual member of a pool shall not be considered when the individual member has participated in the bid or proposal submitted by the pool.

(e) Responsibility of pool member. Where a member of a production pool has submitted a bid or proposal in its own name and not on behalf of a pool, the pool agreement shall be a factor to be considered in determining its responsibility, pursuant to Subpart I of this part.

§ 1.302–4 Foreign purchases.

Foreign purchases shall be made in accordance with the provisions of Part 6 of this title and upon compliance with any other applicable provisions of the subchapter.

§ 1.302–5 Planned emergency producer.

A "Planned Emergency Producer" is a concern with which one or more Government procuring activities have negotiated an emergency production assignment and which holds a valid planned emergency production schedule signed by the responsible Armed Services Procurement Planning Officer (ASPPO). In procurements of items for which there are planned emergency producers, such producers shall be solicited.

§ 1.303 Exchange of purchase information.

(a) Where the same item or class of items is being purchased by more than one Military Department, or by more than one procuring activity within a Department, the exchange and coordination of pertinent information between these Departments or procuring activities is desirable to promote uniformity of treatment of major issues and the resolution of particularly difficult or controversial issues. Generally, for a substantial purchase of a major item, the purchasing activity should request appropriate information from other purchasing activities responsible for buying similar items. Each activity receiving such requests shall furnish the information requested, if available. Such exchange and coordination of information is particularly beneficial during the procurement planning or pre-solicitation period.

(b) In negotiated procurement where available information from Government sources is inadequate, and in order to obtain basic information for the development of further data, the contracting officer, only in the negotiation with a prospective supplier, should inquire into previous contracts between that supplier and the Government for the same or similar items. In appropriate cases the request for proposals may contain a requirement that the offeror furnish information as to whether or not it has previously furnished the same item to any Government agency, and if so, identify recent contracts under which such items were furnished by contract numbers, dates, and purchasing activities.

§ 1.304 Selection of items involving proprietary data or other restrictive factors.

In some cases, the procurement of an item would involve proprietary data (see § 9.201(b) of this chapter) or other factors which would restrict sources of procurement or limit competition, but alternative items can be procured which would meet the military needs involved. In such cases, consideration should be given in selecting the item to be procured, to the relative advantages for national defense purposes of the item which involves such proprietary data or other factors as against the disadvantages of a restricted source of supply and possible increased cost to the Government because of lack of competition. However, where a particular item best meets military needs, the contracting activity should not refrain from procuring the item solely because it would involve such restrictions or limitations.

§ 1.305 Time of delivery or performance.

§ 1.305–1 Scope.

Sections 1.305—1.305–4 prescribe policy and procedure regarding requirements as to time of delivery or performance of contracts for supplies or services, excluding construction.

§ 1.305–2 General.

(a) The time of delivery or performance is an essential element for inclusion in a contract and must be clearly set forth in invitations for bids and requests for proposals. Delivery and performance schedules shall be designed to meet the requirements of the particular procurement, with due regard to all relevant factors, and must be realistic. Delivery and performance schedules which are unreasonably tight or difficult of attainment are inimical to full competition, inconsistent with small business policies (see § 1.702(b)(3)), and may result in higher contract prices. Therefore, prior to issuing an invitation for bids or request for proposals, the contracting officer shall question any delivery requirement which appears unrealistic, and, if necessary, initiate action to make appropriate adjustments, with due attention to relevant factors such as applicable transportation factors (see Subpart M of this part, and those listed below:

(1) Urgency of need for the supplies or services;

(2) Production time (quantity, complexity of design, etc.);

(3) Market conditions;

(4) Transportation time;

(5) Industry practices;

(6) Capabilities of small business concerns;

(7) Time for obtaining and evaluating bids or offers, and awarding contracts.

(8) Time for contractors to comply with any conditions precedent to contract performance; and

(9) Time for Government to perform its obligations under the contract (e.g., furnishing Government property to the contractor, approval of preproduction samples, and inspection).

(b) Where timely delivery or performance is unusually important to the Government, liquidated damages provisions may be used as provided in § 1.310.

(c) Invitations for bids and requests for proposals shall, except where clearly unnecessary, inform bidders or offerors of the basis on which their bids or proposals will be evaluated with respect to time of delivery or performance.

§ 1.305–3 Terms.

(a) Delivery schedules may be expressed in terms of:

(1) Specific calendar dates (e.g., on or before July 1, 1960);

(2) Specified periods from date of contract (i.e., date of award or acceptance by the Government, or date shown on contract document as effective date of contract); or

(3) Specified periods from date of receipt by contractor of notice of award or acceptance by the Government (including notice by receipt of contract document executed by the Government).

The full period which the Government holds out as being available for contract performance should not be curtailed to the prejudice of the contractor by delay in giving notice of award. Accordingly, one of the provisions in paragraph (b) or (c) of this section shall be used in advertised procurements and may be suitability modified and used in appropriate negotiated procurements (other than small purchases).

(b) Where the delivery schedule is in terms of specific calendar dates, invitations for bids will include one of the following provisions:

(1) The foregoing delivery requirements are based on the assumption that the Government will make award by [purchasing activity insert calendar date]. Each delivery date in the delivery schedule set forth herein will be extended by the number of calendar days after the above date that the contract is in fact awarded. Attention is directed to paragraph 8(d) of the Terms and Conditions of the Invitation for Bids, which provides that a written award mailed or otherwise furnished to the successful bidder results in a binding contract. Therefore, in computing the available time for performance, the bidder should take into consideration the time required for notice of award to arrive through the ordinary mails.

(2) The foregoing delivery requirements are based on the assumption that the successful bidder will receive the notice of award by [purchasing activity insert calendar date]. The Government will extend each delivery date in the delivery schedule set forth herein by the number of calendar days after the above date that the contractor receives notice of award: provided, that the contractor promptly acknowledges such receipt.

(c) Where the delivery schedule is based on the date of contract (see paragraph (a)(2) of this section), the invitations for bids will include the following provision:

Attention is directed to paragraph 8(d) of the Terms and Conditions of the Invitation for Bids which provides that a written award mailed or otherwise furnished to the successful bidder results in a binding contract. Any award hereunder, or a preliminary notice thereof, will be mailed or otherwise furnished to the bidder the day the award is dated. Therefore, in computing the time available for performance, the bidder should take into consideration the time required for the notice of award to arrive through the ordinary mails. However, a bid offering delivery based on date of receipt by the contractor of the contract or notice of award (rather than the contract date) will be evaluated by adding the maximum number of days normally required for delivery of the award through the ordinary mails. If, as so computed, the delivery date offered is later than the delivery date required in the invitation, the bid will be considered nonresponsive and rejected.

(d) Where the delivery schedule is based on the date of the contract (see paragraphs (a)(2) and (c) of this section), the contract, notice of award, acceptance of proposal, or other contract document executed by the Government shall be mailed or otherwise furnished the contractor on the day it is dated.

(e) Where the delivery schedule is based on date of receipt by the contractor of notice of award (see paragraph (a)(3) of this section), or where it is expressed in terms of specific calendar dates on the assumption that notice of award will be received by a specified date (see paragraph (b)(2) of this section), the notice of award, acceptance of proposal, or other contract document executed by the Government shall be sent by certified mail, return receipt requested, or shall be accompanied by a date of receipt acknowledgement card in accordance with Departmental procedures.

(f) When the required delivery schedule in the invitation for bids is based on the date of the contract (see paragraph (a)(2) of this section), a bid offering delivery based on date of receipt by the contractor of the contract or notice of award (see paragraph (a)(3) of this section):

(1) Shall be evaluated by adding the maximum number of days normally required for delivery of the award through the ordinary mails; and

(2) If the delivery date offered by the bid (computed in accordance with subparagraph (1) of this paragraph is later than the delivery date required in the invitation for bids, the bid shall be considered nonresponsive and rejected; but

(3) If award is made under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, under the terms of the contract the delivery date will be the number of days, after actual receipt by the contractor of the notice of award, which were specified in the bid.

§ 1.305–4 Time of delivery clauses.

(a) Examples of time of delivery clauses for invitations for bids are set forth below. They may be modified or other clauses may be used to state particular delivery requirements or any special procedures to be used in the evaluation, rejection or award process as regards time of delivery. These clauses also may be suitably modified for use in negotiated procurements where appropriate.

(b) The following clause may be used where delivery by a particular time is necessary to meet the Government's requirements:

UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN LIBRARIES

TIME OF DELIVERY

Delivery is REQUIRED to be made in accordance with the following schedule:

Item No.*	Quantity	Time [*]

Bids offering delivery of each quantity within the applicable delivery period specified above will be evaluated equally as regards time of delivery. Bids offering delivery of a quantity under such terms or conditions that delivery will not clearly fall within the applicable delivery period specified above will be considered nonresponsive and will be rejected. Where a bidder offers an earlier delivery schedule than that called for above, the Government reserves the right to award either in accordance with the REQUIRED schedule or in accordance with the schedule offered by the bidder. If the bidder offers no other delivery schedule, the delivery schedule stated above shall apply.

BIDDER'S PROPOSED DELIVERY SCHEDULE

(To be completed by bidder)

Item No.	Quantity	Time [*]

*Contracting officer shall insert the appropriate one of the following phrases, in both of the indicated spaces:

1. "[On] (on or before) the date(s) specified below."
2. "Within the number of days stated below after date of contract."
3. "Within the number of days stated below after the date of receipt of a written notice of award."
4. "Within the periods specified below." (NOTE: When this phrase is inserted, the wording "during month(s) of _____" or "not sooner than _____ and not later than _____" should be used to specify the periods.

(c) The following clause may be used where delivery by a certain time is desired, but not essential, and delivery by a specified later time is necessary to meet the Government's requirements.

TIME OF DELIVERY

Delivery is DESIRED by the Government in accordance with the following schedule:

Item No.	Quantity	Time [*]

If the bidder is unable to meet the above delivery schedule, he may, without prejudice to the evaluation of his bid, set forth his Proposed Delivery Schedule below; but such delivery schedule must not extend the delivery period beyond the time for delivery called for in the following REQUIRED delivery schedule set forth below:

REQUIRED DELIVERY SCHEDULE

Item No.	Quantity	Time [*]

Bids offering delivery of a quantity under such terms or conditions that delivery will not clearly fall within the applicable REQUIRED delivery period specified above will be considered nonresponsive and will be rejected.

If the bidder does not propose a different delivery schedule, the Government's DESIRED delivery schedule shall apply.

BIDDER'S PROPOSED DELIVERY SCHEDULE

(To be completed by bidder)

Item No.	Quantity	Time [*]

*Phrases for insertion as indicated above:

1. "[On] (on or before) the date(s) specified below."
2. "Within the number of days stated below after date of contract."
3. "Within the number of days stated below after the date of receipt of a written notice of award."
4. "Within the periods specified below." (NOTE: When this phrase is inserted, the wording "during the month(s) of _____" or "not sooner than _____ and not later than _____" should be used to specify the periods.)

§ 1.306 Approval signatures.

Approval signatures on contracts or purchase authorizations shall be minimized to the greatest practical extent and, in the event that multiple approval signatures are required, they shall, where possible, be obtained concurrently.

§ 1.307 Priorities, allocations and allotments.

§ 1.307–1 General.

In the interest of maintaining a minimum priorities and allocations system as a mobilization preparedness measure, it is national policy to require contractors to use rating and allotment authority to support military procurement, to the extent required by the Business and Defense Services Administration.

(a) DOD Priorities and Allocations Manual. Department of Defense implementation of all rules and regulations published by the Business and Defense Services Administration, with respect to which the Department of Defense is delegated administrative responsibility, will be published in the Priorities and Allocations Manual promulgated by Department of Defense Instruction 4410.1. Authorized deviations to the priorities and allocations rules and regulations will likewise be published in the Manual.

(b) Operating responsibility. In accordance with 1.403 (a), the Departments shall comply with the priorities and allocations program, including the Defense Materials System, as set forth in the Priorities and Allocations Manual and in the rules and regulations published by the Business and Defense Services Administration.

§ 1.307–2 Required use of priorities, allocations and allotment clause.

The contract clause set forth in § 7.104–18 of this subchapter shall be inserted in all rateable contracts whether entered into by formal advertising or negotiation, except that no such clause need be included in purchase orders of less than $5,000. The clause shall be added wherever practicable to existing rateable contracts whenever such contracts are amended for any other purpose and if additional purchases of materials for the contract are contemplated. Rateable contracts are those contracts for supplies which are required to be supported with rating and allotment authority (see Priorities and Allocations Manual, section 2–1).

§ 1.308 Records of contract actions.

(a) Each contract file shall contain documentation of actions taken with respect to the contract, including final disposition, sufficient to constitute a full history of the transaction, to permit ready reconstruction of all of the stages of the transaction to (1) support actions taken by various personnel in the procurement cycle, (2) provide information for reviews conducted by the Department concerned, the Department of Defense, the General Accounting Office, or others, (3) supply data for use in preparing replies to Congressional inquiries, and (4) furnish essential facts in the event of litigation. To the extent that retained copies of documents do not represent all actions taken, suitable memoranda or summary statements of undocumented actions should be prepared promptly and be retained in the contract file in chronological order.

(b) Each contract file shall include the following data, if applicable:

(1) A copy of the procurement directive or request;

(2) On negotiated procurement, a copy of the Determination and Findings statement and Request for Authority to Negotiate (see Subpart C, Part 3 of this chapter);

(3) The list of sources solicited or justification for limiting such sources;

(4) Any small business or labor surplus set-aside determinations (see §§ 1.706 and 1.804);

(5) A copy of the Invitation for Bids or the Request for Proposals, including the drawings and specifications or an identifiable reference thereto;

(6) The Security Requirements Check List (DD Form 254) (see § 16.811 of this chapter);

(7) All bids or proposals received, together with an abstract thereof;

(8) The bidders' Statements of Contingent Fees (see § 16.802 of this chapter);

(9) All pre-award surveys (see § 1.905–4);

(10) Selection of the successful contractor, including:

(i) The reasons for selection,

(ii) The contracting officer's determination of the contractor's responsibility (see § 1.904–1);

(iii) Any Small Business Administration Certificate of Competency (see § 1.705–6);

(11) All price and cost data submitted or used;

(12) A full record of negotiations, including but not limited to: participants; dates of meetings or phone calls; Government-furnished materials or facilities provided; subcontracting; terms and conditions agreed to; deviations, if any, from prescribed contract clauses; technical recommendations; and justification for final price;

(13) Justification for type of contract used (see § 3.304 of this chapter);

(14) Any exceptions or exemptions from the Buy American Act or appropriations act restrictions (see Part 6 of this chapter);

(15) A copy of contract or award;

(16) Required approvals of award;

(17) A copy of Individual Procurement Action Report (DD Form 350) (see § 16.807 of this chapter);

(18) A copy of Statement and Certificate of Award (SF 1036) (see § 16.801 of this chapter);

(19) All pertinent correspondence;

(20) Copies of all change orders, and supplements, with supporting documents;

(21) Comprehensive termination data;

(22) Copies of royalty reports received (see § 16.806 of this chapter);

(23) Final release upon completion of the contract; and

(24) Any additional documents reflecting actions peculiar to a specific activity or service.

(c) This section does not apply in the case of small purchases (see § 3.609 of this chapter).

§ 1.309 Solicitations for informational or planning purposes.

It is the general policy of the Department of Defense to solicit bids, proposals or quotations only where there is a definite intention to award a contract or purchase order. However, in some cases solicitation for informational or planning purposes may be justified. Invitations for bids and requests for proposals will not be used for this purpose. Requests for quotations may be issued for informational or planning purposes only with prior approval of an individual at a level higher than the Contracting Officer. In such cases, the request for quotation shall clearly state its purpose and, in addition, the following statement in capital letters shall be placed on the face of the request: "THE GOVERNMENT DOES NOT INTEND TO AWARD A CONTRACT ON THE BASIS OF THIS REQUEST FOR QUOTATION, OR OTHERWISE PAY FOR THE INFORMATION SOLICITED."

§ 1.310 Liquidated damages.

(a) This section applies to procurement by formal advertising and procurement by negotiation. Liquidated damages provisions normally will not be utilized but may be used where both: (1) The time of delivery or performance is such an important factor in the award of the contract that the Government may reasonably expect to suffer damages if the delivery or performance is delinquent, and (2) the extent or amount of such damages would be difficult or impossible of ascertainment or proof. Where a liquidated damages provision is to be used in a supply or service contract, insert the provision set forth in § 7.105–5 in accordance with the instructions thereof. Liquidated damages provisions for construction contracts are covered by the language in the Termination for Default-Damages for Delay-Time Extension Clause in § 8.709.

(b) The rate of assessment of liquidated damages must be reasonable, considered in the light of procurement requirements on a case-by-case basis, since liquidated damages fixed without reference to probable actual damages may be held to be a penalty and therefore unenforceable.

(c) The law imposes the duty upon a party injured by another to mitigate the damages which result from such wrongful action. Therefore, where a liquidated damages provision is included in a contract and a basis for termination for default exists, appropriate action should be taken expeditiously by the Government to obtain performance by the contractor or to terminate the contract. If delivery or performance is desired after termination for default, efforts must be made to obtain either delivery or performance elsewhere within a reasonable time. For these reasons, particularly close administration over contracts containing liquidated damages provisions is imperative.

(d) Whenever any contract includes a provision for liquidated damages for delay, the Comptroller General on the recommendation of the Secretary concerned is authorized and empowered to remit the whole or any part of such damages as in his discretion may be just and equitable. Accordingly, recommendations concerning such remissions may be transmitted to the Secretary concerned in accordance with Departmental procedures.

§ 1.311 Construction contracts; disclosure of Government estimate.

(a) Except as provided in paragraph (c) of this section, in contracting for construction, access to or disclosure of information concerning the Government estimate shall be limited to Government personnel whose official duties require knowledge of the estimate.

(b) The Government estimate shall be initially designated "For Official Use Only," unless the nature of the information contained therein requires security classification, in which event it shall be handled in accordance with applicable security regulations. Such "Official Use" designation shall be removed only when the estimate is made public in accordance with paragraph (c) of this section.

(c) If the procurement is to be made by means of formal advertising, a copy of the Government estimate shall be sealed and kept locked with the bids until bid opening. Immediately after the bids have been opened, read, and recorded, the estimate shall be opened, the "For Official Use Only" designation removed and the estimate read and recorded in the same detail as the bids. In the case of a negotiated procurement, the "For Official Use Only" designation shall be removed immediately after award, and the estimate may then be released to an individual or firm upon request.

§ 1.312 Voluntary refunds.

A voluntary refund is an unconditional payment or credit, not required by any contract or other obligation, made to the Government by a contractor or subcontractor either as a voluntary payment, or as an adjustment under one or more contracts or subcontracts. In accordance with Departmental procedures, contracting officers and other authorized officials shall accept any voluntary refund which is proffered. Prime contractors should be encouraged to make voluntary refunds and to facilitate the making of such refunds by subcontractors.

§ 1.313 Procurement of parts.

(a) Parts for replenishment of stock, repair, or replacement, must be procured so as to assure the requisite safe, dependable, and effective operation of the equipment. Where it is feasible to do so without impairing this assurance, parts should be procured on a competitive basis, as in the kind of cases described in paragraph (b) of this section. However, where this assurance can be had only if the parts are procured from the original manufacturer of the equipment or his supplier, the procurement should be restricted accordingly, as in the kind of cases described in paragraph (c) of this section.

(b) Parts that are fully identified and can be obtained from a number of known sources, and parts for which fully adequate manufacturing drawings and any other needed data are available (or can be made available in keeping with the policies in Subpart B, Part 9 of this title), are to be procured on a competitive basis. In general, such parts are of a standard design configuration or have commercial equivalents. They include individual items that are susceptible of separate procurement, such as resistors, transformers, generators, spark plugs, or electron tubes.

(c) Parts not within the scope of paragraph (b) of this section generally should be procured (either directly or indirectly) only from sources that have satisfactorily manufactured or furnished such parts in the past, unless fully adequate data (including any necessary proprietary data), test results, and quality assurance procedures, are available (or can reasonably be made availabe in keeping with the policies in Subpart B, Part 9 of this title) to assure the requisite reliability and interchangeability of the parts, and procurement on a competitive basis would be consistent with the assurance described in paragraph (a) of this section. In assessing this assurance, the nature and function of the equipment for which the part is needed should be considered. To illustrate, acceptable tolerances for a commercial television part may be far less stringent than those for a comparable military radar part, permitting competitive procurement of the former but not of the latter. The exacting performance requirements of specially designed military equipment generally demand that parts be closely controlled and have proven capabilities of precise integration with the system in which they operate, to a degree that precludes the use of even apparently identical parts from new sources, since the functioning of the whole may depend on latent characteristics of each part which are not definitely known.

§ 1.314 Contracting officer's decision under the Disputes clause.

Where a final decision of the contracting officer involves a dispute that is subject to the procedure of a Disputes clause, or where there is doubt as to whether the decision is subject to such procedure, a paragraph substantially as follows shall be included in such decision:

UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN LIBRARIES

This is the final decision of the Contracting Officer. Decisions on disputed questions of fact and on other questions that are subject to the procedure of the Disputes clause may be appealed in accordance with the provisions of the Disputes clause. If you decide to make such an appeal from this decision, written notice thereof (in triplicate) must be mailed or otherwise furnished to the Contracting Officer within thirty days from the date you receive this decision. Such notice should indicate that an appeal is intended and should reference this decision and identify the contract by number. The Armed Services Board of Contract Appeals is the authorized representative of the Secretary for hearing and determining such disputes. The Rules of the Armed Services Board of Contract Appeals are set forth in the Armed Services Procurement Regulation, Appendix A, Part 2.

Rule 4 of the Armed Services Board of Contract Appeals (Appendix A, Part 2) requires the contracting officer to advise the contractor of the Optional Accelerated Procedure of the Board (Rule 31) in appeals involving $5,000 or less.

Subpart D—Procurement Responsibility and Authority

§ 1.400 Scope of subpart.

This subpart deals with the procurement responsibility and authority of (a) the head of each procuring activity, and (b) Contracting Officers; and imposes limitations upon the authority to enter into contracts.

§ 1.401 Responsibility of each procuring activity.

Except as otherwise prescribed by procedures of each respective Department, the head of each procuring activity, as now or hereafter established, is responsible for the procurement of supplies and services under or assigned to the procurement cognizance of his activity. The head of each procuring activity is authorized, within limits imposed by his Department, to designate such person or persons as he may select as Contracting Officers, within the meaning of that term as used throughout this subchapter.

§ 1.402 General authority of contracting officers.

In accordance with the provisions of § 1.401 and subject to the requirements prescribed in §§ 1.403 and 1.404, any Contracting Officer is hereby authorized to enter into contracts for supplies or services, in accordance with procedures prescribed by the Department concerned, on behalf of the Government and in the name of the United States of America, whether by formal advertising or by negotiation or by coordinated or interdepartmental procurement as provided in this subchapter.

§ 1.403 Requirements to be met before entering into contracts.

Irrespective of whether procurement is to be effected by formal advertising or by negotiation, no contract shall be entered into unless:

(a) All applicable requirements of law, of this subchapter, and of procedures prescribed by each respective Department have been met; and

(b) Such business clearance or approval as is prescribed by applicable Department procedures has been obtained.

§ 1.404 Special requirements to be met before entering into negotiated contracts.

In addition to the requirements set forth in § 1.403, no contract shall be entered into as a result of negotiation until such determinations and findings as may be required with respect to the circumstances justifying negotiation and with respect to the use of a special method of contracting have been made by the persons and in the manner prescribed in Subparts C and D of Part 3 of this subchapter.

Subpart E—Contingent or Other Fees

§ 1.500 Scope of subpart.

This subpart sets forth the procedures to be followed and prescribes the form to be used for obtaining information concerning contingent or other fees paid by Contractors for soliciting or securing contracts from the Department of Defense, including the Departments of the Army, the Navy, and the Air Force.

§ 1.502 Applicability.

This subpart applies to all contracts.

§ 1.503 Covenant against contingent fees clause.

Every contract shall contain the clause entitled "Covenant Against Contingent Fees", as set forth in § 7.103–20 of this subchapter, except as provided in § 16.401–4(g) of this subchapter.

§ 1.504 Improper influence.

The term "improper influence" means influence, direct or indirect, which induces or tends to induce consideration or action by any employee or officer of the United States with respect to any Government contract on any basis other than the merits of the matter.

§ 1.505 General principles and standards applicable to the covenant.

The principles and standards set forth in this subpart are intended to be used as a guide in the negotiation, awarding, administration or enforcement, of all contracts.

§ 1.505–1 Contingent character of the fee.

Any fee whether called commission, percentage, brokerage, or contingent fee, or otherwise denominated, is within the purview of the covenant if, in fact, any portion thereof is dependent upon success in obtaining or securing the Government contract or contracts involved. The fact, however, that a fee of a contingent nature is involved does not preclude a relationship which qualifies under the exceptions to the prohibition of the covenant.

§ 1.505–2 Exceptions to the prohibition of the covenant.

Excepted from the prohibition of the covenant are "bona fide employees" and "bona fide established commercial or selling agencies maintained by the contractor for the purpose of securing business."

§ 1.505–3 Bona fide employee.

The term "bona fide employee", for the purpose of the exception to the prohibition of the covenant, means an individual (including a corporate officer) employed by a concern in good faith to devote his full time to such concern and no other concern and over whom the concern has the right to exercise supervision and control as to time, place, and manner of performance of work. It is recognized that a concern, especially a small-business concern, may employ an individual who represents other concerns. The factors set forth in § 1.505–4, except paragraph (d) of § 1.505–4, shall be applied to determine whether such an individual comes within the exception to the prohibition of the covenant.

(a) A person may be a bona fide employee whether his compensation is on a fixed salary basis, or when customary in the trade, on a percentage, commission or other contingent basis or a combination of the foregoing.

(b) The hiring must contemplate some continuity and it may not be related only to the obtaining of one or more specific Government contracts.

(c) An employee is not "bona fide" who seeks to obtain any Government contract or contracts for his employer through the use of improper influence or who holds himself out as being able to obtain any Government contract or contracts through improper influence.

§ 1.505–4 Bona fide established commercial or selling agency maintained by the Contractor for the purpose of securing business.

In determining whether an agency is a "bona fide established commercial or selling agency maintained by the Contractor for the purpose of securing business," the factors set forth in paragraphs (a) through (e) of this section shall be considered. They are necessarily incapable of exact measurement or precise definition and it is neither possible nor desirable to prescribe the relative weight to be given any single factor as against any other factor or as against all other factors. The conclusions to be reached in a given case will necessarily depend upon a careful evaluation of the agreement and other attendant facts and circumstances.

(a) The fees charged should not be inequitable and exorbitant in relation to the services actually rendered. That is, the compensation should be commensurate with the nature and extent of the services and should not be excessive as compared with the fees customarily allowed in the trade concerned for similar services related to commercial (non-Government) business. In evaluating reasonableness of the fee, there should be considered services of the agent other than actual solicitation, as for example, technical, consultant or managerial services, and assistance in the procurement of essential personnel, facilities, equipment, materials or subcontractors for performance of the contract.

(b) The selling agency should have adequate knowledge of the products and the business of the concern represented, as well as other qualifications necessary to sell the products or services on their merits.

(c) There should ordinarily be a continuity of relationship between the Contractor and the agency. The fact that the agency has represented the Contractor over a considerable period of time is a factor for favorable consideration. It is not intended, however, to disqualify newly established Contractor-agent relationships where a continuing relationship is contemplated by the parties.

(d) It should appear that the agency is an established concern. The agency may be either one which has been in business for a considerable period of time or a new agency which is a presently going concern and which is likely to continue in business as a commercial or selling agency in the future. The business of the agency should be conducted in the agency name and characterized by the customary indicia of the conduct of a regular business.

(e) The fact that a selling agency confines its selling activities to the field of Government contracts does not, in and of itself, disqualify it under the covenant. The fact, however, that the selling agency is employed to secure business generally, that is, to represent the concern in connection with sales to the Government as well as regular commercial sales to non-Government activities is a factor entitled to favorable consideration in evaluating the case as one coming within the authorized exception. Arrangements confined, however, to obtaining Government contracts, particularly those involving a selling agency organized immediately prior to or during periods of expanded procurement resulting from conditions of national emergency, must be closely scrutinized.

However, any agency or agent is not "bona fide" which seeks to obtain any Government contract or contracts for its principals through the use of improper influence or which holds itself out as being able to obtain any Government contract or contracts through improper influence.

§ 1.505–5 Fees for information.

Contingent fees paid for "information" leading to obtaining a Government contract or contracts are included in the prohibition and, accordingly, are in breach of the covenant unless the agent qualifies under the exception as a bona fide employee or a bona fide established commercial or selling agency maintained by the Contractor for the purpose of securing business.

§ 1.506 Representation and agreement required from prospective contractors.

Except as provided in § 1.507–2, each Department shall inquire of and secure a written representation from prospective Contractors as to whether they have employed or retained any company or person (other than a full-time employee working solely for the prospective Contractor) to solicit or secure the contract, and shall secure a written agreement to furnish information relating thereto as required by the Contracting Officer. Where an invitation for bids is issued, this inquiry shall be made (and written representation and agreement secured) by requiring the bidder (or Contractor) to check the appropriate box in the following statement to be included in the invitation or bid form:

Bidder represents: (a) That he ☐ has, ☐ has not, employed or retained any company or person (other than a full-time bona fide employee working solely for the bidder) to solicit or secure this contract, and (b) that he ☐ has, ☐ has not, paid or agreed to pay to any company or person (other than a full-time bona fide employee working solely for the bidder) any fee, commission, percentage or brokerage fee, contingent upon or resulting from the award of this contract, and agrees to furnish information relating to (a) and (b) above as requested by the Contracting Officer. (For interpretation of the representation, including the term "bona fide employee," see Code of Federal Regulations, Title 44, Part 150.)

§ 1.506–1 Interpretation of the representation.

For the purpose of the representation and agreement required from the prospective Contractor, as described in § 1.506, the definition of "bona fide employee" is as specified in § 1.505–3.

(a) The fact that the prospective Contractor retains a person who does not devote his full time solely to the prospective Contractor does not necessarily mean that the relationship involved is in violation of the covenant against contingent fees or that there is any stigma attached to the Contractor-agent relationship. It does mean, however, that the prospective Contractor must fill out the representation in the affirmative and, as required, furnish information with respect to such employment, or retainer.

(b) If the representation would otherwise be answered in the affirmative the fact that the person employed or retained by the bidder or Contractor is an attorney, or a public relations consultant, or has any other special or professional title, does not permit answering in the negative.

§ 1.507 Use of Standard Form 119.

Except as provided in § 1.507–2, Standard Form 119 (December 1952 ed.) shall be used without deviation whenever either part of the inquiry provided for by § 1.506 is answered in the affirmative. The form shall also be used without deviation in any other case where a department desires to obtain such information. When, after use of the form, further information is required, it may be obtained in any appropriate manner. Submission of the form shall be required, normally, only of successful bidders and Contractors.

§ 1.507–1 Statement in lieu of form.

Any bidder or proposed Contractor who has previously furnished a Standard Form 119 (December 1952 ed.) to the office issuing the invitation or negotiating the contract may be permitted to accompany his bid, or submit in connection with the proposed contract, a signed statement (a) indicating when such completed form was previously furnished, (b) identifying by number the previous invitation or contract in connection with which such form was submitted, and (c) representing that the statements in such previously furnished form are applicable to such subsequent bid or contract. In such case, submission of an additional completed Standard Form 119 need not be required.

§ 1.507–2 Exceptions.

The inquiry and agreement specified in § 1.506 need not be made and submission of Standard Form 119 (December 1952 ed.) need not be requested in connection with the following:

(a) Any advertised contract in which the aggregate amount involved does not exceed $25,000;

(b) Any negotiated contract in which the aggregate amount involved does not exceed $5,000;

(c) Any negotiated contract for perishable subsistence supplies in which the aggregate amount involved does not exceed $25,000;

(d) Any contract for services which are required to be performed by an individual Contractor in person under Government supervision and paid for on a time basis;

(e) Any contract for public utility services furnished by a public utility company where the utility company's rates for the services furnished are subject to regulation by Federal, State, or other regulatory body and the public utility company is the sole source of supply;

(f) Contracts to be made in foreign countries;

(g) Any other contracts, individually or by class, designated by the Secretary. Reports of any such exceptions shall be filed promptly with the Administrator of General Services.

§ 1.508 Enforcement.

Each department shall take the necessary steps to assure that the indicated successful bidder or proposed Contractor has furnished a representation (negative or affirmative) and agreement as described in § 1.506.

(a) If the indicated successful bidder or proposed Contractor makes such representation in the negative, such representation may be accepted and award made or offer accepted in accordance with procedures of the Department concerned.

(b) If the indicated successful bidder or proposed Contractor makes such representation in the affirmative, a completed Standard Form 119 (December 1952 ed.) shall be requested from the bidder or proposed Contractor. In the case of formal advertising, the making of an award in accordance with established procedure of the Department concerned need not be delayed pending receipt of the form. In the case of negotiation, if the proposed Contractor makes such representation in the affirmative, he shall be required to file a completed Standard Form 119 (December 1952 ed.) prior to acceptance of the offer or execution of the contract unless the Secretary, or his authorized representative, considers that the interest of the Government will be prejudiced by the suspension of negotiations pending receipt and consideration of an executed Standard Form 119 (December 1952 ed.).

(c) If the indicated successful bidder or proposed Contractor fails to furnish the representation and agreement as set forth in § 1.506, such failure shall be considered a minor informality and, prior to award, such bidder or proposed Contractor shall be afforded a further opportunity to furnish such representation and agreement. A refusal or failure to furnish such representation and agreement after such opportunity has been afforded shall require rejection of the bid or offer.

§ 1.508–1 Failure or refusal to furnish Standard Form 119.

If the successful bidder or Contractor, upon request, refuses or fails to furnish a completed Standard Form 119 (December 1952 ed.), or a statement in lieu thereof as provided in § 1.507–1, the Department concerned shall take one or more of the following actions, or other action, as may be appropriate:

(a) If an award has not been made or offer accepted, determine whether the bid or offer should be rejected.

(b) If the contract has been awarded or offer accepted, determine what action shall be taken, such as making an independent investigation or considering the eligibility of the Contractor as a future Contractor in accordance with established procedure of the Department concerned.

§ 1.508–2 Misrepresentations or violations of the covenant against contingent fees.

In case of misrepresentation, or violation or breach of the covenant against contingent fees, or some other relevant impropriety, the Department concerned shall take one or more of the following actions, or other action, as may be appropriate:

(a) If an award has not been made, or offer has not been accepted, determine whether the bid or offer should be rejected.

(b) If an award has been made or offer has been accepted, take action to enforce the covenant in accordance with its terms; that is, as the best interests of the Government may appear, annul the contract without liability or recover the amount of the fee involved.

(c) Consider the future eligibility as a Contractor of the bidder or Contractor in accordance with established procedure of the Department concerned.

(d) Determine whether the case should be referred to the Department of Justice in accordance with § 1.111.

§ 1.509 Preservation of records.

Departments shall preserve, for enforcement or report purposes, at least one executed copy of any representation and completed Standard Form 119 (December 1952 ed.) (or statement in lieu of form) together with a record of any other pertinent data, including data as to action taken.

Subpart F—Debarred, Ineligible, and Suspended Bidders

§ 1.600 Scope of subpart.

This subpart prescribes policies and procedures relating to the debarment of bidders for any cause, ineligibility of bidders under section 1a of the Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act (41 U.S. Code 35a), and the suspension of bidders for alleged fraud or other criminal conduct.

§ 1.601 Establishment and maintenance of a list of firms or individuals debarred or ineligible.

§ 1.601–1 General.

Each Department shall maintain a list of firms and individuals which it has debarred or suspended, to whom contract awards of any character, including sales, will not be made, and from whom bids or proposals will not be solicited as provided in this Subpart F.

§ 1.601–2 Information contained in departmental lists.

Each Departmental list shall show as a minimum the following information:

(a) The names of those firms or individuals debarred, ineligible, or suspended (names will be set forth in alphabetical order with appropriate cross-reference where more than one name is involved in a single action);

(b) The basis of authority for each action;

(c) The extent of restrictions imposed; and

(d) The termination date for each debarred listing.

§ 1.601–3 Joint consolidated list.

By agreement among the Military Departments, the Department of the Army is responsible for the issuance of a Joint Consolidated List of firms and individuals to whom contracts will not be awarded and from whom bids or proposals will not be solicited. The Joint Consolidated List shall be kept current by notices of additions or deletions and periodic reprinting. Each Military Department shall furnish, not later than the 5th of each month, to the Office of the Assistant Secretary of the Army (Logistics) (Assistant Judge Advocate General), an alphabetical list of the additions, deletions, or modifications to the Joint Consolidated List, containing the information set forth in § 1.601–2. Each Military Department shall be responsible for determining the number of copies of the Joint Consolidated List required and for distributing the list within the Department. The Department of the Army will furnish copies to the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Supply & Logistics).

§ 1.601–4 Protection of lists.

The Joint Consolidated and Departmental Lists, and all correspondence relating thereto, shall be protected to prevent inspection of the contents by anyone other than Government personnel required to have access thereto.

§ 1.602 Limitation.

No firm or individual will be listed on a consolidated list for causes or under conditions other than those set forth in this subpart F.

§ 1.603 Grounds for listing and treatment to be accorded listed concerns.

(a) A firm or individual may be listed for any of several reasons. The particular reason for listing determines the consequences thereof. The various types of listing and the treatment to be accorded each type are set forth below:

Type A includes debarments in any of the following categories:

(1) Those listed by the Comptroller General pursuant to section 3 of the Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act (41 U.S.C. 37) for violating the requirements of that Act;

(2) Those listed by the Comptroller General pursuant to section 3 of the Davis-Bacon Act (40 U.S.C. 376a–2(a)) for violating the requirements of that Act; and

(3) Those which the Secretary concerned or his representatives has determined to debar for any of the causes and under all of the conditions set forth in § 1.604.

Contracts shall not be awarded to, nor bids or proposals solicited from, nor invitations for bids nor requests for proposals furnished to, concerns which are listed as Type A and which are debarred because of Walsh-Healey or Davis-Bacon violations (categories (1) and (2) above). The same rules apply with respect to Type A listings within category (3) above, unless the Secretary concerned or his representative determines it to be in the interest of the Government to make an exception for a particular procurement action, or unless the listing indicates that the debarment is not to apply to sales contracts or to procurement contracts (see § 1–606).

Type B includes concerns which the Secretary of Labor has determined to be ineligible because they do not qualify as "manufacturers" or "regular dealers" within the meaning of section 1(a) of the Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act (41 U.S.C. 35(a)). Under that Act, procurement contracts in excess of $10,000 shall not be awarded to concerns under Type B listings for those materials, articles, or equipment with respect to which the concern has been found to be ineligible. The Department of Defense, as a matter of policy, applies the same rule to contracts of $10,000 or less. However, contracts in any amount may be awarded, and bids or proposals may be solicited, for commodities with respect to which the concern has not been declared ineligible. In connection with ineligibility under the Walsh-Healey Act (Type B listing only), the name of an individual may be listed as affiliated with an ineligible firm. This listing is intended only to prevent such individuals from evading ineligibility merely by changing their business names and addresses. It does not prohibit other firms in which such individuals have an interest, and which are qualified manufacturers or regular dealers from receiving contracts subject to the Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act.

Type C includes concerns which the appropriate Secretary, pursuant to section 3(b) of the Buy American Act (41 U.S.C. 10b(b)), has found to have failed to comply with the "Buy American Act" clause required for construction contracts (see § 6.205). Contracts for the construction, alteration, or repair of public buildings or public works in the United States or elsewhere shall not be awarded to concerns under Type C listings; nor shall bids or proposals for such work be solicited from such concerns. However, concerns under Type C listings may be awarded contracts and may be solicited for bids or proposals for other than the construction, alteration, or repair of public buildings or public works.

Type D includes concerns which the appropriate Secretary or his representative has determined to suspend under the conditions set forth in § 1.605. Concerns under Type D listings shall not be awarded contracts, nor solicited for bids or proposals, except where the Secretary concerned or his representative determines it to be in the best interest of the Government to make an exception for a particular procurement, or where the listing indicates that the suspension does not apply to sales contracts or procurement contracts (see § 1.606). Authority to permit exceptions in keeping with the foregoing has been given to the Assistant Judge Advocate General for the Army, the Chief of Naval Material for the Navy, and the Deputy Chief of Staff, Materiel, for the Air Force.

Type E includes concerns which have been reported by the Secretary of Labor to have violated labor standards provisions of any of the following statutes: Anti-Kickback Act (48 Stat. 948) as amended (40 U.S.C. 276c). Eight Hour Law (27 Stat. 340) as amended (40 U.S.C. 321–326), National Housing Act (53 Stat. 804) as amended (12 U.S.C. 1703), Hospital Survey and Construction Act (60 Stat. 1040), Federal Airport Act (60 Stat. 170) as amended (49 U.S.C. 1101), Housing Act of 1949 (63 Stat. 413) (42 U.S.C. 1441), School Survey and Construction Act of 1950 (64 Stat. 967) (20 U.S.C. 251), and Defense Housing and Community Facilities and Services Act of 1951 (65 Stat. 293) as amended (42 U.S.C. 1591). Concerns under Type E listings shall not be awarded contracts which are subject to any of the foregoing statutes.

(b) Administration of current contracts in all phases may be continued, notwithstanding the listing of a contractor, unless otherwise directed by the Secretary concerned or his representative. However, payment of all or part of funds due or to become due may be withheld when such action is determined to be in the best interest of the Government by the Secretary concerned or his representative.

(c) Where a listed concern is proposed as a subcontractor, the contracting officer should, where appropriate, decline to consent to subcontracting with such concern.

§ 1.604 Causes and conditions under which departments may debar contractors.

The Secretary of each Department, or his authorized representative except as limited below, is authorized to debar in the public interest a firm or an individual for any of the causes and under all the conditions set forth below. Debarment of a firm or individual under this Subpart F shall operate to debar such firm or individual throughout the Department of Defense. Placing the name of an individual or firm on the consolidated list will be for the purpose of protecting the interest of the Government and not for punishment.

§ 1.604–1 Causes for debarment.

(a) Conviction by or a judgment obtained in a court of competent jurisdiction for (1) commission of fraud or a criminal offense as an incident to obtaining, attempting to obtain, or in the performance of a public contract; (2) violation of the Federal antitrust statutes arising out of the submission of bids or proposals; or (3) commission of embezzlement, theft, forgery, bridery, falsification or destruction of records, receiving stolen property, or any other offense indicating a lack of business integrity or business honesty, which seriously and directly affects the question of present responsibility as a Government contractor. If the conviction or judgment is reversed on appeal, the debarment shall be removed upon receipt of notification thereof. The foregoing does not necessarily require that a firm or individual be debarred. The decision to debar is discretionary; the seriousness of the offense, and all mitigating factors should be considered in making the decision to debar.

(b) Clear and convincing evidence of violation of contract provisions, as set forth below, when the violation is of a character so serious as to justify debarment action:

(1) Willful failure to perform in accordance with the specifications or delivery requirements in a contract;

(2) A history of failure to perform, or of unsatisfactory performance, in accordance with the terms of one or more contracts: Provided, That such failure or unsatisfactory performance is within a reasonable period of time preceding the determination to debar. Failure to perform or unsatisfactory performance caused by acts beyond the control of the contractor shall not be considered as a basis for debarment;

(3) Violation of the contractual provision against contingent fees; or

(4) Violation of the "Gratuities" clause, as determined by the Secretary in accordance with the provisions of the clause.

(c) For other cause of such serious and compelling nature as may be determined by the Secretary of the Department concerned to justify debarment.

(d) Debarment for any of the above causes by some other executive agency of the Government. Such debarment may be based entirely upon the record of facts obtained by the original debarring agency, or upon a combination of additional facts with the record of facts of the original debarring agency.

§ 1.604–2 Period of debarment.

All debarments shall be for a reasonable, definitely stated period of time, commensurate with the seriousness of the cause therefor. As a general rule, a period of debarment should not exceed 5 years following the date of conviction for fraud or other criminal offense, or 3 years following the date of debarment for any other cause. However, with respect to debarment for violation of the nondiscrimination clause, the debarment shall be removed prior to the expiration of the debarment period by the Secretary who imposed the debarment upon receipt of satisfactory evidence that corrective action has been taken. In the event debarment is preceded by suspension, consideration shall be given to such period of suspension in determining the period of debarment.

§ 1.604–3 Notice of debarment.

(a) The firm or individual concerned shall be furnished with a written notice of the proposed debarment stating as a minimum (1) the fact that debarment is being considered, (2) the reasons for the proposed debarment, and (3) the period of time to be afforded to present information for consideration. If debarment is effected, the firm or individual shall be notified in writing within 10 days after determination of debarment has been made. This notice shall (i) reference the earlier notice of proposed debarment, (ii) specify the reasons for debarment, (iii) state the period of debarment, including effective dates, and (iv) advise that the debarment is effective throughout the Department of Defense. If, following the notice of proposed debarment, a determination is made that debarment will not be effected, the firm or individual shall be notified in writing accordingly.

(b) Copies of the notice of debarment and of any removals from such debarment shall be furnished to the General Services Administration.

§ 1.605 Suspension of bidders.

Suspension of a contractor or bidder is a drastic action which must be based upon adequate evidence rather than mere accusation. Placing the name of an individual or firm on the consolidated list will be for the purpose of protecting the interest of the Government and not for punishment. The suspension of a bidder is an administrative determination which may be modified when determined to be in the interest of the Government.

§ 1.605–1 Causes and conditions under which departments may suspend contractors.

(a) The Secretary of a Department or his authorized representative may, in the interest of the Government, suspend a firm or individual:

(1) Suspected of:

(i) Commission of fraud or a criminal offense as an incident to obtaining, attempting to obtain, or in the performance of a public contract;

(ii) Violation of the Federal antitrust statutes arising out of the submission of bids and proposals; or

(iii) Commission of embezzlement, theft, forgery, bribery, falsification or destruction of records, receiving stolen property, or any other offense indicating a lack of business integrity or business honesty, which seriously and directly affects the question of present responsibility as a Government contractor; or

(2) For other cause of such serious and compelling nature as may be determined by the Secretary of the Department concerned to justify suspension.

(b) Suspension of a firm or individual by the Secretary of a Department, or his authorized representative, shall operate to suspend such firm or individual throughout the Department of Defense.

§ 1.605–2 Period of suspension.

All suspensions shall be for a temporary period pending the completion of investigation and such legal proceedings as may ensue. Upon the completion of such investigation or proceedings, the suspension shall be removed and, if appropriate, changed to a debarment in accordance with § 1.604–1(a).

§ 1.605–3 Restrictions during period of suspension.

During a period of suspension of a firm or individual, the following policies and procedures shall be applicable:

(a) Bids and proposals will not be solicited from suspended contractors. If received, bids and proposals will not be considered and award for contracts may not be made to suspended contractors unless it is determined to be in the best interest of the Government by the Secretary of a Department or his authorized representative.

(b) Suspended contractors will be subject to the provisions of § 1.603 (b) and (c).

§ 1.605–4 Notice of suspension.

(a) The firm or individual concerned shall be furnished a written notice by the Secretary of the Department concerned, or his authorized representative, of the suspension within 10 days after the effective date of the suspension. The notice of suspension shall state—

(1) That the suspension is based on information that the firm or individual has committed irregularities of a serious nature in business dealings with the Government or that the suspension is based on irregularities which seriously reflect on the propriety of further dealings of the firm or individual with the Government;

(2) That the suspension is for a temporary period pending the completion of an investigation and such legal proceedings as may ensue;

(3) That bids and proposals will not be solicited from the firm or individual and if received will not be considered, and awards of contracts may not be made unless it is determined to be in the best interest of the Government by the Secretary of the Department or his authorized representative to do so; and

(4) That the suspension is effective throughout the Department of Defense.

(b) All inquiries concerning suspended contractors shall be referred to the Secretary of the Department concerned or his authorized representative for appropriate action. The Department shall not give further information to the contractor or his representatives concerning the reasons for suspension beyond that stated in the notice of suspension set forth above until the Department of Justice has been advised of the inquiry.

§ 1.606 Limited debarment or suspension.

Where it is determined to debar or suspend a concern pursuant to § 1.604–1 or § 1.605–1, the responsible official shall decide whether the debarment or suspension should extend to procurement contracts or to sales contracts or to both. If the debarment or suspension is limited either to procurement contracts or to sales contracts the listing should so indicate.

§ 1.607 Interchange of debarment information.

(a) The General Services Administration is charged by GSA Regulation 1–II–207.07 with compiling from the notifications of debarments furnished them by the Military Departments and executive agencies, a combined list of such debarments, including the basis of action, and distributing a copy of such lists to all executive agencies including the Military Departments. In general application, this listing will be for information purposes only and it is not intended to take the place of, or be in addition to, the lists maintained by the various agencies.

(b) Each Department will notify the General Services Administration of the name and address of its central office where debarment information should be sent.

(c) Each Department will check the list of debarred bidders furnished by the General Services Administration and consider firms or individuals listed thereon for inclusion upon their own lists, in accordance with the provisions of this Subpart F.

(d) On specific request, the General Services Administration has agreed to furnish to the Military Departments a copy of the notice reflecting the basis for debarment action taken by another agency for causes contained in § 1.604–1 (subsection 207.05a of GSA Regulation 1–II) or under the Buy American Act. If desired, direct inquiry concerning any debarment case may be made to the agency which originated the action.

§ 1.608 [Reserved]

§ 1.609 Procurement outside the United States.

In regard to procurement outside the United States, its Territories and possessions, the principles and procedures set forth in the foregoing provisions of subpart F of this Part 1 will be applied by overseas commanders whenever possible, and as modified by the following provisions, with due consideration to laws or customs of the foreign countries in which such lists are to be applicable.

§ 1.609–1 Responsibilities and area coverage.

The Commander-in-Chief, United States European Command, the Commander-in-Chief, Pacific, and the Commander-in-Chief, Caribbean, or the Commanders of a component command which each of the these unified commanders may designate, will establish and maintain a consolidated list of offshore suppliers to whom contracts will not be awarded and from whom bids or proposals will not be solicited. The CINCEUR consolidated list will include names in the North Atlantic and Mediterranean areas including all of Europe, North Africa and the Middle East. The CINCPAC consolidated list will include names in the Far East and Pacific Ocean areas excluding United States Territories and possessions. The CINCARIB consolidated list will include names in Central and South America excluding Territories and possessions. All other overseas commanders will utilize and contribute to such list as appropriate to their geographical location or areas in which they award contracts. Lists shall not be established or maintained except as provided above.

§ 1.609–2 Information contained on overseas lists.

The lists shall show as a minimum the following information:

(a) The names and addresses of those firms or individuals to whom contracts shall not be awarded and from whom bids or proposals will not be solicited. (Names will be set forth in alphabetical order with appropriate cross reference where more than one name is involved in a single action and where a parent firm or individual in one country is known to control subisidiaries, branches, or agencies in the same or other countries.)

(b) The basis or authority for each action;

(c) The extent of restrictions imposed;

(d) The termination date for each debarred listing; and

(e) The originating activity, component or agency.

§ 1.609–3 Protection of lists.

The lists and all correspondence relative thereto shall be protected to prevent inspection of contents by personnel who are not required to have access to such information. The lists shall be marked "For Official Use Only."

§ 1.609–4 Maintenance and distribution of lists.

The lists shall be kept current by issuance of notices of additions or deletions and by periodic reprinting. Copies of the list shall be distributed to contracting officers as the unified commanders and their component commanders direct. CINCEUR, CINCPAC, and CINCARIB will exchange lists directly. Copies will also be furnished to the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Supply and Logistics), the Assistant Secretary of Defense (International Security Affairs), the Assistant Secretary of the Army (Logistics) (Assistant Judge Advocate General), the Chief of Naval Material (Code M22), and the Commander, Air Material Command (MCPI).

§ 1.609–5 [Reserved]

§ 1.609–6 Basis of addition of firms and individuals on lists.

In addition to the names of offshore firms or individuals which may be included on the lists as falling into the categories outlined in § 1.603, the names of firms or individuals abroad shall be included on the list in the following additional categories:

(a) Those who are "designated nationals" under the Foreign Assets Control Regulations;

(b) Those found by the Assistant Secretary of Defense (ISA) or his authorized representative to have engaged in improper East-West trade activity;

(c) Those found by the Assistant Secretary of Defense (ISA) or his authorized representative to be ineligible because they do not meet the political or security criteria;

(d) Those found by a United States Diplomatic Mission or a Country Team (consisting of members of the United States Diplomatic Mission in the country or countries in which the firms or individuals are located) to be ineligible because they do not meet the labor-political criteria; and

(e) Those who for other causes of a serious and compelling nature are so designated by the unified commander.

§ 1.609–7 Treatment to be accorded firms or individuals in debarred or ineligible status.

The provisions of § 1.603 will be complied with, if applicable. In addition, contracts will not be awarded to, nor shall bids or proposals be solicited from, or furnished to firms or individuals abroad which come into the categories (a) through (e) of § 1.609–6. With respect to (a) of § 1.609–6, an exception may be made by the Secretary of the Treasury only. With respect to (b), (c), and (d) of § 1.609–6, an exception may be made by the Assistant Secretary of Defense (ISA) or his authorized representative.

§ 1.609–8 Causes and conditions under which unified commanders may place names on the consolidated list.

CINCEUR, CINCPAC, and CINCARIB, or their designated component commanders are respectively authorized to place on the list names of firms or individuals doing business within the areas for which they are responsible, for any of the causes and under the conditions set forth in §§ 1.609–6 and 1.609–7. Overseas commanders or unified commanders overseas other than CINCEUR, CINCPAC, and CINCARIB are similarly authorized to designate firms or individuals in their command areas and will promptly notify either CINCEUR, CINCPAC, or CINCARIB, who will add the names to their consolidated lists. In these cases the information contained in § 1.609–2 will be furnished. The listing shall operate to deny contracts to such firms or individuals throughout the Department of Defense.

§ 1.609–9 Liaison with United States diplomatic missions.

The Chief of the United States Diplomatic Mission, or such attaché or other officer as he directs, in the country where the firm or individual concerned is located, will be notified of actions contemplated under the foregoing sections which may have important political significance. In such cases of contemplated action against a branch or subsidiary firm or agency in one or more countries, the Chief of the United States Diplomatic Mission in each country, including that in which the parent or principal is located, will be notified.

§ 1.610 Use of overseas lists within United States.

(a) Due to the length of the lists, the numerous revisions and distances involved, as well as the infrequent contracting by offices in the United States with offshore supplies, the CINCEUR, CINCPAC, and CINCARIB consolidated lists of ineligible, debarred and suspended bidders will not be distributed to contracting officers in the United States. However, no contracts will be awarded by contracting officers in the United States, and its possessions, to offshore suppliers without ascertaining that the names of the firms or individuals involved do not appear on the overseas consolidated lists. These lists will be held for reference in each of the Military Departments and will be utilized in accordance with procedures established by each of the Departments.

(b) Where a contracting officer becomes aware that a prospective contractor proposes to furnish products of a concern that has been placed on an overseas list in accordance with § 1.609–b (a), (b), (c), or (d), the matter shall, in accordance with Departmental procedures, be referred to the Assistant Secretary of Defense (ISA) for advice. In the Army, referral will be through the Assistant Secretary of the Army (Logistics) (Assistant Judge Advocate General) with an information copy to the Deputy Chief of Staff for Logistics, Attn: Chief, Contracts Branch; in the Navy, through the Office of Naval Material—Code M–30; in the Air Force, through Headquarters USAF, AFMPP–PR.

Subpart G—Small Business Concerns

§ 1.700 Scope of subpart.

To implement the Small Business Act, Pub. Law 85–536, and the Armed Services Procurement Act, as amended, this subpart sets forth (a) policy with reference to small business concerns, (b) policy governing relationship with the Small Business Administration, (c) small business set-aside procedures, and (d) the Defense Small Business Subcontracting Program. This subpart applies only in the United States, its Territories, its possessions, and Puerto Rico.

§ 1.701 Definitions.

As used throughout this subpart, the following terms shall have the meanings set forth below.

§ 1.701–1 Small business concern.

(a) (1) General definitions. Except as provided in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, a small business concern is a concern that is (i) independently owned and operated, is not dominant in its field of operation and, with its affiliates, employs fewer than 500 employees, or (ii) is certified as a small business concern by SBA.

(2) Special industry definitions. Unless certified as a small business concern by SBA, in addition to being independently owned and operated, and not dominant in its field of operation, a small business concern in order to qualify as such must meet special criteria in the following industries:

(i) Construction industry. In the construction industry, the average annual receipts of the concern and its affiliates for the preceding three years must have been $5,000,000 or less; except that if the concern is located in Alaska, such receipts must have been $6,250,000 or less.

(ii) Aircraft equipment and parts industry. In the aircraft equipment and parts industry, the number of employees of the concern and its affiliates must not exceed 1,000 employees. This special definition for the aircraft equipment and parts industry applies only in the procurement of the following items:

Airframes and structural components.
Aircraft propellers and hubs.
Wheel and brake systems.
Jet engines.
Fuel tanks.
Aircraft hydraulic systems.
Aircraft vacuum systems.
Aircraft air-conditioning.
Heating and pressurizing equipment.
Fire control systems.
Flight instruments.
Flight simulators (except small cockpit trainers).
Aircraft de-icing systems.

(iii) Petroleum refining industry. In the petroleum refining industry, the concern and its affiliates must employ not more than 1,000 employees and not have more than 30,000 barrels per day crude oil capacity from owned or leased facilities.

(iv) Food, canning, and preserving industry. In the food, canning and preserving industry, the concern and its affiliates must employ fewer than 500 employees exclusive of "agricultural labor" as defined in 26 U.S.C. 3306(k).

(v) Air transportation industry. In the air transportation industry the number of employees of the concern and its affiliates must not exceed 1,000 employees.

(b) Dominance in field of operations. A concern "is not dominant in its field of operations" when it does not exercise a controlling or major influence in an area of business activity. In determining whether dominance exists, consideration is given to all appropriate factors including volume of business, number of employees, financial resources, competitive status or position, ownership or control of materials, processes, patents and license agreements, sales territory, and business activity.

(c) Affiliates. Business concerns are affiliates of each other when either directly or indirectly (1) one concern controls or has the power to control the other, or (2) a third party controls or has the power to control both. In determining whether concerns are independently owned and operated and whether or not affiliation exists, consideration is given to all appropriate factors including common ownership, common management, and contractual relationships.

(d) Number of employees. In connection with the determination of small business status, except as SBA otherwise determines in a particular industry or part thereof, "number of employees" means the average employment of any concern and its affiliates based on the number of persons employed during the pay period ending nearest the 15th of the third month in each calendar quarter for the preceding four quarters. If a concern has not been in existence for four full calendar quarters, "number of employees" means the average employment of such concern and its affiliates during the period such concern has been in existence based on the number of persons employed during the pay period ending nearest the 15th of each month.

(e) Small business certificate. A small business certificate is a certificate issued by SBA pursuant to the authority contained in sections 3 and 8(b)(6) of the Small Business Act certifying that the holder of the certificate is a small business concern for the purpose of Government procurement and in accordance with the terms of the certificate.

§ 1.701–2 Established supplier.

An "established supplier" of an item is a concern which is a "source of supplies," within the meaning of § 1.201–18, and which has supplied the items satisfactorily to one or more military departments, or a concern with which mobilization planning is in effect.

§ 1.701–3 Potential supplier.

A "potential supplier" of an item is a concern which is a "source of supplies," within the meaning of § 1.201–18, but which is not an established supplier.

§ 1.701–4 Regular dealer (nonmanufacturer) as small business concern.

One who submits bids or offers in his own name, but who proposes to furnish a product not manufactured by himself, shall be deemed to be a small business concern only if (a) he is a small business concern within the meaning of § 1.701–1; (b) he is a regular dealer (nonmanufacturer) (see § 1.201–18); and (c) in the case of a procurement set aside for small business (see § 1.706) or involving equal low bids (see § 2.407–6 of this subchapter) or otherwise involving the preferential treatment of small business, he agrees to furnish in the performance of the contract end items manufactured or produced in the United States, its possessions, or Puerto Rico, by small business concerns; provided, that this section does not apply to construction or service contractors.

§ 1.702 General policy.

(a) It is the policy of the Department of Defense to place a fair proportion of its total purchases and contracts for supplies and services (including, but not limited to, contracts for maintenance, repair, and construction) with small business concerns.

(b) Each military department shall implement this policy by affording small business concerns an equitable opportunity to compete for prime contracts in accordance with the following:

(1) bidders' mailing lists (see § 2.205 of this subchapter) shall be maintained and shall include all established and potential small business suppliers who have made acceptable application for inclusion or who appear from other information (including recommendation by the SBA representative), to be qualified for inclusion therein.

(2) Invitations for Bids or Requests for Proposals shall be sent to all firms on the appropriate list, except that where less than the complete list is to be used pursuant to § 2.205–4 of this subchapter a pro-rata number of established or potential small business suppliers shall be solicited;

(3) procurement of supplies and services shall be divided into reasonably small lots (not less than economic production runs) in order to permit bidding on quantities less than the total requirements; the maximum amount of time practicable shall be allowed for preparation and submission of bids and proposals; and delivery schedules shall be suitable for small business participation; and

(4) for specification requirements, see § 1.1203 (d) of this subchapter.

As to subcontracting, see § 1.707.

(c) Records of the total value of all contracts placed with small business concerns during each fiscal year, and reports based thereon, are maintained by each military department through the Department of Defense Procurement Reporting System described in § 1.110 and § 16.807 of this subchapter. Accordingly, each military department shall, in soliciting bids or proposals, request from any bidder or offeror, or other source, any information needed to determine whether the bidder or offeror is a small business concern.

§ 1.703 Determination of status as small business concern.

(a) Except as provided in paragraph (b) of this section, the contracting officer shall accept at face value (1) a small business certificate (see § 1.701–1 (e)) that a bidder or offeror is a small business concern or (2) a statement by the bidder or offeror that it is a small business concern (see §§ 1.701–1 and 1.701–4) and that it has not previously been denied small business status by SBA.

(b) Small business certificates and statements that a bidder or offeror is a small business concern shall be effective, even though questioned in accordance with the terms of this paragraph, unless the SBA, in response to such question and within the period specified in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph, determines that the bidder or offeror in question is not a small business concern.

(1) Any bidder or offeror may, prior to award, question the small business status of the apparently successful bidder or offeror by sending a written protest to the contracting officer and to the SBA Regional Office for the region in which the questioned bidder or offeror has its principal place of business. SBA will promptly notify the contracting officer of the date of its receipt of any such protest and will advise the questioned bidder or offeror that its small business status is under review.

(2) A contracting officer may, prior to award, question the small business status of the apparently successful bidder or offeror by sending a written notice to the SBA Regional Office for the region in which the bidder or offeror has its principal place of business. Such notice shall contain a statement of the basis for questioning and of available supporting facts. SBA will promptly notify the contracting officer of the date such notice was received and will advise the bidder or offeror in question that its small business status is under review.

(3) SBA will determine the small business status of the questioned bidder or offeror and notify the contracting officer and the bidder or offeror of its decision. If the SBA determination is not received by the contracting officer within ten working days after SBA's receipt of the protest or notice questioning small business status, it shall be presumed that the questioned bidder or offeror is a small business concern. Pending SBA determination or expiration of the ten day period, whichever is earlier, procurement action shall be suspended.

§ 1.704 Small business officials.

§ 1.704–1 Director for small business.

The Director for Small Business for the Department of Defense advises the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Supply and Logistics) in matters relating to the establishment, implementation, and execution of an appropriate Small Business Program within the Department of Defense. Negotiations with SBA or other Government agencies or departments outside the Department of Defense concerning small business policy and programs shall be conducted through the Director for Small Business or with his authorization.

§ 1.704–2 Departmental small business advisors.

Each military department shall maintain an Office of Small Business for the Department. The Chief of each Office of Small Business shall devote his efforts exclusively to small business matters. He advises the Secretary on small business matters and is responsible for implementing the Department of Defense Small Business Program within his Department and for representing his Department in negotiations with other military departments or governmental agencies on small business matters.

§ 1.704–3 Small business specialists.

Small business specialists shall be appointed in each principal procurement office and such other offices as the military departments may consider appropriate. They will perform such functions as are prescribed for them in furtherance of the Small Business Program.

§ 1.705 Cooperation with the Small Business Administration.

§ 1.705–1 General.

The Assistant Secretary of Defense (Supply and Logistics) and the Administrator, SBA, are responsible for consulting, and cooperating in establishing policies and programs for small business participation in Defense procurement. All Department of Defense purchasing activities are responsible for working with SBA in carrying out these policies and programs, in accordance with the provisions of § 1.705.

§ 1.705–2 SBA representatives.

SBA may assign one or more representatives on a full- or part-time basis to any purchasing activity of the military departments to act in its behalf in carrying out SBA policies and programs.

§ 1.705–3 Screening of procurements.

(a) Individual set-asides. (1) SBA representatives, when properly authorized and cleared for security, shall, upon request, be afforded an opportunity at the purchasing activity to review all proposed classified and unclassified Invitations for Bids and Requests for Proposals unless both (i) it is anticipated that the resulting contract or contracts will not exceed $10,000 and (ii) the Head of the Purchasing Activity determines that such review would unduly delay the procurement process. Where it is anticipated that the resulting contract or contracts will exceed $10,000, such SBA representative shall, upon request, be afforded an opportunity to make recommendations concerning Invitations for Bids and Requests for Proposals, including that they be exclusively or partially set aside for small business concerns. Where the Invitations for Bids or Requests for Proposals are reviewed by an SBA representative and it is anticipated that the resulting contract or contracts will not exceed $10,000, and if the Head of the Purchasing Activity approves, a similar opportunity to make recommendations will be afforded to the SBA representative.

(2) In any case, the contracting officer shall afford the SBA representative an opportunity to recommend, within a reasonable time, appropriate names of small business concerns for inclusion in the list of bidders or firms to be solicited in connection with a particular procurement.

(b) Class set-asides. (1) SBA representatives shall also be afforded an opportunity to make recommendations that current and future procurements, or portions thereof, of selected items or services or groups of like items or services shall be set aside, as provided in § 1.706, for exclusive small business participation. Such set-asides, when approved by the contracting officer, shall be known as class set-asides.

(2) SBA representatives, upon request, shall be furnished such available or reasonably obtainable information as may be required for the SBA to determine whether or not to recommend a class set-aside.

§ 1.705–4 Access to bidders' lists and other information.

SBA representatives, upon request, shall be permitted to review, inspect, study, and transcribe information from bidders' mailing lists (see § 1.702 (b)) and will be furnished such other available or reasonably obtainable information as may be required for the SBA referral program or for determination of whether small business concerns are proportionately represented on one or more particular bidders' mailing lists.

§ 1.705–5 Joint SBA-Defense small business set-aside program.

The Joint SBA-Defense Small Business Set-Aside Program, set forth in § 1.706, was developed by SBA and the Department of Defense to increase small business participation in Defense procurement. All press releases, reports, or other references to this program or to set-asides thereunder should refer to it as a Joint SBA-Defense Program and should avoid drawing any distinction between set-asides based on proposals of SBA representatives and those made independently of such proposals.

§ 1.705–6 Certificates of competency.

(a) SBA has statutory authority to certify the competency of any small business concern as to capacity and credit. "Capacity" means the overall ability of a prospective small business contractor to meet quality, quantity, and time requirements of a proposed contract and includes ability to perform, organization, experience, technical knowledge, skills, "know-how," technical equipment, and facilities. Contracting officers shall accept SBA certificates of competency as conclusive of a prospective contractor's responsibility as to capacity (see §§ 1.903–1 and 1.903–2) and credit (see § 1.903–1(b)): Provided, That if the contracting officer has substantial doubts as to the firm's ability to perform he shall, prior to award, refer the matter to higher authority in accordance with procedures of the Department concerned. In such cases SBA may be requested to consider withdrawal of the certificate and, in any event, the contracting officer will be informed of the final decision of SBA which shall be conclusive.

(b) If a small business concern has submitted an otherwise acceptable bid or proposal but has been found by the contracting officer to be nonresponsible as to capacity or credit, and if the bid or proposal is to be rejected for this reason alone, (i) SBA shall be notified of the circumstances so as to permit it to issue a certificate of competency, and (ii) award shall be withheld pending either SBA issuance of a certificate of competency or the expiration of ten working days after SBA is so notified, whichever is earlier, subject to the following:

(1) This procedure is not mandatory where the contracting officer certifies in writing that award must be made without delay and includes in the contract file a statement signed by him which justifies the certificate.

(2) This procedure does not apply to proposed awards of not more than $2,500.

(3) This procedure is optional, within the discretion of the contracting officer, as to proposed awards of more than $2,500, but less than $10,000.

(4) This procedure does not apply where the contracting officer has found a small business concern nonresponsible for a reason other than lack of capacity or credit. Thus, it does not apply where a concern does not satisfy the criteria of responsibility in § 1.903–1 (a), (e), (f), and (g). Where the contracting officer determines that a concern does not meet the requirements of §1.903–1(d) as to a satisfactory record of performance, the procedure is mandatory only if the unsatisfactory record of performance was due solely to inadequate capacity or credit. However, if the contracting officer has any doubt as to whether the unsatisfactory record of performance can reasonably be attributed solely to lack of capacity or credit, the matter shall be discussed with the local SBA representative. If the local SBA representative is of the opinion that the unsatisfactory record of performance is attributable solely to a lack of capacity or credit, and the contracting officer disagrees, the contracting officer shall, in accordance with Departmental procedures, forward the matter to higher authority within his Department for resolution. The decision of such higher authority shall be final. To assist SBA in determining the capacity and credit of small business concerns involved in a particular procurement, the purchasing activity shall make available to SBA all pertinent data, including technical and financial information, with respect to the small business concern involved.

(c) In procurements where the highest competence obtainable or the best scientific approach is needed, such as in certain negotiated procurements of research and development, highly complex equipment, or personal or professional services, the certificate of competency procedure is not applicable to the selection of the source offering the highest competence obtainable or the best scientific approach. However, if a small business concern has been selected on the basis of the highest competence obtainable or best scientific approach and, prior to award, the contracting officer determines that the concern is not responsible because of lack of capacity or credit, the certificate of competency procedure in paragraph (b) of this section is applicable.

§ 1.705–7 Performance of contract by SBA.

In accordance with section 8a of the Small Business Act, in any case in which the Administrator of SBA certifies to the Secretary concerned that SBA is competent to perform any specific contracts, the contracting officer is authorized, in his discretion, to award the contract to SBA upon such terms and conditions, consistent with this Regulation, as may be agreed upon between SBA and the contracting officer.

§ 1.706 Set-Asides for small business.

§ 1.706–1 General.

(a) Subject to any applicable preference for labor surplus area set-asides as provided in § 1.803(a)(2) of this part, any individual procurement or class of procurements or an appropriate part thereof, shall be set aside for the exclusive participation of small business concerns when such action is (1) jointly determined by an SBA representative and the contracting officer, or (2) if no SBA representative is available, is unilaterally determined by the contracting officer to be in the interest of maintaining or mobilizing the Nation's full productive capacity, or in the interest of war or national defense programs, or in the interest of assuring that a fair proportion of Government procurement is placed with small business concerns. Insofar as practical, joint determinations shall be used as a basis for set-asides rather than unilateral determinations; but the impracticability of obtaining a joint determination should not be treated as an obstacle to making a set-aside based on a unilateral determination in an otherwise appropriate case.

(b) Procurements involving supplies of mutual interest to the United States and Canada which have been developed and financed by the Government of Canada shall not be set aside for small business.

§ 1.706–2 Review of SBA set-aside proposals.

(a) (1) Upon a recommendation of an SBA representative that an individual procurement or class of procurements, or portion thereof, be set aside for small business, the contracting officer shall promptly either (i) concur in the recommendation, or (ii) disapprove, stating in writing his reasons for disapproval. The SBA representative shall be allowed two working days to appeal any such disapproval to the head of the purchasing activity or his designee for decision. During consideration of such appeal there shall be full and free interchange of all pertinent facts between the SBA representative and the purchasing activity concerned. Within one working day after receipt of a decision of the head of the purchasing activity or his designee disapproving a recommended set-aside, the SBA representative may request the contracting officer to suspend any procurement actions affected by the recommended set-aside pending a further appeal by the Administrator of SBA to the Secretary of the Military Department concerned for determination. SBA shall be allowed seven working days after making any such request within which (a) the Administrator of SBA may appeal the decision of the head of the purchasing activity or his designee to the Secretary concerned, and (b) to notify the contracting officer whether such appeal has in fact been taken. If such notification is not received by the contracting officer within the seven-day period, it shall be deemed that the SBA request to suspend procurement action has been withdrawn and that no appeal to the Secretary was taken. Where an appeal to the Secretary concerned has been taken and the contracting officer has been notified of that fact within the seven-day period, the head of the purchasing activity shall, in accordance with Departmental procedures, forward to the Secretary concerned a full justification of his decision.

(2) Any procurement action affected by a set-aside recommendation which has been disapproved by the contracting officer and appealed by the SBA representative shall be suspended pending the decision of the head of the purchasing activity or his designee. If the decision sustains the disapproval and if the SBA representative requests further suspension in accordance with subparagraph (1) of this paragraph the suspension shall continue until (i) the SBA appeal is deemed to have been withdrawn (as provided in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph) or (ii) the matter is determined by the Secretary of the Military Department concerned: Provided, That such suspension shall not apply to any particular procurement action which, as determined by the contracting officer, must, in order to protect the public interest, be initiated without delay and as to which he inserts in the contract file a statement signed by him justifying the determination. The contracting officer shall promptly notify the SBA representative of any procurement action initiated pursuant to the proviso of the preceding sentence.

(b) None of the following is, in itself, sufficient cause for not making a set-aside:

(1) A large percentage of previous procurements of the item in question has been placed with small business concerns;

(2) The item to be purchased is on an established planning list under the Industrial Readiness Planning Program; except that a total set-aside shall not be authorized when one or more large business Planned Emergency Producers of the item desire to participate in the procurement;

(3) The item to be purchased is on a Qualified Products List; except that a total set-aside shall not be authorized when the products of one or more large businesses are on the Qualified Products List unless it has been confirmed that none of such large businesses desires to participate in the procurement;

(4) A period of less than thirty days from date of issuance of invitations for bids or requests for proposals is prescribed for the submission of the bids or proposals;

(5) The procurement is classified;

(6) Small business concerns are receiving a fair proportion of the total tracts for supplies or services; or

(7) A class set-aside of the item or service concerned has been made at some other purchasing activity.

(c) In approving a proposed class set-aside, the contracting officer shall make sure that the set-aside determination (1) specifically identifies the items or services subject thereto, (2) provides that it will, at least once each year, be reviewed jointly by an SBA representative and the contracting officer to determine whether it should be withdrawn (see § 1.706–3 for withdrawal procedure), (3) provides that it does not apply to any individual procurement for which small purchase procedures are to be used, and (4) provides that such class set-aside applies only to the purchasing activity making or participating in the set-aside determination. Any class of procurements proposed to be totally set aside shall satisfy the requirements of § 1.706–5(a). With respect to any class of procurements proposed to be partially set aside, the set-aside determination shall specify that it is not applicable to any individual procurement which is not severable into two or more economic production runs or reasonable lots.

§ 1.706–3 Withdrawal or modification of set-asides.

(a) Each individual procurement governed by a class set-aside shall be carefully reviewed to ensure that any changes in the magnitude of anticipated requirements, specifications for the items or services, delivery requirements, or competitive market conditions, since the initial approval of the class set-aside, are not of such material nature as to result in the probable payment of an unreasonable price by the Government or in a change in small business capability.

(b) (1) If, prior to the award of a contract involving an individual or class set-aside for small business, the contracting officer considers that procurement of the set-aside from a small business concern would be detrimental to the public interest (e.g., because of unreasonable price), the contracting officer may withdraw a unilateral set-aside determination or initiate the withdrawal of a joint set-aside determination. Similarly, a class set-aside may be modified so as to withdraw one or more individual procurements therefrom. In the case of a joint set-aside determination, if the SBA representative does not agree to a withdrawal or modification, the SBA representative shall be allowed two working days to appeal the matter to the head of the purchasing activity or his designee for decision. Within one working day after receipt of a decision of the head of the purchasing activity or his designee approving such a withdrawal or modification, the SBA representative may request the contracting officer to suspend any procurement actions which would be affected by the withdrawal or modification pending a further appeal by the Administrator of SBA to the Secretary of the Military Department concerned for determination. SBA shall be allowed seven working days after making any such request within which (i) the Administrator of SBA may appeal the decision of the head of the purchasing activity or his designee to the Secretary concerned, and (ii) to notify the contracting officer whether such an appeal has in fact been taken. If such notification is not received by the contracting officer within the seven-day period, it shall be deemed that the SBA request to suspend procurement action has been withdrawn and that no appeal to the Secretary was taken. Where an appeal to the Secretary concerned has been taken and the contracting officer has been notified of that fact within the seven-day period, the head of the purchasing activity shall, in accordance with Departmental procedures, forward to the Secretary concerned a full justification of his decision.

(2) Any procurement action affected by a proposed withdrawal or modification which has been appealed by the SBA representative shall be suspended pending the decision of the head of the purchasing activity or his designee. If the decision sustains the withdrawal or modification, and if the SBA representative requests further suspension in accordance with subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, the suspension shall continue until (i) the SBA appeal is deemed to have been withdrawn (as provided in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph) or (ii) the matter is determined by the Secretary of the Military Department concerned: Provided, That such suspension shall not apply to any particular procurement action which, as determined by the contracting officer, must, in order to protect the public interest, be initiated without delay and as to which he inserts in the contract file a statement signed by him justifying the determination. The contracting officer shall promptly notify the SBA representative of any procurement action initiated pursuant to the proviso of the preceding sentence.

(3) A signed memorandum of any withdrawal or modification shall be made and retained.

§ 1.706–4 Reporting for Department of Commerce procurement synopsis.

See § 1.1003–4.

§ 1.706–5 Total set-asides.

(a) Subject to any applicable preference for labor surplus area set-asides as provided in § 1.803(a)(2), the entire amount of an individual procurement or class of procurements (including but not limited to contracts for maintenance, repair, and construction) shall be set aside for exclusive small business participation (see § 1.706–1) where there is a reasonable expectation that bids or proposals will be obtained from a sufficient number of responsible small business concerns so that awards will be made at reasonable prices. Total set-asides shall not be made unless such a reasonable expectation exists; however, see § 1.706–6 as to partial set-asides.

(b) Contracts for total small business set-asides may be entered into by conventional negotiation or by a special method of procurement known as "Small Business Restricted Advertising." The latter method shall be used wherever possible. Invitations for Bids and Requests for Proposals shall be restricted to small business concerns. Small Business Restricted Advertising, including awards thereunder, shall be conducted in the same way as prescribed for formal advertising in Part 2 of this subchapter, except that bids and awards shall be restricted to small business concerns.

(c) In procurements involving total set-asides for small business, each Invitation for Bids or Request for Proposals shall contain substantially the following notice:

NOTICE OF SMALL BUSINESS SET-ASIDE

Bids or proposals under this procurement are solicited from small business concerns only and this procurement is to be awarded only to one or more small business concerns. This action is based on a determination by the contracting officer, alone or in conjunction with a representative of the Small Business Administration, that it is in the interest of maintaining or mobilizing the Nation's full productive capacity, in the interest of war or national defense programs, or in the interest of assuring that a fair proportion of government procurement is placed with small business concerns. A small business concern is a concern that:

(i) Is independently owned and operated, is not dominant in its field of operation and, with its affiliates, employs fewer than 500 employees, or

(ii) Is certified as a small business concern by the Small Business Administration. In addition to meeting these criteria, a manufacturer or a regular dealer submitting bids or proposals in his own name must agree to furnish in the performance of the contract end items manufactured or produced in the United States, its possessions, or Puerto Rico, by small business concerns; provided, that this additional requirement does not apply in connection with construction or service contracts. Bids or proposals received from firms which are not small business concerns shall be considered nonresponsive.

Where the definition of a small business concern for a given industry, as prescribed by the Small Business Administration and promulgated by the Departments, differs from that set forth in the notice above, the notice shall be appropriately modified to reflect such definition. For construction contracts, (i) and (ii) of the foregoing notice and the first sentence following (ii) of the notice should be deleted and the following substituted therefor:

(i) Is independently owned and operated;

(ii) Is not dominant in its field of operation; and

(iii) The average annual receipts of the concern and its affiliates for the preceding three years are $5,000,000 or less.

§ 1.706–6 Partial set-asides.

(a) Subject to any applicable performance for labor surplus area set-asides as provided in § 1.803(a)(2), a portion of a procurement (including but not limited to contracts for maintenance, repair, and construction) shall be set aside for exclusive small business participation (see § 1.706–1) where:

(1) The procurement is not appropriate for total set-aside pursuant to § 1.706–5;

(2) The procurement is severable into two or more economic production runs or reasonable lots; and

(3) Two or more small business concerns are expected to have the technical competency and productive capacity to furnish a severable portion of the procurement at a reasonable price.

Similarly, a class of procurements (including but not limited to contracts for maintenance, repair, and construction) may be partially set aside in accordance with § 1.706–2(c).

(b) Where a portion of a procurement is to be set aside for small business pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, the procurement shall be divided into a set-aside portion and a non-set-aside portion, each of which shall be not less than an economic production run or reasonable lot. Insofar as practical, the set-aside portion will be such as to make the maximum use of small business capacity. Delivery and other terms applicable to the set-aside portion of an item and those applicable to the non-set-aside portion of that item shall be comparable.

(c) In advertised procurements involving partial set-asides for small business, Invitations for Bids shall contain either substantially the following notice or the notice set forth in paragraph (d) of this section. In negotiated procurements, whichever notice is used will be appropriately modified for use with requests for proposals.

NOTICE OF SMALL BUSINESS SET-ASIDE

A portion of this procurement, as identified elsewhere in the Schedule, has been set aside for award only to one or more small business concerns. Negotiations for award of this set-aside portion will be conducted only with responsible small business concerns who have submitted responsive bids on the non-set-aside portion at a unit price within 120 percent of the highest award made on the non-set-aside portion. Negotiations shall be conducted with such small business concerns in the order of their bids on the non-set-aside portion beginning with the lowest responsive bid. The set-aside shall be awarded at the highest unit price awarded on the non-set-aside portion, adjusted to reflect transportation and other cost factors which were considered in evaluating bids on the non-set-aside portion. However, the Government reserves the right not to consider token bids or other devices designed to secure an unfair advantage over other bidders eligible for the set-aside portion. The partial set-aside of this procurement for small business concerns is based on a determination by the Contracting Officer, alone or in conjunction with a representative of the Small Business Administration, that it is in the interest of maintaining or mobilizing the Nation's full productive capacity, or in the interest of war or national defense programs, or in the interest of assuring that a fair portion of Government procurement is placed with small business concerns. A small business concern is a concern that:

(i) Is certified as a small business concern by the Small Business Administration, or

(ii) Is independently owned and operated, is not dominant in its field of operation and, with its affiliates, employs fewer than 500 employees.

In addition to meeting these criteria, a manufacturer or a regular dealer submitting bids or proposals in his own name must agree to furnish in the performance of the contract end items manufactured or produced in the United States, its possessions, or Puerto Rico, by small business concerns; provided that, this additional requirement does not apply in connection with construction or service contracts.

Where the definition of a small business concern for a given industry, as prescribed by the Small Business Administration and promulgated by the Departments, differs from that set forth in the notice in this paragraph, the notice shall be appropriately modified to reflect such definition.

(d) Where it is anticipated that bids may be received which appear designed to take unfair advantage of bona fide bidders, by devices such as unrealistically low bids on mere token quantities, the notice set forth below may be used instead of that in paragraph (c) of this section.

NOTICE OF SMALL BUSINESS SET-ASIDE

(a) General. This procurement has been divided into two parts. All concerns, whether small business or not, may participate in accordance with customary procedures in that portion of this procurement herein called the "non-set-aside" portion. The quantities of the non-set-aside portion are set forth elsewhere in this Schedule. The other portion of the items to be procured has been set aside for participation by small business concerns. This is called the "set-aside portion" and awards therefor are made in accordance with special procedures set forth in paragraph (c) of this Notice. This apportionment is based on a determination by the Contracting Officer, alone or in conjunction with a representative of the Small Business Administration, that it is in the interest of maintaining or mobilizing the Nation's full production capacity, or in the interest of war or national defense programs, or in the interest of assuring that a fair proportion of Government procurement is placed with small business concerns. "Small business concern" is defined in paragraph (d) of this Notice.

(b) Non-set-aside portion and award procedure.

(1) A bidder which is not a small business concern shall submit a bid only for the non-set-aside portion of the procurement. Award thereof will be made in accordance with customary procedures.

(2) A bidder which is a small business concern and is interested in receiving an award for a quantity of an Item not exceeding the quantity set forth in the non-set-aside portion of the procurement, should submit a bid in the same manner as other concerns bidding only on the non-set-aside portion. If such a bidder is interested in receiving an award for a quantity of an Item in addition to the quantity set forth in the non-set-aside portion, it must bid the entire quantity of the non-set-aside portion of the Item, and indicate such additional quantity of the Item as it desires by so specifying on the Addendum to this Notice. Thus, the Notice Addendum is not to be used unless the bidder has bid the entire quantity of an Item under the non-set-aside portion.

However, a small business concern which receives no award, or receives an award for less than the total quantity of an Item for which it submitted a bid under the non-set-aside portion, may be eligible for an award of the quantity it bid, or the unawarded quantity thereof, under the following procedure governing the set-aside portion.

(c) Set-aside portion and award procedure. Award of the set-aside portion of this procurement will be made after award has been completed on the non-set-aside portion. It will be made only to small business concerns which are found to be eligible in accordance with (1) below; on the basis of priorities for award set forth in (2) below; for quantities as provided in (3) below; and at prices determined in accordance with (4) below.

(1) Eligibility. To be eligible for consideration for the set-aside portion of an Item, the small business concern must have submitted a responsive bid on such Item in accordance with the requirements of (b)(2) above at a unit price no greater than 120 percent of the highest unit price for such Item awarded under the non-set-aside portion. However, see (5) below when separate quantities are offered at different prices and see (6) below when separate quantities are offered at tie-in prices.

(2) Priorities. Negotiations for the set-aside portion will be made to eligible concerns in the order of their bids on the non-set-aside portion, beginning with the lowest responsive bid. However, see (5) below for the method of determining the bid when separate quantities are offered at different prices and see (6) below when separate quantities are offered at tie-in prices.

(3) Quantity. The quantity of the set-aside portion of an Item which may be awarded to an eligible concern shall be as follows:

(A) As to an eligible concern which has not specified on the Notice Addendum a quantity of the set-aside portion of the Item which it desires in addition to the entire non-set-aside portion thereof, the quantity shall be no greater than the quantity of such concern's bid on the non-set-aside portion of that Item, less the quantity, if any, of that Item awarded to that concern under the non-set-aside portion.

(B) As to an eligible concern which has submitted a bid for the entire non-set-aside portion of the item and has specified on the Notice Addendum a quantity of the set-aside portion of that Item which it desires in addition to the entire non-set-aside portion thereof, the quantity shall be no greater than the total of the entire non-set-aside portion of the Item and the quantity thereof specified on the Notice Addendum, less the quantity, if any, of that Item awarded to that concern under the non-set-aside portion.

(4) Price. The set-aside shall be awarded at the highest unit price awarded on the non-set-aside portion, adjusted to reflect transportation and other cost factors which were considered in evaluating bids on the non-set-aside portion. However, see (6) below for the highest unit price when the highest award is made on separate quantities at tie-in prices.

(5) Separate quantities at different prices. Where a concern has submitted a bid for separate quantities of the non-set-aside portion of an Item at different prices, without conditioning the Government's right to accept one or more such quantities upon its concurrent acceptance of another quantity of the Item, each separate quantity shall be considered as a separate bid for the purpose of determining the eligibility of the concern with respect to the 120 percent limit prescribed in (c)(1) above, and for the purpose of determining under (c)(2) above the standing of that bid in the order of negotiations for the set-aside portion of that Item.

(6) Separate quantities at tie-in prices. Where a concern has submitted a bid for separate quantities of the non-set-aside portion of an Item at different prices, and has conditioned the Government's right to accept any one or more of such quantities upon its concurrent acceptance of another quantity of the Item, the weighted average of the prices for such conditioned quantities shall be considered the unit price for the purpose of determining, with respect to such conditioned quantities, (i) the eligibility of the firm with respect to the 120 percent limit of (c)(1) above, (ii) the priority status of the firm under (c)(2) above, and (iii) the highest unit price for awards under (c)(4) above if the highest award on the non-set-aside portion was made on such conditioned bid.

(d) Definitions. A "small business concern" is a concern that (i) is certified as a small business concern by the Small Business Administration, or (ii) is independently owned and operated, is not dominant in its field of operation and, with its affiliates, employs fewer than 500 employees.

In addition to meeting these criteria, a manufacturer or a regular dealer submitting bids or proposals in his own name must agree to furnish in the performance of the contract end items manufactured or produced in the United States, its possessions, or Puerto Rico, by small business concerns; provided that, this additional requirement does not apply in connection with construction or service contracts.

(e) Token bids. Notwithstanding the provisions of this Notice, the Government reserves the right, in determining eligibility or priority for set-aside negotiations, not to consider token bids or other devices designed to secure an unfair advantage over other bidders eligible for the set-aside portion.

(f) Instruction for Use, and Explanation of, Notice Addendum. The quantity of each item which has been set aside is set forth on the attached Notice Addendum. As provided in (b)(2), the Notice Addendum is to be filled in only by small business concerns. Furthermore, it is to be used by such a concern only when (i) it has submitted a bid for the entire non-set-aside quantity of an Item, and (ii) it desires a total quantity in excess of the non-set-aside quantity thereof. Whether or not a small business concern may participate in the set-aside portion is dependent on its eligibility in accordance with paragraph (c) above. It should be noted, however, that to be eligible for the set-aside portion it need not have filled in the Notice Addendum. The latter should only be filled in where the concern desires a quantity in excess of the quantity set forth in the Schedule.

NOTICE ADDENDUM FOR SET-ASIDE

The quantity of each Item which has been set aside is as follows:

1 Item No.	2 Quantity set-aside	3 Quantity desired

[The issuing office will identify by line item number the supplies being procured as to which a portion is set aside and will designate the quantity set aside for each such item. The quantity desired column will be left blank for the bidder or offerer to fill in. Where the definition of a small business concern for a given industry, as prescribed by the Small Business Administration and promulgated by the Departments, differs from that set forth in the notice above, the notice shall be appropriately modified to reflect such definition.]

(e) After all awards have been made on the non-set-aside portion, procurement of the set-aside portion shall in all instances be effected by negotiation. Negotiations shall be conducted only with those bidders or offerors who have submitted responsive bids or proposals on the non-set-aside portion at a unit price no greater than 120 percent of the highest award made on the non-set-aside portion and who are determined to be responsible prospective contractors for the set-aside portion of the procurement. Negotiations shall be conducted with such small business concerns in the order of their bids or proposals on the non-set-aside portion, beginning with the lowest responsive bid or proposal as indicated in the foregoing notice. Where equal low bids are received on the non-set-aside portion from concerns which are eligible for the set-aside portion, the concern which is awarded the non-set-aside portion (under the equal low bid procedures of § 2.407–6 of this subchapter) shall have first priority with respect to negotiations for the set-aside portion. The set-aside portion will be awarded at the highest unit price awarded for the non-set-aside portion.

§ 1.706–7 Automatic dissolution of set-asides.

If the entire set-aside portion is not procured by the method set forth in § 1.706–5, as to total set-asides, or in § 1.706–6, as to partial set-asides, the determination referred to in § 1.706–1, is automatically dissolved as to the unawarded portion of the set-aside and such unawarded portion may be procured by advertising or negotiation as appropriate in accordance with existing regulations (see § 3.201–2(b)(2) of this chapter as to negotiation).

§ 1.706–8 Contract authority.

Contracts for total or partial set-asides whether entered into by conventional negotiation (see §§ 1.706–5(b) and 1.706–6(e)) or by "Small Business Restricted Advertising" (see § 1.706–5(b)), shall cite as authority 10 U.S.C. 2304(a)(17) and Section 15 of the Small Business Act in the case of a joint determination, or 10 U.S.C. 2304(a)(1), in the case of a unilateral determination (see § 3.201–2(b)(2) of this chapter).

§ 1.706–9 Maintenance of records.

Records pertaining to the initiation of individual procurements under each class set-aside shall be maintained by individual purchasing activities. Such records shall include: IFB or RFP Number and Date: Item or Service; Unilateral or Joint Class Set-Aside and Number; Estimated Amount of Procurement; and Estimated Amount of Set-Aside. A copy of each such record shall be made available by each purchasing activity to SBA, upon request.

§ 1.707 Subcontracting.

§ 1.707–1 General policy.

It is the policy of the Department of Defense that small business concerns be afforded an equitable opportunity to compete for Defense subcontracts within their capabilities.

§ 1.707–2 Required clauses.

(a) The clause, "Utilization of Small Business Concerns," set forth in § 7.104–14, shall be included in all contracts in amounts exceeding $5,000 except—

(1) Contracts for services which are personal in nature; and

(2) Contracts which, including all subcontracts thereunder, are to be performed outside the United States, its Territories, its possessions, and Puerto Rico.

(b) The clause set forth in § 7.104–22, "Defense Subcontracting Small Business Program," shall be included in all contracts (except negotiated contracts with foreign concerns) in excess of $1,000,000 which contain the clause required by § 1.707–2(a) above and which, in the opinion of the purchasing activity, offer substantial subcontracting possibilities; except that this clause shall not be included in contracts for the construction, alteration, or repair of buildings, bridges, roads, or other kinds of real property. Prime contractors to be awarded contracts not in excess of $1,000,000, which in the opinion of the purchasing activity offer substantial subcontracting possibilities, should be urged to establish and conduct a "Defense Subcontracting Small Business Program," to accept the clause contained in § 7.104–22, and to follow the program described in § 1.707–3.

§ 1.707–3 Defense subcontracting in small business programs.

Each contractor having a prime contract which contains the clause set forth in § 7.104–22 shall be required to establish and conduct a "Defense Subcontracting Small Business Program" to include the following:

(a) Designate a small business liaison officer who will (1) maintain liaison with the purchasing activity and SBA in small business matters; (2) supervise compliance with the "Utilization of Small Business Concerns" clause; and (3) administer contractor's "Defense Subcontracting Small Business Program";

(b) Assure that small business concerns will have an equitable opportunity to compete for subcontracts, particularly by arranging solicitations, time for the preparation of bids, quantities, specifications, and delivery schedules so as to facilitate small business participation;

(c) Maintain records showing (1) whether each prospective subcontractor is a small business concern, and (2) procedures which have been adopted to comply with the policies set forth in this paragraph;

(d) Include the "Utilization of Small Business Concerns" clause in subcontracts which offer substantial small business subcontracting opportunities;

(e) Require subcontractors having subcontracts in excess of $1,000,000 which contain the clause entitled "Utilization of Small Business Concerns" to establish and conduct a "Defense Subcontracting Small Business Program;" and

(f) Submit such information on subcontracting to small business as is called for on DD Form 1140.

§ 1.707–5 Reports on DD Form 1140.

(a) In connection with the submission of DD Form 1140 Reports under the "Defense Subcontracting Small Business Program" clause, a subcontractor may contact the nearest military purchasing or contract administration activity and request advice as to the military department to which he should submit reports. The military purchasing or contract administration activity shall, through channels, submit such a request to the Small Business Advisor of the department concerned. The Small Business Advisor shall submit it to the Director for Small Business Policy of the Department of Defense for his determination in coordination with the Small Business Advisors of the military departments.

(b) Each military department shall forward to the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Comptroller), by March 15 and September 15, a copy of each DD Form 1140 received for the semiannual periods ending December 31 and June 30, respectively.

§ 1.707–4 Responsibility for reviewing subcontracting program.

Only one Military Department shall be responsible for reviewing a contractor's Defense Subcontracting Small Business Program. Such review shall be the responsibility of:

(a) The Military Department having industrial readiness planning responsibility at the plant where the contract is being performed; or

(b) If paragraph (a) of this section is inapplicable, the Military Department having "plant cognizance procurement" (see § 5.1100–2(b) of this chapter); or

(c) If neither paragraph (a) nor (b) of this section is applicable, the Military Department assigned the responsibility through coordinated action of the Director for Small Business Policy of the Department of Defense and the Small Business Advisors of the Military Departments.

The responsible Military Department will determine the adequacy of the contractor's "Defense Subcontracting Small Business Program," and bring any deficiencies to the attention of the contractor's Small Business Liaison Officer with an appropriate request for corrective action.

§ 1.708 Mobilization planning.

The policy of placing a fair proportion of purchases and contracts with small business concerns (see § 1.702 of this part) applies in the field of mobilization planning and each Military Department shall continually study its industrial readiness planning procedures to include the Small Business Program to the maximum practical extent.

Subpart H—Labor Surplus Area Concerns

§ 1.800 Scope of subpart.

This subpart sets forth Department of Defense procurement policy and procedures with respect to aiding areas of persistent or substantial labor surplus, hereinafter referred to as labor surplus areas, in the United States, its possessions, and Puerto Rico. This subpart implements Defense Manpower Policy No. 4 (Revised) 6 June 1960 (32 ACFR Chapter I).

§ 1.801 Definitions.

§ 1.801–1 Labor surplus area concern.

Labor surplus area concern includes:

(a) Persistent labor surplus area concerns which will perform or cause to be performed any contracts awarded to them as labor surplus area concerns substantially in "Areas of Substantial and Persistent Labor Surplus;" and

(b) Substantial labor surplus area concerns which will perform or cause to be performed any contracts awarded to them as labor surplus area concerns substantially in "Areas of Substantial Labor Surplus."

§ 1.801–2 Labor surplus area.

Labor surplus area means a geographical area which at the time of award is:

(a) Classified by the Department of Labor as an "Area of Substantial Labor Surplus" or as an "Area of Substantial and Persistent Labor Surplus" (herein referred to as an area of persistent labor surplus) and listed as such by that Department in conjunction with its bimonthly pubilcation "Area Labor Market Trends", or

(b) Not classified as in paragraph (a) of this section, but which is individually certified as an area of persistent or substantial labor surplus by the Department of Labor at the request of any prospective contractor.

§ 1.801–3 Small business concern.

Small business concern is defined in § 1.701.

§ 1.802 General policy.

Except as provided in § 1.806 with respect to depressed industries, it is the policy of the Department of Defense to aid labor surplus areas by placing contracts with labor surplus area concerns, to the extent consistent with procurment objectives and where such contracts can be awarded at prices no higher than those obtainable from other concerns, and by encouraging prime contractors to place subcontracts with concerns which will perform substantially in labor surplus areas. In carrying out this policy, to accomodate the small business policies of Subpart G of this part, preference shall be given in the following order of priority to (a) persistent labor surplus area concerns which are also small business concerns, (b) other persistent labor surplus area concerns, (c) substantial labor surplus area concerns which are also small business concerns, (d) other substantial labor surplus area concerns and (e) small business concerns which are not labor surplus area concerns. But in no case will price differentials be paid for the purpose of carrying out this policy.

§ 1.803 Application of policy.

(a) Within the policy set forth in § 1.802, the following shall be applied to procurements which are estimated to exceed $10,000:

(1) Negotiated procurements shall, where procurement objectives permit, be awarded to labor surplus area concerns: Provided, That in no case shall price differentials be paid for the purpose of carrying out this policy;

(2) Where appropriate, procurements shall be made from labor surplus area concerns by partial set-aside procedures, in accordance with § 1.804, and such set-asides shall be given preference over any small business set-aside (but no total set-aside shall be made for labor surplus area concerns);

(3) Each Department shall assure that information identifying labor surplus areas is disseminated promptly to procurement personnel;

(4) Department of Labor certification (see § 1.801–2(b) shall be considered conclusive with respect to the particular procurement concerned.

* * * * *

(5) Where less than a complete bidder's mailing list is to be used pursuant to § 2.205–4, a pro rata number of prospective contractors in labor surplus areas shall be solicited; and

(6) Subcontracting with concerns in labor surplus areas shall be encouraged in accordance with § 1.805.

(b) Records of the total value of all contracts in excess of $10,000 placed with labor surplus area concerns during each fiscal year, and reports based thereon, are maintained by each Department through the Department of Defense Reporting System described in §§ 1.110 and 16.807. Accordingly, each Department, in soliciting bids and proposals for any procurement estimated to exceed $10,000 shall request from any bidder or offeror, or other source, any information needed to determine whether the bidder or offeror is a labor surplus area concern. Contract files shall be documented to indicate the extent to which labor surplus area concerns were considered and the action taken with respect thereto.

§ 1.804 Partial set-asides for labor surplus area concerns.

§ 1.804–1 General.

(a)(1) In accordance with the policy set forth in §§ 1.802 and 1.803, a portion of each procurement shall be set aside for labor surplus area concerns if:

(i) The procurement is severable into two or more economic production runs or reasonable lots; and

(ii) Two or more labor surplus area concerns are expected to have the technical competency and productive capacity to furnish a severable portion of the procurement at a reasonable price.

(2) In furtherance of the policy to assure that a fair proportion of procurements is placed with small business concerns, each labor surplus area set-aside shall provide that, in addition to labor surplus area concerns, small business concerns not performing in such areas are also eligible for participation in the set-aside for such quantities thereof as are not awarded to labor surplus area concerns. (In this respect, see applicable provisions of § 1.804–2 (b) and (c), for notices to bidders or offerors, and § 1.804–2(d) for conduct of set-aside negotiations.)

(b) None of the following is, in itself, sufficient cause for not making a set-aside:

(1) A large part of previous procurements of the item in question has been placed with labor surplus area concerns;

(2) The item to be purchased is on an established planning list under the Industrial Readiness Planning Program;

(3) The item to be purchased is on a Qualified Products List;

(4) A period of less than thirty days from the date of issuance of invitations for bids or requests for proposals is prescribed for the submission of bids or proposals;

(5) The procurement is classified; or

(6) Labor surplus area concerns are receiving a fair proportion of contracts.

(c) Procurements involving supplies of mutual interest to the United States and Canada which have been developed and financed by the Government of Canada shall not be set aside for labor surplus areas.

§ 1.804–2 Set-aside procedures.

(a) Where a portion of a procurement is to be set aside pursuant to § 1.804–1, the procurement shall be divided into a non-set-aside portion and set-aside portion, each of which shall be not less than an economic production run or reasonable lot. Insofar as practical, the set-aside portion will be such as to make the maximum use of the capacity of labor surplus area concerns. Delivery terms and other terms applicable to the set-aside portion of an item and those applicable to the non-set-aside portion of that item shall be comparable.

(b) In advertised procurements involving set-asides pursuant to this subpart, each invitation for bids shall contain either substantially the following notice or the notice set forth in paragraph (c) of this section. In negotiated procurements, whichever notice is used will be appropriately modified for use with requests for proposals.

NOTICE OF LABOR SURPLUS AREA SET-ASIDE
(OCT. 1960)

A portion of this procurement, as identified elsewhere in the Schedule, has been set aside for award only to one or more labor surplus area concerns, and, to a limited extent, to small business concerns which do not qualify as labor surplus area concerns. Negotiations for award of the set-aside portion will be conducted only with responsible labor surplus area concerns (and small business concerns to the extent indicated below) who have submitted responsive bids or proposals on the non-set-aside portion at a unit price within 120 percent of the highest award made on the non-set-aside portion. Negotiations for the set-aside portion will be conducted with such bidders in the following order of priority:

Group 1. Persistent labor surplus area concerns which are also small business concerns.

Group 2. Other persistent labor surplus area concerns.

Group 3. Substantial labor surplus area concerns which are also small business concerns.

Group 4. Other substantial labor surplus area concerns.

Group 5. Small Business concerns which are not labor surplus area concerns.

Within each of the above groups, negotiations with such concerns will be in the order of their bids on the non-set-aside portion, beginning with the lowest responsive bid. The set-aside shall be awarded at the highest unit price awarded on the non-set-aside portion, adjusted to reflect transportation and other cost factors which were considered in evaluating bids on the non-set-aside portion. However, the Government reserves the right not to consider token bids or other devices designed to secure an unfair advantage over other bidders eligible for the set-aside portion.

Definitions

(1) A "labor surplus area" is a geographical area which at the time of award is:

(i) classified by the Department of Labor as an "Area of Substantial Labor Surplus" or as an "Area of Substantial and Persistent Labor Surplus" and listed as such by that Department in conjunction with its bi-monthly publication "Area Labor Market Trends"; or

(ii) not classified as in (i) above, but which is individually certified as an area of persistent or substantial labor surplus by the Department of Labor at the request of any prospective contractor.

(2) Labor surplus area concern includes:

(i) persistent labor surplus area concerns which will perform or cause to be performed any contracts awarded to them as labor surplus area concerns substantially in "Areas of Substantial and Persistent Labor Surplus"; and

(ii) substantial labor surplus area concerns which will perform or cause to be performed any contracts awarded to them as labor surplus area concerns substantially in "Areas of Substantial Labor Surplus."

(3) A "small business concern" is a concern that (i) is certified as a small business concern by the Small Business Administration, or (ii) is independently owned and operated, is not dominant in its field of operation and, with its affiliates, employs fewer than 500 employees. In addition to meeting these criteria, a manufacturer or regular dealer submitting bids or proposals in his own name must agree to furnish in the performance of the contract end items manufactured or produced in the United States, its possessions, or Puerto Rico, by small business concerns; provided that this additional requirement does not apply in connection with construction of service contracts. Where the definition of a small business concern for a given industry, as prescribed by the Small Business Administration and promulgated by the Departments, differs from that set forth in the notice above the notice shall be appropriately modified to reflect such definition.

Where the definition of a small business concern for a given industry, as prescribed by the Small Business Administration and promulgated by the Departments, differs from that set forth in the notice in this paragraph, the notice shall be appropriately modified to reflect such definition.

(c) Where it is anticipated that bids may be received which appear designed to take unfair advantage of bona fide bidders, by devices such as unrealistically low bids on mere token quantities, the notice set forth below may be used instead of that in paragraph (b) of this section.

NOTICE OF LABOR SURPLUS AREA SET-ASIDE
(OCT. 1960)

(a) General. This procurement has been divided into two parts. All concerns, whether labor surplus area concerns or not, may participate in accordance with customary procedures in that portion of this procurement herein called the "non-set-aside" portion. The quantities of the non-set-aside portion are set forth elsewhere in this Schedule. The other portion of the items to be procured has been set aside for participation (i) by labor surplus area concerns, and (ii) to a limited extent, by small business concerns which do not qualify as labor surplus area concerns. This is called the "set-aside portion" and awards therefor are made in accordance with special procedures set forth in paragraph (c) of this Notice. Definitions of the following terms are set forth in paragraph (d) of this Notice:

(1) Labor Surplus Area
(2) Labor Surplus Area Concern
(3) Small Business Concern

(b) Non-set-aside portion and award procedure.

(1) A bidder which is not a labor surplus area concern or a small business concern shall submit a bid only for the non-set-aside portion of the procurement. Award thereof will be made in accordance with customary procedures.

(2) A bidder which is a labor surplus area concern or a small business concern and is interested in receiving an award for a quantity of an Item not exceeding the quantity set forth in the non-set-aside portion of the procurement, should submit a bid in the same maner as other concerns bidding only on the non-set-aside portion. If such a bidder is interested in receiving an award for a quantity of an Item in addition to the quantity set forth in the non-set-aside portion, it must bid the entire quantity of the non-set-aside portion of the Item, and indicate such additional quantity of the Item as it desires by so specifying on the Addendum to this Notice. Thus, the Notice Addendum is not to be used unless the bidder has bid the entire quantity of an Item under the non-set-aside portion.

However, a labor surplus area or small business concern which receives no award, or receives an award for less than the total quantity of an Item for which it submitted a bid under the non-set-aside portion, may be eligible for an award of the quantity it bid, or the unawarded quantity thereof, under the following procedure governing the set-aside portion.

(c) Set-aside portion and award procedure. Award of the set-aside portion of this procurement will be made after award has been completed on the non-set-aside portion. It will be made only to labor surplus area or small business concerns which are found to be eligible in accordance with (1) below; on the basis of priorities for award set forth in (2) below; for quantities as provided in (3 below; and at prices determined in accordance with (4) below.

(1) Eligibility. To be eligible for consideration for the set-aside portion of an Item, the labor surplus area or small business concern must have submitted a responsive bid on such Item in accordance with the requirements of (b)(2) above at a unit price no greater than 120 percent of the highest unit price for such Item awarded under the non-set-aside portion. However, see (5) below when separate quantities are offered at different prices and see (6) below when separate quantities are offered at tie-in prices.

(2) Priorities. Negotiations for the set-aside portion will be conducted with such bidders in the following order of priority:

Group 1. Persistent labor surplus area concerns which are also small business concerns.

Group 2. Other persistent labor surplus area concerns.

Group 3. Substantial labor surplus area concerns which are also small business concerns.

Group 4. Other substantial labor surplus area concerns.

Group 5. Small business concerns which are not labor surplus area concerns.

Within each of the above groups, negotiations for each Item will be conducted with eligible concerns in the order of their bids on the non-set-aside portion, beginning with the lowest responsive bids. However, see (5) below for the method of determining the bid when separate quantities are offered at different prices and see (6) below when separate quantities are offered at tie-in prices.

(3) Quantity. The quantity of the set-aside portion of an Item which may be awarded to an eligible concern shall be as follows:

(A) As to an eligible concern which has not specified on the Notice Addendum a quantity of the sea-aside portion of the Item which it desires in addition to the entire non-set-aside portion thereof, the quantity shall be no greater than the quantity of such concern's bid on the non-set-aside portion of that Item, less the quantity, if any, of that Item awarded to that concern under the non-set-aside portion.

(B) As to an eligible concern which has submitted a bid for the entire non-set-aside portion of the Item and has specified on the Notice Addendum a quantity of the set-aside portion of that Item which it desires in addition to the entire non-set-aside portion thereof, the quantity shall be no greater than the total of the entire non-set-aside portion of the Item and the quantity thereof specified on the Notice Addendum, less the quantity, if any, of that Item awarded to that concern under the non-set-aside portion.

(4) Price. The set-aside shall be awarded at the highest unit price awarded on the non-set-aside portion, adjusted to reflect transportation and other cost factors which were considered in evaluating bids on the non-set-aside portion. However, see (6) below for the highest unit price when the highest award is made on separate quantities at tie-in prices.

(5) Separate Quantities at Different Prices. Where a concern has submitted a bid for separate quantities of the non-set-aside portion of an Item at different prices, without conditioning the Government's right to accept one or more such quantities upon its concurrent acceptance of another quantity of the Item each separate quantity shall be considered as a separate bid for the purpose of determining the eligibility of the concern with respect to the 120 percent limit prescribed in (c)(1) above, and for the purpose of determining under (c)(2) above the standing of that bid in the order of negotiations for the set-aside portion of that Item.

(6) Separate Quantities at Tie-in-Prices. Where a concern has submitted a bid for separate quantities of the non-set-aside portion of an Item at different prices, and has conditioned the Government's right to accept any one or more of such quantities upon its concurrent acceptance of another quantity of the Item, the weighted average of the prices for such conditioned quantities shall be considered the unit price for the purpose of determining, with respect to such conditioned quantities, (i) the eligibility of the firm with respect to the 120 percent limit of (c)(1) above, (ii) the priority status of the firm under (c)(2) above, and (iii) the highest unit price for awards under (c)(4) above if the highest award on the non-set-aside portion was made on such conditioned bid.

(d) Definitions. (1) A "labor surplus area" is a geographical area which at the time of award is:

(i) classified by the Department of Labor as an "Area of Substantial Labor Surplus" or as an "Area of Substantial and Persistent Labor Surplus" and listed as such by that Department in conjunction with its bi-monthly publication "Area Labor Market Trends"; or

(ii) not classified as in (i) above, but which is individually certified as an area of persistent or substantial labor surplus by the Department of Labor at the request of any prospective contractor.

(2) Labor surplus area concern includes:

(i) persistent labor surplus area concerns which will perform or cause to be performed any contracts awarded to them as labor surplus area concerns substantially in "Areas of Substantial and Persistent Labor Surplus"; and

(ii) substantial labor surplus area concerns which will perform or cause to be performed any contracts awarded to them as labor surplus area concerns substantially in "Areas of Substantial Labor Surplus."

(3) A "small business concern" is a concern that (i) is certified as a small business concern by the Small Business Administration, or (ii) is independently owned and operated, is not dominant in its field of operation and, with its affiliates, employs fewer than 500 employees. In addition to meeting these criteria, a manufacturer or regular dealer submitting bids or proposals in his own name must agree to furnish in the performance of the contract end items manufactured or produced in the United States, its possessions, or Puerto Rico, by small business concerns; provided, that this additional requirement does not apply in connection with construction of service contracts.

(e) Token bids. Notwithstanding the provisions of this Notice, the Government reserves the right, in determining eligibility or priority for set-aside negotiations, not to consider token bids or other devices designed to secure an unfair advantage over other bidders eligible for the set-aside portion.

(f) Instruction for use, and explanation of, notice addendum. The quantity of each Item which has been set aside is set forth on the attached Notice Addendum. As provided in (b)(2), the Notice Addendum is to be filled in only by labor surplus area and small business concerns. Furthermore, it is to be used by such a concern only when (1) it has submitted a bid for the entire non-set-aside quantity of an Item, and (ii) it desires a total quantity in excess of the non-set-aside quantity thereof. Whether or not a labor surplus area or small business concern may participate in the set-aside portion is dependent on its eligibility in accordance with paragraph (c) above. It should be noted, however, that to be eligible for the set-aside portion it need not have filled in the Notice Addendum. The latter should only be filled in where the concern desires a quantity in excess of the quantity set forth in the schedule.

NOTICE ADDENDUM FOR SET-ASIDE

The quantity of each item which has been set aside is as follows:

1	2	3
Item No.	Quantity set-aside	Quantity desired

(The issuing office will identify by line item number the supplies being procured as to which a portion is set aside and will designate the quantity set aside for each such item. The quantity desired column will be left blank for the bidder or offeror to fill in.)

(d) After all awards have been made on the non-set-aside portion, procurement of the set-aside portion shall in all instances be effected by negotiation. Negotiation shall be conducted only with those bidders or offerors who have submitted responsive bids or proposals on the non-set-aside portion at a unit price no greater than 120 percent of the highest award made on the non-set-aside portion and who are determined to be responsible prospective contractors for the set-aside portion of the procurement. Negotiations shall be conducted in the order of priority indicated in the foregoing notices. Where equal low bids are received on the non-set-aside portion from concerns which are eligible for the set-aside portion, the concern which is awarded the non-set-aside portion (under the equal low bid procedures of § 2.407–6 of this chapter) shall have first priority with respect to negotiations for the set-aside portion. The set-aside portion shall be awarded at the highest unit price awarded for the non-set-aside portion. If the entire set-aside portion cannot be awarded by the method described herein, any unawarded portion may be procured by advertising or negotiation, as appropriate, in accordance with existing regulations (see § 3.201–2(b)(1) of this chapter).

§ 1.804–3 Withdrawal of set-asides.

If, prior to the award of a contract involving a labor surplus set-aside, the contracting officer considers that the set-aside is detrimental to the public interest, e.g., because of unreasonable prices, the contracting officer shall withdraw the set-aside and complete the procurement by advertising or negotiation as appropriate in accordance with existing regulations. A signed memorandum setting forth the basis of the withdrawal of any set-aside shall be made and retained.

§ 1.804–4 Contract authority.

Contracts for set-asides made under this Subpart H shall cite as authority 10 U.S.C. 2304(a)(1). For reporting purposes, see § 3.201–2(b)(1) of this chapter for contracts awarded to labor surplus area concerns and § 3.201–2(b)(2) for contracts awarded to small business concerns which are not labor surplus area concerns.

§ 1.805 Subcontracting.

§ 1.805–1 General policy.

It is the policy of the Government to encourage placement of subcontractors with concerns which will perform such contracts substantially in areas of persistent or substantial labor surplus, in the order of priority described in § 1.802 where this can be done, consistent with efficient performance of contracts, at prices no higher than are obtainable elsewhere.

§ 1.805–2 Required clause.

The clause "Utilization of Concerns in Labor Surplus Areas" as set forth in § 7.104–20 of this chapter, shall be inserted in contracts as required by § 7.104 of this chapter.

§ 1.806 Depressed industries.

§ 1.806–1 General.

When an entire industry is depressed, the Director of Civil and Defense Mobilization may, under Defense Manpower Policy No. 4, establish appropriate measures on an industry-wide, rather than on an area, basis. Designations of such industries are made by Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization Notifications, and such industries will be given special treatment as specified therein, §§ 1.806–2 through 1.806–5 reflect pertinent requirements of such Notifications with respect to the industries indicated. No price differentials will be paid to carry out policies of these Notifications.

§ 1.806–2 Apparel industry (Notification No. 53).

(a) As used in this section the "apparel industry" means all of the industry identified in the "Standard Industrial Classification Manual," under Major Group 23, except Group No. 239.

(b) There shall be no labor surplus area set-asides in this industry. Where feasible, under the same invitation, bids should be requested for jackets or coats and trousers as separate items so that bidders may bid in combinations of units, and if requirements warrant, at least an equal amount of trousers should be included.

§ 1.806–3 Petroleum and petroleum products industry (Notification No. 58).

There shall be no labor surplus area set-asides in this industry.

§ 1.806–4 Shipbuilding industry (Notification No. 57).

(a) As used in this section, the "shipbuilding industry" includes establishments primarily engaged in building all types of ships, barges, canal boats and lighters of five gross tons and over, whether propelled by sail or motor power or towed by other craft. Establishments primarily engaged in fabricating structural assemblies or components for ships, or subcontractors engaged in ship painting, joinery, carpentry work, electrical wiring installation, etc., are not included.

(b) There shall be no labor surplus area set-asides in this industry. In placing shipbuilding contracts, preferences shall be given, where practicable, to contractors which can perform the contracts without substantial use of overtime labor and without constructing new facilities. So as to spread work among a large number of private yards, bids or proposals shall be invited, and contracts awarded, on a small-lot basis rather than on a large-lot basis, to the extent practicable.

§ 1.806–5 Textile industry (Notification No. 38).

(a) As used in this section, the "textile industry" means all of the industry identified in the "Standard Industrial Classification Manual" under Major Group 22 (Textile Mill Products) and Industry Nos. 2391 and 2392 (Curtains and draperies, and house-furnishings), except that it does not include Industry No. 2274 (Linoleum, asphalt-felt base, and other hard-surface floor covering, not elsewhere classified), and Industry No. 2298 (Cordage and twine).

(b) No preference shall be given to any area or city in placing contracts in this industry. For the purpose of maintaining the effective functioning of the textile industry as a whole, purchasing activities shall try to place contracts with manufacturers whose weaving operations (in the case of weaving or integrated mills) or whose spinning operations (in the case of spinning mills) during the period of performance of such contracts will not exceed 80 hours per week (not including other supporting activities).

(c) In all procurements from the textile industry which are estimated to exceed $10,000, partial set-asides, exclusively for textile industry concerns whose "weaving" or "spinning" operations (as described in (b) above) will not exceed 80 hours per week, shall be made substantially in accordance with the procedures set forth in § 1.804, except that all "textile industry concerns whose weaving or spinning operations will not exceed 80 hours per week" will be treated as "labor surplus area concerns." The notice set forth in § 1.804–2(b) shall be designated "Notice of 80-Hour Week Set-Aside" and appropriately modified for use in accordance with this subparagraph.

Subpart I—Responsible Prospective Contractors

§ 1.900 Scope of subpart.

This subpart sets forth (a) general policy with respect to responsibility of prospective contractors, (b) minimum standards for responsible prospective contractors, (c) requirements and procedures for determination of responsibility, and (d) policy with regard to determination of subcontractor responsibility.

§ 1.901 Applicability.

This subpart applies to procurements from contractors located in the United States, its Territories, its possessions, or Puerto Rico; and will be applied in other places except where inconsistent with the laws and customs of the place where the prospective contractor is located. It is not applicable to procurements from (a) other governments,' including state and local governments; (b) Canadian Commercial Corporation; (c) other United States Government departments and agencies, or their instrumentalities (such as Federal Prison Industries, Inc.); or (d) National Industries for the Blind.

§ 1.902 General policy.

Purchases shall be made from, and contracts shall be awarded only to, responsible prospective contractors. A responsible prospective contractor is one which meets the minimum standards set forth in § 1.903, and such additional standards as may be prescribed by overseas commanders and for specific procurements by purchasing activities.

§ 1.903 Minimum standards for responsible prospective contractors.

§ 1.903–1 General standards.

Except as otherwise provided in § 1.903, a prospective contractor must—

(a) Be a manufacturer, construction contractor, or regular dealer, as defined in § 1.201–8 (this standard is not applicable to procurements of personal or professional services, or nonpersonal services in which the primary purpose is the rendering of the service rather than the manufacture or supply of material or equipment, or the construction of public works, facilities, or vessels);

(b) Have adequate financial resources, or the ability to obtain such resources as required during performance of the contract (see Defense Contract Financing Regulations, Part 163, Subpart B and any amendments thereto. See also §§ 1.903–3 and 1.905–2, and, for SBA certificates of competency, § 1.705–6);

(c) Be able to comply with the required or proposed delivery or performance schedule, taking into consideration all existing business commitments, commercial as well as governmental (for SBA certificates of competency, see § 1.705–6);

(d) Have a satisfactory record of performance (Contractors who are seriously delinquent in current contract performance, when the number of contracts and the extent of delinquencies of each are considered, shall, in the absence of evidence to the contrary or circumstances properly beyond the control of the contractor, be presumed to be unable to fulfill this requirement (d). See §§ 1.905–2 and 1.905–4(d);

(e) Have a satisfactory record of integrity;

(f) Appear to be able to conform to the requirements of the standard nondiscrimination clause (see § 12.802); and

(g) Be otherwise qualified and eligible to receive an award under applicable laws and regulations.

§ 1.903–2 Additional standards for production, construction, and research and development contracts.

In addition to the standards in § 1.903–1, in procurements involving production, construction, and research and development work (and in other procurements as appropriate), a prospective contractor must—

(a) Have the necessary organization, experience, operational controls, and technical skills, or the ability to obtain them (this standard includes, where appropriate, such elements as adequacy of production control procedures; quality assurance measures, including materials produced by subcontractors; etc. See § 1.903–3); and

(b) Have the necessary production, construction, and technical equipment and facilities, or the ability to obtain them (where a prospective contractor proposes to use the facilities or equipment of another concern (not a subcontractor) or an affiliate of the prospective contractor (see § 2.201(a)(23), all existing business arrangements, firm or contingent, for the use of such facilities or equipment shall be considered in determining the ability of the prospective contractor to perform the contract. See § 1.903–3).

§ 1.903–3 Ability to meet certain minimum standards.

Except to the extent that a prospective contractor proposes to perform the contract by subcontracting (see § 1.906), acceptable evidence of his "ability to obtain" resources, equipment, facilities, personnel, etc., (see §§ 1.903–1(b) and 1.903–2) shall generally be a commitment or explicit arrangement, which will be in existence at the time the contract is to be awarded, for the rental, purchase or other acquisition of such resources, equipment, facilities, or personnel.

§ 1.903–4 Affiliated concerns.

Affiliated concerns (see § 2.201(a)(23)) shall be considered as separate entities in determining whether the one of them which is to perform the contract meets the applicable standards for a responsible prospective contractor (but see § 1.701–1 with respect to status as a small business concern).

§ 1.904 Determinations of responsibility and nonresponsibility.

§ 1.904–1 Requirement.

Except as otherwise provided in § 1.904–2, no purchase shall be made from, and no contract shall be awarded to, any person or firm unless the contracting officer first makes, signs, and places in the contract file, an affirmative determination that the prospective contractor is responsible within the meaning of §§ 1.902 and 1.903. Where a certificate of competency has been issued the affirmative determination need not be made as to the factors covered by the certificate of competency. Where a bid or offer on which an award would otherwise be made is rejected because the prospective contractor is found to be nonresponsible, a determination of nonresponsibility shall be made, signed, and placed in the file. The determination of responsibility or nonresponsibility shall contain a statement justifying the determination. Any supporting documents or reports, including any pre-award survey reports (see § 1.905–4) and SBA certificates of competency (see § 1.705–6), shall be attached to the determination.

§ 1.904–2 Exceptions.

Written determinations of responsibility need not be made in the case of—

(a) Purchases and contracts estimated to amount to less than $10,000; or

(b) Orders under existing Government contracts.

However, contracting officers shall not knowingly make any purchases from, or award contracts to, persons or firms other than responsible prospective contractors, notwithstanding the exceptions in this section.

§ 1.905 Procedures for determining responsibility of prospective contractors.

§ 1.905–1 General.

(a) Before making determinations of responsibility (see § 1.904), the contracting officer shall have in his possession or obtain information sufficient to satisfy himself that a prospective contractor currently meets the minimum standards set forth in § 1.903, to the extent that such standards are applicable to a specific procurement.

(b) Maximum practicable use will be made of information on file or within the knowledge of personnel in the Department of Defense to the extent that such information is currently valid. Each Department shall maintain such records and experience data as may be useful for the guidance of contracting officers in the placement of new procurements in the manner and at such level as the Department deems appropriate, and shall inform its contracting officers and the other Departments of the means of access to such records and data. Upon request of any contracting officer in the Department of Defense, information in such records and data shall be expeditiously furnished in the form developed by the providing Department (see § 1.303).

(c) Each purchasing activity shall provide for the maintenance of appropriate records to insure the availability of contractor performance history. Special attention shall be paid to, and more detailed records maintained on, contractors whose past performance is questionable and new contractors whose reliability is yet unestablished

(d) Generally, information necessary to make determinations of responsibility shall be obtained only concerning prospective contractors within range for an award, except where prequalification procedures are authorized by this Subchapter or by Departmental procedures.

§ 1.905–2 When information will be obtained.

Generally, information regarding the responsibility of a prospective contractor (including Pre-Award Surveys (see § 1.905–4) when deemed necessary) shall be obtained promptly after bid opening or receipt of proposals. However, in negotiated procurements, especially those involving research and development, such information may be obtained before the issuance of requests for proposals. Notwithstanding the foregoing, information regarding financial resources (see § 1.903–1(b)) and performance capability (see § 1.903–1(c)) shall be obtained on as current a basis as feasible with relation to the date of contract award.

§ 1.905–3 Sources of information.

Information regarding the responsibility of prospective contractors shall be sought among the following sources before considering performance of a Pre-Award Survey (see § 1.905–4):

(a) From the prospective contractor. Including representations and other information contained in or attached to bids and proposals; replies to questionnaires; financial data, such as balance sheets, profit and loss statements, cash forecasts, financial history of the contractor and affiliated concerns; current and past production records; personnel records; and lists of tools, equipment, and facilities; written statements or commitments concerning financial assistance and subcontracting arrangements; and analyses of operational control procedures. Where it is considered necessary by the contracting officer to prevent practices prejudicial to fair and open competition or for other reasons, prospective contractors may be required to submit affidavits concerning their ability to meet any of the minimum standards set forth in § 1.903, and company ownership and control (but see § 2.201(a)(23)).

(b) Existing information within the Department of Defense. Including records on file and personal knowledge of personnel (including the contracting officer) within the purchasing activity making the procurement and other purchasing and related activities; military audit agencies; offices concerned with contract financing; the Joint Consolidated List of Debarred, Ineligible, and Suspended Contractors (see § 1.601); and, records and experience data (see § 1.905–1).

(c) Publications. Including credit ratings; trade and financial journals; business directories and registers; and Synopses of U.S. Government Proposed Procurements, Sales and Contract Awards (see § §1.1003).

(d) Other sources. Including suppliers, subcontractors, and customers of the prospective contractor; banks and financial companies; commercial credit agencies; Government departments and agencies; purchasing and trade associations; better business bureaus and chambers of commerce.

§ 1.905–4 Pre-award surveys.

(a) General. A pre-award survey consists of an inspection of the plants and facilities with which the prospective contractor proposes to perform a contract, including personal interviews with contractor personnel.

(b) Circumstances under which performed. Generally, pre-award surveys will be performed when the sources mentioned in § 1.905–3 do not yield sufficient information to enable a contracting officer to make a determination regarding the responsibility of a prospective contractor. (But see paragraph (d) of this section.) Pre-award surveys shall not be performed for procurements listed in § 1.904–2 except (1) where the procurement involves the handling of classified matter or research and development work, (2) for the purpose of checking information tending to indicate that a prospective contractor is not responsible, or (3) as may be deemed essential by the contracting officer to obtain information which cannot be otherwise acquired.

(c) Matters to be covered. Pre-award surveys shall cover matters upon which—

(1) Current information is not available from the sources listed in § 1.905–3;

(2) Information available from such sources is insufficient, in the opinion of the contracting officer, to support a determination of responsibility; or

(3) Circumstances indicate the desirability of verification of information received from such sources.

(d) Workload and financial capacity. Regardless of the apparent sufficiency of information obtained from sources listed in § 1.905–3 indicating responsibility with respect to the standards set forth in § 1.903–1 (b) and (c), and in procurements which are significant either in dollar value or in the critical nature of the requirement, consideration shall be given to verification of information regarding workload and financial capacity by means of a pre-award survey with regard to such standards.

(e) Interdepartmental coordination. Pre-award surveys by one Department for another, or by any procuring or finance activity for another within a Department, may be made on a non-reimbursable basis. Such surveys shall be authorized to the extent practicable whenever such interchange will result in economy or increased efficiency, or will eliminate duplication of effort.

§ 1.906 Subcontractor responsibility.

To the extent that a prospective contractor proposes to perform the contract by subcontracting, determinations of prospective subcontractors' responsibility may be necessary in order to determine the responsibility of the prospective prime contractor. Determinations concerning prospective subcontractors' responsibility shall generally be a function performed by prospective prime contractors. (But see §§ 1.603(c) and 1.605–3(b) relating to approval of subcontractors listed on the Joint Consolidated List of Debarred, Ineligible, and Suspended Contractors.) Prospective prime contractors may be required to (a) indicate the responsibility of proposed subcontractors in writing, or (b) show evidence of an acceptable and effective purchasing and subcontracting system encompassing a method for determining subcontractor capability.

§ 1.907 Disclosure of pre-award data.

Data, including information obtained from a pre-award survey, leading to a determination of the responsibility of prospective contractors shall not be released outside the Government and shall not be made available for inspection by individuals, firms or trade organizations: Provided, That such data may be disclosed to, or summarized for other elements within the Government on their request. Such information shall be made available to Department of Defense procurement personnel upon request in accordance with § 1.905–1. In making a determination of responsibility, information disclosed by such data may be discussed with the prospective contractor as necessary.

Subpart J—Publicizing Procurement Actions

§ 1.1001 General policy.

It is Department of Defense policy to increase competition by publicizing procurements which offer competitive opportunities for prospective prime contractors or subcontractors, thus assisting small business and labor surplus area concerns and broadening industry participation in Defense procurement programs.

§ 1.1002 Availability of invitations for bids and requests for proposals.

A reasonable number of copies of invitations for bids and requests for proposals publicized in the Department of Commerce Synopsis, including specifications and other pertinent information, shall be maintained by the issuing office. To the extent that unclassified invitations for bids and requests for proposals are available, they shall be provided at the purchasing office to manufacturers, construction contractors, and regular dealers and to others having a legitimate interest therein, such as publishers, trade associations, procurement information services and others who disseminate information concerning invitations for bids and requests for proposals; otherwise the purchasing office may limit the availability of invitations for bids and requests for proposals to perusal at such office.

§ 1.1003 Synopses of proposed procurements.

§ 1.1003–1 General.

Every proposed advertised or negotiated procurement made in the United States, except in Hawaii and Alaska, which may result in an award in excess of $10,000 shall be publicized promptly in the Department of Commerce "Synopsis of U.S. Government Proposed Procurement, Sales and Contract Awards," except that the following need not be publicized in the Synopsis:

(a) Procurement to be made by an order placed under an existing contract.

(b) Procurement which must be made too quickly to permit prospective contractors, dependent on the Synopsis for information, to obtain the necessary solicitation document and to prepare and submit their bids, proposals, or quotations on time: i.e., proposed procurements with less than 15 calendar days from the date of transmittal of the Synopsis or the date of issuance of the solicitation, whichever is earlier, to the date scheduled for receipt of bids, proposals, or quotations.

(c) Procurement to be made from or through another Government department or agency, or a mandatory source of supply such as National Industries for the Blind. (See Part 5 of this subchapter.)

(d) Procurement of personal or professional services to be negotiated under § 3.204 of this subchapter.

(e) Procurement from educational institutions to be negotiated under § 3.205 of this subchapter.

(f) Procurement in which only foreign sources are to be solicited.

(g) Procurement of electric power or energy, gas (natural or manufactured), water, or other utility services.

(h) Procurement of scientific or technical studies or surveys.

(i) Procurement of perishable subsistence.

(j) Procurement where competition is precluded by reason of patent rights, copyrights, or secret processes which are limited to a single producer.

(k) Procurement of research and development for which specific background knowledge or unusual scientific or technical equipment is a prerequisite to performance.

(l) Procurement of a classified nature where the information necessary to be included or referenced in the solicitation is in itself of a classified nature and the public disclosure of this information would violate security requirements. All other classified procurements shall be published in the Synopsis, if sufficient information, of an unclassified nature, can be provided in the solicitation to enable a prospective contractor to submit a bid or proposal.

(m) Procurement of technical equipment requiring standardization and interchangeability of parts to be negotiated under § 3.213 of this subchapter.

(n) Procurement of technical or specialized supplies requiring substantial initial investment or extended period of preparation for manufacture, to be negotiated under § 3.214 of this subchapter.

(o) Procurement of technical, nonpersonal services in connection with assembly, installation, service, or repair (or instruction of personnel therein) of equipment of such a highly technical or specialized nature that they can only be performed by the original manufacturer or his authorized representative.

(p) Procurement in the interest of national defense or industrial mobilization, to be negotiated under § 3.216 of this subchapter.

(q) Procurement of parts for military equipment to be used for replenishment of stock, repair, or replacement, which are not to be procured from sources that have satisfactorily manufactured or furnished such parts in the past, pursuant to § 1.313 of this Part.

§ 1.1003–2 Research and development.

In order that potential sources may learn of research and development programs, advance notices of the Government's interest in a specific research and development field shall be published in the Department of Commerce Synopsis in accordance with § 1.1003–9(d) so as to give such sources adequate opportunity to submit information for evaluation of their research and development capabilities, except where security considerations prohibit such publication.

§ 1.1003–3 Synopses of subcontract opportunities.

Prime contractors and subcontractors should be encouraged to use the Department of Commerce Synopsis to publicize opportunities in the field of subcontracting stemming from their defense business. Prime contractors and their subcontractors will be advised to mail subcontract information directly to the U.S. Department of Commerce, Room 1300, 433 W. Van Buren Street, Chicago 7, Ill., under the heading "Subcontracting Assistance Wanted" and in the form of the following example:

XYZ CO., ATTN JOHN A. SMITH, TELE. NO. RANDOLPH 6–1111, 102 FIRST AVE., CHICAGO 7, ILL., seeks Subcontractor on items to be used in connection with Contract No. _____ awarded 5–1–60.

COILS, INDUCTION, DWG.
NO. 10–742.....10,000 ea.
(Name, description and quantity of other items or services may be included as long as contract assistance is desired under the same contract number.) If interested, make inquiry before 5–16–50 to above Contractor.

§ 1.1003–4 Responsibility of small business specialists.

Small business specialists in each purchasing office are responsible for screening all proposed procurements and for recommending action to be taken with respect to publicizing such procurements in accordance with the requirements of § 1.1003–1 through 1.1003–9. In those offices where no small business specialist is assigned, the contracting officer or other designated representative shall accomplish the foregoing.

§ 1.1003–5 Publication of procurements of less than $10,000.

When recommended by procurement personnel or the small business specialist, and approved by the contracting officer, proposed procurements of less than $10,000 may be publicized in the Department of Commerce Synopsis.

§ 1.1003–6 Pre-invitation notices.

Where pre-invitation notices (§ 2.205–4 of this subchapter) are used, the pre-invitation information shall be included in the Synopsis. This information need not be re-published in the Synopsis when the invitation for bids is issued.

§ 1.1003–7 Availability of specifications, plans, and drawings.

(a) Where distribution of applicable specifications, plans, or drawings with the solicitation is impracticable, the Synopsis shall contain notice of this fact and of the locations at which the specifications, plans, or drawings may be examined or obtained. (See § 1.1203 of this part.)

(b) Where the specifications, plans, and drawings available do not fully provide manufacturing or construction details necessary to describe a requirement the Synopsis shall contain notice of this fact.

(c) Notices of the situations in paragraph (a) and (b) of this section shall be prepared in accordance with § 1.1003–9(f).

§ 1.1003–8 Time of publicizing.

To allow concerns which are not on current bidders lists ample time to prepare bids, proposals or quotations, purchasing offices should, when feasible, synopsize proposed procurements at least ten days before the issuance of solicitations, in accordance with § 1.1003–9(b)(8).

§ 1.1003–9 Preparation and transmittal.

(a) Each purchasing office shall transmit a synopsis of proposed procurements as follows:

(1) When teletypewriter service is available, all synopses shall be forwarded via teletypewriter at the end of each day, for invitations for bids, requests for proposals or quotations issued on that day, or at the earliest practicable time prior to issuance of the invitation for bids, requests for proposals or quotations, as is deemed appropriate, to the following address:

Synopsis, Commerce Department, Field Service, Chicago, Ill.

(2) When teletypewriter service is not available, synopses shall be dispatched by airmail or ordinary mail, whichever is considered most expeditious, addressed as follows: Administrative Officer, U.S. Department of Commerce, 433 West Van Buren Street, Chicago 7, Illinois.

(b) Each synopsis shall be prepared as described below:

(1) Lines in the text commencing flush with left margin will not exceed 69 typewritten spaces. Double spaced lines will be used to describe each procurement action. Descriptions of different procurement actions will be separated by 4 lines.

(2) The first line of the text of the message will state the number of the synopsis being sent. Synopses will be numbered consecutively by the purchasing office during the calendar year. New numerical series beginning with number one will start as of the first working day of January of each year. Double space between this line and the next line.

(3) The second line of the text of the message will state name and location of the purchasing office straight across the page, not to exceed 69 typewritten spaces. No abbreviations are to be used except for name of State. If more than one line is required for name and location of purchasing office, double space and continue on subsequent line or lines if necessary, double spacing between each line. The address may include an attention phrase directed to an official by name or title.

(4) Four spaces below the preceding line entry (name and address of purchasing office), the description of the supplies or services being procured will begin in narrative paragraph form, double spaced, with each line commencing flush with the left margin. If the synopsis contains a number of items having the same purchase reference number and the same bid opening date or advance notice date, the description should be preceded by a blanket statement such as, "The following described items are to be procured under IFB ENG (number of Invitation for Bid) Opening Date, 31 August 1955." The length of the lines in the description will not exceed 69 typewritten spaces. The description will be clear, concise, and with a minimum number of words but sufficient for understanding by interested parties. It will include, as appropriate, commonly used names of supply items, basic materials from which fabricated, general size or dimensions, citations of specification or drawing numbers, or other data. If the material being procured is covered by one or more specifications requiring qualification testing and approval and such requirement has not been waived by competent authority, the notation "(QPL)" shall be inserted immediately following the specification number. The Federal stock number will also be included where one has been assigned. In the absence of a Federal stock number, the service stock number will be included where one has been assigned. Stock numbers will not be required for items controlled by a single manager agency or when more than six items are listed on the synopsis. In the latter case, however, stock numbers will be listed for the six items of highest value. No abbreviations will be used in describing supplies or services, although standard abbreviations may be used in listing the quantity purchase reference numbers, specifications and bid opening date. Punctuation symbols will be used as in normal correspondence. Fractions on typewriter keys will not be used but fractions may be expressed by (number)/(number) e.g., 11/16, 1/4, 1/2. The symbols # or @ or * may not be used since they are not used in teletypewriter operation.

(5) Following the complete description of the supplies and services which will end with a period, two hyphens will be used to set off the quantity to be procured. The quantity usually will be stated in numerals followed by the unit, (abbreviations of units are permissible, e.g., lbs., ea., doz.). Whenever it is necessary to use "Indefinite Quantity," the description should include a statement as to the duration of the contract or period covered.

(6) The quantity will be followed by two hyphens before indicating the place of delivery as follows: "Deliveries to ----------." Places of delivery should be stated specifically when there are not more than three destinations. When delivery points are more numerous, they will be grouped, if practicable, to show the general geographic area, e.g., "West Coast," "East Coast," or other appropriate regional description. Otherwise, the places of delivery will be stated as "Various Destinations" or "Destination(s) to be furnished."

(7) The places of delivery will be followed by two hyphens before commencing with the invitation for bids number or other purchase reference number, which may consist of letters, numerals, or abbreviations separated by hyphens or spaces. Invitation for bids numbers shall be identified and followed by the letter "B"; request for proposals and request for quotations numbers shall be followed by the letter "Q". Purchase reference numbers should not be broken or appear on one line carried over on the subsequent line, as the insertion of a hyphen for the carry-over would change the reference number.

(8) Two hyphens will be used following the invitation for bids number or purchase reference number to set off the bid opening date or the advance notification date. The date should be stated in military style (date, month and year, e.g., 1 Aug 58). If the synopsis is published prior to issuance of the invitation for bids or request for proposals or quotations, the synopsis shall include a statement to the effect that requests for such invitations, proposals, or quotations should be received not later than 10 days from the date of publication of such synopsis in order to enable the purchasing office to mail such invitation for bids, request for proposals, or request for quotations directly to the inquirer at the time of issuance thereof.

(c) In addition to the foregoing, where the proposed procurement is to be effected in accordance with a small business set-aside (see § 1.706 of this part) or labor surplus area set-aside (see § 1.804 of this part), the synopsis shall (1) where there is a 100 percent small business set-aside, state that "The proposed procurement(s) listed herein is (are) under 100 percent small business set-aside," or (2) where there is a partial small business or labor surplus area set-aside, state that "An additional quantity of ------ is being reserved for ---------- (insert "small business" or "labor surplus area" as appropriate) under a partial determination."

NOTE: To avoid confusion, separate messages should be sent covering proposed procurements which are under 100 percent small business set-aside so that they will be placed in the Department of Commerce's Notice to Small Firm Section.

(d) Notices which invite the submission of information as to research and development capabilities in specific fields of interest shall be headed "Research and Development Sources Sought." This shall be followed by a statement similar to the following: "Firms having research and development capabilities in the field of—(Be specific)—and whose facilities and personnel include—(Describe in substantial detail minimum facilities and personnel required)—are invited to submit complete information to the purchasing office listed above. Information furnished should include the total number of employees and professional qualifications of scientists, engineers, and technical personnel; a description of general and special facilities; an outline of previous projects; a statement regarding industrial security clearance, if previously granted; and other available descriptive literature. This is not a request for a proposal.

(e) Synopses of proposed procurements of a classified nature released in an unclassified form shall contain the following statement: "Security Clearance Will Be Required of Successful Bidder or Offerer."

(f) Procurements on which it is impracticable to distribute plans, drawings or specifications, or where adequate plans, drawings or specifications to describe a requirement are not available, shall be so identified in the Synopsis. Suggested headings and statements for these two situations are:

(1) Availability of Specifications, Plans or Drawings.

It will be impracticable to distribute the applicable ----------
----
(Insert "specifications," "plans," "drawings" or other appropriate words) with the solicitation. This data may be examined or obtained at ----------

----
(Be specific)

(2) Complete Data Not Available.

Notice is given that available specifications, plans, or drawings, relating to the procurement described below do not fully provide all necessary manufacturing and construction details.

(g) Each reporting office will discuss the instructions contained in this section with its communications office so that the manner in which the message is to be transmitted is understood by the office preparing the message and the communications office.

§ 1.1004 Synopsis of contract awards.

Awards of all unclassified contracts to be performed in whole or in part within the United States, exceeding $25,000 in amount, shall be published in the Department of Commerce "Synopsis of U.S. Government Proposed Procurement, Sales and Contract Awards."

§ 1.1004–1 Preparation and transmittal.

(a) Purchasing offices shall prepare and forward single copies of synopses of contract awards, using the same format as prescribed for synopses of proposed procurements in § 1.1003–9, to the address below, by air mail or ordinary mail whichever is considered most expeditious, before the close of business at the end of each week:

U.S. Department of Commerce, 433 W. Van Buren Street, Room 1300, Chicago 7, Ill.

(b) The synopsis of contract awards shall contain the following information:

(1) The name and address of purchasing office;

(2) A clear and concise description of the supplies or services being procured, such description to be followed by the contract number and date and, in parentheses, by the applicable number of the invitation for bids or request for proposals;

(3) The quantity of each item;

(4) The dollar amount of the award;

(5) The name and full address of the contractor; and

(6) When requested by the prime contractor, a statement of the industries, crafts, processes, or component items in or for which subcontracts are available and subcontractors are desired, together with the general area, if any, indicated by the prime contractor, such as Southeast States, West Coast, New England.

§ 1.1005 Paid advertisement in newspapers and trade journals.

§ 1.1005–1 Scope.

Sections 1.1005 through 1.1005–12 implement 5 U.S.C. 22a; 44 U.S.C. 321, 322 and 324; and Title 7, Chapter 5200, General Accounting Office Policy and Procedures Manual for Guidance of Federal Agencies.

§ 1.1005–2 Definition.

As used in §§ 1.1005 through 1.1005–12, "newspaper" means a publication printed and distributed at stated intervals to convey news, and includes trade journals which carry news in addition to technical matter.

§ 1.1005–3 General.

Generally, paid advertisements in newspapers shall not be used. However, when time will permit, the publication of essential details of invitations for bids in newspapers as paid advertisement may be authorized as indicated below, when necessary to secure effective competition, provided written authority to advertise has been obtained in advance.

§ 1.1005–4 Limitation.

No advertisement of a proposed procurement shall be published in any newspaper published and printed in the District of Columbia unless the supplies are to be furnished for use, or the labor is to be performed, in the District of Columbia or in the adjoining counties of Maryland or Virginia.

§ 1.1005–5 Authority and delegation.

Authority to approve the publication of paid advertisements in newspapers is vested by statute in the Secretary of each Department. This authority may be delegated by the Secretary in writing, by position designation, to subordinates within his Department. The delegation shall specify the limitations, if any, of the authority granted. Administrative duties involved in accomplishing the advertising may be assigned by the delegate to subordinates, by name or position, by suitable instruments in writing, personally signed by the delegate, setting forth the extent of the administrative duties involved. A copy of the instrument delegating authority to advertise and a copy of the instrument assigning administrative duties thereunder will either be attached to the first voucher submitted for payment or shall be forwarded immediately upon issuance to the General Accounting Office address to which records of the Department are submitted for audit purposes. Copies of such instruments shall also be attached to the duplicate voucher submitted to the paying office pursuant to § 1.1005–12.

§ 1.1005–6 Requests for authority to place advertisement.

(a) Special or general authority to place advertisements in newspapers must be secured in advance and as prescribed by each Department. Special authority authorizes the publication of a given advertisement a specified number of times in a designated newspaper or newspapers. General authority authorizes the publication during a fiscal year, as designated, of such advertisements for bids as may be required by the duties of officers engaged in making frequent purchases or contracts.

(b) Requests for authority to advertise shall specify the newspapers in which it is deemed advantageous to advertise.

§ 1.1005–7 Preparation of advertisement.

(a) Except as provided in paragraph (b) of this section, all advertisements will be set solid, without paragraphing, in accordance with usual Government requirements, a sample of which is shown on Standard Form 1143 (Advertising Order).

(b) When advertising to be set other than solid is purchased, the specifications for such advertising must be definite, clear, and specific. No allowance shall be made for paragraphing, for display leaded or prominent headings, unless specifically ordered, or for additional space required by the use of type other than that specified. Specifications for advertising other than solid will accompany the advertisement copy submitted to the published with the advertising order, and copies of both documents will be transmitted to the General Accounting Office with the voucher.

§ 1.1005–8 Insertions.

(a) Number of insertions. No greater number of newspapers or insertions shall be used in any case than is necessary to give proper and sufficient public notice. Ordinarily, advertisements will be given six insertions in daily or four insertions in weekly papers. Such insertions shall be placed in sufficient time prior to the date of opening of bids to allow interested bidders to obtain plans and specifications and prepare bids. In case of emergency, advertisements may be inserted one or more times, as time and circumstances permit.

(b) Limitations on time of publications. No authorization will be given for the publication of an advertisement beyond the morning of the day on which the opening of bids is to occur, and no payments will be made for continuing such publication beyond the period authorized.

§ 1.1005–9 Rates.

Advertising may be paid for at rates not to exceed the commercial rates charged to private individuals, with the usual discounts.

§ 1.1005–10 Proof of publication.

(a) Every voucher rendered for official advertising should be accompanied by a copy of each issue (or tear sheet) of the publication in which the advertisement appeared. However, if copies of the publications (or tear sheets) are not available, an affidavit of publication may be furnished in lieu thereof.

(b) Copies of publications (or tear sheets), or affidavits in lieu thereof, submitted as proof of publication shall be retained in the paying officer's files until settlement of his account by the General Accounting Office, after which they may be disposed of.

§ 1.1005–11 Forms.

(a) Standard Form 1143 (Advertising Order) shall be signed by the person to whom authority to advertise has been delegated, or by the person to whom administrative authority to place the advertising has been assigned (see § 1.1005–5). In the latter case, the date and number of such instrument of assignment shall be put in the box on the standard form to the left of the signature. The date and number of the instrument delegating authority to advertise shall be put in the box in the upper right hand corner of the form. See § 1.1005–7, with reference to the composition of the advertising copy, in connection with the preparation of this form.

(b) The public voucher will be prepared by publishers to bill their charges against the Department for advertising published in accordance with the advertising order (Standard Form 1143). The Public Voucher for Advertising (original) is printed on the reverse of the original advertising order (Standard Form 1143). The Public Voucher for Advertising (memorandum) is printed on the reverse of the memorandum advertising order (Standard Form 1143a). Separate instruments shall not be used for ordering advertising and the payment therefor. The instructions in § 1.1005–10 apply when this form is used.

§ 1.1005–12 Payment.

Upon receipt of the public voucher, supported by proof of publication, from a publisher, the officer placing the advertisement will assemble and attach appropriate supporting documents (see § 1.1005–5), sign the second certificate on the reverse of Standard Form 1143, and submit the account in duplicate to the proper paying office for payment.

§ 1.1006 Publicizing award information.

§ 1.1006–1 Awards after formal advertising.

Except with respect to procurements not in excess of $10,000, press releases or public announcements of awards after formal advertising shall state that the contract was awarded after competition by formal advertising and shall include the number of bids solicited and the number received.

§ 1.1006–2 Awards after procurement by negotiation.

Except with respect to those procurements not in excess of $10,000 and those further excepted by § 3.106 of this subchapter, the information contained in the notice to unsuccessful offerors prescribed by § 3.106(a)(1) shall:

(a) Be posted in a public place at the purchasing activity for at least seven days; and

(b) Be included in all press releases or public announcements of negotiated awards. Where the award was made after competitive negotiation (either price or design competition), press releases or public announcements shall include a statement to this effect.

Subpart K—Qualified Products

§ 1.1101 General.

(a) Where it is necessary to test products in advance of their procurement in order to obtain products of requisite quality, each Department may subject such products to qualification tests to determine if they are qualified for use. The results of such testing and approval may be set forth in a qualified products list. To establish a qualified products list, a specification must exist which requires qualification and specifies qualification testing. (Each Department publishes a "Military Index of Specifications and Standards," indicating those military specifications which require qualification. These indexes may be obtained by the public from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D.C.) Once established, a qualified products list shall be used for the purpose and in the manner set forth in this subpart.

(b) The entire process by which products are solicited from manufacturers, examined and tested, and then identified on a qualified products list is known as qualification. Qualification testing is performed independently of any specific procurement action. Qualification of specific products is required prior to opening bids or award of negotiated contracts. Further information regarding qualified products lists may be found in the "Military Manual for Qualified Products Lists" (Standardization Manual M204) copies of which may be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington 25, D. C.

§ 1.1102 Justification for establishment of a qualified products list.

(a) A qualified products list may be established for a product only when one or more of the following conditions exists:

(1) The time required for testing after award would unduly delay delivery of the supplies being purchased;

(2) The cost of repetitive testing would be excessive;

(3) The tests would require expensive or complicated testing apparatus not commonly available; or

(4) The interest of the Government requires assurance, prior to award, that the product is satisfactory for its intended use.

(b) Qualified products lists may be established under paragraph (a)(2) or (3) of this section only after approval by: in the case of the Army, the Office of the Deputy Chief of Staff, Logistics; in the Navy, the Office of Naval Material (Code M30); and in the Air Force, the Directorate of Procurement and Production, Hq., Air Materiel Command.

§ 1.1103 Qualification of products.

§ 1.1103–1 Opportunity to qualify.

(a) Upon determination that a product is to be covered by a qualified products list, manufacturers shall be urged to submit their products for qualification and generally shall be given sufficient time to arrange for qualification testing prior to issuance of the initial invitation for bids or request for proposals for the product as a qualified product. Appropriate notice of such determination shall be furnished to the U.S. Department of Commerce, 433 West Van Buren Street, Chicago 7, Illinois, for publication in the daily "Synopsis of U.S. Government Proposed Procurement, Sales and Contract Awards." The publicity given to the requirement for qualification testing shall include the following:

(1) An intention to establish a qualified products list for a product;

(2) The specification number and nomenclature of the product, and the name and address of the office to which the request for qualification should be submitted; and

(3) Notice that in making future awards consideration shall be given only to such products as have been accepted for inclusion in a qualified products list.

(b) Contact shall be made with companies known to be interested in submitting products for qualification testing under the applicable specifications. Where appropriate, trade associations in a particular industry shall be notified.

(c) Where practicable, notices in the following form should be sent to commercial journals and trade magazines of the industry concerned through established channels for news releases:

The (bureau, service or command), Department of the (Army, Navy or Air Force), has announced the intention to establish a Qualified Products List for (item) under specification (symbol). Companies which have a product meeting the requirements of this specification are urged to contact (name and address of activity) for an opportunity to have their products tested, since in making future awards, consideration may be given only to such products as have been tested and accepted for inclusion in the Qualified Products List.

The above notice may also be sent to all firms or individuals on the appropriate bidders' mailing list.

§ 1.1103–2 Testing of product.

The manner and extent of testing shall be in accordance with the applicable specification. Whether a product should be placed on a qualified products list will be determined by the results of the tests made to determine conformance to the specification requirements.

§ 1.1103–3 Notification to manufacturer.

The Department responsible for qualification shall notify the manufacturer of the results of the testing and whether the product has met the qualification requirements of the applicable specification. When the product qualifies for inclusion on the qualified products list, notification thereof shall be given to the manufacturer together with the following statements in regard thereto: (a) That such listing does not guarantee acceptance of the product in any purchase; (b) that such listing does not constitute a waiver of the requirements of the specification as to acceptance, inspection, testing, or other provisions of any contract involving such product; (c) that such listing, the letter Notification of Qualification, the results of tests or other information relating to qualification shall not be circulated, referred to, or otherwise used for publicity or advertising purposes, or for sales other than those leading to ultimate use of the product by an agency of the Federal Government, and that if so used, such qualification is subject to cancellation by the Department concerned. If the product does not qualify for inclusion on the qualified products list, notice thereof shall be given to the manufacturer with a report covering the results obtained by the test. Whether or not a product qualifies, it will be returned after testing to the manufacturer "as is," unless destroyed or consumed in testing, or disposed of as authorized by the manufacturer.

§ 1.1104 Qualified products lists.

§ 1.1104–1 General.

Products qualified by qualification tests, as described by § 1.1103, shall be listed for reference by the Departments. Lists of qualified products are for the convenience of the Departments, their contractors, and subcontractors in the performance of procurement functions. The reproduction of lists or any reference to lists, in whole or in part, for advertising or publicity purposes is prohibited. A list may be made available to prospective bidders or suppliers who require the list in furnishing supplies or services to the Government or its contractors.

§ 1.1104–2 Military lists.

Where qualification is in accordance with tests prescribed by specifications, the compilation, preparation, form, maintenance, and administration of qualified products lists shall be in accordance with the procedures prescribed by the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Supply & Logistics). See "Military Manual for Qualified Products Lists" (Standardization Manual M204).

§ 1.1104–3 Department lists.

Where qualification is in accordance with tests prescribed by a Department, qualified products lists shall be compiled, prepared, maintained, and administered in accordance with procedures prescribed by that Department.

§ 1.1104–4 Distribution of list, notice of qualification, and other information.

(a) Each Department shall furnish copies of its list (including changes thereto) to each of the other Departments. Except as provided in § 1.1104–1 and paragraph (b) of this section, qualified products lists, letter notices of qualification, or other qualification information shall not be distributed outside the Departments.

(b) The Department responsible for qualification after appropriate determination that such action is in the best interest of the Government and in accordance with current security policy may:

(1) Release qualified products lists and other qualification information to other activities of the Federal Government;

(2) Release such lists and information to friendly foreign governments purchasing, operating or maintaining supplies, which involve products covered by specifications requiring qualification, on the condition that the information shall be used only in connection with furnishing supplies or services to that government; and

(3) Authorize the supplier or prospective supplier to furnish qualification information applicable to military specifications in the case of sales to friendly foreign governments which are purchasing, operating or maintaining supplies that involve products covered by specifications requiring qualification, after clearance with appropriate intelligence authority in each instance of procurement.

§ 1.1104–5 Publicity purposes.

No Department shall authorize the reproduction of lists or any reference to lists, in whole or in part, for advertising or publicity purposes.

§ 1.1104–6 Requirement that lists be kept open.

The lists shall always be open for inclusion of products from additional manufacturers as their products are submitted for qualification and become qualified.

§ 1.1104–7 Withdrawal of qualification and removal from list.

The qualification of a product may be withdrawn by the Department concerned if it is determined that the product does not meet requirements. Before such withdrawal the manufacturer shall be notified that its product is being considered for withdrawal from the qualified products list, and the reasons therefor, and shall be given an opportunity to comment. If it is determined that the product no longer qualifies, the product shall be withdrawn from the qualified products list and the Department concerned shall notify the manufacturer of the withdrawal. A product may be removed from a list at the request of its manufacturer.

§ 1.1104–8 Effect of debarment or suspension.

Notwithstanding any other provision of this subpart, the inclusion of a product on the qualified products lists may be denied, and the qualification of a listed product may be withdrawn, by the Department concerned, without notification to the manufacturer, if the name of the manufacturer appears on the lists of debarred or ineligible bidders which are maintained pursuant to Subpart F of this part. With reference to Type B listings, the provisions of this section shall be applicable only if the qualified product is in the category prescribed by the Secretary of Labor (see § 1.603).

§ 1.1105 Procurement of qualified products.

§ 1.1105–1 General.

(a) Whenever procurement of qualified products is made, only bids or proposals offering products which have been qualified prior to the opening of bids or the award of negotiated contracts shall be considered in making an award. Manufacturers having products not listed but which have been qualified should be given consideration and an opportunity to offer evidence of such qualifications in the time interval before final award must be made.

(b) To encourage manufacturers to make timely arrangements for qualification tests of their products, contracting officers shall be governed by subparagraphs (1) through (3) of this paragraph.

(1) Synopsis of proposed procurement. The purchasing activity shall publicize the proposed procurement in the Synopsis, in accordance with § 1.1003 of this part, promptly upon receipt of the purchase requisition.

(2) Solicitation period. To the extent consistent with timely accomplishment of the procurement the period between issuance of the invitation for bids, or the request for proposals, and the opening of bids or the award of negotiated contracts should be the maximum time feasible. However, contracting officers shall insure that the solicitation period allows at least a minimum of 30 calendar days between the issuance and opening dates. Openings of less than 30 days may be set in cases of urgency: Provided, The justification for a shorter opening be in writing and made part of the procurement file. In appropriate cases, advance notice of procurements of qualified products may be given suppliers through the use of pre-invitation notices. Such notices shall identify specification requiring qualification and shall specify the time within which such qualification must be accomplished.

(3) Distribution. In procuring qualified products through formal advertisement, invitations for bid will not be restricted to manufacturers whose product has been qualified but will be invited from bidders in the same manner as if a qualified product were not involved.

§ 1.1105–2 Notice.

In procurements involving qualified products, the following provision shall be inserted in invitation for bids:

With respect to products requiring qualification, awards will be made only for such products that have, prior to time set for opening of bids, been tested and qualify for inclusion in the qualified products list identified below, whether or not such products have actually been included in the list by that date. Manufacturers are urged to communicate with the office designated below and arrange to have the products that they propose to offer tested for qualification. Manufacturers having products not yet listed, but which have been qualified, are requested to submit evidence of such qualification with their bids or offers, so that they may be given consideration.

(Identify the Qualified Products List involved and give the name and address of the office with which manufacturers should communicate.)

The above provision shall be appropriately modified and used in negotiated procurements. Contracting officer shall forward requests for qualification tests received from prospective contractors to the activity listed in the specification as being responsible for qualification. An interim reply shall be made to such prospective contractors advising them of the disposition of their request.

Subpart L—Specifications, Plans, and Drawings

§ 1.1201 General.

(a) Plans, drawings, specifications or purchase descriptions for procurements shall state only the actual minimum needs of the Government and describe the supplies and services in a manner which will encourage maximum competition and eliminate, insofar as is possible, any restrictive features which might limit acceptable offers to one supplier's product, or the products of a relatively few suppliers. Items to be procured shall be described by reference to the applicable specifications or by a description containing the necessary requirements.

(b) Many specifications cover several grades or types, and provide for several options in methods of inspection, etc. When such specifications are used, the invitation for bids or request for proposals shall state specifically the grade, type, or method of inspection, etc., on which bids or offers are to be based.

§ 1.1202 Mandatory specifications.

(a) Except as provided in paragraph (b) of this section the following specifications are mandatory for use by the Department of Defense in the procurement of supplies and services covered by such specifications:

(1) Federal specifications, unless determined by the Department of Defense to be inapplicable for its use; and

(2) Coordinated Military specifications approved by the Department of Defense for its use.

(b) Federal and Military specifications need not be used for the following unless required by Departmental instructions:

(1) Purchase incident to research and development;

(2) Purchase of items for test or evaluation;

(3) Purchase of laboratory test equipment for use by Government laboratories;

(4) Purchase of items for authorized resale except military clothing;

(5) Purchase of items in an amount not to exceed $2,500 (multiple small purchases of less than $2,500 of the same item shall not be made for the purpose of avoiding the use of Federal or Military specifications);

(6) Purchase of one-time procurement items; or

(7) Purchase of items for which it is impracticable or uneconomical to prepare a specification (repetitive use of a purchase description containing the essential characteristics of a specification will be construed as evidence of improper use of this exception).

(c) If it is determined, in accordance with the procedures established under the Defense Standardization Program by the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Supply and Logistics), that the specifications listed in paragraph (a) of this section do not meet the particular or essential needs of a bureau, service, or command, then (except as provided in paragraph (b) of this section) applicable interim Federal specifications or limited coordinated Military specifications should be used.

(d) Whenever a specification is found to be inadequate, immediate action shall be taken to effect the issuance of an amendment or revision in accordance with established procedures to obviate the necessity for repeated departures from the specification.

§ 1.1203 Availability of specifications, plans, and drawings.

Invitations for bids and requests for proposals will:

(a) So far as practicable, be accompanied by all applicable specifications, plans, and drawings, and shall so state that fact;

(b) State the exact locations where all applicable specifications, plans, and drawings may be obtained by prospective contractors and that such specifications, plans, and drawings were not furnished with the invitation for bids or request for proposal; or

(c) If distribution of applicable specifications, plans, or drawings is impracticable, state a reasonable number of locations at which they may be examined.

§ 1.1204 Packaging requirements.

Appropriate preservation, packaging, packing, and marking requirements will be included in contracts as applicable.

§ 1.1205 Offshore procurement.

Contracting officers accomplishing offshore procurement are authorized to use, where necessary, such specifications, standards, and purchase descriptions of foreign governments, or groups thereof, foreign trade associations, or purchase descriptions developed locally which will be readily understood by foreign vendors, provided, adequate measures are taken to insure satisfactory and acceptable products, including standard and interchangeable items, where required.

§ 1.1206 Purchase descriptions.

(a) A purchase description may be used in lieu of a specification when authorized by § 1.1202(b) and, subject to the restriction on repetitive use in § 1.1202(b)(7), where no applicable specification exists. A purchase description should set forth the essential characteristics and functions of the items or materials required. Purchase descriptions shall not be written so as to specify a product, or a particular feature of a product, peculiar to one manufacturer and thereby preclude consideration of a product manufactured by another company, unless it is determined that the particular feature is essential to the Government's requirements, and that similar products of other companies lacking the particular feature would not meet the minimum requirements for the item. Purchase descriptions of services to be procured should outline to the greatest degree practicable the specific services the contractor is expected to perform.

(b) Generally, the minimum acceptable purchase description is the identification of a requirement by use of brand name followed by the words "or equal." This technique should be used only as a last resort when an adequate specification or more detailed description cannot feasibly be made available in time for the procurement under consideration. Where feasible, more than one brand name should be indicated. However, the words "or equal" should not be added when it has been determined in accordance with paragraph (a) of this section that only a particular product meets the essential requirements of the Government, as, for example, (1) where the required supplies can be obtained only from one source; (2) procurements negotiated under § 3.207 of this subchapter for specified medicines or medical supplies where it has been determined that only a particular brand name will meet the essential requirements of the Government; or (3) procurements negotiated under § 3.208 of this subchapter for supplies for resale where it has been determined by a selling activity that only a particular brand name will meet the desires or preferences of its patrons.

(c) (1) Where a "brand name or equal" purchase description is used, prospective contractors must be given the opportunity to offer supplies other than those specifically named by brand if such other supplies will meet the needs of the Government in essentially the same manner as those specified by brand. The "brand name or equal" description should specifically set forth those salient characteristics of the named supplies which are essential to the needs of the Government. For example, where interchangeability of parts is required, such requirement should be specified. Where a "brand name or equal" description refers to items, names, and numbers published in manufacturers' catalogs, the invitation for bids or request for proposal shall clearly identify the supplies called for. Such identification should include, for example, complete item names, identification of catalogs, and applicable catalog numbers with the corresponding catalog descriptions. The contracting officer will insure that a copy of any catalogs referenced (except parts catalogs) is available on request for review by bidders at the purchasing office.

(2) When a brand name or equal purchase description is included in an invitation for bids:

(i) The following shall be inserted after each item so described in the invitation for completion by the bidder.

Bidding on:
Manufacturer's Name ___ Brand ___ No. ___

(ii) In addition, the following clause shall be included in the invitation:

BRAND NAME OR EQUAL (JAN. 1960)

As used in this clause, the term "brand name" includes identification of supplies by make and model.

Certain supplies called for by this Invitation for Bids are identified in the schedule by a brand name "or equal" description. This identification is descriptive rather than restrictive. Bids offering "or equal" supplies will be considered for award if such supplies are clearly identified in the bids and are determined by the Government to be equal to the brand named supplies in all material respects.

Bidders must clearly indicate whether their bids are based on a brand name item or on an "equal" item by furnishing the information required below. IF THE BIDDER DOES NOT IDENTIFY THE BRAND NAME OR DESCRIBE IN FULL THE "OR EQUAL" ITEM WHICH IS OFFERED, AS PROVIDED IN (1) AND (2) BELOW, THE BID WILL BE REJECTED.

(1) If the bidder proposes to furnish a brand name item specified in this Invitation for Bids, such brand name shall be inserted in the space provided after each item so described.

(2) If the bidder proposes to furnish an "or equal" item, the brand name of the item proposed to be furnished, if any, shall be inserted in the space provided after each item so described, and in addition, the following descriptive data must be furnished:

A full description thereof, including pertinent physical, mechanical, electrical, and chemical details and a statement explaining the differences between the items being offered and any one of the corresponding brand name items called for by this Invitation for Bids. (This information may be supplied by separate attachments to the bid.)

In negotiated procurements the foregoing provisions may be suitably modified for use in the requests for proposals. If such provisions are not used, prospective contractors shall be informed that proposals offering supplies differing from those identified by brand name will be considered if the contracting officer determines that such offered supplies are equal in all material respects to the supplies identified by brand name. But the requirements of this subparagraph are not mandatory for small purchases made pursuant to Subpart F, Part 3, of this subchapter.

(3) Bids or proposals offering supplies which differ from the brand name supplies shall be considered for award where the contracting officer determines that the offered supplies conform to all characteristics specified in the invitation for bids or request for proposals and otherwise meet the needs of the Government in essentially the same manner as the brand name supplies. Bids or proposals shall not be rejected because of minor differances in design, construction, or features which do not affect the suitability of the supplies.

(4) Award documents shall identify, or incorporate by reference an identification of, the specific supplies (including any brand name and descriptive data specified in the bid) which the contractor is to furnish.

§ 1.1207 Alternate articles or qualities.

Invitations for bids and requests for proposals may provide for alternate bids or proposals on different articles or qualities of material, e.g., where two or more articles will be equally acceptable to the Government depending upon relative price. However, the alternate articles or qualities must be precisely described to assure that the same degree of competition is obtainable on the alternate bids or offers as is obtainable on the basic articles described.

Subpart M—Transportation

§ 1.1301 General.

(a) The transportation factors discussed in this subpart are important in awarding and administering contracts to insure that procurements are on the basis most advantageous to the Government, all factors considered, and that supplies arrive at the right place at the right time and in good condition. Traffic management advice and assistance shall be sought by and given to contracting officers and contract administrators, including property administrators who are concerned with the movement of Government property to, from, and between plants of contractors and subcontractors. Requiring activities should consider transportation factors before submitting purchase requests and should give purchasing activities instructions so that they are able to evaluate all applicable traffic management factors.

(b) As used in this subpart the term "United States" does not include Alaska or Hawaii.

§ 1.1302 Place of delivery.

§ 1.1302–1 Shipments within the United States.

Unless there are valid reasons to the contrary, the procurement of supplies from sources within the United States for ultimate delivery to destinations within the United States shall be in accordance with the following policy:

(a) When it is estimated that a contract will require no shipment to a single destination which will equal a minimum carload or truckload lot, delivery shall be on the basis of all transportation charges paid to destination;

(b) When it is estimated that a contract will require a shipment of a minimum carload or truckload lot, delivery shall be on the basis of whichever of the following is more advantageous to the Government:

(1) At the Government's option, f.o.b. carrier's equipment, wharf, or freight station at a specified city or shipping point at or near contractor's plant; or

(2) All transportation charges paid to destination. Solicitations shall provide that bidders or offerors may make bids or proposals on either or both of these bases. In the absence of specific information to the contrary, a minimum carload or truckload lot shall be deemed to be approximately 20,000 pounds.

§ 1.1302–2 Shipments from the United States for oversea delivery.

Unless there are valid reasons to the contrary, purchases of supplies originating within the United States for ultimate delivery to destinations outside the United States, regardless of the quantity of the shipment, shall be made on the basis of delivery at the Government's option, f.o.b. carrier's equipment, wharf, or freight station at a specified city or shipping point at or near contractor's plant. This policy applies to supplies shipped either directly to a port area for export or to storage areas for subsequent reshipment to a port area for export.

§ 1.1302–3 Shipments originating outside the United States.

Selection of place of delivery for shipments originating outside the United States shall be in accordance with procedures prescribed by the Department concerned.

§ 1.1303 Quantity analysis.

When additional quantities of the item being purchased can be transported at no increase in transportation cost or when purchase of carload or truckload quantities will result in lower unit transportation costs, the purchasing activity should find out from the requiring activity whether there is a known requirement for additional quantities.

§ 1.1304 Commodity description.

A complete description of the commodity being purchased, including packing and packaging instructions, is necessary not only to enable the supplier to bid or quote properly on the requirement, but also for determination of proper transportation charges. In no case shall the manufacturer's part number only be shown without the appropriate descriptive nomenclature.

§ 1.1305 Delivery terms.

§ 1.1305–1 F.o.b. origin or destination.

Solicitations for supplies to be purchased either f.o.b. origin or f.o.b. destination in accordance with § 1.1302–1 (b) shall provide that bids or proposals may be submitted on either or both bases and that they will be evaluated on the basis of the lowest overall cost to the Government. Invitations for bids and requests for proposals shall include so much of the following information as is pertinent to the particular procurement and shall require prospective suppliers to furnish the Government such of the following as may be appropriate:

(a) Method of shipment, such as rail, water, air, or truck;

(b) Minimum quantities or lots, such as carloads, truckloads, less than carloads, or less than truckloads (Where appropriate, the solicitation should elicit information of the minimum size of the shipment which the prospective supplier will make, so that the evaluation of transportation most may be on a realistic basis. The prospective supplier should be cautioned that, if he tenders shipments in lesser quantities, he may be charged with any resulting excess cost.);

(c) Guaranteed shipping weight (If shipping weight and cube of items to be procured are not shown in the solicitation, prospective suppliers should be required to furnish this information so that proper transportation costs can be computed. The prospective supplier should be cautioned that, if actual shipping weights or cubes vary from the guarantees, he may be charged with any resulting excess cost.);

(d) Packing, crating and other preparations;

(e) Transit privileges (§ 1.1308); and

(f) Any other shipping information required for evaluation.

§ 1.1305–2 F.o.b. destination.

Generally, solicitations for supplies to be purchased f.o.b. destination shall provide that supplies shall be delivered, all transportation charges paid by the contractor, to the specified destination. The solicitation shall inform prospective suppliers of any known shortage of transportation facilities at destination or other factors which may affect the supplier's transportation costs. When f.o.b. destination bids only are desired, the invitation for bids shall specify that bids submitted on a basis other than f.o.b. destination will be rejected as nonresponsive.

§ 1.1305–3 F.o.b. origin.

Generally, solicitations for supplies to be purchased f.o.b. origin shall provide for delivery, at the Government's option, f.o.b. carrier's equipment, wharf, or freight station at a city or shipping point to be specified by the bidder or offeror at or near the contractor's plant. This will enable the military traffic management offices, in issuing routing instructions, to select the mode of transportation which will provide the required service at the lowest cost. The solicitation shall state that bids or proposals will be evaluated on the basis of the lowest overall cost to the Government, taking account of transportation costs to the Government from point of origin to the designated destinations. Thus, when material is to be purchased f.o.b. origin in accordance with § 1.1302–2 for ultimate delivery to known destinations outside the United States, the solicitation will state that bids or proposals will be evaluated so as to take into account the cost to the Government of shipment from the point of origin to the overseas destinations. Contracting officers shall request the appropriate transportation officer to furnish any transportation rates and port handling charges required for use in evaluating bids or proposals. When f.o.b. origin bids only are desired, the invitations for bids will specify that bids submitted on a basis other than f.o.b. carrier's equipment, wharf, or freight stations at a specified city or shipping point at or near the contractor's plant will be rejected as nonresponsive.

§ 1.1305–4 Destination unknown.

When the exact destinations of the supplies being purchased are not known at the time bids or proposals are solicited, but the general location of the destination, such as East Coast, Middle West, or West Coast, is known, a definite place or places shall be designated as the point to which transportation costs will be computed—but only for the purpose of evaluating bids or proposals. The solicitation shall specify that bids or proposals should be submitted f.o.b. origin and that shipments will be made on Government bills of lading. The solicitation shall state:

For the purpose of evaluating (bids) (proposals), and for no other purpose, the final destination for the supplies will be considered to be as follows: [Name destinations].

Invitations for bids shall contain a statement that bids submitted on a basis other than f.o.b. origin will be rejected as nonresponsive.

§ 1.1306 Consignment and marking instructions.

Complete consignment and marking instructions, to the extent that they are known at the time the contract is awarded, shall be included in contracts to assist in insuring that supplies will be delivered to proper destinations without delay. "Military Standard Marking of Shipments (MIL–STD–129B)" shall be consulted for proper marking instructions. In those cases where complete consignment information is not initially known, additional instructions to the contractor shall be furnished as soon as such information becomes known. In contracts which provide for delivery f.o.b. origin and shipment on Government bills of lading, consignment instructions may be limited to the mail address of the consignee, provided the contract instructions state that "Shipments other than mail shall be consigned as indicated on the Government bill of lading furnished to the Contractor." It should be noted that receiving activities may have different consignment points for the various transportation media, or even for particular carriers within a medium depending on the weight, shape, size or nature of the shipment involved.

§ 1.1307 Scheduling of deliveries to permit consolidation of shipments.

The accumulation of small shipments into carload or truckload lots will result in lower transportation costs. Also, the accumulation of small shipments into less than load shipments may result in lower transportation costs. Upon review of the purchase request, and in conjunction with the requiring or requisitioning activity, consideration shall be given to revising delivery schedules to provide for deliveries in larger quantities. In some cases, delivery schedules for supplies to be delivered to multiple destinations can be consolidated and the stop-off in transit privilege used for partial unloading at one or more points directly en route between the point of origin and the last destination.

§ 1.1308 Transit arrangements.

Transit arrangements afford an opportunity to stop carload or truckload shipments at specific intermediate points en route to the final destination in order to store, process, or fabricate, or for other purposes as specified in carriers' applicable tariffs. A single through rate from origin to final destination, plus a transit or other related charge if applicable, is charged in lieu of a combination of rates to and from the transit point which would result in higher costs. Consideration should be given to possible benefits to the Government, through the use of such transit arrangements. Traffic management personnel can furnish necessary information and analyses of situations where such transit arrangements may be beneficial.

§ 1.1309 Rates and volume shipments.

Procurements involving planned volume movements, as defined in the Military Traffic Management Regulation (AR 55–355 c.s.; OPNAVINST 4600.8; AFM 75–2, as amended; and NAVMC 1175) shall be referred at the earliest practicable time to the appropriate military traffic management office for a determination of the reasonableness of applicable current rates and when appropriate, for negotiation of adjusted or modified rates. Generally, carriers are required by both Federal and State laws to charge all shippers equally for like transportation and associated services. However, when Government traffic possesses more favorable transportation characteristics (greater volume, heavier loading, less likelihood of damage, etc.) than commercial traffic between the same origins and destinations, freight rates are often lower for the Government traffic, as in the case of quotations under section 22 of the Interstate Commerce Act (49 U.S.C. 22) and similar tenders. Rate information necessary to properly evaluate offers shall be obtained from the appropriate military traffic office.

§ 1.1310 Crosshauling and backhauling.

Crosshauling is the shipment of material of the same kind in reverse directions. Backhauling is the shipment of material from a geographical area to or through another geographical area from which the material previously had been shipped. Crosshauling and backhauling waste transportation funds, facilities and equipment. To reduce crosshauling and backhauling, purchase requests or authorizations should contain as complete and accurate transportation (including destination) data as possible.

§ 1.1311 Unusually large or heavy shipments.

Before purchasing unusually large, heavy, high, wide, or long items, the appropriate transportation office shall be consulted in order that any transportability difficulties may be considered. Additional costs, such as the use of special equipment, excess blocking and bracing material, circuitous routing, etc., incident to these shipments shall also be considered, in conjunction with the freight rate, in determining total transportation costs.

§ 1.1312 Mode of transportation.

Generally, the military traffic management office is the proper authority to specify the mode and routing of shipments. If urgency in delivery is a factor, the appropriate military traffic management office shall be so informed in order that routing authorities may select the appropriate means of transportation.

Subpart N—Preference for United States-Flag Privately Owned Ocean Carriers

§ 1.1401 Definitions.

As used in this subpart:

(a) "Dry bulk carriers" are ships for the carriage of shipload lots of homogeneous unmarked cargoes such as grain, coal, cement and lumber;

(b) "Dry cargo liners" are ships for the carriage of heterogeneous marked cargoes in parcel lots. However, any cargo can be carried in such ships, including part cargoes of bulk items such as those mentioned above, or, when carried in deep tanks, bulk liquids such as petroleum and vegetable oils;

(c) "Tankers" are ships used for carriage of bulk liquid cargoes such as liquid petroleum products, vegetable oils and molasses;

(d) "Government vessel" means a vessel owned by the United States Government and operated directly by the Government or for the Government by an agent or contractor, including privately owned United States-flag vessels under bareboat charter to the Government;

(e) "Private United States vessels" means privately owned United States-flag commercial vessels, including such vessels when under voyage or time charter to the United States Government, and including Government-owned vessels under bareboat charter to private operators; and

(f) "United States-flag vessels" when used independently means both Government vessels and private United States vessels.

§ 1.1402 General.

It is the policy of the Department of Defense, in furtherance of the Cargo Preference Act (68 Stat. 832; 46 U.S.C. 1241(b)) and 10 U.S.C. 2631 to encourage and foster the American merchant marine. When transportation of supplies by ocean vessel is required:

(a) Private United States vessels shall be employed for the transportation of at least 50 percent of the aggregate gross tonnage per annum of the following categories of supplies:

(1) Supplies owned by the Government and in the possession of a Military Department, or of a contractor, or subcontractor of any tier, of a Military Department;

(2) Supplies for the use of the United States which are contracted for and require subsequent delivery to a Military Department but are not owned by the Government at the time of shipment; and

(3) Supplies procured, contracted for or otherwise obtained for non-reimbursable contribution to foreign assistance programs, but which are not owned by the Government at the time of shipment; provided, that this requirement shall not extend to the ocean transportation between foreign countries of supplies procured with local currency funds made available, or derived from funds made available, under the Mutual Security Act. Provided, that the allocation of gross tonnage will be computed separately for dry bulk carriers, dry cargo liners, and tankers and in such a manner as to assure fair and reasonable participation by geographic areas; and provided, that private United States vessels are available at fair and reasonable rates for such vessels;

(b) Only United States-flag vessels will be employed for the transportation of the supplies defined in paragraph (a)(1) of this section when such supplies are for the use of the Military Departments unless such vessels are not available at fair and reasonable United States-flag rates.

§ 1.1403 Applicability.

(a) For the purposes of this subpart the following geographical areas are established:

(1) North Atlantic. Includes Eastern Canada from the United States border to Goose Bay, Labrador; and Narsarssuak, Greenland.

(2) U.S. East Coast. Includes the eastern United States from the Canadian border to (and including) Key West, Florida.

(3) U.S. Gulf. Extends from (but excluding) Key West, Florida, to the Mexican border.

(4) Caribbean. Includes Bermuda; Bahamas; Cuba; Puerto Rico; Haiti; Dominican Republic; Jamaica; Windward and Leeward Islands; Trinidad; the eastern coast of Mexico; the eastern coast of Central America; and the northern coast of South America up to (and including) French Guiana.

(5) Eastern South America. Includes the eastern coast of South America from (but excluding) French Guiana to Cape Horn.

(6) North Europe. From the northern boundary of Portugal includes northern Atlantic and Biscay ports of Spain; Bordeaux/Hamburg range; Scandinavian and Baltic Sea ports; England, Wales, Scotland and Ireland; Iceland.

(7) Mediterranean. Azores; Canary Islands; Morocco; Spanish Morocco; Mediterranean ports extending from Gibraltar to Suez Canal; ports on Adriatic and Aegean Sea, Sea of Marmora and Black Sea; and Atlantic ports of Portugal and Spain from Gibraltar to the northern boundary of Portugal.

(8) West Africa. Includes the western coast of Africa from northern boundary of Rio de Oro to southern boundary of Angola and includes the Cape Verde Islands, Ascension Island and St. Helena.

(9) South and East Africa. Includes the southern and eastern coast of Africa and Madagascar from southern boundary of Angola on the west coast and around the south and east coast to Cape Guardafui between the Gulf of Aden and the Indian Ocean.

(10) South Asia. Extends from Suez to but excluding New Guinea. Includes the shores of the Red Sea; shore of the Gulf of Aden; the northern shores of the Indian Ocean including extensions such as the Persian Gulf; the East Indies including Borneo, the Celebes, etc., but excluding the Philippines and New Guinea; and the Malay Peninsula excluding Thailand.

(11) New Guinea-Australia. Includes Australia; New Guinea; Tasmania; New Zealand and Melanesia (comprising generally the Admiralty Islands, New Ireland, New Britain, the Solomons, New Hebrides and New Caledonia).

(12) East Asia. Includes the ports of the mainland and islands of East Asia from and including Thailand to and including Japan; includes the Philippines, Formosa, the Ryukyu Islands and the Bonins.

(13) Hawaii-Central Pacific. Hawaiian Islands; Wake/Marcus; and Oceania and Micronesia (comprising generally Palau, Marianas, Carolines, Gilberts, Fijis, Marquesas, Tuamotu Archipelago, etc., but excluding oceanic island possessions of South American countries).

(14) Alaska and Aleutian Islands. Includes the western coast of Canada and Alaska (including the Aleutian Islands) south of Cape Prince of Wales.

(15) U.S. Northwest. Includes all Oregon and Washington ports.

(16) U.S. West Coast. Includes all California.

(17) Western Mexico and Central America. Includes the western coast of Mexico and the western coast of Central America.

(18) Western South America. Includes the western coast of South America from (and including) the Republic of Colombia to Cape Horn, and the Pacific Islands possessions of South American countries.

(19) Exempt areas. (i) Alaska north of Cape Prince of Wales.

(ii) Greenland, except Narsarssuak.

(iii) Northern and eastern Canada from Goose Bay, Labrador, to Alaska.

(iv) Ports and facilities under security restrictions in otherwise nonexempt areas.

(v) Antarctica.

(b) The procedures set forth below are applicable to all ocean shipments of supplies except:

(1) Shipments in vessels assigned to United States Navy fleets other than the Military Sea Transportation Service;

(2) Shipments which originate or terminate in "exempt areas" as established in paragraph (a)(19) of this section;

(3) Shipments which originate and terminate in the same geographic area; provided, however, that supplies of the type described in § 1.1402(a)(1) shall be transported in United States-flag vessels to the extent such vessels are available at fair and reasonable United States-flag rates;

(4) Shipments aboard vessels of the Panama Canal Company; and

(5) Shipments of classified supplies where the classification prohibits the use of non-Government vessels.

§ 1.1404 Procedures.

(a) Except for those supplies obtained for non-reimbursable contributions to foreign assistance programs for which the ocean transportation is to be provided by and at the expense of the recipient government, ocean transportation of supplies owned by the Government and in the possession of either a Military Department, or a contractor, or subcontractor of any tier, of a Military Department, will be provided by the Military Sea Transportation Service. Accordingly, any contract which may involve ocean transportation of property owned by the Government and in the possession of the contractor or any of his subcontractors (including any contract under which title to property may pass to the Government prior to shipment) shall include a provision requiring the shipment of such property only as directed by the contracting officer, who shall be guided by this subchapter and applicable Departmental procedures. The Military Sea Transportation Service shall take such action as may be necessary and practicable to assure proper utilization of Government vessels and private United States vessels in accordance with this subpart, and applicable regulations. The Commander of the Military Sea Transportation Service, or his designated representative is authorized to make any determination as to availability of United States-flag vessels required to assure such proper utilization.

(b)(1) Except as provided in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, procuring activities shall include the following clause in any contract which may involve the ocean transportation of supplies of the type described in § 1.1402(a) (2) and (3):

PREFERENCE FOR UNITED STATES-FLAG VESSELS (DEC. 1955)

(a) After the date of award of this contract, the Contractor shall employ privately owned United States-flag commercial vessels, and no others, in the transportation by sea of any supplies to be furnished hereunder; provided, however, that if such vessels are not available for timely shipment at fair and reasonable rates for such vessels, the Contractor shall so notify the Contracting Officer and request authorization to ship in foreign-flag vessels or designation of available United States flag-vessels. If the Contractor is authorized in writing by the Contracting Officer to ship such supplies in foreign-flag vessels, the contract price shall be equitably adjusted to reflect the difference in costs of shipping such supplies on privately owned United States-flag commercial vessels and foreign-flag vessels.

(b) Promptly after each shipment the Contractor shall furnish the Contracting Officer one copy of the applicable shipping document indicating for each shipment made under this contract the name and nationality of the vessel and the measurement tonnage (40 cubic feet) of dry cargo, or long tons (2,240 pounds) of bulk liquid cargo, shipped on such vessels.

(2) The contract shall include the following clause in lieu of the clause set forth in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph when determined by the Head of a Procuring Activity to be necessary to assure proper implementation of the policy expressed in this section or when the procuring activity has been instructed, pursuant to § 1.1405–2, that particular supplies of the type described in § 1.1402(a) (2) and (3) are to be carried exclusively in private United States vessels:

PREFERENCE FOR UNITED STATES-FLAG VESSELS (DEC. 1955)

(a) After the date of award of this contract, the Contractor shall employ privately owned United States-flag commercial vessels, and no others, in the transportation by sea of any supplies to be furnished hereunder; provided, however, that if such vessels are not available for timely shipment at fair and reasonable rates for such vessels, the Contractor shall so notify the Contracting Officer and request authorization to ship in foreign-flag vessels or designation of available United States flag-vessels. If the Contractor is authorized in writing by the Contracting Officer to ship such supplies in foreign-flag vessels, the contract price shall be equitably adjusted to reflect the difference in costs of shipping such supplies on privately owned United States-flag commercial vessels and foreign-flag vessels.

(b) Promptly after each shipment the Contractor shall furnish the Contracting Officer one copy of the applicable shipping document indicating for each shipment made under this contract the name and nationality of the vessel and the measurement tonnage (40 cubic feet) of dry cargo, or long tons (2,240 pounds) of bulk liquid cargo, shipped on such vessel; provided, that the Contractor need not furnish such a document for any shipment of less than 120 measurement tons of dry cargo or less than 35 long tons of bulk liquid cargo; provided further, if this contract is an indefinite quantity contract or a requirement contract, the Contractor need furnish such documents only in connection with shipments made after the date of any delivery order requiring ocean transportation in delivering supplies thereunder. Additional provisions concerning the vessels to be used may be inserted in accordance with Departmental procedures.

EMPLOYMENT OF OCEAN-GOING VESSELS (JAN. 1958)

If ocean transportation is required after the date of award of this contract in delivering any of the supplies to be furnished hereunder, the Contractor, promptly after each shipment, shall furnish to the Contracting Officer one copy of the applicable ocean shipping document indicating for each shipment made under this contract the name and nationality of the vessel and the measurement tonnage (40 cubic feet) of dry cargo, or long tons (2,240 pounds) of bulk liquid cargo, shipped on such vessels.

§ 1.1405 Responsibilities.

§ 1.1405–1 Military departments.

(a) Each Military department will furnish quarterly reports to the Office of the Secretary of Defense, showing the gross tonnage of all supplies owned, procured, contracted for or otherwise obtained (computed separately for dry bulk carriers, dry cargo liners, and tankers) which have been transported by ocean carrier, during the report period. Such report will consist of two parts. Part I shall include all tonnage subject to this section except Military Assistance Program tonnage and shall also show the geographic area of origin and of destination and shall separately reflect all such information for:

(1) Private United States vessels;

(2) Government vessels (showing separately where Government vessels were used due to nonavailability of private United States vessels); and

(3) Foreign-flag vessels (showing separately where foreign vessels were used due to nonavailability of United States-flag vessels).

Part II shall show all Military Assistance Program tonnage shipped showing the geographic areas of origin and of destination and shall separately identify any shipments in other than foreign-flag vessels. Cargoes transported under arrangements made by the Military departments. Until a Department of Defense report form is announced in Part 16 of this subchapter, the Military departments will maintain records of required information and prepare reports in accordance with departmental procedures. After promulgation, the appropriate Department of Defense form will be used by the Military departments in furnishing the required reports, except that if a Military department develops, for its own use, reports which meet the requirements of this section, and which are acceptable to the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Supply and Logistics), such reports may be forwarded in lieu of the Department of Defense form.

(b) The Department of Navy will also furnish quarterly reports in two parts to the Office of the Secretary of Defense showing the gross tonnage of all supplies (computed separately for dry bulk carriers, dry cargo liners and tankers) for which transportation has been arranged by the Military Sea Transportation Service by geographic areas of origin and destination for:

(1) Private United States vessels;

(2) Government vessels (showing separately where Government vessels were used due to nonavailability of private United States vessels); and

(3) Foreign-flag vessels (showing separately where foreign vessels were used due to nonavailability of United States flag vessels).

Part I shall include all tonnage subject to this section except Military Assistance Program tonnage, and Part II shall show Military Assistance Program tonnage.

§ 1.1405–2 Office of the Secretary of Defense.

The Office of the Secretary of Defense will evaluate the reports submitted under § 1.1405–1. In the event the evaluation of the reports indicates the need for increased utilization of private United States vessels, the Office of the Secretary of Defense shall issue appropriate instructions to the Military departments.

2.501 General.

AUTHORITY: §§ 2.000 to 2.503–2 issued under R.S. 161, sec. 2202, 70A Stat. 120; 5 U.S.C. 22, 10 U.S.C. 2202. Interpret or apply secs. 2301–2314, 70A Stat. 127–133; 10 U.S.C. 2301–2314.

§ 2.000 Scope of part.

This part sets forth (a) the basic requirements for procurement of supplies (including construction) and services by formal advertising, (b) the information to be contained in solicitations of bids, (c) methods of soliciting bids, (d) policies with respect to the submission of bids, and (e) requirements with respect to the opening and evaluation of bids and the awarding of contracts.

Subpart A—Use of Formal Advertising

§ 2.101 Meaning of formal advertising.

Formal advertising means procurement by competitive bids and awards as prescribed in this section, and involves the following basic steps:

(a) Preparation of the invitation for bids, describing the requirements of the Government clearly, accurately, and completely, but avoiding unnecessarily restrictive specifications or requirements which might unduly limit the number of bidders. The term "invitation for bids" means the complete assembly of related documents (whether attached or incorporated by reference) furnished prospective bidders for the purpose of bidding;

(b) Publicizing the invitation for bids, through distribution to prospective bidders, posting in public places, and such other means as may be appropriate, in sufficient time to enable prospective bidders to prepare and submit bids before the time set for public opening;

(c) Submission of bids by prospective contractors, and

(d) Awarding the contract, after the bids are publicly opened to that responsible bidder whose bid, conforming to the invitation for bids, will be most advantageous to the Government, price and other factors considered.

§ 2.102 Policy.

§ 2.102–1 General.

10 U.S.C. 2304(a) provides that all contracts for supplies or services, with certain stated exceptions, shall be made by formal advertising. (See Subpart B, Part 3 of this subchapter, for discussion of the exceptions.) In accordance with this requirement, procurements shall generally be made by soliciting bids from all qualified sources of supplies and services deemed necessary by the contracting officer to assure full and free competition consistent with the procurement of the required supplies or services. Current lists of bidders shall be maintained by each purchasing office in accordance with § 2.205.

§ 2.102–2 Classified procurements.

Formal advertising may be used for classified procurements provided due consideration is given to security requirements in accordance with Departmental procedures. Otherwise, classified procurements will be negotiated pursuant to 10 U.S.C. 2304(a)(12) (see § 3.212 of this subchapter) or other appropriate exception set forth in 10 U.S.C. 2304(a) (see Subpart B, Part 3 of this subchapter).

§ 2.103 General requirements for formal advertising.

No award shall be made as a result of formal advertising unless:

(a) Bids have been solicited as required by Subpart B of this part;

(b) Bids have been submitted as required by Subpart C of this part;

(c) Such business clearances and approvals as are required by Departmental procedures have been obtained; and

(d) The award is to the responsible bidder (see § 1.902 of this subchapter) whose bid is responsive to the invitation for bids and is most advantageous to the Government, price and other factors considered, as prescribed in Subpart D of this part.

§ 2.104 Types of contracts.

§ 2.104–1 General.

Contracts awarded after formal advertising shall be of the firm fixed-price type, except that fixed-price contracts with escalation may be used where some flexibility is necessary and feasible.

§ 2.104–2 Firm fixed-price contracts.

See § 3.403–1 of this subchapter.

§ 2.104–3 Fixed-price contracts with escalation.

Escalation clauses are not normally desirable, but in appropriate cases clauses providing for upward and downward revision of prices may be used, in accordance with § 3.403–2 of this subchapter, in order to protect the interest of both the Government and supplier. In addition, where the contracting officer on the basis of his knowledge of the market or previous advertisements for like items, except that a requirement for firm fixed-price bids will unnecessarily restrict competition, or unreasonably increase bid prices, invitations for bids may include an escalation clause. The clause set forth in § 7.106–1 or that in § 7.106–2 of this subchapter shall be used if applicable. If neither of these clauses is applicable, an escalation clause approved by the Department concerned may be included. Any escalation clause shall provide an escalation ceiling identical for all bidders so that each bidder is afforded an equal opportunity to bid on the escalation basis. In evaluating bids, see § 2.407–4.

§ 2.104–4 Indefinite delivery type contracts.

(a) Definite quantity contracts. See § 3.405–5(a) of this subchapter.

(b) Requirements contracts. See § 3.405–5(b) of this subchapter.

(c) Indefinite quantity contracts. See § 3.405–5(c) of this subchapter.

§ 2.105 Solicitation for informational or planning purposes.

See § 1.309 of this subchapter.

Subpart B—Solicitation of Bids

§ 2.201 Preparation of invitation for bids.

Forms used in inviting bids are prescribed in Subparts A and D, Part 16 of this subchapter. Invitation for bids shall contain the applicable information described in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section and any other information required for a particular procurement.

(a) For supply and service contracts, including construction, invitation for bids shall contain the following information if applicable to the procurement involved.

(1) Invitation number.

(2) Name and address of issuing activity.

(3) Date of issuance.

(4) Date, hour, and place of opening. See § 2.202–1 concerning bidding time. Prevailing local time shall be used. Timing by the 24-hour clock shall not be used except where customary in the industry.

(5) Number of pages.

(6) Requisition or other purchase authority and appropriation and accounting data.

(7) A description of supplies or services to be furnished under each item, in sufficient detail to permit full and free competition. Such description shall comply with Subpart L, Part 1 of this subchapter, relating to specifications.

(8) The time of delivery or performance (see § 1.305 of this subchapter).

(9) Permission, if any, to submit telegraphic bids (see § 2.202–2).

(10) Permission, if any, to submit alternate bids, including alternate materials or designs (see § 1.1207 of this subchapter).

(11) A statement on the face of the invitation that "Bids must set forth full, accurate, and complete information as required by this invitation for bids (including attachments). The Penalty for making false statements in bids is prescribed in 18 U.S.C. 1001." (See §§ 2.405 and 2.406.)

(12) Bond and other guarantee requirement, if any (see Subpart A, Part 10 of this subchapter). If a bid guarantee is required, the invitation shall state that failure to submit the guarantee on time is cause for a rejection of the bid (see § 2.404–2(h)).

(13) Any authorized special provisions relating to Government-furnished property proposed to be furnished for the performance of the contract.

(14) A provision that if the bidder plans to use, in performing the work bid upon, any items of Government property in the bidder's possession under a facilities contract or other agreement independent of the invitation for bids, the bidder shall so state in the bid and, upon request of the contracting officer, submit evidence that a facilities contract or other separate agreement authorizes the bidder to use each item of such Government property for performing the work bid upon.

(15) When considered necessary by the contracting officer, a requirement that all bids must allow a period for acceptance by the Government of not less than a minimum period stipulated in the invitation for bids, and that bids offering less than the minimum stipulated acceptance period will be rejected. The minimum period so stipulated should be no more than reasonably required for evaluation of bids and other preaward processing. To accomplish the foregoing, a paragraph substantially as follows may be included in the Schedule or other appropriate place in the Invitation for Bids:

BID ACCEPTANCE PERIOD

Bids offering less than _____ days for acceptance by the Government from the date set for opening of bids will be considered nonresponsive and will be rejected.

(16) In unusual cases, where bidders are required to have special technical qualifications due to the complexity of the equipment being purchased or for some other special reason, a statement of such qualifications.

(17) Any authorized special provisions, necessary for the particular procurement, relating to such matters as progress payments (see §§ 163.73 through 163.73–6 of Subchapter E of this chapter), patent licenses, liquidated damages, profit limitations, escalation (see § 2.104–3), Buy American Act (see §§ 6.104–3 and 6.204–4 of this subchapter), etc.

(18) Such general contract provisions or conditions as are required by law or by this subchapter.

(19) Any applicable wage determinations of the Secretary of Labor (for construction, alteration, or repair contracts).

(20) If Government costs or expenditures other than bid prices are to be considered in the evaluation of bids, such factors must be identified and included.

(21) If the schedule contains a price escalation clause, the following provision:

Evaluation of bids subject to escalation: Notwithstanding the provisions of the clause entitled "Price Escalation", bids shall be evaluated on the basis of quoted prices without the allowable escalation being added. Bids which provide for a ceiling lower than that stipulated in the clause will also be evaluated on this basis. Bids which provide for escalation that may exceed the maximum escalation stipulated in the clause, or which limit or delete the downward escalation stipulated in the clause shall be rejected as nonresponsive.

(22) Unless contained elsewhere in the invitation, a statement as follows:

In the event of an inconsistency between provisions of this invitation for bids, the inconsistency shall be resolved by giving precedence in the following order: (1) The Schedule; (2) Terms and Conditions of the Invitation for Bids; (3) General Provisions; (4) other provisions of the contract, whether incorporated by reference or otherwise; (5) the Specifications.

(23) When considered necessary by the contracting officer to prevent practices prejudicial to fair and open competition, a requirement that each bidder submit with its bid an affidavit concerning its affiliation with other concerns. To accomplish the foregoing, a paragraph substantially as follows may be included in the Schedule or other appropriate place in the invitation for bids:

AFFILIATED BIDDERS

(a) Business concerns are affiliates of each other when either directly or indirectly (i) one concern controls or has the power to control the other, or (ii) a third party controls or has the power to control both.

(b) Each bidder shall submit with its bid an affidavit containing information as follows:

(i) Whether the bid has any affiliates;

(ii) The names and addresses of all affiliates of the bidder; and

(iii) The names and addresses of all persons and concerns exercising control or ownership of the bidder and any or all of its affiliates, and whether as common officers, directors, stockholders holding controlling interest, or otherwise.

Any bid which fails to include such an affidavit will be considered nonresponsive and will be rejected. (End of Notice)

(24) Directions for obtaining copies of any documents, such as plans, drawings, and specifications, which have been incorporated by reference (see § 1.1203–3 of this subchapter).

(25) Pending revisions of paragraphs 3 and 4 of the Terms and Conditions of the Invitation for Bids on the back of Standard Forms 30 (October 1957 edition) and 33 (October 1957 edition) and paragraph 7 of Standard Form 22 (March 1953 edition), include the following provision:

Late bids and modifications or withdrawals. Bids and modifications or withdrawals thereof received at the office designated in the invitation for bids after the exact time set for opening of the bids will not be considered, unless they are received before award is made and (i) are submitted by mail (or by telegraph if authorized), and (ii) it is determined by the Government that late receipt was due solely to either (A) delay in the mails (or by the telegraph company if telegraphic bids are authorized) for which the bidder was not responsible or (B) mishandling by the Government after receipt at the Government installation. However, a modification which is received from an otherwise successful bidder and which makes the terms of the bid more favorable to the Government will be considered at any time it is received and may thereafter be accepted.

(b) For supply and service contracts, excluding construction, the invitation for bids shall contain the following in addition to the information required by paragraph (a) of this section if applicable to the procurement involved.

(1) Discount provisions (see § 2.407–3).

(2) The quantity of supplies or services to be furnished under each item, and any provision for quantity variation.

(3) Any requirement for prior testing and qualification of a product, when the item to be purchased is on a qualified products list (see Subpart K, Part 1, of this subchapter).

(4) Where needed for the purpose of bid evaluation, pre-award surveys, or inspection, a requirement that all bidders state the place (including the street address) from which the supplies will be furnished or where the services will be performed. Where it is reasonably anticipated that producing facilities will be used in the performance of the contracts, or where the Government requires the information, bidders will be required to state (i) the full address of principal producing facilities (if designation of such address is not feasible, a full explanation will be required), and (ii) names and addresses of owner and operator if other than bidder.

(5) Place and method of delivery (see Subpart M, Part 1, of this subchapter).

(6) Preservation, packaging, packing, and marking requirements, if any.

(7) Place, method, and conditions of inspection.

(8) If no award will be made for less than the full quantities advertised, a statement to that effect.

(9) If award is to be made by specified groups of items or in the aggregate, a statement to that effect.

(10) If the invitation gives the Government an option to increase the quantities specified, a statement of the maximum percentage of such increase.

(11) Any applicable requirements for samples or descriptive literature (see §§ 2.202–4 and 2.202–5)

§ 2.202 Miscellaneous rules for solicitation of bids.

§ 2.202–1 Bidding time.

Consistent with the needs of the Government for obtaining the supplies or services, all invitations for bids shall allow sufficient bidding time (i.e., the period of time between the date of distribution of an invitation for bids and the date set for opening of bids) to allow bidders an adequate opportunity to prepare and submit their bids. Bids shall be solicited sufficiently in advance of the opening of bids to allow bidders an adequate opportunity to prepare and submit bids As a general rule, bidding time shall be not less than 15 calendar days when procuring standard commercial articles and services and not less than 30 calendar days when procuring other than standard commercial articles or services. This rule need not be observed in special circumstances, or where the urgency for the supplies or services does not permit such delay. For items on Qualified Products Lists, see § 1.1105–1 of this subchapter.

§ 2.202–2 Telegraphic bids.

As a general rule, telegraphic bids will not be authorized. However, when in the judgment of the contracting officer, the date for the opening of bids will not allow bidders sufficient time to prepare and submit bids on the prescribed forms or when prices are subject to frequent changes, telegraphic bids may be authorized. When such bids are authorized, the schedule of the invitation for bids will require the bidder to include in the telegraphic bid specific reference to the invitation, the items or sub-items, quantities, and unit prices for which the bid is submitted, the time and place of delivery, and a statement that the bidder agrees to all the terms, conditions, and provisions of the invitation. In order that that the contract may be executed on the proper forms the invitation for bids will also provide that telegraphic bids shall be confirmed on the prescribed form and submitted promptly to the contracting officer.

§ 2.202–4 Bid samples.

(a) Definition. The term "bid sample" means a sample required by the invitation for bids to be furnished by a bidder as a part of his bid to show the characteristics of a product offered in his bid. The term does not include any type of sample submitted after bid opening such as one submitted to evidence a manufacturer's ability to produce.

(b) Policy. Bidders shall not be required to furnish a bid sample of a product they propose to furnish unless there are certain characteristics of the product which cannot be described adequately in the applicable specification or purchase description, thus necessitating the submission of a sample to assure procurement of an acceptable product. It may be appropriate to require bid samples, for example, where the procurement is of products that must be suitable from the standpoint of balance, facility of use, general "feel," color, or pattern, or that have certain other characteristics which cannot be described adequately in the applicable specifications. However, where more than a minor portion of the characteristics of the product cannot be adequately described in the specification, the product should be procured by negotiation.

(c) Justification. The reasons why acceptable products cannot be procured without the submission of bid samples shall be set forth and filed in the contract file, except where such submission is required by the formal specifications (Federal, Military or other) applicable to the procurement.

(d) Requirements of invitation for bids. When bid samples are required, the invitation for bids shall (1) state the number and, if appropriate, the size of the samples to be submitted and otherwise fully describe the samples required, (2) state clearly the purpose for which the samples are needed and the criteria against which they will be tested or evaluated, and (3) include a provision in accordance with paragraph (e) of this section. Where samples are not considered necessary and a waiver of the sample requirements of a specification has been authorized, a statement shall be included in the invitation for bids that notwithstanding the requirements of the specifications, samples will not be required.

(e) Invitation for bids provision. When bid samples are required, a provision substantially as follows (modified, if appropriate, in accordance with paragraph (f) of this section) shall be included in the invitation for bids:

BID SAMPLES (OCT. 1960)

(a) Bid samples, in the quantities, sizes, etc. required for the items so indicated in this Invitation for Bids, must be furnished as a part of the bid and must be received before the time set for opening bids. Samples will be evaluated to determine compliance with the specifications or other requirements of this Invitation for Bids.

(b) Failure of samples to conform to the requirements of this Invitation for Bids will require rejection of the bid. Failure to furnish samples by the time specified in the Invitation for Bids will require rejection of the bid, except that a late sample transmitted by mail may be considered under the provision for considering late bids, as set forth elsewhere in this Invitation for Bids.

(c) Products delivered under any resulting contract shall conform to the approved sample as to the characteristics for which the sample was required and shall conform to the specifications as to all other characteristics.

(f) Waiver of requirement for bid samples. (1) The provision prescribed in paragraph (e) of this section may be modified to provide that the requirement for furnishing samples may be waived as to a bidder who offers a product previously or currently being procured or tested by the purchasing activity and found to comply with specification requirements conforming in every material respect with those in the current invitation for bids so that further evaluation or testing would not add to the Government's knowledge of the acceptability of the product. When provision is to be made for such a waiver, the invitation for bids provision in paragraph (e) of this section shall be modified by adding substantially the following at the end of paragraph (b) thereof: However, the requirement for furnishing samples may be waived as to a bidder if (i) the bidder states in his bid that the product he is offering to furnish is the same as a product he has offered to the purchasing activity on a previous procurement and (ii) the Contracting Officer determines that such product was previously procured or tested by the purchasing activity and found to comply with specification requirements conforming in every material respect to those in this Invitation for Bids. (Oct. 1960)

(2) Where considered necessary because of the nature of the product the provision in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph may be limited to provide for waiving the requirement only if the product offered is produced at the same plant at which the product previously procured or tested was produced.

(g) Unsolicited samples. If bid samples are not required by the invitation for bids, but samples are furnished with a bid, they will not be considered as qualifying the bid, and will be disregarded, unless it is clear from the bid or accompanying papers that it was the bidder's intention so to qualify the bid.

(h) Disposition of samples. Samples, if not destroyed in testing, shall be returned to bidders at their request and expense, unless otherwise specified in the invitation for bids. See paragraph 2(b) of the Terms and Conditions of the Invitation for Bids of Standard Forms 30 and 33.

§ 2.202–5 Descriptive literature.

(a) Definition. As used in this section, the term "descriptive literature" means information, such as cuts, illustrations, drawings, and brochures, which show the characteristics or construction of a product or explain its operation, furnished by a bidder as a part of his bid to describe the products offered in his bid. The term includes only information required to determine acceptability of the product, and excludes other information such as that furnished in connection with the qualifications of a bidder or for use in operating or maintaining equipment.

(b) Policy. Bidders shall not be required to furnish descriptive literature as a part of their bids unless the purchasing activity deems that such literature is needed to enable it to determine before award whether the products offered meet the specification requirements of the invitation for bids and to establish exactly what the bidder proposes to furnish. It may be appropriate to require descriptive literature in the procurement of highly technical or specialized equipment, or where considerations such as design or style are important in determining acceptability of the product.

(c) Justification. The reasons why acceptable products cannot be procured without the submission of descriptive literature shall be set forth and filed in the contract file, except where such submission is required by the formal specifications (Federal, Military, or other) applicable to the procurement.

(d) Requirements of invitation for bids. (1) When descriptive literature is required, the invitation for bids shall clearly state what descriptive literature is to be furnished, the purpose for which it is required, the extent to which it will be considered in the evaluation of bids, and the rules which will apply if a bidder fails to furnish it before bid opening or if the literature furnished does not comply with the requirements of the invitation for bids. Where descriptive literature is not considered necessary and a waiver of the literature requirements of a specification has been authorized, a statement shall be included in the invitation for bids that notwithstanding the requirements of the specifications, descriptive literature will not be required.

(2) Except as provided in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph, if bidders are to furnish descriptive literature as a part of their bids, a provision substantially as follows (modified, if appropriate, in accordance with paragraph (e) of this section) shall be included in the invitation for bids:

REQUIREMENT FOR DESCRIPTIVE LITERATURE (OCT. 1960)

(a) Descriptive literature as specified in this Invitation for Bids must be furnished as a part of the bid and must be received before the time set for opening bids. The literature furnished must be identified to show the item in the bid to which it pertains. The descriptive literature is required to establish, for the purposes of bid evaluation and award, details of the products the bidder proposes to furnish as to [* --------].

(b) Failure of descriptive literature to show that the product offered conforms to the specifications and other requirements of this Invitation for Bids will require rejection of the bid. Failure to furnish the descriptive literature by the time specified in the Invitation for Bids will require rejection of the bid, except that if the material is transmitted by mail and is received late, it may be considered under the provision for considering late bids, as set forth elsewhere in this Invitation for Bids.

*The contracting officer shall insert significant elements such as design, materials, components, or performance characteristics; or methods of manufacture, construction, assembly, or operation, as appropriate.

(3) When brand name or equal purchase descriptions are used, the requirements of this section are met by inserting in the invitation for bids the brand names provision set forth in § 1.1206 of this subchapter.

(e) Waiver of requirements for descriptive literature. (1) The provision prescribed in paragraph (d)(1) of this section may be modified to provide that the requirements for furnishing descriptive literature may be waived as to a particular bidder if (i) the bidder states in his bid that the product he is offering to furnish is the same as a product previously or currently being furnished to the purchasing activity and (ii) it is determined by the contracting officer that such product complies with the specification requirements of the current invitation for bids. When provision is to be made for such waiver, the invitation for bids provision in paragraph (d)(2) of this section shall be modified by adding substantially the following at the end of paragraph (b) thereof: However, the requirements for furnishing descriptive literature may be waived as to a bidder if (i) the bidder states in his bid that the product he is offering to furnish is the same as a product he has previously furnished to the purchasing activity under a prior contract and the bidder identifies the contract, and (ii) the Contracting Officer determines that such product meets the requirements of this Invitation for Bids (Oct. 1960).

(2) If the invitation for bids contains a provision for waiver in accordance with subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, a bidder may submit his bid either on the basis of the descriptive literature to be furnished or on the basis of a previously procured product. If he elects to submit his bid on one basis, he is precluded from having his bid considered on the alternative basis after bids are opened.

(f) Unsolicited descriptive literature. If the furnishing of descriptive literature is not required by the invitation for bids, but such literature is furnished with a bid, it will not be considered as qualifying the bid, and will be disregarded, unless it is clear from the bid or accompanying papers that it was the bidder's intention so to qualify the bid.

(g) Public disclosure. See § 2.404–4 of this part for requirements with respect to restrictions on the public disclosure of descriptive literature submitted by a bidder.

§ 2.203 Methods of soliciting bids.

§ 2.203–1 Mailing or delivery to prospective bidders.

Invitations for bids (or pre-invitation notices, see § 2.205–4(c)) shall be mailed (or delivered) to a sufficient number of prospective bidders so as to elicit adequate competition. Invitations for bids shall not be mailed to persons or firms other than bona fide prospective bidders, but may be mailed for informational purposes to Government agencies, including procurement information offices. The instructions in the Joint Consolidated List of Debarred, Ineligible and Suspended Contractors and Subpart F, Part 1 of this subchapter shall be followed in soliciting bids.

§ 2.203–2 Displaying in public place.

Copies of unclassified invitations for bids shall be displayed at the purchasing office or at some other appropriate public place. (See § 1.1002 of this subchapter for availability of such copies to interested persons.)

§ 2.203–3 Publicity in newspapers and trade journals.

(a) Free publicity. A brief announcement of the proposed purchase may be made available for free publication to newspapers and to trade journals and magazines. Copies of unclassified invitations for bids for construction projects may be furnished to trade journals for the construction field, except that drawings, specifications, general and special provisions will not be so furnished.

(b) Paid advertisements. See § 1.1005 of this subchapter.

§ 2.203–4 Synopses of invitation for bids.

Synopses of Invitations for Bids shall be prepared and publicized in the Department of Commerce "Synopsis of U.S. Government Proposed Procurement, Sales and Contract Awards," in accordance with § 1.1003 of this subchapter.

§ 2.204 Office of permanent record.

Each purchasing activity is the office of permanent record for every invitation for bids issued and distributed by it and for each abstract or record of bids. The file of the invitation for bids should show the distribution which was made and the date thereof.

§ 2.205 Bidders mailing lists.

§ 2.205–1 Establishment of lists.

(a) Bidders mailing lists shall be established by purchasing activities to insure access to adequate sources of supplies and services except where the requirements of the purchasing office can be obtained within the local trade area through utilization of the simplified small purchases procedures (Subpart F, Part 3 of this subchapter), or are nonrecurring.

(b) All eligible and qualified suppliers who have submitted bidders mailing list applications, or whom the purchasing activity considers capable of filling the requirements of a particular procurement shall be placed on the appropriate bidders mailing list. Planned producers under the Industrial Readiness Planning Program shall be included on the bidders mailing list for their planned items.

(c) Bidders Mailing Lists Application (Standard Form 129) shall be used for obtaining information needed, as prescribed in § 16.810 of this subchapter, in the establishment and maintenance of bidders mailing lists. Supplemental information, where required, may be obtained by using DD Form 558–1 (Bidders Mailing List Application Supplement).

§ 2.205–2 Removal of names from bidders mailing lists.

(a) The name of each concern failing to respond to an invitation for bids, or pre-invitation notice (see § 2.205–4(c)) may be removed from the bidders mailing list without notice to the concern, but only for the item or items involved in such invitation or notice. Where a concern fails to respond to two consecutive invitations for bids or pre-invitation notices, its name shall be removed from the bidders mailing list to the extent indicated above, except that, in individual cases, concerns thus failing to respond may be retained on a bidders mailing list if such retention is considered to be in the best interest of the Government. Both actual bids and written requests for retention on the bidders mailing lists are "responses" to invitation for bids or pre-invitation notices.

(b) The names of concerns which have been (1) debarred from entering into Government contracts or (2) otherwise determined to be ineligible to receive an award of a Government contract, including ineligibility because of suspension or other disqualifications, shall be removed from the bidders mailing lists to the extent required by such debarment or other determination of ineligibility.

§ 2.205–3 Reinstatement on bidders mailing lists.

Concerns which have been removed from bidders mailing lists may be reinstated upon request or new application on Standard Form 129. No concern which is debarred or ineligible shall be reinstated during the period of debarment or ineligibility.

§ 2.205–4 Excessively long bidders mailing lists.

(a) General. To prevent excessive administrative costs of a procurement, mailing lists should be used in a way which will promote competition commensurate with the dollar value of the purchase to be made. As much of the mailing list will be used as is compatible with efficiency and economy in securing adequate competition as required by law. Where the number of bidders on a mailing list is considered excessive in relation to a specific procurement, the list may be reduced by any method consistent with the foregoing, including those described in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section. The fact that less than an entire mailing list is used shall not in itself preclude furnishing of bid sets upon request made by concerns not invited to bid.

(b) Rotation of lists. Mailing lists may be rotated, but to do so will require considerable judgment as to whether the size of the transaction justifies rotation. In rotating a list, the interests of small business (see § 1.702(b)(2) of this subchapter) and the existence of labor surplus areas (§ 1.803(a)(5) of this subchapter) shall be considered.

(c) Pre-invitation notices. In lieu of initially forwarding complete bid sets, the purchasing activity may send pre-invitation notices to concerns on the mailing list. The notice shall:

(1) Specify the date by which bidders should return the notice in order to receive a complete bid set;

(2) Describe the requirement, or include the schedule of the invitation for bids, so as to furnish an item description and a condensation of other essential information providing concerns with an intelligible basis for judging whether they have an interest in the procurement; and

(3) Expressly notify concerns that if no bid is to be submitted, they should advise the issuing office in writing if future invitations are desired for the type of supplies or services involved. Drawings, plans, and specifications normally will not be furnished with the pre-invitation notice. The return date in the notice must be sufficiently in advance of the mailing date of the invitation for bids to permit an accurate estimate of the number of bid sets required. Bid sets will be sent to concerns which request them. This procedure is particularly suitable to major purchasing activities where lengthy invitations for bids and long bidders mailing lists are common.

§ 2.205–5 Release of bidders mailing lists.

(a) Except as provided in paragraph (b) of this section, the list of prospective bidders to whom invitations for bids have been furnished will not be released outside the Department of Defense and will not be made available for inspection to individuals, firms, or trade organizations. However, such lists may be made available to other Government agencies, at their specific written request, and upon the condition that the list will not be available for inspection to anyone outside the Government.

(b) When invitations for bids for construction contracts have been issued, trade journals, prospective subcontractors, material suppliers, and others having a bona fide interest in such information, will be supplied upon request with a list of all prospective bidders furnished copies of the plans and specifications.

§ 2.206 Small business and labor surplus area set-asides.

See Subparts G and H, Part 1 of this subchapter.

§ 2.207 Amendment of invitation for bids.

(a) If after issuance of an invitation for bids but before the time for bid opening it becomes necessary to make changes in the quantity, specifications, delivery schedules, opening dates, etc., or to correct a defective or ambiguous invitation, such changes shall be accomplished by issuance of a amendment to the invitation for bids, using DD Form 1260 (see § 16.101 of this subchapter).

(b) Before issuing an amendment to an invitation for bids, the period of time remaining until bid opening and the need for extending this period by postponing the time set for opening must be considered. Where only a short time remains before the time set for bid opening, consideration should be given to notifying bidders of an extension of time by telegram or telephone. Such notification should be confirmed in the amendment.

(c) Any information given to a prospective bidder concerning an invitation for bids shall be furnished promptly to all other prospective bidders, as an amendment to the invitation, if such information is necessary to bidders in submitting bids on the invitation or if the lack of such information would be prejudicial to uninformed bidders. No award shall be made on the invitation unless such amendment has been issued in sufficient time to permit all prospective bidders to consider such information in submitting or modifying their bids.

§ 2.208 Cancellation of invitations before opening.

Cancellation of an invitation for bids usually involves the loss of time, effort, and money, spent by Government and bidders in carrying the procurement process up to the point of cancellation. Invitations for bids should not be canceled unless cancellation is clearly in the public interest, such as where there is no longer a requirement for the supplies or services or where amendments to the invitation would be of such magnitude that a new invitation is desirable. Where an invitation is canceled, bids which have been received shall be returned unopened to the bidders and a notice of cancellation shall be sent to all prospective bidders to whom invitations for bids were issued. The notice of cancellation shall identify the invitation for bids; briefly explain the reason the invitation is being canceled; and, where appropriate, assure prospective bidders that they will be given an opportunity to bid on any resolicitation of bids or any future requirements for the type of material or services involved. The cancellation shall be recorded in accordance with § 2.403.

§ 2.209 Qualified products.

See Subpart K, Part 1 of this subchapter.

Subpart C—Submission of Bids

§ 2.301 Responsiveness of bids.

(a) To be considered for award, a bid must comply in all material respects with the invitation for bids so that, both as to the method and timeliness of submission and as to the substance of any resulting contract, all bidders may stand on an equal footing and the integrity of the formal advertising system may be maintained.

(b) Telegraphic bids shall not be considered unless permitted by the invitation for bids.

(c) Bids should be filled out, executed, and submitted in accordance with the instructions which are contained in the invitation for bids. If a bidder uses its own bid form or a letter to submit a bid, the bid may be considered only if (1) the bidder accepts all the terms and conditions of the invitation, and (2) award on the bid would result in a binding contract the terms and conditions of which do not vary from the terms and conditions of the invitation.

§ 2.302 Time of bid submission.

Bids shall be submitted so as to be received in the office designated in the invitation for bids not later than the exact time set for opening.

§ 2.303 Late bids.

§ 2.303–1 General.

Bids which are received in the office designated in the invitation for bids after the exact time set for opening are "late bids," even though received only one or two minutes late. Late bids shall not be considered for award except as authorized in §§ 2.303 through 2.303–8.

§ 2.303–2 Consideration for award.

The contracting officer or his authorized representative shall determine whether late bids may be considered for award, in accordance with §§ 2.303 through 2.303–8. A late bid shall be considered for award only if received before award; and either:

(a) It is determined that its lateness was due solely to:

(1) Delay in the mails for which the bidder was not responsible, or

(2) Delay by the telegraph company for which the bidder was not responsible, where the invitation specifically authorizes telegraphic bids; or

(b) It is determined that the bid, if submitted by mail or telegram (where authorized) was received at the Government installation in sufficient time to be received at the office designated in the invitation by the time set for opening, and, except for delay due to mishandling on the part of the Government at the installation, would have been received on time at the office designated.

§ 2.303–3 Mailed bids.

(a) The time of mailing of late bids shall be determined as follows:

(1) The date and hour shown in a post office cancellation stamp or in a stamp affixed by an approved metering device shall be considered as the time of mailing;

(2) In the event of conflict between a post office cancellation stamp and a stamp of a metering device, the date and hour shown by the cancellation stamp shall govern;

(3) Except as stated in subparagraphs (5) and (6) of this paragraph, if the envelope or other outer covering shows the date but not the hour of mailing, the time of mailing shall be considered to be the last minute of the date shown;

(4) Except as stated in subparagraphs (5) and (6) of this paragraph, if the envelope or other covering does not show the date of mailing, the bid shall be presumed to have been mailed too late to be received in time;

(5) Information regarding the date and hour of mailing of registered mail, when not ascertainable from the post office cancellation stamp, shall be obtained from the postal authorities indicated in paragraph (b) of this section;

(6) Notwithstanding subparagraph (1) through (5) of this paragraph, if the bidder demonstrates the date and hour of mailing by clear and convincing evidence which includes substantiation by the post office of mailing, the date or hour thus demonstrated shall be considered the time of mailing.

(b) Information concerning the normal time for mail delivery, and concerning registered mail, shall be obtained by the purchasing activity from the postmaster, superintendent of mails, or a duly authorized representative for that purpose, of the post office serving that activity. When time permits, such information shall be obtained in writing.

§ 2.303–4 Telegraphic bids.

A late telegraphic bid shall be presumed to have been filed with the telegraph company too late to be received in time, except where the bidder demonstrates by clear and convincing evidence which includes substantiation by an authorized official of the telegraph company that the bid, as received in the office designated in the invitation for bids, was filed with the telegraph company in sufficient time to have been delivered by normal transmission procedure so as not to have been late.

§ 2.303–5 Hand-carried bids.

A late hand-carried bid, or any other late bid not submitted by mail or telegram, shall not be considered for award.

§ 2.303–6 Notification to late bidders.

Upon receipt of any late bid which is received before award, but which, on the basis of available information, cannot be considered for award under § 2.303–2(a),

the contracting officer or his authorized representative shall promptly notify the bidder that his bid was received late. Such notification shall include substantially the following information:

Your bid in response to Invitation for Bids No. ------, dated ------, was received after the time for opening specified in the Invitation. Accordingly, your bid will not be considered for award unless clear and convincing evidence is submitted promptly (and in any event before award) showing that late receipt was due solely to delay in the mails for which you were not responsible.

The foregoing notification shall be appropriately modified in the case of late telegraphic bids.

§ 2.303–7 Disposition of late bids.

Late bids which are not considered for award shall be held unopened until after award and then returned to the bidder, unless other disposition is requested or agreed to by the bidder, except that an unidentified bid may be opened solely for purposes of identification as provided in § 2.401.

§ 2.303–8 Records.

The following shall, if available, be included in the purchasing office files with respect to each late bid:

(a) A statement of the date and hour of mailing, filing, or delivery, as the case may be;

(b) A statement of the date and hour of receipt;

(c) The determination of whether or not the late bid was considered for award, with supporting facts;

(d) A statement of the disposition of the late bid; and

(e) The envelope, or other covering, if the late bid was considered for award.

§ 2.304 Modification or withdrawal of bids.

Bids may be modified or withdrawn by written or telegraphic notice received prior to the exact time set for opening. In addition, a bid may be withdrawn in person by a bidder or his authorized representative, providing his identity is made known and he signs a receipt for the bid, but only if the withdrawal is prior to the exact time set for bid opening.

§ 2.305 Late modifications and withdrawals.

(a) Modifications of bids and requests for withdrawal of bids which are received in the office designated in the invitation for bids after the exact time set for opening are "late modifications" and "late withdrawals," respectively. A late modification or late withdrawal shall be subject to the rules applicable to late bids set forth in §§ 2.303–3 through 2.303–5 and shall be considered as being effective only if it is received before award; and either:

(1) It is determined that its lateness was due solely to:

(i) Delay in the mails for which the bidder was not responsible, or

(ii) Delay in telegraphic transmission for which the bidder was not responsible; or

(2) It is determined that the modification or withdrawal, if submitted by mail or telegram, was received at the Government installation in sufficient time to be received at the office designated in the invitation by the time set for opening and, except for delay due to mishandling on the part of the Government at the installation, would have been received on time at the office designated: Provided, however: A modification received from an otherwise successful bidder which is favorable to the Government and which would not be prejudicial to other bidders shall be considered at any time that such modification is received.

(b) Upon receipt of any late modification or late withdrawal which is received before award, but which, on the basis of available information, cannot be considered effective under paragraph (a) of this section, the contracting officer or his duly authorized representative shall promptly notify the bidder that his modification or request for withdrawal was received late. Such notification shall include substantially the following information:

The (modification) (request for withdrawal) of your bid dated ----------, in response to Invitation for Bids No. -------, dated ----------, was received after the time for opening specified in the Invitation. Accordingly, your (modification) (request for withdrawal) will not be considered effective unless clear and convincing evidence is submitted promptly (and in any event before award) showing that late receipt was due solely to delay in the mails for which you were not responsible.

The foregoing notification shall be appropriately modified in the case of late modifications or late withdrawals received by telegraph.

(c) Late modifications or late withdrawals, which are not considered as being effective, shall be held unopened until after award and then returned to the bidder, unless other disposition is requested or agreed to by the bidder, except that:

(1) An unidentified modification or request for withdrawal may be opened solely for purposes of identification, as provided in § 2.401; and

(2) Any modification received from an otherwise successful bidder shall be opened, so as to determine whether it should be considered as stated in the proviso in paragraph (a) of this section.

(d) Records of late modifications and late withdrawals shall be maintained in accordance with the record requirements for late bids set forth in § 2.303–8.

Subpart D—Opening of Bids and Award of Contract

§ 2.401 Receipt and safeguarding of bids.

(a) All bids (including modifications) received prior to the time of opening shall be kept secure, and, except as provided in paragraph (b) of this section, unopened, in a locked bid box or safe. If an invitation for bids is canceled, or if a bidder effectively withdraws his bid in accordance with § 2.304, bids shall be returned to the bidders. Necessary precautions shall be taken to insure the security of the bid box or safe. Prior to bid opening, information concerning the identity and number of bids received shall be made available only to Government employees, and then only on a "need to know" basis. When bid samples are submitted, they shall be handled with sufficient care to prevent disclosure of characteristics before bid opening.

(b) Unidentified bids may be opened solely for the purpose of identification, and then only by an official specifically designated for this purpose by the head of the purchasing activity. If a sealed bid is opened by mistake, the person who opens the bid will immediately write his signature and position on the envelope and deliver it to the aforesaid official. This official shall immediately write on the envelope an explanation of the opening, the date and time opened, the invitation for bids number, and his signature, and shall then immediately reseal the envelope.

§ 2.402 Opening of bids.

§ 2.402–1 Unclassified bids.

(a) The official designated as the bid opening officer shall decide when the time set for bid opening has arrived, and shall so declare to those present. He shall then personally and publicly open all bids received prior to that time, and when practicable read them aloud to the persons present, and have the bids recorded. The original of each bid shall be carefully safeguarded until the abstract of bids required by § 2.403 has been made and its accuracy verified.

(b) Performance of the procedure in paragraph (a) of this section may be delegated to an assistant, but the bid opening officer remains fully responsible for the actions of such assistant.

(c) Examinations of bids by interested persons shall be permitted if it does not interfere unduly with the conduct of Government business. However, original bids shall not be allowed to pass out of the hands of a Government official unless a duplicate bid is not available for public inspection. In such case, the original bid may be examined by the public only under the immediate supervision of a Government official and under conditions which preclude possibility of a substitution, addition, deletion, or alteration in the bid. However, see § 2.404–4 with respect to public disclosure of descriptive literature or material submitted by a bidder on a restrictive basis.

§ 2.402–2 Classified bids.

The opening of classified bids shall not be accessible to the general public. Such opening may be witnessed and the results recorded by those bidder representatives (a) who have been previously cleared from a security standpoint and (b) who represent bidders which were invited to bid on the procurement. Bids shall be made available only to those persons authorized to attend the opening of bids. The procedures set forth in § 2.402–1 for safeguarding unclassified bids are also applicable to classified bids. No public record shall be made of bids or bid prices received on classified invitations for bids.

§ 2.403 Recording of bids.

The invitation number, bid opening date, general description of the procurement item, names of bidders, prices bid, and any other information required for bid evaluation, shall be entered in an abstract or record which, except in the case of a classified procurement, shall be available for public inspection. When the items are too numerous to warrant the recording of all bids completely, an entry should be made of the opening date, invitation number, general description of the material, lot number, and the price bid. The record or abstract shall be completed as soon as practicable after the bids have been opened, and, as soon as all bids have been opened and read, the bid opening officer shall so certify in the record or abstract. If the invitation for bids is canceled before the time set for bid opening, this shall be recorded, together with a statement of the number of bids invited and the number of bids received.

§ 2.404 Rejection of bids.

§ 2.404–1 Cancellation of invitation after opening.

(a) The preservation of the integrity of the competitive bid system dictates that after bids have been opened, award must be made to that responsible bidder who submitted the lowest responsible bid, unless there is a compelling reason to reject all bids and cancel the invitation. Every effort shall be made to anticipate changes in a requirement prior to the date of opening and to notify all prospective bidders of any resulting modification or cancellation, thereby permitting bidders to change their bids and preventing the unnecessary exposure of bid prices. As a general rule, after opening, an invitation for bids should not be canceled and readvertised due solely to increased requirements for the items being procured; award should be made on the initial invitation for bids and the additional quantity required should be treated as a new procurement.

(b) Where it is determined prior to award but after opening that the requirements of § 1.1203 of this subchapter (relating to the availability and identification of specifications) have not been met, the invitation for bids shall be canceled. Invitations for bids may be canceled after opening but prior to award where such action is consistent with paragraph (a) of this section, and the contracting officer determines in writing that:

(1) Inadequate or ambiguous specifications were cited in the invitation;

(2) Specifications have been revised;

(3) The supplies or services being procured are no longer required;

(4) The invitation did not provide for consideration of all factors of cost to the Government, such as cost of transporting Government-furnished property to bidders' plants;

(5) Bids received indicate that the needs of the Government can be satisfied by a less expensive article differing from that on which the bids were invited;

(6) All otherwise acceptable bids received are at unreasonable prices;

(7) The bids were not independently arrived at in open competition, were collusive, or were submitted in bad faith (see § 1.111 of this subchapter for reports to be made to Department of Justice); or

(8) For other reasons, cancellation is clearly in the best interest of the Government.

Determinations to cancel invitations for bids shall state the reasons therefor.

(c) Should administrative difficulties be encountered after bid opening which may delay award beyond bidders' acceptance periods, the several lowest bidders should be requested, before expiration of their bids, to extend the bid acceptance period (with consent of sureties if any) in order to avoid the need for readvertisement.

§ 2.404–2 Rejection of individual bids.

(a) Any bid which fails to conform to the essential requirements of the invitation for bids shall be rejected.

(b) Any bid which does not conform to the specifications contained or referenced in the invitation for bids shall be rejected unless the invitation authorized the submission of alternate bids and the supplies offered as alternates meet the requirements specified in the invitation.

(c) Any bid which fails to conform to the delivery schedule or permissible alternates thereto stated in the invitation for bids shall be rejected as nonresponsive.

(d) Ordinarily, a bid should be rejected where the bidder attempts to impose conditions which would modify requirements of the invitation for bids or limit his liability to the Government, since to allow the bidder to impose such conditions would be prejudicial to other bidders. For example, bids shall be rejected in which the bidder:

(1) Attempts to protect himself against future changes in conditions, such as increased costs, if total possible costs to the Government cannot be determined.

(2) Fails to state a price and in lieu thereof states that price shall be "price in effect at time of delivery";

(3) States a price but qualifies such price as being subject to "price in effect at time of delivery";

(4) Where not authorized by the invitation, conditions or qualifies his bid by stipulating that his bid is to be considered only if, prior to date of award, bidder receives (or does not receive) award under a separate procurement;

(5) Requires that Government is to determine that bidder's product meets Government specification; or

(6) Limits rights of Government under any contract clause.

A low bidder may be requested to delete objectionable conditions from his bid provided these conditions do not go to the substance, as distinguished from the form, of the bid, or work an injustice on other bidders. A condition goes to the substance of a bid where it affects price, quantity, quality, or delivery of the items offered.

(e) Any bid may be rejected if the contracting officer determines in writing that it is unreasonable as to price.

(f) Bids received from any person or concern whose name is included in the current "Joint Consolidated List of Debarred, Ineligible, and Suspended Contractors" shall be rejected if required by Subpart F, Part 1 of this subchapter.

(g) Low bids received from concerns determined to be not responsible, pursuant to § 1.904 of this subchapter, shall be rejected. (But see § 1.705–6 of this subchapter if the bidder is a small business concern.)

(h) Where a bid guarantee is required and a bidder fails to furnish it in accordance with the requirements of the invitation for bids, the bid shall be rejected unless failure of the bid guarantee to arrive on time was due solely to a delay in the mails for which the bidder was not responsible.

(i) The originals of all rejected bids, and any written findings with respect to such rejection, shall be preserved with the papers relating to the procurement.

§ 2.404–3 Notice to bidders of rejection of all bids.

When he determines to reject all bids, the contracting officer shall notify each bidder that all bids have been rejected, stating the reason for such action.

§ 2.404–4 Restrictions on disclosure of descriptive literature.

(a) When a bid is accompanied by descriptive literature (as defined in § 2.202–5(a)), and the bidder imposes a restriction that such literature may not be publicly disclosed, such restriction renders the bid nonresponsive if it prohibits the disclosure of sufficient information to permit competing bidders to know the essential nature and type of the products offered or those elements of the bid which relate to quantity, price and delivery terms. The provisions of this paragraph do not apply to unsolicited descriptive literature submitted by a bidder if such literature does not qualify the bid (see § 2.202–5(f)).

(b) Descriptive literature restricted by a bidder against public disclosure shall not be disclosed in a manner which would contravene the restriction without permission of the bidder.

§ 2.404–5 All or none qualifications.

Unless the invitation for bids so provides, a bid is not rendered nonresponsive by the fact that the bidder specifies that award will be accepted only on all, or a specified group, of the items included in the invitation for bids. However, bidders shall not be permitted to withdraw or modify "all or none" qualifications after bid opening since such qualification is substantive and affects the rights of other bidders.

§ 2.405 Minor informalities or irregularities in bids.

A minor informality or irregularity is one which is merely a matter of form or is some immaterial variation from the exact requirements of the invitation for bids, not affecting the price, quality, quantity, or delivery of the supplies or performance of the services being procured, and the correction or waiver of which would not be prejudicial to other bidders. The contracting officer shall either give to the bidder an opportunity to cure any deficiency resulting from a minor informality or irregularity in a bid, or, waive any such deficiency where it is to the advantage of the Government. Examples of minor informalities or irregularities include:

(a) Failure of the bidder to return the number of copies of signed bids required by the invitation;

(b) Failure to furnish required information concerning the number of the bidders' employees;

(c) Failure of a bidder to sign his bid, but only if:

(1) The firm submitting the bid has formally adopted or authorized the execution of documents by typewritten, printed, or rubber stamped signature and submits evidence of such authorization and the bid carries such a signature, or

(2) The unsigned bid is accompanied by other material indicating the bidder's intention to be bound by the unsigned bid document such as the submission of a bid guarantee with bid, or a letter signed by the bidder with the bid referring to and clearly identifying the bid itself; and

(d) Failure of a bidder to acknowledge receipt of an amendment to an invitation for bids but only if:

(1) The bid received clearly indicates that the bidder received the amendment, such as where the amendment added another item to the invitation for bid and the bidder submitted a bid thereon, or

(2) The amendment clearly would have no effect on price, quality, quantity, or delivery, such as an amendment correcting a typographical mistake in the name of the Government purchasing activity.

§ 2.406 Mistakes in bids.

§ 2.406–1 General.

After the opening of bids, contracting officers shall examine all bids for mistakes. In cases of apparent mistakes, and in cases where the contracting officer has reason to believe that a mistake may have been made, he shall request from the bidder a verification of the bid, calling attention to the suspected mistake. If the bidder alleges a mistake, the matter shall be processed in the manner set forth below. Such actions shall be taken prior to award.

§ 2.406–2 Apparent clerical mistakes.

Any clerical mistake apparent on the face of a bid may be corrected by the contracting officer prior to award, if the contracting officer has first obtained from the bidder verification of the bid actually intended. Examples of such apparent mistakes are: obvious error in placing decimal point; obvious discount errors (for example—1 percent 10 days, 2 percent 20 days, 5 percent 30 days); obvious reversal of the price f.o.b. destination and the price f.o.b. factory; obvious error in designation of unit. Correction shall be reflected in the award document.

§ 2.406–3 Other mistakes.

(a) The Departments are authorized to make the following administrative determinations in connection with mistakes in bids, other than apparent clerical mistakes, alleged after opening of bids and prior to award.

(1) Where the bidder requests permission to withdraw a bid and clear and convincing evidence establishes the existence of a mistake, a determination permitting the bidder to withdraw his bid may be made.

(2) However, if the evidence is clear and convincing both as to the existence of the mistake and as to the bid actually intended, and if the bid, both as uncorrected and as corrected, is the lowest received, a determination may be made to correct the bid and not permit its withdrawal.

(3) Where the bidder requests permission to correct a mistake in his bid and clear and convincing evidence establishes both the existence of a mistake and the bid actually intended, a determination permitting the bidder to correct the mistake may be made; provided that, in the event such correction would result in displacing one or more lower bids, the determination shall not be made unless the existence of the mistake and the bid actually intended are ascertainable substantially from the invitation and the bid itself. If the evidence is clear and convincing only as to the mistake, but not as to the intended bid, a determination permitting the bidder to withdraw his bid may be made.

(4) Where the evidence is not clear and convincing that the bid as submitted was not the bid intended, a determination may be made requiring that the bid be considered for award in the form submitted.

(b) Authority for making the determinations described in paragraph (a)(1) of this section may be delegated, without power of redelegation, to any purchasing activity having legal counsel available. Authority for making the determinations described in paragraph (a)(2), (3) and (4) of this section may be delegated, without power of redelegation as set forth below:

(1) Department of the Army: To the Chief, Contracts Branch, Deputy Chief of Staff for Logistics; Chief of Engineers; Chief of Ordnance; The Quartermaster General.

(2) Department of the Navy: To the Director, Contracts Division, Bureau of Yards and Docks; the Assistant Chief for Purchasing, Bureau of Supplies and Accounts.

(3) Department of the Air Force: To the Staff Judge Advocate, Headquarters, Air Materiel Command.

(c) Each proposed determination shall have the concurrence of legal counsel within the Department concerned prior to issuance.

(d) To support correction of an allegedly erroneous bid subsequent to opening, the records submitted by the contracting officer in accordance with Departmental procedures shall contain the best available evidence conclusively establishing not only the existence of the error, but its nature, how it occurred, and what the bidder actually intended to bid. A mere statement that the administrative officials themselves are satisfied that an error was made is insufficient.

(e) In order to assure compliance with paragraph (d) of this section, suspected or alleged mistakes in bids will be processed as follows:

(1) In the case of any suspected mistake in bid, the contracting officer will immediately contact the bidder in question calling attention to the suspected mistake, and request verification of his bid. If the bid is verified, the contracting officer will consider the bid as originally submitted. If the time for acceptance of bids is likely to expire before a decision can be made, the contracting officer shall request all bidders whose bids may become eligible for award to extend the time for acceptance of their bids. If the bidder whose bid is believed erroneous does not grant such extension of time, the bid shall be considered as originally submitted. If a bidder alleges a mistake, the contracting officer will advise the bidder to make a written request indicating his desire to withdraw or modify the bid. The request must be supported by statements (sworn statements if possible) concerning the alleged mistake and shall include all pertinent evidence such as bidder's file copy of the bid, the original work sheets and other data used in preparing the bid, subcontractors' quotations, if any, published price lists, and any other evidence which conclusively establishes the existence of the error, the manner in which it occurred, and the bid actually intended.

(2) Where the bidder fails or refuses to furnish evidence in support of a suspected or alleged mistake, the contracting officer shall consider the bid as submitted unless the amount of the bid is so far out of line with the amounts of other bids received or with the amount estimated by the agency or determined by the contracting officer to be reasonable, or there are other indications of error so clear, as reasonably to justify the conclusion that acceptance of the bid would be unfair to the bidder or to other bona fide bidders. The attempts made to obtain the information required and the action taken with respect to the bid shall be fully documented.

(3) Where the bidder furnishes evidence in support of an alleged mistake, the contracting officer shall refer the case to the appropriate authority, together with the following data:

(i) A signed copy of the bid involved;

(ii) A copy of the invitation for bids and any specifications or drawings relevant to the alleged mistake;

(iii) An abstract or record of the bids received;

(iv) A written request by the bidder to withdraw, or modify the bid, together with the bidder's written statement and supporting evidence (such as work sheets, or other data used in preparing the bid) of the existence of the mistake and manner in which it occurred, and supporting evidence of the bid actually intended;

(v) A written statement by the contracting officer setting forth (a) a description of the supplies or services involved, (b) the expiration date of the bid in question and of the other bids submitted, (c) specific information as to how and when the mistake was alleged, (d) a summary of the evidence submitted by the bidder, (e) in the event only one bid was received, a quotation of the most recent contract price for the supplies involved, or, in the absence of a recent contract for the item, the contracting officer's estimate of a fair price for the item, and (f) any additional evidence considered pertinent. The statement shall recommend that either the bid be considered for award in the form submitted, or the bidder be authorized to withdraw the bid, or the bidder be authorized to modify the bid.

When time is of the essence because of the expiration of bids or otherwise, the contracting officer may refer the case by telegraph or telephone to the designated authority. Ordinarily, contracting officers will not refer mistake in bid cases by telegraph or telephone to the designated authority, when the determinations set forth in paragraph (a) (2) and (3) of this section are applicable, since actual examination is generally necessary to determine whether the evidence presented is clear and convincing.

(f) Nothing contained in this section prevents a Department from submitting doubtful cases to the Comptroller General for advance decision.

(g) A signed copy of the administrative determination authorizing withdrawal or modification of the bid made in accordance with paragraph (a) of this section shall accompany the General Accounting Office copy of the contract awarded. Each Department shall maintain records of all administrative determinations made in accordance with paragraph (a) of this section, together with a complete statement of the facts involved and the action taken in each case. Copies of all administrative determinations will be included in the contract file.

§ 2.406–4 Disclosure of mistake after award.

When a mistake in a contractor's bid is not discovered until after award, the mistake may be corrected by supplemental agreement if correcting the mistake would make the contract more favorable to the Government without changing the essential requirements of the specifications. In all other cases, where other authority within the Department concerned is lacking or inadequate, the case shall be processed in accordance with Part 17 of this subchapter or, where that part is inadequate, in accordance with Departmental procedures.

§ 2.407 Award.

§ 2.407–1 General.

Unless all bids are rejected, award shall be made by the contracting officer, within the time for acceptance specified in the bid or extension thereof, to that responsible bidder whose bid, conforming to the invitation for bids, will be most advantageous to the Government, price and other factors considered. If a proposed award requires approval of higher authority, such award shall not be made until approval has been obtained. Awards shall be made by mailing or otherwise furnishing to the bidder a properly executed award document (see Subpart A, Part 16 of this subchapter) or notice of award on such form as may be prescribed by the procuring activity. When a notice of award is issued, it shall be followed as soon as possible by the formal award. When more than one award results from any single invitation for bids, separate award documents shall be executed, each suitably numbered. When an award is made to a bidder for less than all the items which may be awarded to that bidder and additional items are being withheld for subsequent award, the first award to that bidder shall state that the Government may make subsequent awards on such additional items within the bidder's bid acceptance period. When two or more awards are made to a single bidder on an invitation, the copy of the successful bid marked "original" will be attached to the General Accounting Office copy and a copy marked "duplicate" will be attached to the retained office copy of the first award issued, and succeeding awards will be inscribed to indicate the number of the award to which the original and duplicate bids are attached. This is necessary for legal review and auditing in the General Accounting Office. All provisions of the invitation for bids, including any acceptable additions or changes made by a bidder in the bid, shall be clearly and accurately set forth (either expressly or by reference) in the award document, since the award is an acceptance of the bid, and the bid and the award constitute the contract.

§ 2.407–2 Responsible bidder.

Before awarding the contract, the contracting officer shall determine that a prospective contractor is responsible (see Subpart I, Part 1 of this subchapter).

§ 2.407–3 Discounts.

(a) Prior to issuing an invitation for bids (except for construction), a determination shall be made as to what minimum period for prompt payment discounts will be considered in the evaluation of bids, and such minimum periods shall be stated in the invitation for bids. In determining the minimum period for a particular procurement, consideration shall be given to:

(1) The place of delivery, inspection, and acceptance in relation to the place of payment of invoices or vouchers;

(2) The number of days required to process invoices or vouchers from receipt through payment in the normal course of business; and

(3) The need for prolonged acceptance testing or other unusual circumstances tending to retard the normal processing of invoices or vouchers.

Generally, the minimum period will be expressed in multiples of ten days; e.g., "ten calendar days," "twenty calendar days," or "thirty calendar days," since these time intervals coincide with the discount terms generally offered by industry.

(b) In determining which of several bids received is the lowest, any discount offered shall be deducted from the bid price on the assumption that the discount will be taken, unless the discount offered is for a lesser period than the minimum number of days specified in the invitation for bids (see paragraph (a) of this section). Where bids otherwise equal offer the same discount rate, the bid offering the longer discount period shall be considered as being the most advantageous to the Government. If a bid offers a prompt payment discount, but fails to specify the period in which the discount may be taken, the discount may be considered since award to the bidder gives the Government the right to deduct the discount from any payments made with reasonable promptness.

(c) If a bid offers a prompt discount for a period less than that specified in the schedule, the discount shall not be considered in the evaluation of bids. If a bid would have been the lowest bid received if the discount offered were considered, but award is not made thereon because the offered discount cannot be considered, a notation to that effect shall be made upon the abstract or record of bids and on Standard Form 1036 (Statement and Certificate of Award) (see § 2.407–7).

(d) In any case, the offered discount of the successful bidder shall form a part of the award, whether or not such discount was considered in the evaluation of his bid, and such discount shall be taken if payment is made within the discount period.

§ 2.407–4 Price escalation.

(a) Where an invitation for bids does not contain a price escalation clause, bids received which quote a price and contain a price escalation provision, with a ceiling (usually expressed in terms of a maximum percentage increase) above which the price will not escalate, will be evaluated on the maximum possible escalation of the quoted base price. Bids which contain escalation with no ceiling shall be rejected unless a clear basis for evaluation exists.

(b) Where an invitation for bids contains a price escalation clause and no bidder takes exception to the escalation provisions, bids shall be evaluated on the basis of the quoted prices without the allowable escalation being added. Where a bidder increases the maximum percentage of escalation stipulated in the invitation for bids or limits the downward escalation provisions of the invitation, the bid will be rejected as nonresponsive. Where a bidder deletes the escalation clause from his bid, the bid will be rejected as nonresponsive since the downward escalation provisions are thereby limited. Where a bidder decreases the maximum percentage of escalation stipulated in the invitation for bids, the bid shall be evaluated at the base price on an equal basis with bids that do not reduce the stipulated ceiling. However, if after evaluation, the bidder offering the lower ceiling is in a position to receive the award, the award shall reflect the lower ceiling.

§ 2.407–5 Other factors to be considered.

The factors set forth in paragraphs (a) through (f) of this section, among others, may be considered in evaluating bids.

(a) Foreseeable costs or delays to the Government resulting from differences in inspection, location of supplies, transportation, etc. If pursuant to Subpart M, Part 1 of this subchapter, bids are on an f.o.b. origin basis, transportation costs to the designated destination points shall be considered in determining the lowest cost to the Government.

(b) Changes made or requested in any of the provisions of the solicitation to the extent that any such change does not constitute ground for rejection of the bid under the provisions of § 2.404 of this subpart.

(c) Advantages or disadvantages to the Government that might result from making multiple awards.

(d) Qualified products (see Subpart K, Part 1 of this subchapter).

(e) Local, State, and Federal taxes (see Part 11 of this subchapter).

(f) Origin of supplies, whether domestic or foreign, and if foreign, the application of the Buy American Act or any other prohibition on foreign purchases (see Part 6 of this subchapter).

§ 2.407–6 Equal low bids.

(a) Except as provided in subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph, when two or more low bids are equal in all respects, all factors considered, award shall be made by a drawing by lot which shall be witnessed by at least three persons and which may be attended by the bidders or their representatives.

(1) Where two or more equal low bids are received from labor surplus area concerns, or small business concerns, award shall be made in accordance with the priorities set forth in § 1.802 of this subchapter.

(2) In the case of equal low bids two or more of which have been submitted by concerns of the same priority as set forth in § 1.802 of this subchapter, award shall be made by a drawing by lot limited to such concerns.

(b) When award is to be made by drawing by lot and the information available shows that the product of a particular manufacturer has been offered by more than one bidder, a preliminary drawing by lot shall be made to ascertain which of the bidders offering the product of a particular manufacturer will be included in the final drawing to determine the award.

(c) When an award is determined by drawing by lot, the names and addresses of the three witnesses and the person supervising the drawing shall be placed on all copies of the abstract of bids or otherwise recorded.

§ 2.407–7 Statement and certificate of award.

In connection with each contract made by formal advertising, the contracting officer shall prepare and execute a statement and certificate of award on Standard Form 1036, in accordance with § 16.801 of this subchapter. Such certificate shall either state that the accepted bid was the lowest bid received, or list all lower bids and set forth reasons for their rejection. These reasons shall be set forth in such detail as is necessary to justify the award. For the purpose of this certificate, the lowest bid received is considered to be that bid which is lowest after a consideration of price factors only. The cost of transportation to the destination indicated in the invitation for bids, and any acceptable discount offered by a bidder, and if the invitation so specifies, any other Government cost factors, shall be considered price factors in determining the lowest bidder for purposes of this certificate. It is unnecessary to evaluate nonresponsive bids. In each case of equal low bids where an award is made pursuant to § 2.407–6(a) of this subpart, such certificate shall briefly recite the circumstances under which award was made. Where such award is to a small business or a labor surplus area concern the certificate shall state that it has been administratively determined that the award will further the Congressional policy with respect to small business expressed in 10 U.S.C. 2301 or will further the policy with respect to labor surplus areas, or both, as the case may be. Where an award involves a mistake in bid and the matter has been resolved by administrative action, the Standard Form 1036 will be accompanied by (a) a copy of the bidder's verification in the case of an apparent or obvious mistake or (b) the written administrative determination concerning a mistake of the type described in § 2.406–3 of this subpart. Where an award involves a mistake in bid on which the Comptroller General has rendered a decision, the certificate will contain a citation by number and date of the decision or will have a copy attached.

§ 2.407–8 Purchase of patented items when a patent indemnity clause is to be included in the contract.

When a patent indemnity clause is to be included in a contract, in accordance with the provisions of § 9.103 of this chapter, award of the contract shall not be refused to the low bidder merely because he is not the owner of or a licensee under any of the patent rights which may be involved. (See Decision B–136916, dated October 6, 1958, of the Comptroller General.) See § 10.106 of this chapter for policy concerning requirement for patent infringement bond.

§ 2.407–9 Protests against award.

(a) General. Contracting officers shall consider all protests or objections to the award of a contract, whether submitted before or after award. If the protest is oral and the matter cannot otherwise be resolved, written confirmation of the protest shall be requested. The protester shall be notified in writing of the final decision on the written protest.

(b) Protests before award. If award has not been made, the contracting officer may require that written confirmation of an oral protest be submitted by a specified time and inform the protester that award will be withheld until the specified time. If the written protest is not received by the time specified, the oral protest may be disregarded and award may be made in the normal manner unless the contracting officer, upon investigation finds that remedial action is required, in which event such action shall be taken.

(1) In appropriate cases, notice of protest will be given to bidders affected thereby. For example, when a protest against the making of an award is received and the contracting officer determines to withhold the award pending disposition of the protest, the bidders whose bids might become eligible for award should be informed of the protest and requested, before expiration of the time for acceptance of their bids, to extend the time for acceptance (with consent of sureties, if any) in order to avoid the need for readvertisement. In the event of failure to obtain such extension of bids, then consideration should be given to proceeding with award under subparagraph (3) of this paragraph.

(2) Where a protest has been lodged with the procuring agency, the views of the Office of the Comptroller General regarding the protest should be obtained before award whenever such action is considered to be desirable. Where it is known that a protest against the making of an award has been lodged directly with the Comptroller General, a determination to make award under subparagraph (3) of this paragraph must be approved at an appropriate level above that of the contracting officer, in accordance with Departmental procedures. While award need not be withheld pending final disposition by the Comptroller General of a protest, a notice of intent to make award in such circumstances shall be furnished the Comptroller General, and formal or informal advice should be obtained concerning the current status of the case prior to making the award.

(3) Where a written protest against the making of an award is received, award shall not be made until the matter is resolved unless the contracting officer determines that:

(i) The items to be procured are urgently required; or

(ii) Delivery or performance will be unduly delayed by the failure to make award promptly; or

(iii) A prompt award will otherwise be advantageous to the Government.

If award is made under subdivision (i), (ii) or (iii) of this subparagraph, the contracting officer shall document the file to explain the need for an immediate award, and shall give written notice of the decision to proceed with the award to the protester and, as appropriate, to others concerned.

(c) Protests after award. A protest received after award shall be handled in accordance with Departmental procedures.

§ 2.408 Information to bidders.

§ 2.408–1 Unclassified awards.

In the case of all unclassified formally advertised contracts, the purchasing office shall as a minimum (subject to any restrictions in Subpart F, Part 1 of this subchapter) (a) notify unsuccessful bidders promptly of the fact that their bids were not accepted, and (b) extend the appreciation of the purchasing office for the interest the unsuccessful bidder has shown in submitting a bid. Notification to unsuccessful bidders may be either orally or in writing through the use of a form postal card or other appropriate means. Should additional information be requested, the purchasing office shall either provide the unsuccessful bidders with the name and address of the successful bidder, together with the contract price, or when workload does not permit, inform the inquirers as to the location where a copy of the abstract of bids is available for inspection. In addition, when an inquiry is made by an unsuccessful bidder who is lower in price than the successful bidder, sufficient information shall be furnished in the reply to the unsuccessful bidder to fully explain the basis for award. Where request is received concerning an unclassified invitation for bids from an inquirer who is neither a bidder nor the representative of a bidder, the purchasing office may furnish the names of successful bidders and, if requested, the prices at which awards were made. However, where such requests require so large amount of work as to interfere with the normal operations of the purchasing office, the inquirer will be advised where a copy of the abstract of bids may be seen.

§ 2.408–2 Classified awards.

In the case of all classified formally advertised contracts, the purchasing office shall (a) notify unsuccessful bidders promptly of the fact that their bids were not accepted, and (b) extend the appreciation of the purchasing office for the interest the unsuccessful bidder has shown in submitting a bid. Information with respect to the name of the successful bidder and the contract price will be furnished only to unsuccessful bidders or their properly cleared representatives and then only upon request. No information regarding a classified award may be furnished by telephone.

§ 2.409 Synopsis of contract awards.

See § 1.1004 of this subchapter.

Subpart E—Two-Step Formal Advertising

§ 2.501 General.

Two-step formal advertising is a method of procurement conducted in two phases. The first step consists of the request, submission, evaluation, and, if necessary, discussion of a technical proposal, without pricing, to determine the acceptability of the supplies or services offered. The second step consists of a formally advertised procurement, confined to those offerors who submitted an acceptable technical proposal in step one. This method of procurement requires that the contracting officer work closely with technical personnel and rely on their specialized knowledge in determining the technical requirements of the procurement and the criteria to be used in evaluating technical proposals, and in making such evaluation. An objective of the two-step procedure is to permit the development of a sufficiently descriptive statement of the Government's requirement so that subsequent procurements may be made by straight formal advertising.

§ 2.502 Conditions for use.

The two-step formal advertising method of procurement may be used when its use has been approved at a level higher than the contracting officer and when all of the following conditions are present:

(a) Available specifications or purchase descriptions are not sufficiently definite or complete to permit full and free competition without engineering evaluation and any necessary discussion of the technical aspects of the requirement to insure mutual understanding between each source and the Government;

(b) Definite criteria exist for evaluating technical proposals, such as (1) applicable design and performance requirements, (2) special requirements for operational suitability and ease of maintenance, (3) necessary background experience in development and production engineering in the general scientific and engineering areas involved, and (4) need for special skills or facilities;

(c) More than one technically qualified source is expected to be available both initially and after technical evaluation; and

(d) A firm fixed-price contract or a fixed-price contract with escalation will be used.

§ 2.503 Procedures.

§ 2.503–1 Step one.

(a) Requests for technical proposals. A request for technical proposals shall be distributed to qualified sources in accordance with § 1.302–2 of this chapter. In addition, the request shall be synopsized in accordance with Subpart J, Part 1 of this chapter. The request may be in the form of a letter and shall contain, as a minimum, the following information:

(1) The best practicable description of the supplies or services required;

(2) Notification of the intent to conduct the procurement in two steps and the actions involved;

(3) The requirements of the technical proposal, i.e., the necessary details such as drawings, data, presentations, etc., to be submitted;

(4) The criteria for evaluating the technical proposal (§ 2.502(b));

(5) A statement that the technical proposals shall not include prices or pricing information;

(6) The date by which the proposal must be received and a statement substantially as follows:

Late Technical Proposals. The Government reserves the right to consider technical proposals or modifications thereof received after the date specified for receipt.

(7) A statement that the Government may discuss the technical aspects of the proposal with the concern submitting the proposal;

(8) A statement that in the second step of the procurement only bids based upon technical proposals determined to be acceptable, either initially or as a result of discussions, will be considered for award; and

(9) A statement that sources submitting unacceptable technical proposals will be so notified upon completion of the technical evaluation.

(b) Receipt and evaluation of technical proposals. The following actions will be taken with respect to receipt and evaluation of technical proposals:

(1) Every precaution shall be taken to safeguard technical proposals against disclosure to unauthorized persons.

(2) Technical proposals submitting date marked in accordance with § 3.100 of this chapter will be accepted and handled in accordance with § 3.109(a) of this chapter.

(3) Any references to price or cost will be removed.

(4) Technical evaluation of the proposals will be based upon the criteria contained in the request for technical proposals.

(5) Technical proposals will be categorized as acceptable or unacceptable. Proposals should not be categorized as unacceptable when a reasonable effort on the part of the Government could bring the proposals to an acceptable status and increase competition. The contracting officer shall arrange for any necessary discussions with sources submitting technical proposals for the purpose of obtaining additional information or clarification which may be required. When, after discussion and submission of necessary information and clarification, technical proposals are determined to be acceptable, they will be so categorized. If, however, it is determined at any time that a technical proposal is not reasonably susceptible to being made acceptable, it should be classified as unacceptable and no discussions of it need thereafter be initiated.

(6) Upon final determination that a technical proposal is unacceptable, the contracting officer shall notify the source submitting the proposal of that fact. Upon request, the source will be given the reasons why his technical proposal is not acceptable, including a statement of whether rejection was based on failure to furnish sufficient information or on an unacceptable engineering approach.

(c) Discontinuance. If, as a result of the evaluation of technical proposals, it appears necessary to discontinue the two-step advertising method of procurement, the full facts and circumstances will be set forth in writing and submitted to the office which originally approved the method of procurement. If that office approves the discontinuance, each source will be notified in writing of the discontinuance and the reasons therefor.

§ 2.503–2 Step two.

Upon completion of Step One, a formally advertised procurement in accordance with Subparts B, C, and D of this part will be conducted, except that invitations for bids:

(a) Will be issued only to those sources whose technical proposals have been evaluated and determined to be acceptable under Step One;

UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN LIBRARIES

(b) Will include the following statement:

This invitation for bids is issued pursuant to two-step formal advertising in Part 5 of Section II of the Armed Services Procurement Regulation. Bids will be accepted and considered only from those firms who have submitted acceptable technical proposals pursuant to the first step of such procedures, as initiated by _____. (Identify the Request for Technical Proposals) (Jul. 1960)

(c) Will prominently state that the supplies or services to be procured will be in accordance with the specifications and the bidder's technical proposal, as finally accepted, under the request for technical proposals. This may be accomplished in the Schedule item description by a provisions substantially in the form of the following example:

Radio Antenna, in accordance with Exhibit No. ____ dated _____ (use other description of specifications as appropriate) and your Technical Proposal _____, (insert specific identification of the bidder's proposal including any revision thereof as finally accepted) incorporated herein by reference. Nothing contained in said Technical Proposal shall constitute a waiver of any of the provisions of said Exhibit (or specifications).

(d) Will not be synopsized (see Subpart J, Part 1 of this chapter) or publicly posted (see § 2.203-2).

PART 3—PROCUREMENT BY NEGOTIATION

AUTHORITY: §§ 3.000 to 3.904 issued under R. S. 161, sec. 2202, 70A Stat. 120; 5 U. S. C. 22, 10 U. S. C. 2202. Interpret or apply secs. 2301-2314, 70A Stat. 127-133; 10 U. S. C. 2301-2314.

§ 3.000 Scope of part.

This part sets forth, on the basis of the provisions of and authority contained in the Armed Services Procurement Act, (a) the basic requirements for the procurement of supplies and services by means of negotiation, (b) the different circumstances under which negotiation is permitted, (c) determinations and findings that may be required before a contract is entered into by negotiation, (d) approved types of negotiated contracts and their use, (e) the authority for making advance payments under negotiated contracts, (f) procedures for effecting purchases of not more than $2,500, (g) procedures for negotiating overhead rates, and (h) price negotiation policies and techniques.

Subpart A—Use of Negotiation

§ 3.100 Scope of subpart.

This subpart deals with the nature and use of negotiation as distinguished from formal advertising, and with limitations upon that use.

§ 3.101 Negotiation as distinguished from formal advertising.

Whenever supplies or services are to be procured by negotiation, price quotations (Part 16, Subpart B), supported by statements and analyses of estimated costs or other evidence of reasonable prices and other vital matters deemed necessary by the contracting officer, shall be solicited from all such qualified sources of supplies or services as are deemed necessary by the contracting officer to assure full and free competition consistent with the procurement of the required supplies or services, in accordance with the basic policies set forth in Subpart C of Part 1, to the end that the procurement will be made to the best advantage of the Government, price and other factors considered. Negotiation shall thereupon be conducted, by contracting officers and their negotiators, with due attention being given to the following and any other appropriate factors:

(a) Comparison of prices quoted, and consideration of other prices for the same or similar supplies or services, with due regard to production costs, including extra-pay shift, multishift and overtime costs, and any other factor relating to price, such as profits, cost of transportation, and cash discounts;

(b) Comparison of the business reputations, capabilities, and responsibilities of the respective persons or firms who submit quotations. (See § 1.903);

(c) Consideration of the quality of the supplies or services offered, or of the same or similar supplies or services previously furnished, with due regard to the satisfaction of technical requirements;

(d) Consideration of delivery requirements (see Subpart M, Part 1 and § 1.305 of this chapter).

(e) Discriminating use of price and cost analyses (see § 16.206 of this subchapter);

(f) Investigation of price aspects of any important subcontract;

(g) Individual bargaining, by mail or by conference;

(h) Consideration of cost sharing;

(i) Effective utilization in general of the most desirable type of contract, and in particular of contract provisions relating to price redetermination (see Subpart D of this part);

(j) Consideration of the size of the business concern (see Part 1, Subpart G);

(k) Consideration as to whether the prospective supplier is a Planned Emergency Producer of the required supplies or services under the Industrial Readiness Planning Program and consideration of the extent to which industrial readiness planning has progressed, including the investment by the Government and the firm in such planning;

(l) Consideration to to whether the prospective supplier requires expansion or conversion of plant facilities;

(m) Consideration as to whether the prospective supplier will have an adequate supply of qualified labor;

(n) Consideration as to whether the prospective supplier will have an adequate supply of qualified labor;

(o) Consideration of the extent of subcontracting;

(p) Consideration of the existing and potential workload of the prospective supplier;

(q) Consideration of broadening the industrial base by the development of additional suppliers;

(r) Consideration of whether the contractor requires Government furnished property, machine tools, or facilities; or Government-operated test facilities; and

(s) Consideration of contract performance in facilities located in dispersed sites.

(t) Advantages or disadvantages to the Government that might result from making multiple awards.

§ 3.102 General requirements for negotiation.

(a) Procurement shall be made by formal advertising whenever such method is feasible and practicable under the existing conditions and circumstances even though negotiation may be authorized under Subpart B of this part.

(b) No contract shall be entered into as a result of negotiation unless or until the following requirements have been satisfied:

(1) The contemplated procurement comes within one of the circumstances permitting negotiation enumerated in Subpart B of this part;

(2) Any necessary determinations and findings prescribed in Subpart C of this part, have been made;

(3) Such business clearance or approval as is prescribed by applicable Departmental procedures has been obtained; and

(4) The prospective contractor has been determined to be responsible in accordance with Subpart I, Part 1 of this subchapter.

§ 3.103 Records and reports of negotiated contracts.

In addition to the records and reports described in § 1.302–3 of this subchapter and §§ 3.211–4 and 3.216–4, each Department is required to maintain a record of the total value of all contracts negotiated by it during each fiscal year under each of the circumstances permitting negotiation enumerated in Subpart B of this part. These records, and reports based thereon, are maintained through the Department of Defense procurement reporting system described in §§ 1.110 and 16.807 of this subchapter.

§ 3.104 Aids to small business in negotiated procurement.

See Part 1, Subpart G, of this subchapter.

§ 3.105 Aids to labor surplus area concerns in negotiated procurement.

See Part 1, Subpart H of this chapter.

§ 3.106 Award information to unsuccessful offerors.

(a) Notice to unsuccessful offerors. (1) Promptly after making all awards in any procurement in excess of $10,000, the contracting officer shall give written notice to the unsuccessful offerors that their proposals were not accepted, except that such notice need not be given where the contract is exclusively for experimental, development, or research work, or for subsistence, or is negotiated pursuant to 10 U.S.C. 2304(a) (4), (5), or (6) (see § 3.204, 3.205 or 3.206); or is negotiated with a foreign supplier when only foreign sources of supplies or services have been solicited. Such notice shall also include:

(i) The number of prospective contractors solicited;

(ii) The number of proposals received;

(iii) The name and address of each offeror receiving an award;

(iv) The items, quantities, and unit prices of each award; provided that, where the number of items or other factors makes the listing of unit prices impracticable, only the total contract price need be furnished; and

(v) A Statement that additional information may be requested from the contracting officer.

(2) In procurements of $10,000 or less and subject to the exceptions in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, the information described in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph shall be furnished to unsuccessful offerors upon request.

(b) Additional information. Upon request, unsuccessful offerors whose offered prices were lower than those of the contractor which received the award shall be furnished the reasons why their proposals were not accepted; but in no event will an offeror's cost breakdown, profit, overhead rates, trade secrets, manufacturing processes and techniques, or other confidential business information be disclosed to any other offeror.

(c) Classified information. Classified information shall be furnished only in accordance with regulations governing classified information.

§ 3.107 Selection of research and development contractors.

§ 3.107–1 General.

Through its research and development programs, the Department of Defense must seek the best possible equipment, weapons, and weapon systems that can be devised and produced. This means two things. First, it means seeking the best scientific and technological sources. Second, it means unremitting efforts to increase the number of sources, and to encourage participation by small business concerns, as well as others, in Defense research and development. For the most part, the general principles and procedures which are set forth elsewhere in this subchapter apply to research and development procurement. But the objectives of research and development require a different emphasis on certain aspects of the procurement process. Some of these aspects are covered in §§ 3.107 through 3.107–8.

§ 3.107–2 Small business sources.

(a) Contracting officers, technical personnel, and small business specialists shall cooperatively seek and develop information on the technical competence of small business concerns for research and development contracts. Small business specialists shall regularly bring to the attention of contracting officers and technical personnel descriptive data, brochures, and other information as to small business concerns that are apparently competent to perform research or development work in fields in which the purchasing activity is interested.

(b) In order to cooperate with the Small Business Administration in carrying out its responsibility of assisting small business concerns to obtain contracts for research and development, contracting officers, technical personnel and small business specialists shall, upon request, provide to authorized SBA representatives information necessary to understand the Government's needs concerning research and development programs under consideration for specific future procurement actions. The SBA may provide pertinent information concerning potential small business sources developed through its investigation of the capabilities of specific firms in the particular field of research and development covered by the programs. Full evaluation shall be given to any such information in selecting qualified sources.

§ 3.107–3 Selection of sources for solicitation.

(a) Recommendations as to which potential sources are technically qualified shall be made by cognizant technical personnel after review of the data obtained in accordance with paragraph (b) of this section and, as appropriate, on the basis of discussion with potential sources (either singly or in a group), correspondence, or suitable surveys.

(b) The Departments shall continually search for and develop information on sources (including small business concerns) competent to perform research and development. Advance publicity, including use of Department of Commerce Synopsis (see § 1.1003–2 of this chapter) to the fullest extent practicable, shall be given for this purpose. The search should include (1) a review of relevant data or brochures furnished by sources seeking research and development work and (2) a cooperative effort by technical personnel, small business specialists, and contracting officers to obtain information and recommendations with respect to potential sources and to consider the desirability of seeking additional sources by advance publication of proposed procurements.

§ 3.107–4 Solicitation.

(a) In order to minimize the preparation of technical proposals, which can be both costly and wasteful of scientific or engineering manpower, contracting officers should request proposals only from sources which have been technically evaluated and found qualified to perform research and development in the specific field of science or technology involved. Where there is no substantial question as to the choice of the source, as where only one source is found fully qualified as a result of thorough technical evaluation, solicitation may be limited to a single source. Where several sources are found fully qualified technically, proposals generally shall be solicited from each such source.

(b) In addition to paragraph (a) of this section, exploratory requests may be used to determine the existence of ideas or prior work in specific fields of research. However, the request for such information should clearly state that it does not impose any obligation on the Government or signify a firm intention of the Government to enter into a contract.

§ 3.107–5 Conduct of negotiations.

See § 3.804. The contracting officer should make certain that each prospective contractor fully understands the details of the various phases of the Government's requirement, especially the statement of work. This may be best accomplished by conferences between a prospective contractor, the contracting officer, and appropriate technical personnel particularly where there is doubt that a work statement is understood or will be interpreted correctly by prospective contractors.

§ 3.107–6 Evaluation for award.

(a) Generally, research and development contracts should be awarded to those organizations, including educational organizations, which have the highest competence in the specific field of science or technology involved. However, awards should not be made for research and development capabilities that exceed those needed for the successful performance of the work.

(b) Before determining the technical competence of prospective contractors, and recommending to the contracting officer the concern or concerns that they consider most technically competent, cognizant technical personnel shall consider the following:

(1) The contractor's understanding of the scope of the work as shown by the scientific or technical approach proposed;

(2) Availability and competence of experienced engineering, scientific, or other technical personnel;

(3) Availability, from any source, of necessary research, test, and production facilities;

(4) Experience or pertinent novel ideas in the specific branch of science or technology involved; and

(5) The contractor's willingness to devote his resources to the proposed work with appropriate diligence.

(c) In determining to whom the contract shall be awarded, the contracting officer shall consider not only technical competence, but also all other factors including management capabilities, weighing each factor in accordance with the requirements of the particular procurement.

§ 3.107–7 Cost and price estimates.

While cost or price should not be the controlling factor in choosing a contractor for a research or development contract (see § 3.805–1(d)), cost or price should not be disregarded in the choice of the contractor. It is important to determine the soundness of a proposed contractor's cost or price estimate, not only to determine whether the estimate is reasonable, but also to determine his understanding of the project and ability to organize and perform the contract. (See also § 3.805–2.)

§ 3.107–8 Documentation.

Contract files for research and development procurement shall be fully documented to include the basis and reasons for the selection of the sources solicited and for the award. Such documentation should be adequate to justify the selection of the contractor over others whose proposals, from the standpoint of some single factor (such as lower estimated costs or shorter performance time), might appear more advantageous to the Government.

§ 3.108 Negotiation of initial production contracts for technical or specialized military supplies.

(a) The production of important new technical or specialized military supplies—tanks, radar, guided missiles, aircraft, rockets, and equipment of similar complexity—generally involves development, evaluation, and initial production phases. Contracting Officers shall avoid, wherever practicable, awarding initial production contracts for supplies until completion of the development and evaluation phases. At the time of placing the initial production contract, it is essential that the Government be completely free to select the contractor as the best interests of the Government may dictate. In the placement and administration of research or development contracts, no commitments shall be made to contractors with respect to obtaining subsequent production contracts.

(b) In connection with the foregoing it may be in the best interest of the Government that the initial production contract for technical and specialized supplies be placed with the contractor responsible for the development of the design for such supplies. Accordingly, it is essential that, in placing such initial production contracts, an analysis be made of the importance to be attached to the following considerations:

(1) Extensive preliminary research and development work which can be put to most effective use in production by the research and development contractor for any of the following reasons:

(i) A need for adaptation of the newly developed equipments for quantity manufacture, and for introduction of advanced production methods, together with a significant interrelationship between the design engineering and production engineering, which will yield best results from the standpoint of performance, reliability and producibility;

(ii) The substantial time and money which would be required for another contractor to indoctrinate and train his engineering staff in the specialized techniques or novel design concepts which have been employed, thereby adding to production lead time.

(2) Continuing improvement of the equipment, concurrent with production, which can be most effectively accomplished by a single contractor because of the advantages of unified responsibility and close coordination of improved design features with production processes and equipment.

(3) Substantial time and effort which have been already expended by the development contractor in developing a prototype.

(c) Where it is in the Government's interest to award the initial production contract to the development contractor, price alone should not be allowed to dictate an award elsewhere unless a fair and reasonable price cannot be negotiated with the development contractor or unless the price advantage in award to another supplier is so substantial as to outweigh the other factors involved. This section is not to be construed to require or to prevent competitive pricing. Initial production contracts shall not be awarded to development contractors who do not have fully adequate and available financial, technical and production resources.

(d) To the extent practicable, the initial production contract should also provide for the furnishing of an initial supply of special testing equipment, special tools, demonstration sets, and manuals required for operation, maintenance and training.

(e) Contracts negotiated pursuant to (b) above shall normally cite 10 U. S. C. 2304 (a) (14) (see § 3.214) or, where more appropriate, 10 U. S. C. 2304 (a) (16) (see § 3.216).

§ 3.109 Restrictions on disclosure of data in proposals.

(a) Requests for proposals may require the offeror to submit data with its proposal which may include a design or plan for accomplishing the objectives of the procurement. Such data may include information which the offeror does not want disclosed to the public or used by the Government for any purpose other than evaluation of the proposals. Offerors shall mark each sheet of data which they so wish to restrict with the legend set forth below:

> This data furnished in response to RFP No. ------, shall not be disclosed outside the Government or be duplicated, used or disclosed in whole or in part for any purpose other than to evaluate the proposal: Provided, That if a contract is awarded to this offeror as a result of or in connection with the submission of such data, the Government shall have the right to duplicate, use, or disclose this data to the extent provided in the contract. This restriction does not limit the Government's right to use information contained in such data if it is obtained from another source.

Contracting officers shall not refuse to consider any proposal merely because data submitted with that proposal is so marked. Data so marked shall be used only to evaluate proposals and shall not be disclosed outside the Government without the written permission of the offeror except under the conditions provided in the legend. If it is desired to duplicate, use, or disclose the data of the offeror to which the contract is awarded, for purposes other than to evaluate the proposal, the contract should so provide in accordance with § 9.202–6 of this chapter. See § 9.201 for a description of "data" and Part 9, Subpart B in general.

for the policy, instructions and contract clauses with respect to the acquisition and use of data.

(b) The provisions of paragraph (a) of this section do not apply to procurements by formal advertising. However, see § 2.404–4 of this chapter with respect to public disclosure of descriptive literature or material submitted by a bidder on a restrictive basis.

§ 3.110 Solicitations for informational or planning purposes.

See § 1.309 of this subchapter.

Subpart B—Circumstances Permitting Negotiation

§ 3.200 Scope of subpart.

Subject to the limitations prescribed in Subpart A of this part, and pursuant to the authority of 10 U.S.C. 2304(a), procurement may be effected by negotiation under any one of the exceptions ((1) through (17) of 10 U.S.C. 2304(a)) set forth in this subpart.

§ 3.201 National emergency.

§ 3.201–1 Authority.

Pursuant to 10 U.S.C. 2304(a)(1), purchases and contracts may be negotiated if—

It is determined that such action is necessary in the public interest during a national emergency declared by Congress or the President.

§ 3.201–2 Application.

(a) The authority of this § 3.201 shall be used only to the extent determined by the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Supply and Logistics) to be necessary in the public interest, and then only in accordance with Departmental procedures consistent with this § 3.201.

(b) For the duration of the national emergency declared pursuant to Presidential Proclamation 2914, dated December 16, 1950, the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Supply and Logistics) has determined that only the following procurements may be made pursuant to the authority of 10 U.S.C. 2304(a)(1):

(1) Procurements made in keeping with (A) labor surplus set-aside programs, including, where no other negotiating authority is appropriate, the placement of contracts for any part of the total requirements set-aside which are not filled by awards made in accordance with the provisions of the Notice of Labor Surplus Set-Aside (see § 1.804–2 (c) of this chapter), or (B) disaster area programs;

(2) Procurements made in keeping with the small business programs (A) after unilateral determinations for set-asides, or (B) to place any part of the total requirements set-aside which are not filled by awards to small business concerns, where no other negotiating authority is appropriate (see § 1.706–7 of this chapter); and

(3) Procurements of property or services for experimental, developmental, or research work, or for making or furnishing property for experiment, test, development, or research involving more than $2,500 but not more than $100,000 from contractors other than educational institutions.

(c) Except as authorized in (b) above, procurements may be negotiated only when authorized by 10 U.S.C. 2304(a)(2) through 10 U.S.C. 2304(a) (17) (§§ 3.202 through 3.217), and 10 U.S.C. 2304(c) (§ 3.218); determinations and findings shall be made in accordance with 10 U.S.C. 2310 and 10 U.S.C. 2311 (subpart C of this part); and the appropriate authority shall be cited in each contract.

§ 3.201–3 Limitation.

The authority of § 3.201 shall not be used when negotiation is authorized by the provisions of § 3.206.

§ 3.202 Public exigency.

§ 3.202–1 Authority.

Pursuant to the authority of 10 U.S.C. 2304(a)(2), purchases and contracts may be negotiated if—

The public exigency will not permit the delay incident to advertising.

§ 3.202–2 Application.

In order for the authority of § 3.202 to be used, the need must be compelling and of unusual urgency, as when the Government would be seriously injured, financially or otherwise, if the supplies or services were not furnished by a certain date, and when they could not be procured by that date by means of formal advertising. The following are illustrative of circumstances with respect to which this authority may be used:

(a) Supplies or services needed at once because of a fire, flood, explosion, or other disaster;

(b) Essential equipment for or repair to a ship when such equipment or repair is needed at once for compliance with the orders of the ship;

(c) Essential equipment for or repair to aircraft grounded or about to be grounded, when such equipment or repair is needed at once for the performance of the operational mission of such aircraft.

§ 3.202–3 Limitation.

Every contract negotiated under the authority of § 3.202 shall be accompanied by a signed statement of the contracting officer justifying its use, and a copy of such statement shall be sent to the General Accounting Office with a copy of the contract negotiated and executed hereunder. The authority of § 3.202 shall not be used when negotiation is authorized by the provisions of § 3.203 or § 3.206.

§ 3.203 Purchases not more than $2,500.

§ 3.203–1 Authority.

Pursuant to 10 U. S. C. 2304 (a) (3), purchases and contracts may be negotiated if—the aggregate amount involved is not more than $2,500.

§ 3.203–2 Application.

Purchases or contracts aggregating not more than $2,500 shall be made in accordance with subpart F of this part.

§ 3.203–3 Limitation.

The authority of § 3.203 shall not be used when negotiation is authorized by the provisions of § 3.206.

§ 3.204 Personal or professional services.

§ 3.204–1 Authority.

Pursuant to 10 U.S.C. 2304(a)(4), purchases and contracts may be negotiated if—

For personal or professional services.

§ 3.204–2 Application.

The authority of § 3.204 shall be used only when all of the following conditions have been satisfied:

(a) If personal services, they are required to be performed by an individual contractor in person (not by a firm), or if professional services, they may be performed either by an individual contractor in person or a firm or organization;

(b) The services (1) are of a professional nature, or (2) are to be performed under Government supervision and paid for on a time basis; and

(c) Procurement of the services is authorized by law, and is effected in accordance with the requirements of any such law and in accordance with Departmental procedures.

§ 3.204–3 Limitation.

The authority of § 3.204, and the above conditions imposed upon its use, shall not apply to the procurement by negotiation of any type of services authorized under any other provision of this part.

§ 3.205 Services of educational institutions.

§ 3.205–1 Authority.

Pursuant to the authority of 10 U.S.C. 2304(a)(5), purchases and contracts may be negotiated if—

For any service to be rendered by any university, college, or other educational institution.

§ 3.205–2 Application.

The following are illustrative of circumstances with respect to which the authority of § 3.205 may be used:

(a) Educational or vocational training services to be rendered by any university, college, or other educational institution in connection with the training and education of personnel, and for necessary material, services, and supplies furnished by any such institution in connection therewith;

(b) Experimental, developmental, or research work (including services, tests, and reports necessary or incidental thereto) to be conducted by any university, college, or other educational institution, and reports furnished in connection therewith;

(c) Analyses, studies, or reports (statistical or otherwise) to be conducted by any university, college, or other educational institution.

§ 3.205–3 Limitation.

The authority of § 3.205 shall not be used when negotiation is authorized by the provisions of § 3.203 or § 3.206.

§ 3.206 Purchases outside the United States.

§ 3.206–1 Authority.

Pursuant to 10 U.S.C. 2304(a)(6), purchases and contracts may be negotiated

if "for property or services to be procured and used outside the United States, and its Territories, possessions and Puerto Rico."

§ 3.206–2 Application.

The authority of this section shall be be used only for the procurement of:

(a) Supplies to be (1) shipped from, (2) delivered, and (3) used, or

(b) Services to be performed outside the United States, its possessions and Puerto Rico, irrespective of the place of negotiation or execution of the contract. When the authority of this paragraph is available for the negotiation of a contract, no other negotiating authority shall be used, nor shall formal advertising be used.

§ 3.207 Medicines or medical supplies.

§ 3.207–1 Authority.

Pursuant to 10 U.S.C. 2304(a)(7), purchases and contracts may be negotiated if—

For medicine or medical supplies.

§ 3.207–2 Application.

The authority of § 3.207 shall be used only when the following two requirements have been satisfied:

(a) Such supplies are peculiar to the field of medicine, including technical equipment such as surgical instruments, surgical and orthopedic appliances, X-ray supplies and equipment, and the like, but not including prosthetic equipment; and

(b) Whenever it is determined to be practicable, such advance publicity as is considered suitable with regard to the supplies involved and other relevant considerations shall be given for a period of at least 15 days before making a purchase of or contract for supplies or services, under this authority of § 3.207, for more than $10,000.

§ 3.207–3 Limitation.

The authority of § 3.207 shall not be used when negotiation is authorized by the provisions of § 3.203 or § 3.206.

§ 3.208 Supplies purchased for authorized resale.

§ 3.208–1 Authority.

Pursuant to 10 U.S.C. 2304(a)(8), purchases and contracts may be negotiated if—

For property for authorized resale.

§ 3.208–2 Application.

(a) The authority of § 3.208 shall be used only for purchases for resale, where appropriated funds are involved, and ordinarily only for purchases of articles with brand names or of a proprietary nature which a selling activity believes or finds to be desired or preferred by its patrons.

(b) Whenever it is determined to be practicable, such advance publicity as is considered suitable with regard to the supplies involved and other relevant considerations shall be given for a period of at least 15 days before making a purchase of or contract for supplies or services, under the authority of § 3.208, for more than $10,000.

§ 3.208–3 Limitation.

The authority of § 3.208 shall not be used when negotiation is authorized by the provisions of § 3.203 or § 3.206.

§ 3.209 Perishable or nonperishable subsistence supplies.

§ 3.209–1 Authority.

Pursuant to 10 U. S. C. 2304 (a) (9), purchases and contracts may be negotiated if—for perishable or nonperishable subsistence supplies.

§ 3.209–2 Application.

The authority of this § 3.209 may be used for the purchase of any and all kinds of perishable or nonperishable subsistence supplies.

§ 3.209–3 Limitation.

The authority of this § 3.209 shall not be used when negotiation is authorized by the provisions of § 3.203 or § 3.206.

§ 3.210 Supplies or services for which it is impracticable to secure competition by formal advertising.

§ 3.210–1 Authority.

Pursuant to 10 U.S.C. 2304(a)(10), purchases and contracts may be negotiated if—

For property or services for which it is impracticable to obtain competition.

§ 3.210–2 Application.

The following are illustrative of circumstances with respect to which the authority of §§ 3.210—3.210–3 may be used:

(a) When supplies or services can be obtained from only one person or firm ("sole source of supply");

(b) When competition is precluded because of the existence of patent rights, copyrights, secret processes, control of basic raw material, or similar circumstances. However, the mere existence of such rights or circumstances does not in and of itself justify the use of the authority of §§ 3.210—3.210–3);

(c) When bids have been solicited pursuant to the requirements of Part 2 of this chapter, and no responsive bid (a responsive bid is any bid which conforms to the essential requirements of the solicitation of bids) has been received from a responsible bidder;

(d) When bids have been solicited pursuant to the requirements of Part 2 of this chapter, and the responsive bid or bids do not cover the quantitative requirements of the solicitation of bids, in which case negotiation is permitted for the remaining requirements of the solicitation of bids;

(e) When the contemplated procurement is for electric power or energy, gas (natural or manufactured), water, or other utility services;

(f) When the contemplated procurement is for training film, motion picture productions, or manuscripts;

(g) When the contemplated procurement is for technical, nonpersonal services in connection with the assembly, installation, or servicing (or the instruction of personnel therein) of equipment of a highly technical or specialized nature;

(h) When the contemplated procurement is for studies or surveys other than those which may be negotiated under § 3.205 or § 3.211;

(i) When the contemplated procurement involves maintenance, repair, alterations or inspection, in connection with any one of which types of services the exact nature or amount of the work to be done is not known;

(j) When the contemplated procurement is for stevedoring, terminal, warehousing, or switching services, and when either the rates are established by law or regulation, or the rates are so numerous or complex that it is impracticable to set them forth in the specifications of a formal solicitation of bids;

(k) When the contemplated procurement is for commercial ocean or air transportation, including time charters, space charters and voyage charters over trade routes not covered by common carriers (as to which, negotiation is authorized under the provisions of § 3.217 and section 321 of the Interstate Commerce Act of September 18, 1940, 49 U. S. C. 65). and including services for the operation of Government-owned vessels or aircraft;

(l) When the contract is for services related to the procurement of perishable subsistence such as protective storage, icing, processing, packaging, handling, and transportation, whenever it is impracticable to advertise for such services a sufficient time in advance of the delivery of the perishable subsistence;

(m) When it is impossible to draft, for a solicitation of bids, adequate specifications or any other adequately detailed description of the required supplies or services;

(n) When, under the procedures set forth in joint regulation DOD 4145.16–R, AR 743–455, NAVSANDA PUB 297, AFR 67–61, and NAVMC 1133, the contract is for storage (and related services) of household goods; or

(o) When the contemplated procurement is for parts or components being procured as replacement parts in support of equipment specially designed by the manufacturer, where data available is not adequate to assure that the part or component will perform the same function in the equipment as the part or component it is to replace.

§ 3.210–3 Limitation.

The authority of § 3.210 shall not be used when negotiation is authorized by any other authority set forth in §§ 3.201 through 3.217, except that this authority shall be used in preference to § 3.212. The authority contained in § 3.210–2(m) shall not be used in procurements in excess of $50,000 unless its use is approved in advance at a level higher than the contracting officer. Every contract that is negotiated under the authority of § 3.210 shall be accompanied by a signed statement of the contracting officer justifying its use, and indicating, in addition, whether the price, rate, or charge is fixed by law or regulation; and a copy of such statement shall be sent to the General Accounting Office with a copy of the contract negotiated and executed hereunder.

§ 3.211 Experimental, developmental, or research work.

§ 3.211–1 Authority.

Pursuant to 10 U.S.C. 2304(a)(11), purchases and contracts may be negotiated if—

For property or services that he [the Secretary] determines to be for experimental, developmental, or research work, or for making or furnishing property for experiment, test, development, or research.

§ 3.211–2 Application.

The following are illustrative of circumstances with respect to which the authority of § 3.211 may be used:

(a) Contracts relating to theoretical analysis, exploratory studies, and experiment in any field of science or technology;

(b) Developmental contracts calling for the practical application of investigative findings and theories of a scientific or technical nature;

(c) Contracts for such quantities and kinds of equipment, supplies, parts, accessories, or patent rights thereto, and drawings or designs thereof, as are necessary for experiment, deevlopment, research, or test; or

(d) Contracts for services, tests, and reports necessary or incidental to experimental, developmental, or research work.

§ 3.211–3 Limitation.

The authority of § 3.211 shall not be used for negotiated contracts with educational institutions or for quantity production, except that such quantities may be purchased hereunder as are necessary to permit complete and adequate experiment, development, research or test; accordingly, research or development contracts which call for the production of a reasonable number of experimental or test models, or prototypes, shall not be regarded as contracts for quantity production. Negotiated contracts with educational institutions shall be negotiated in accordance with § 3.205. During the current national emergeny, negotiation of contracts involving more than $2,500 but not more than $100,000 with other than educational institutions for experimental, developmental, or research work shall be conducted under the authority of § 3.201–2 (b) (3). The authority of § 3.211 shall not be used when negotiation is authorized by the provisions of § 3.203 or § 3.206. In order for this authority to be used, the required determination must be made in accordance with the requirements of Subpart C of this part.

§ 3.211–4 Records and reports.

Each Military Department is required to maintain a record of the name of each contractor with whom a contract has been entered into pursuant to the authority of § 3.211, together with the amount of the contract and (with due consideration given to the national security) a description of the work required to be performed thereunder. These records, and reports based thereon, are maintained through the Department of Defense procurement reporting system described in §§ 1.110 and 16.807 of this chapter.

§ 3.212 Classified purchases.

§ 3.212–1 Authority.

Pursuant to 10 U.S.C. 2304(a)(12), purchases and contracts may be negotiated if—

For property or services whose procurement he [the Secretary] determines should not be publicly disclosed because of their character, ingredients, or components.

§ 3.212–2 Application.

The authority of this § 3.212 may be used for purchases or contracts classified "Confidential" or higher, or where because of other considerations, the contract should not be publicly disclosed.

§ 3.212–3 Limitation.

In order for the authority of § 3.212 to be used, the required determination must be made in accordance with the requirements of Subpart C of this part. The authority of this § 3.212 shall not be used when negotiation is authorized by any other authority set forth in §§ 3.201 through 3.218, except as otherwise provided in § 3.204–3.

§ 3.213 Technical equipment requiring standardization and interchangeability of parts.

§ 3.213–1 Authority.

Pursuant to 10 U.S.C. 2304(a)(13), purchases and contracts may be negotiated if—

For equipment that he [the Secretary] determines to be technical equipment whose standardization and the interchangeability of whose parts are necessary in the public interest and whose procurement by negotiation is necessary to assure that standardization and interchangeability.

§ 3.213–2 Application.

(a) The authority of §§ 3.213–1 to 3.213–3 may be used for procuring additional units and replacement items of specified makes and models of technical equipment and parts, which are for tactical use or for use either in Alaska, Hawaii or outside the remainder of the United States, in theaters of operations, on board naval vessels, or at advanced or detached bases; and which have been adopted as standard items of supply in accordance with procedures prescribed by each respective Department. A current or recurring procurement requirement for the item shall be present. This authority would apply, for example, whenever it is necessary:

(1) To limit the variety and quantity of parts that must be carried in stock;

(2) To make possible, by standardization, the availability of parts that may be interchanged among items of damaged equipment during combat or other emergency; or

(3) To procure from selected suppliers technical equipment which is available from a number of suppliers but which would have such varying performance characteristics (notwithstanding detailed specifications and rigid inspection) as would prevent standardization and interchangeability of parts.

(b) Before making a determination to procure specified makes and models under the authority of § 3.213, consideration shall be given to:

(1) The feasibility of economical and timely deployment on a selected geographic basis of makes and models already in supply systems;

(2) The feasibility of timely standardization of components and parts under the Defense Standardization Program;

(3) The effect upon the capability of industry to produce mobilization requirements of all Departments;

(4) The practicability of interchanging parts and cannibalizing equipment;

(5) The probability that future procurement of the selected item of equipment can be effected at reasonable prices;

(6) Whether the standardization will appreciably reduce the variety and quantity of parts that must be carried in stock;

(7) The value of similar equipment and its supporting parts on hand;

(8) The contribution of the standardization to combat support;

(9) Possible savings in training personnel and publishing technical literature;

(10) Whether the standardization will adversely affect existing coordinated military specifications and standards; and

(11) The degree to which the current design of the specified make and model has been changed from the design of equipment of the same make and model now in the supply system.

(c) In arriving at determinations to standardize under the authority of § 3.213, the originating Department shall consult with the other Departments in order to assure the full benefit of the standardization.

(d) Actions taken under the authority of § 3.213 shall be reviewed by the originating Department at least once every two years to determine whether the standardization should be continued, revised, or cancelled.

§ 3.213–3 Limitation.

The authority of § 3.213 shall not be used for initial procurements of equipment and parts, or for the purpose of selecting arbitrarily the equipment of certain suppliers; nor shall it be used unless the Secretary of a Department has determined, in accordance with the requirements of Subpart C of this part, that:

(a) The equipment constitutes technical equipment;

(b) Standardization of such equipment and interchangeability of its parts are necessary in the public interest; and

(c) Procurement of such equipment or of its parts by negotiation is necessary to assure that standardization and interchangeability.

§ 3.213–4 Records and reports.

Each Military Department shall maintain on a current basis a master list of items for which determinations and findings have been made under the authority of § 3.213. A copy of each such determination and finding shall be furnished to the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Supply and Logistics) within five days after the date thereof.

§ 3.214 Technical or specialized supplies requiring substantial initial investment or extended period of preparation for manufacture.

§ 3.214–1 Authority.

Pursuant to 10 U.S.C. 2304(a)(14), purchases and contracts may be negotiated if—

For technical or special property that he [the Secretary] determines to require a substantial initial investment or an extended period of preparation for manufacture and for which he determines that formal advertising and competitive bidding might require duplication of investment or preparation already made, or would unduly delay the procurement of that property.

§ 3.214–2 Application.

The authority of § 3.214 may be used for procurement of technical or specialized supplies—for example: aircraft, tanks, radar, guided missiles, rockets, and similar items of equipment; major components of any of the foregoing; and any supplies of a technical or specialized nature which may be necessary for the use or operation of any of the foregoing. Such procurement generally involves:

(a) High starting costs which already have been paid for by the Government or by the supplier;

(b) Preliminary engineering and development work that would not be useful to or usable by any other supplier;

(c) Elaborate special tooling already acquired;

(d) Substantial time and effort already expended in developing a prototype or an initial production model; and

(e) Important design changes which will continue to be developed by the supplier.

The authority of § 3.214 will in general be used in situations where it is preferable to place a production contract with the supplier who had developed the equipment, and thereby either assure to the Government the benefit of the techniques, tooling, and equipment already acquired by that supplier, or avoid undue delay arising from a new supplier having to acquire such techniques, tooling and equipment.

§ 3.214–3 Limitation.

The authority of § 3.214 shall not be used unless and until the Secretary has determined, in accordance with the requirements of Subpart C of this part, that:

(a) The supplies are of a technical or specialized nature requiring a substantial investment or an extended period of preparation for manufacture; and

(b) Procurement by formal advertising and competitive bidding either—

(1) May require duplication of investment or preparation already made, or

(2) Will unduly delay procurement.

§ 3.215 Negotiation after advertising.

§ 3.215–1 Authority.

Pursuant to 10 U.S.C. 2304(a)(15), purchases and contracts may be negotiated if—

For property or services for which he (the Secretary) determines that the bid prices received after formal advertising are unreasonable as to all or part of the requirements, or were not independently reached in open competition, and for which (A) he has notified each responsible bidder of intention to negotiate and given him reasonable opportunity to negotiate; (B) the negotiated price is lower than the lowest rejected bid of any responsible bidder, as determined by the head of the agency; and (C) the negotiated price is the lowest negotiated price offered by any responsible supplier.

§ 3.215–2 Limitation.

The authority of § 3.215 shall not be used unless the Secretary has determined, in accordance with the requirements of Subpart C of this part, that the bid prices, after formal advertising for such supplies or services, are unreasonable or were not independently reached in open competition. Also, after such determination by the Secretary, and after rejection of all bids, no contract shall be negotiated under this authority unless:

(a) Prior notice of intention to negotiate and a reasonable opportunity to negotiate have been given by a contracting officer to each responsible bidder which submitted a bid in response to the invitation for bids;

(b) The negotiated price is lower than the lowest rejected bid price of a responsible bidder, as determined by the Secretary; and

(c) The negotiated price is the lowest negotiated price offered by any responsible supplier.

Moreover any evidence of bids not independently reached shall be forwarded to the Department of Justice, as provided in § 1.111 of this chapter.

§ 3.216 Purchases in the interest of national defense or industrial mobilization.

§ 3.216–1 Authority.

Pursuant to 10 U.S.C. 2304(a)(16), purchases and contracts may be negotiated if—

He [the Secretary] determines that (A) it is in the interest of national defense to have a plant, mine, or other facility, or a producer, manufacturer, or other supplier, available for furnishing property or services in case of a national emergency; or (B) the interest of industrial mobilization in case of such an emergency, or the interest of national defense in maintaining active engineering, research, and development, would otherwise be subserved.

§ 3.216–2 Application.

The authority of § 3.216 may be used to effectuate such plans and programs as may be evolved under the direction of the Secretary to provide incentives to manufacturers to maintain, and keep active, engineering and design staffs and manufacturing facilities available for mass production. The following are illustrative of circumstances with respect to which this authority may be used:

(a) When procurement by negotiation is necessary to keep vital facilities or suppliers in business; or to make them available in the event of a national emergency;

(b) When procurement by negotiation with selected suppliers is necessary in order to train them in the furnishing of critical supplies to prevent the loss of their ability and employee skills, or to maintain active engineering, research, and development work; or

(c) When procurement by negotiation is necessary to maintain properly balanced sources of supply for meeting the requirements of procurement programs in the interest of industrial mobilization.

§ 3.216–3 Limitation.

The authority of § 3.216 shall not be used unless and until the Secretary has determined, in accordance with the requirements of Subpart C of this part, that:

(a) It is in the interest of national defense to have a particular plant, mine, or other facility or a particular producer, manufacturer, or other supplier available for furnishing supplies or services in case of a national emergency, and negotiation is necessary to that end;

(b) The interest of industrial mobilization, in case of a national emergency, would be subserved by negotiation with a particular supplier; or

(c) The interest of national defense in maintaining active engineering, research, and development, would be subserved by negotiation with a particular supplier.

§ 3.216–4 Records and reports.

Each Department is required to maintain a record of the name of each contractor with whom a contract has been entered into pursuant to the authority of § 3.216, together with the amount of the contract and (with due consideration given to the national security) a description of the work required to be performed thereunder. These records, and reports based thereon, are maintained through the Department of Defense procurement reporting system described in §§ 1.110 and 16.807 of this chapter.

§ 3.217 Otherwise authorized by law.

§ 3.217–1 Authority.

Pursuant to 10 U.S.C. 2304(a)(17), purchases and contracts may be negotiated if—otherwise authorized by law.

§ 3.217–2 Application.

The authority of § 3.217 shall be used only if, and to the extent, approved for any Military Department and in accordance with Departmental procedures.

§ 3.218 Construction work.

§ 3.218–1 Application.

Contracts to construct or repair any building, road, sidewalk, sewer, main, or similar item, are subject to 10 U.S.C. 2304(c) and § 3.218.

§ 3.218–2 Limitation on authority to negotiate contracts.

(a) Work in the United States. Contracts for construction work to be performed within the United States shall be formally advertised and may not be negotiated unless authorized pursuant to the following subsections of 10 U.S.C. 2304(a): (1), (2), (3), (10), (11), (12), or (15), (see respectively, §§ 3.201, 3.202, 3.203, 3.210, 3.211, 3.212 and 3.215).

(b) Work outside of the United States. Contracts for construction work to be performed outside of the United States shall be formally advertised and may not be negotiated unless authorized pursuant to subsections (1) through (17) of 10 U. S. C. 2304 (a) (§§ 3.201 through 3.217), as appropriate (note that such contracts to be performed in the Territories or possessions of the United States, and Puerto Rico, may not be negotiated pursuant to 10 U. S. C. 2304 (a) (6), (§ 3.206)).

§ 3.218–3 Citation of authority to negotiate.

Negotiated contracts for construction work shall cite as authority for their negotiation the applicable subsection (1) through (17) of 10 U.S.C. 2304(a).

Subpart C—Determinations and Findings

§ 3.300 Scope of subpart.

This subpart (a) enumerates the particular determinations and findings to be made (1) by the Secretary of any Department, (2) by the head of any procuring activity signing as "a chief officer responsible for procurement," and (3) by a Contracting Officer; and (b) sets forth the requirements to be followed with respect to such determinations and findings.

§ 3.301 Nature of determinations and findings.

The determinations and supporting findings that are referred to throughout this subchapter, usually as prerequisites to the authority of a procuring activity to enter into contracts by negotiation or to make advance payments under negotiated contracts, will in most instances be made by the Secretary of a Department. Such determinations and findings shall ordinarily be made only with respect to individual purchases or contracts, but may be made with respect to classes of purchases or contracts in special cases and then only for a specified period and in accordance with procedures prescribed by each respective Department. Certain determinations, as hereinafter provided, may be made by the head of a procuring activity signing as "a chief officer responsible for procurement" or by a Contracting Officer, but in either of these two cases only with respect to individual purchases or contracts.

§ 3.302 Determinations and findings by the Secretary of a Department.

(a) The following determinations, and written findings in support thereof, may be made only by the Secretary of a Department, and are not delegated hereunder except to the extent provided in § 3.303:

(1) The determination required by §§ 3.211 to 3.211–4, inclusive, with respect to any negotiated contract for experimental, developmental, or research work or for the manufacture or furnishing of supplies for experimentation, development, research, or test;

(2) The determination required by §§ 3.212 to 3.212–3, inclusive, with respect to any negotiated contract that should not be publicly disclosed;

(3) The determination required by §§ 3.213 to 3.213–3, inclusive, with respect to any negotiated contract for technical equipment requiring standardization and interchangeability of parts;

(4) The determination required by §§ 3.214 to 3.214–3, inclusive, with respect to any negotiated contract for technical or specialized supplies requiring a substantial initial investment or an extended period of preparation for manufacture;

(5) The determination required by §§ 3.215 to 3.215–2, inclusive, with respect to any negotiated contract entered into after advertising has proved unsatisfactory;

(6) The determination required by §§ 3.216 to 3.216–4, inclusive, with respect to any negotiated contract entered into in the interest of national defense or industrial mobilization;

(7) the determination required with respect to advance payments under any negotiated contract. (See Part 163 Subpart D of this title, Defense Contract Financing Regulations, AR 715–6, NAVEXOS P–1006 (see NPL 31–001), AFR 173–133, 17 December 1956.)

(b) In addition to the determinations in paragraph (a) of this section, the Secretary of any Department may also make any of the determinations, and written findings in support thereof, that may be made by the head of any procuring activity signing as "a chief officer responsible for procurement" or by a Contracting Officer.

§ 3.303 Determinations and findings by the head of a procuring activity signing as "a chief officer responsible for procurement."

The following determinations, and written findings in support thereof, may be made by the head of a procuring activity signing as "a chief officer responsible for procurement":

(a) The determination required by §§ 3.211 to 3.211–4, inclusive, with respect to any negotiated contract for experimental, developmental, or research work, or for the manufacture or furnishing of supplies for experimentation, development, research, or test: Provided, That such contract does not obligate the Government to pay more than $25,000; and

(b) The determinations required by §§ 3.403–4, 3.404, 3.404–3 and 3.404–4 with respect to the use of a cost or a cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contract or an incentive-type contract.

§ 3.304 Determinations and findings by a contracting officer.

To the extent that the authority has been or may be granted by procedures prescribed by each respective Department, the determinations required by §§ 3.403–4, 3.404, 3.404–3, and 3.404–4 with respect to the use of a cost or a cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contract or an incentive-type contract may be made by a contracting officer: Provided, That any such determination shall be based upon written findings made by the Contracting Officer. Any other determinations or findings called for by this subchapter, but not required by this subchapter to be made by higher authority, may be made by a Contracting Officer in accordance with procedures prescribed by each respective Department.

§ 3.305 Forms of determinations and findings.

Each Determination and Findings—whether for (a) "Authority to Negotiate an Individual Contract," or (b) "Authority to Negotiate a Class of Contracts," or (c) "Advance Payments," or (d) "Method of Contracting," or (e) any other purpose—shall be prepared in accordance with procedures prescribed by each respective Department.

§ 3.306 Procedure with respect to determinations and findings.

Each Determination and Findings shall be approved and processed in accordance with procedures prescribed by each respective Department, except that Determinations and Findings for procurement by negotiation with respect to coordinated procurement (§ 5.1100–1 of this subchapter) shall be made in accordance with § 5.1106–2 of this subchapter.

§ 3.307 Distribution of copies of determinations and findings.

Copies of each Determination and Findings shall be distributed in accordance with procedures prescribed by each respective Department: Provided, That one copy thereof with respect to (a) negotiated contracts (whether by individual contract or by class of contracts), (b) advance payments, and (c) the use of a cost or a cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contract or an incentive-type contract, shall be sent to the General Accounting Office with the copy of the contract negotiated and executed thereunder.

§ 3.308 Retention of copies of determinations and findings, and of other records.

Executed originals of all determinations and findings, and copies of all supporting documents, shall be preserved in the cognizant procuring activity or in the Department concerned for six years following the date of each respective determination. Complete records with respect to all negotiated contracts shall be preserved in the cognizant procuring activity or in the Department concerned for a period of six years following final payment on each such respective contract.

Subpart D—Types of Contracts

§ 3.400 Scope of subpart.

This subpart (a) describes and defines approved types of contracts for procurement by negotiation, (b) defines the areas of applicability in which each type of contract may be used appropriately and sets forth considerations and policies governing the choice of type of contract, and (c) imposes conditions on the use of certain of the available types of contracts.

§ 3.401 Types of contracts.

Pursuant to the authority of 10 U.S.C. 2306, contracts negotiated under this Part may be of any of the types or combination of types described herein, which will promote the best interests of the Government subject to the restrictions described below. The cost-plus-a-percentage-of-cost system of contracting shall not be used. In furtherance of this policy all prime contracts and letter contracts, on other than a firm fixed-price basis, shall by an appropriate clause prohibit cost-plus-a-percentage-of-cost subcontracts.

§ 3.402 Selection of contract type.

(a) General. The firm fixed-price contract shall be used unless, under the applications and limitations contained in this Subpart, the use of another type of contract is more appropriate. However, the selection of contract type is generally a matter for negotiation. The proper selection of an appropriate type of contract is of primary importance in obtaining fair and reasonable prices under all of the circumstances. The type of contract therefore has a direct effect upon the resulting price or cost to the Government. Type of contract and pricing are interrelated and should be so considered together in negotiation, in accordance with the provisions of § 3.803. In determining the type of contract to be utilized, consideration should be given to such factors as:

(1) Type and complexity of the item;

(2) Urgency of the requirement;

(3) The period of contract performance and the length of the production run;

(4) Degree of competition present;

(5) Difficulty of estimating performance costs due to such factors as the lack of firm specifications, the lack of production experience, or the instability of design;

(6) Availability of comparative price data, or lack of firm market prices or wage levels;

(7) Prior experience with the contractor;

(8) Extent and nature of subcontracting contemplated;

(9) Assumption of business risk;

(10 Technical capability and financial responsibility of the contractor; and

(11) Administrative costs of both parties.

Early agreement should be reached between the Government and the contractor on the type of contract best suited to the procurement. Except in the case of a firm fixed-price contract, contract files shall include documentation to show the reasons why the particular contract type was utilized.

(b) Research and development. A fixed-price contract normally should not be used to contract for research and development work unless the work to be performed can be described with a reasonable degree of definiteness, sufficient pricing information is available to assure that the contract price will be fair and reasonable, a definite period of performance can be specified, and successful performance of the contract is not dependent upon a breakthrough in the state of the art.

§ 3.403 Fixed-price type contracts.

The fixed-price type contract generally provides for a firm price, or under appropriate circumstances may provide for an adjustable price, for the supplies or services which are being procured. In providing for an adjustable price, the contract may fix a ceiling price, target price (including target cost), or minimum price. However, unless otherwise provided in the contract, any such ceiling, target, or minimum price is subject to adjustment resulting solely from the operation of any contract clause which provides for equitable adjustment, escalation, or other revision of the contract price upon the occurrence of an event or a contingency. Fixed-price contracts are of several types so designed as to facilitate proper pricing under varying circumstances.

§ 3.403–1 Firm fixed-price contract.

(a) Description. The firm fixed-price contract provides for a price which is not subject to any adjustment by reason of the cost experience of the contractor in the performance of the contract. This type of contract, when appropriately applied as set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, places the maximum risk and responsibility upon the contractor and affords him the greatest incentive for efficient performance with the resultant benefits in earnings. Utilization of the firm fixed-price contract imposes a minimum administrative burden on the contracting parties.

(b) Applicability. The firm fixed-price contract is suitable for use in procurements when stable and reasonably definite specifications are available and when fair and reasonable pricing can be achieved, such as where (1) adequate competition has made initial quotations effective; (2) prior purchases of the same or similar supplies or services provide reasonable price comparison; (3) experienced cost information or sound estimates of the probable cost of performance are available in the negotiation of contract prices; or (4) any other reliable basis for proper pricing can be utilized consistent with the purpose of this type of contract. The firm fixed-price contract is particularly suitable in the purchase of standard commercial items, modified commercial items, or military items for which adequate information on production and cost is available.

(c) Limitation. The firm fixed-price contract shall not be used when contingencies proposed in the contract price are considered unreasonable.

§ 3.403–2 Fixed-price contract with escalation.

(a) Description. The fixed-price contract with escalation provides for the upward and downward revision of the stated contract price upon the occurrence of certain contingencies which are specifically defined in the contract. These contingencies should be limited to those beyond the normal control of the contractor. The business risk of the contractor in a fixed-price contract is reduced by the inclusion of escalation provisions in which the Government agrees to revise the stated price upon the happening of the prescribed contingency. Where escalation is agreed upon, upward adjustments shall be limited by the establishment of a reasonable ceiling, and provisions will be included for downward adjustments in those instances where the prices or rates fall below the base levels provided in the contract. In the establishment of the base levels from which escalation will operate, contingency allowances shall be eliminated from the base to be set forth in the contract to the extent that escalation is provided for any particular contingency. Generally, escalation provisions are of two broad types:

(1) Price escalation provides for adjustment of the contract price on the basis of increases or decreases from an agreed upon level in published or established prices of specific items or in price levels of the contract end items.

(2) Labor and material escalation provides for adjustment of the contract price on the basis of increases or decreases from agreed standards or indices in wage rates, specific material costs, or both.

(b) Applicability. Use of this type of contract is appropriate where serious doubt exists as to the stability of market and labor conditions which will exist during an extended period of production and contingencies which would otherwise be included in a firm fixed-price contract are identifiable and can be covered separately by escalation. Its usefulness is limited by the difficulties inherent in its administration.

(1) Price escalation may be used under the conditions stated above when the items to which escalation will be applied are standard materials or articles normally sold at "established" or "published" prices in a competitive commercial market or are modifications thereof the prices of which can be reasonably related to the prices of such standard materials or articles.

(2) Labor and material escalation generally is suitable for use when the types and kinds of labor and material that the contractor intends to use in the performance of a contract that covers an extended period of time prevents him from accepting the full risk of possible cost increases and the Government is unwilling to accept the proposed contingency factors.

(c) Limitation. Escalation shall not be used to provide protection against contingencies arising from the lack of accurate estimates of the quantities of labor or material required for performance of the contract.

§ 3.403–3 Fixed-price contract providing for the redetermination of price.

(a) General—(1) Description. The fixed-price contract providing for the redetermination of price calls for the subsequent negotiated adjustment, in whole or in part, of the initially negotiated (base) price. Consistent with the particular form of price redetermination clause selected, the contract price should be adjusted upward or downward at times prescribed in the contract or at the demand of either party either during or after the period of contract performance and such adjusted price may be prospective, retroactive, or both. Price redetermination clauses provide a contractual method for shifting certain risks from the contractor to the Government in order to eliminate or minimize the inclusion of contingency allowances in the price. Five types of redetermination clauses are available in accordance with the criteria for their use set forth in paragraph (b) of this section.

(2) Applicability. These price redetermination clauses are suitable for use in varying degrees in negotiated contracts where (i) adequate estimates of quantities of material and labor are not initially available; (ii) specifications adequate for a firm fixed-price are not initially available; (iii) sound initial estimates of total cost of performance cannot be made; (iv) effective competition or other reasonable justification of price is not available; or (v) where the use of price redetermination would otherwise materially assist in effecting fair and reasonable pricing.

(3) Limitations. This type of contract should not be used unless—

(i) It has been determined through negotiation that the particular type price redetermination contract fulfills more completely than any other type of contract the requirements established by the conditions surrounding the procurement.

(ii) There is at the outset, or will be available at a point early in contract performance, sufficient pricing information available to negotiate a prospective fixed or target price.

(iii) The initial price is substantially free of contingency allowances.

(iv) A firm fixed price can be established at a point substantially in advance of contract completion, except as to retroactive adjustment as provided in paragraph (b) (5) of this section.

(v) Reasonable assurance exists that contract price redetermination can be accomplished on a timely basis.

(vi) The contractor's accounting system is adequate for contract price redetermination purposes.

(vii) Cost of administration is not prohibitive.

(b) Types of price redetermination clauses—(1) Prospective periodic price redeterminations at stated intervals—(i) Description. This clause provides for a firm fixed price for an initial period of contract deliveries or performance and for prospective price redeterminations either upward or downward at stated intervals during the performance of the contract.

(ii) Applicability. This clause is appropriate for use in procurements calling for quantity production or services where it is possible to negotiate fair and reasonable firm fixed prices for the initial period but not for subsequent stated periods of contract performance. This initial period should be reasonably long so as to include the maximum deliveries and cover the longest period of contract performance for which it is possible to establish fair and reasonable prices at the time of original negotiation. The length of the prospective pricing periods should depend on the circumstances of each case and should generally range from 6 to 12 months each.

(iii) Limitations. This clause should be used only when the prospective pricing periods can be made to conform with the operation of the contractor's accounting system. A price ceiling may be established for this type of contract in accordance with the policy set forth in paragraph (c) of this section when appropriate.

(2) Prospective price redeterminations on request—(i) Description. This clause provides for a fixed price for the entire contract subject to limited demands by either party for prospective price redetermination either upward or downward.

(ii) Applicability. This clause is appropriate for use in procurements calling for quantity production or service where it is possible to negotiate fair and reasonable firm fixed prices for the entire contract but the length of contract performance makes it desirable for the parties to reserve the option to adjust price prospectively due to unforeseen causes beyond the normal risks inherent in a firm fixed-price contract.

(iii) Limitations. This clause should be used only when (a) the procurement is susceptible of being firm fixed priced for the entire contract except for contingencies due to the length of contract performance; (b) the initially negotiated price shall remain in effect without change for a substantial period of performance, but only in exceptional cases shall this period be less than 6 months; and (c) the first redetermined price and any subsequent redetermined prices shall remain in effect for a substantial portion of the remaining period of contract performance but only in exceptional cases shall price redetermination requests be provided for more frequently than every 6 months after the initial price redetermination. A price ceiling may be established for this type of contract in accordance with the policy set forth in paragraph (c) of this section when appropriate.

(3) Retroactive and prospective price redetermination at a stated time prior to completion—(i) Description. This clause provides for retroactive and prospective redetermination of prices either (a) upward or downward, or (b) downward only, at a designated time prior to completion of the contract, expressed in terms of deliveries, shop completion, a percentage of total contract performance on a cost incurred basis or any other reasonable basis. Generally, the time designated as the cutoff point for price redetermination purposes should be the earliest practicable and generally should not exceed 20 percent of deliveries, 20 percent of shop completion, or 40 percent of cost of performance on a cost incurred basis, as compared with the initial estimates. The redetermined price may apply to all supplies or services delivered under the contract.

(ii) Applicability. This clause is appropriate for use in contracts when it is impracticable to establish firm fixed prices at the time of contract negotiation but the contracting parties are reasonably certain that firm fixed prices can be negotiated prior to the performance of 60 percent of the contract on a cost incurred basis.

(iii) Limitations. This clause should be used only when (a) the initial negotiated price is a reasonable estimate sufficient to establish a billing price; (b) there is sufficient time of contract performance to accomplish the price redetermination prior to completion of 60 percent of the contract on a cost incurred basis, and (c) the estimated value of the procurement is in excess of $100,000. A price ceiling shall be established for this type of contract in accordance with the policy set forth in paragraph (c) of this section.

(4) Retroactive and prospective price redetermination including further prospective redetermination on request—(i) Description. This clause provides all the features and is subject to the same repricing limitations of the clause described in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph with the additional provision for limited further prospective price redetermination upon written demand by either contractual party. Such further price redetermination is applicable only to supplies or services furnished after the effective date as specified in the request or the date of receipt of the request which ever is later. This clause also provides a limitation on the frequency of these additional requests.

(ii) Applicability. This clause is appropriate for use when it is impracticable to establish firm fixed prices at the time of contract negotiation, but when the contracting parties are reasonably certain that fair and reasonable firm fixed prices can be negotiated for the entire contract prior to the performance of 60 percent of the contract on a cost incurred basis.

(iii) Limitations. Subject to the same limitations contained in subparagraph (3) (iii) of this paragraph this clause should be used only when subsequent prospective price redeterminations may occur no more frequently than every 6 months after the initial price redetermination. Under this type of contract a price ceiling shall be provided for the period covered by the initial (i. e., retroactive and prospective) repricing action. After the initial repricing action the use of a price ceiling is optional. Any price ceiling shall be in accordance with the policy set forth in paragraph (c) of this section.

(5) Retroactive price redetermination after completion—(i) Description. This clause provides for a ceiling price and retroactive price redetermination after completion of the contract.

(ii) Applicability. This clause is designed for use in contracts where, but for special or unusual circumstances, a cost reimbursement type contract would normally be used. This clause should ordinarily be used only where the amount involved is relatively small or the time for performance is relatively short and then only after negotiation of an initial price as fair and reasonable as circumstances of the particular procurement will then permit.

(iii) Limitation. This clause shall only be used upon the written approval of (a) Office of the Deputy Chief of Staff for Logistics or Offices of Heads of the Technical Services, for the Army; (b) Office of Naval Material, for the Navy; and (c) Headquarters, Air Materiel Command, for the Air Force. The criteria for the use and submitting of requests for approval within each respective Department shall be the responsibility of the aforementioned offices. A price ceiling shall be established for this type of contract in accordance with the policy set forth in paragraph (c) of this section.

(6) Modified retroactive and prospective price redetermination for follow-on contracts—(i) Description. This clause provides for gearing price redetermination under a follow-on contract to repricing under a preceding contract where both contracts together cover continuing production of similar supplies.

(ii) Applicability. This clause is suitable in the case of a follow-on contract which is otherwise suitable for retroactive and prospective price redetermination (with or without further optional prospective price redeterminations) where contract performance is to overlap performance of a preceding contract. It may be used where the preceding contract provides for (a) retroactive and prospective price redetermination at a stated time prior to completion, (b) retroactive and prospective price redetermination including further price redetermination on request, (c) retroactive price redetermination after completion, or (d) fixed-price incentive price revision.

(iii) Limitation. This clause shall be used only if the follow-on contract meets the criteria of subparagraph (3) or (4) of this paragraph.

(c) Ceiling price provision. (1) Ceiling prices should be established at levels which provide reasonable risk assumption by the contractor. The ceiling to individual contract after giving conbe used should be determined for each sideration to such factors as the state of the art of the item being contracted for and the ability or inability to estimate accurately the labor or material costs involved in performance.

(2) Ceiling prices may be subject to adjustment by reason of the operation of other contract clauses. (See § 3.403.)

§ 3.403–4 Fixed-price incentive contracts.

(a) Description—(1) General. The fixed-price incentive contract is a fixed-price type contract with provision for adjustment of total target profit and establishment of the final contract price by a formula based on the relationship which final negotiated total cost bears to total target cost.

(2) Initial target. Under this type of incentive contract there is negotiated at the outset a target cost, a target profit, a price ceiling and a final profit and price adjustment formula. The formula may also provide, within the price ceiling, for a ceiling, a floor, or both on final profit. The formula should reflect the risks involved. After performance of the contract, the final cost is negotiated and the final contract price is then established in accordance with the formula. Where the final cost is less than the target cost, the formula provides for a final profit above the target profit; conversely, where the final cost is more than the target cost, the formula provides for a final profit below the target profit. Thus, the formula provides for sharing cost savings or, within the price ceiling, excesses, as revealed by a comparison of final cost with target cost. The increase or decrease in the actual profit included in the final price is thus designed to provide in advance a calculable incentive to the contractor for efficiency in performance.

(3) Successive targets. Under this type of incentive contract there is negotiated at the outset an initial target cost, an initial target profit, a price ceiling, a formula for fixing the firm target profit, and a production point at which the formula will be applied. Generally, the production point will be prior to delivery or shop completion of the first item. This formula does not apply to the life of the contract but simply fixes the firm target profit for the contract. The formula for fixing the firm target profit may also provide for a ceiling and floor on the firm target profit, but not one without the other. When the production point for applying the formula is reached, the firm target cost is then negotiated, giving consideration to experienced cost and all other pertinent factors, and the firm target profit is automatically determined in accordance with the formula which then passes out of existence. At this point, two alternatives are possible. First, if the remaining performance of the contract provides opportunity for application of an incentive arrangement for additional and substantial reductions in cost, a final profit and price adjustment formula may be negotiated, using the firm target profit and the firm target cost. As in the initial target type of contract described in (a) (2) above, the final cost is negotiated at the completion of the contract and the final contract price is then established in accordance with the final profit and price adjustment formula. Second, if the firm target cost plus the firm target profit present a price which is reasonable and provides normal business risks to the contractor for the performance of the contract, the price may be established as a firm fixed price.

(4) Billing price. In either of the above types of contract, a billing price will be established as an interim basis for payment. This billing price may be adjusted within the ceiling limits, upon request of either party to the contract, when it becomes apparent that final negotiated costs will be substantially different from the target cost.

(b) Applicability. (1) The initial target type of incentive contract, described in paragraph (a) (2) of this section, is appropriate for use where targets which are reasonably free of contingencies and which provide a fair and reasonable incentive can be established at the outset.

(2) The successive targets type of incentive contract, described in paragraph (a) (3) of this section, is appropriate for use where the contractor's and the Government's knowledge of probable cost of performance, though substantial, is so indefinite that fair, firm targets cannot be established at the outset, but will become sufficiently definite at an early point in the performance of the contract to permit negotiation of targets which are reasonably free of contingencies and which provide a fair and reasonable incentive.

(3) Neither type of incentive contract should be used unless there is a sufficiently long period of performance to permit achievement of substantial cost reductions.

(c) Limitations. Fixed-price incentive contracts shall not be used unless the contractor's accounting system is adequate for price revision purposes and permits satisfactory application of the profit and price adjustment formulas. In no case should such contracts be used where (i) reliable cost estimates are not available at the time of initial contract negotiation or at a very early point in performance, or (ii) the sole or principal purpose is to shift substantially all of the risk of performance to the Government. In no case shall the firm target profit or the final profit and price adjustment formula be established prior to the establishment of the firm target cost. Neither type of incentive contract shall be used unless a determination has been made, in accordance with the requirements of Subpart C of this part, that—

(1) Such method of contracting is likely to be less costly than other methods, or

(2) It is impractical to secure supplies or services of the kind or quality required without the use of such type of contract. The successive targets type of contract, described in paragraph (a) (3) of this section, shall be used only after written approval by (i) Office of the Deputy Chief of Staff for Logistics or Offices of Heads of the Technical Services, for the Army, (ii) Office of Naval Material, for the Navy, and (iii) Headquarters, Air Material Command, for the Air Force.

§ 3.404 Cost-reimbursement type contract.

(a) Description. The cost-reimbursement type of contract provides for payment to the contractor of allowable costs incurred in the performance of the contract, to the extent prescribed in the contract. This type of contract establishes an estimate of total cost for the purpose of (i) obligation of funds, and (ii) establishing a ceiling which the contractor may not exceed (except at his own risk) without prior approval or subsequent ratification of the contracting officer. A cost-reimbursement type contract may, to the extent authorized by Subpart G of this part, provide for negotiated fixed overhead rates.

(b) Applicability. The cost-reimbursement type contract is suitable for use when the nature and complexity of the procurement is such that costs of performance cannot be estimated with reasonable accuracy. In addition, it is essential that (1) the contractor's cost accounting system is adequate for the determination of costs applicable to the contract and (2) appropriate surveillance by Government personnel during performance will give reasonable assurance that inefficient or wasteful methods are not being used. While cost-reimbursement contracts are particularly useful for procurements involving substantial amounts, i. e., estimated cost of $25,000 or more, the Contracting Officer may determine in a given case to utilize this type of contract to cover transactions in which the estimated costs are less than $25,000.

(c) Limitations. The cost-reimbursement type contract may be used only after a determination, in accordance with the requirements of Subpart C of this part, that:

(1) Such method of contracting is likely to be less costly than other methods, or

(2) It is impractical to secure supplies or services of the kind or quality required without the use of such type of contract.

§ 3.404–1 Cost contract.

(a) Description. The cost contract is a cost-reimbursement type contract under which the contractor receives no fee.

(b) Applicability. The following are illustrative situations in which the use of this type of contract may be appropriate.

(1) Research and development work particularly with nonprofit educational institutions or other nonprofit organizations.

(2) Facilities contracts.

(3) Initial small quantity procurements of new items with anticipated subsequent large production runs.

§ 3.404–2 Cost-sharing contract.

(a) Description. A cost-sharing contract is a cost-reimbursement type contract under which the contractor receives no fee but is reimbursed only for an agreed portion of its allowable costs.

(b) Applicability. A cost-sharing contract is suitable for use for those procurements which cover production or research projects which are jointly sponsored by the Government and the contractor with benefit to the contractor in lieu of full monetary reimbursement of costs. In consideration of this benefit, the contractor agrees to absorb a portion of the costs of performance. The following are illustrative situations in which this type of contract is generally desirable.

(1) Jointly sponsored research and development work with nonprofit educational institutions or other nonprofit organizations.

(2) Other research and development work where the results of the contract may have commercial benefit to the contractor.

§ 3.404–3 Cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contract.

(a) Description. The cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contract is a cost reimbursement type of contract which provides for the payment of a fixed fee to the contractor. The fixed fee once negotiated does not vary with actual cost, but may be adjusted as a result of any subsequent changes in the work or services to be performed under the contract.

(b) Applicability. The cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contract is suitable for use when a cost-reimbursement type of contract is appropriate, as provided in § 3.404 (b), and when the parties agree that the procurement should be profit bearing in the form of a fixed fee. The following are illustrative situations in which this type of contract may be appropriate:

(1) Research and development work where the scope and nature thereof cannot be definitely specified.

(2) Definite specifications exist but the contractor lacks a valid basis for estimating costs because the supplies called for are not items regularly manufactured, or the services called for have not been previously performed, or partial experience will not reveal a proper pricing level for the remainder of the production.

(3) Production or construction contracts where the specifications are not complete or where major changes substantially affecting the scope of the work are expected.

(4) Work to be performed in a Government-owned plant with the use of Government-owned facilities.

(c) Limitations. 10 U. S. C. 2306 (d) provides that in the case of a cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contract the fee shall not exceed 10 per centum of the estimated cost of the contract, exclusive of the fee, as determined by the Secretary of the Department concerned at the time of entering into such contract (except that a fee not in excess of 15 per centum of such estimated cost is authorized in any such contract for experimental, developmental, or research work and that a fee inclusive of the contractor's cost and not in excess of 6 per centum of the estimated cost, exclusive of fees, as determined by the Secretary of the Department concerned at the time of entering into the contract, of the project to which such fee is applicable is authorized in contracts for architectural or engineering services relating to any public works or utility projects). The Head of a procuring activity in the Departments of the Army and Navy and the Director of Procurement and Production of a Major Command in the Department of the Air Force or their duly authorized representatives are authorized to approve fixed fees not in excess of (1) ten per centum (10) of the estimated costs, exclusive of fee, of any contract for experimental, developmental, or research work or (2) seven per centum (7) of the estimated cost, exclusive of fee, of any other contract except that in contracts for architectural or engineering services the fixed fee shall not exceed that authorized by the terms of the law as set forth above. In appropriate cases, fees above the prescribed limits in the authorizations granted herein but within the limitations of the law may be authorized by the Secretary of the Department concerned or his designees.

(d) Contractors' investment in work-in-process. (1) It is the policy of the Department of Defense that contractors having cost-reimbursement type contracts should maintain a reasonable investment in the supplies and facilities acquired and in the services rendered in the performance of such contracts. This investment provides a strong incentive for the contractor to strive for greater efficiency and economy and better management, with resultant lower costs to the Government.

(2) In keeping with this policy, cost-reimbursement type contracts other than those set forth below shall provide for interim payment of not to exceed 80 percent of the costs incurred by the contractor in the performance of the contract:

(i) Contracts under which the contractors receive no fee or profit;

(ii) Contracts with educational institutions or nonprofit organizations;

(iii) Contracts solely for the operation of Government-owned plants or vessels;

(iv) Contracts with small business concerns;

(v) Contracts for research and development which do not provide for quantity production;

(vi) Contracts for performance outside the United States, its Territories, its possessions, and Puerto Rico;

(vii) Contracts having an estimated cost not in excess of $250,000;

(viii) Contracts for construction and architect-engineer services;

(ix) Contracts for scientific, technical, or engineering services (including systems design and testing and evaluation services);

(x) Contracts calling for maintenance, repair, and overhaul services in which the normal or anticipated time between the furnishing of items by the Government to the contractors for performance of the services and the delivery of the items to the Government after performance is less than three months; or

(xi) As determined by the Secretary concerned, contracts in which the application of the policy set forth in (1) above would impose undue hardship on the contractor or adversely affect the interests of the Government.

The appropriate one of the clauses set forth in § 7.203–4 shall be inserted in all cost-reimbursement type supply contracts. In all other cost-reimbursement type contracts to which the policy set forth in this § 3.404–3(d) applies, insert the clause set forth in § 7.203–4 (a) or (b), appropriately modified.

§ 3.404–4 Cost-plus-incentive-fee contract.

(a) Description. The cost-plus-incentive-fee contract is a cost-reimbursement-type contract with provision for a fee which is adjusted by formula in accordance with the relationship which total allowable costs bear to target costs. Under this type of contract, there is negotiated initially a target cost, a target fee, a minimum and maximum fee, and a fee adjustment formula. After performance of the contract, the fee payable to the contractor is determined in accordance with the formula. The formula provides, within limits, for increases in fee above target fee when total allowable costs are less than target costs, and decreases in fee below target fee when total allowable costs exceed target costs. The provision for increase or decrease in the fee is designed as an incentive to the contractor to increase the efficiency of performance.

(b) Applicability. The cost-plus-incentive-fee contract is suitable for use where a cost-reimbursement-type of contract is found necessary and where there is a probability that its use will result in lower costs to the Government than other forms of cost-reimbursement-type contracts through cost reduction incentive to the contractor.

(c) Limitation. The target and the maximum fee shall be subject to the administrative limitations stated in paragraph (c) of § 3.404–3.

(d) Contractors' investment in work-in-process. See § 3.404–3 (d).

§ 3.405 Other types of contracts.

§ 3.405–1 Time and materials contract.

(a) Description. The time and materials type of contract provides for the procurement of supplies or services on the basis of (1) direct labor hours at specified fixed hourly rates (which rates include direct and indirect labor, overhead, and profit) and (2) material at cost. Material handling costs may be included in the charge for "material at cost," to the extent they are clearly excluded from any factor of the charge computed against direct labor hours. This type of contract may establish either a price ceiling, or a ceiling amount which the contractor may not exceed (except at his own risk).

(b) Applicability. The time and materials contract is used only in those situations where it is not possible at the time of placing the contract to estimate the extent or duration of the work or to anticipate costs with any substantial accuracy. Particular care should be exercised in the use of this type of contract since its nature does not encourage efficiency. Thus it is essential that this type of contract be used only where provision is made for adequate controls, including appropriate surveillance by Government personnel during performance, to give reasonable assurance that inefficient or wasteful methods are not being used. This type of contract may be used in the procurement of (1) engineering and design services in connection with the production of supplies; (2) the engineering, design and manufacture of dies, jigs, fixtures, gauges, and special machine tools; (3) repair, maintenance or overhaul work, and (4) work to be performed in emergency situations.

(c) Limitation. This type of contract may be used only after determination that no other type of contract will suitably serve.

§ 3.405–2 Labor-hour contract.

(a) Description. The labor-hour type of contract is a variant of the time and materials type contract differing only in that materials are not involved in the contract or are not supplied by the contractor.

(b) Applicability. The labor-hour type of contract is applicable in those procurements described for the time and materials type contract, but in situations in which contractor-furnished materials are not involved.

(c) Limitations. This type of contract may be used only after determination that no other type of contract will suitably serve.

§ 3.405–3 Letter contract.

(a) Description. A letter contract is a written preliminary contractual instrument which authorizes immediate commencement of manufacture of supplies, or performance of services, including, but not limited to, preproduction planning and the procurement of necessary materials.

(b) Applicability. A letter contract may be entered into when (1) the interests of national defense demand that the contractor be given a binding commitment so that work can be commenced immediately, and (2) negotiation of a definitive contract in sufficient time to meet the procurement need is not possible, as, for example, when the nature of the work involved prevents the preparation of definitive requirements, specifications, or cost data.

(c) Limitations. (1) A letter contract shall be used only after a determination in accordance with Departmental procedures that no other type of contract is suitable.

(2) A letter contract shall not be entered into without competition when competition is practicable.

(3) A letter contract shall be superseded by a definitive contract at the earliest practicable date. This date shall be prior to:

(i) the expiration of 180 days from the date of the letter contract; or

(ii) 40 percent of the production of the supplies, or the performance of the work, called for under the contract; whichever occurs first. In extreme cases, an additional period may be authorized in accordance with Departmental procedures.

(4) The maximum liability of the Government stated in the letter contract generally shall not exceed 50 percent of the total estimated cost of the procurement, but this liability may be increased in accordance with Departmental procedures.

(d) Content. Letter contracts shall be specifically negotiated and shall, as a minimum requirement, include agreement as to the following:

(1) That the contractor will proceed immediately with performance of the contract, including procurement of necessary materials;

(2) The extent and method of payments in the event of termination either for the convenience of the Government or for default;

(3) That the contractor is not authorized to expend moneys or incur obligations in excess of the maximum liability of the Government as stated in the letter contract;

(4) The type of definitive contract;

(5) As many definitive contract provisions as possible;

(6) That the contractor shall provide such price and cost information as may reasonably be required by the Contracting Officer;

(7) That the contractor and the Government shall promptly enter into negotiations in good faith to reach agreement upon and execute a definitive contract.

§ 3.405–4 Basic agreement.

(a) Description. A basic agreement is a written instrument of understanding executed between a Department or procuring activity and a contractor which sets forth the negotiated contract clauses which shall be applicable to future procurements entered into between the parties during the term of the basic agreement. The use of the basic agreement contemplates the coverage of a particular procurement by the execution of a formal contractual document which will provide for the scope of the work, price, delivery, and additional matters peculiar to the requirements of the specific procurement involved, and shall incorporate by reference or append the contract clauses agreed upon in the basic agreement, as required or applicable.

(b) Applicability. (1) Basic agreements are appropriate for use when (i) past experience and future plans indicate that a substantial number of separate contracts may be entered into with a contractor during the term of the basic agreement, and (ii) substantial recurring negotiating problems exist with a particular contractor.

(2) Amendment or supersession. A basic agreement shall be amended only by an amendment of the basic agreement itself and shall not be modified or superseded by individual contracts or purchase orders entered into under and subject to the terms of such basic agreement. To minimize amendments, revisions to this subchapter involving changes in authorized contract clauses utilized in basic agreements will provide appropriate direction with respect to any required amendments of basic agreements and to the extent possible, amendments will be required only in matters resulting from changes in statutes, or executive orders. As a minimum, basic agreements will be reviewed annually on the anniversary of their effective date and revised at that time to conform with the current requirements of this subchapter. Amendments shall not have retroactive effect.

(3) Discontinuance of basic agreement. Basic agreements shall provide for discontinuance of their future application upon 30 days written notice by either party. Discontinuance of basic agreement will not affect any individual contract referencing the basic agreement (or the clauses appended thereto) entered into prior to the effective date of discontinuance.

(c) Limitations. (1) Basic agreements shall neither cite appropriations to be charged nor be used alone for the purpose of obligating funds.

(2) Basic agreements shall not in any manner provide for or imply any agreement on the part of the Government to place future orders or contracts with the contractor involved. Basic agreements shall not be used in any manner to restrict competition.

(3) Basic agreements shall be utilized only in connection with negotiated contracts.

§ 3.405–5 Indefinite delivery type contracts.

One of the following indefinite delivery type contracts may be used for procurements where the exact time of delivery is not known at time of contracting.

(a) Definite quantity contracts—(1) Description. This type of contract provides for a definite quantity of specified supplies or for the performance of specified services for a fixed period, with deliveries or performance at designated locations upon order. Depending on the situation, the contract may provide for: (i) Firm fixed-prices, (ii) price escalation, or (iii) price redetermination.

(2) Applicability. This type of contract is particularly suitable for use where it is known in advance that a definite quantity of supplies or services will be required during a specific period and are regularly available or will be available after a short lead time. Advantages of this type of contract are that it permits stocks in storage depots to be maintained at minimum levels and permits direct shipment to the user.

(b) Requirements contract—(1) Description. This type of contract provides for filling all actual purchase requirements of specific supplies or services of designated activities during a specified contract period with deliveries to be scheduled by the timely placement of orders upon the contractor by activities designated either specifically or by class. Depending on the situation, the contract may provide for: (i) Firm fixed-prices, (ii) price escalation, or (iii) price redetermination. An estimated total quantity is stated for the information of prospective contractors, which estimate should be as realistic as possible. The estimate may be obtained from the records of previous requirements and consumption, or by other means. Care should be used in writing and administering this type of contract to avoid imposition of an impossible burden on the contractor. Therefore, the contract shall state, where feasible, the maximum limit of the contractor's obligation to deliver and, in such event, shall also contain appropriate provision limiting the Government's obligation to order. When large individual orders or orders from more than one activity are anticipated, the contract may specify the maximum quantities which may be ordered under each individual order or during a specified period of time. Similarly, when small orders are anticipated, the contract may specify the minimum quantities to be ordered.

(2) Applicability. A requirements contract may be used for procurements where it is impossible to determine in advance the precise quantities of the supplies or services that will be needed by designated activities during a definite period of time. Advantages of this type of contract are:

(i) Flexibility with respect to both quantities and delivery scheduling;

(ii) Supplies or services need be ordered only after actual needs have materialized;

(iii) Where production lead time is involved, deliveries may be made more promptly because the contractor is usually willing to maintain limited stocks in view of the Government's commitment;

(iv) Price advantages or savings may be realized through combining several anticipated requirements into one quantity procurement; and

(v) It permits stocks to be maintained at minimum levels and allows direct shipment to the user.

Generally, the requirements contract is appropriate for use when the item or service is commercial or modified commercial in type and when a recurring need is anticipated.

(c) Indefinite quantity contract—(1) Description. This type of contract provides for the furnishing of an indefinite quantity, within stated limits, of specific supplies or services, during a specified contract period, with deliveries to be scheduled by the timely placement of orders upon the contractor by activities designated either specifically or by class. Depending on the situation, the contract may provide for: (i) Firm fixed-prices; (ii) price escalation, or (iii) price redetermination. The contract shall provide that during the contract period the Government shall order a stated minimum quantity of the supplies or services and that the contractor shall furnish such stated minimum and, if and as ordered, any additional quantities not exceeding a stated maximum which should be as realistic as possible. The maximum may be obtained from the records of previous requirements and consumption, or by other means. When large individual orders or orders from more than one activity are anticipated, the contract may specify the maximum quantities which may be ordered under each individual order or during a specified period of time. Similarly, when small orders are anticipated, the contract may specify the minimum quantities to be ordered.

(2) Applicability. An indefinite quantity contract may be used where it is impossible to determine in advance the precise quantities of the supplies or services that will be needed by designated activities during a definite period of time. Advantages of this type of contract are:

(i) Flexibility with respect to both quantities and delivery scheduling;

(ii) Supplies or services need be ordered only after actual needs have materialized;

(iii) The obligation of the Government is limited; and

(iv) It permits stocks to be maintained at minimum levels and allows direct shipment to the user.

The indefinite quantity contract should be used only when the item or service is commercial or modified commercial in type and when a recurring need is anticipated.

§ 3.406 Additional incentives.

§ 3.406–1 General.

In addition to the incentive features inherent in many of the contract types, and combinations thereof, described in §§ 3.403 through 3.405, there are other means of increasing incentives to contractors, which are described below.

§ 3.406–2 Performance-incentive contracts.

(a) Description. A performance-incentive contract is a contract which incorporates an incentive to the contractor to surpass stated targets by providing for increases in the fee or profit to the extent that such targets are surpassed and for decreases to the extent that such targets are not met. Salient features and considerations in the use of this type of contract are as follows:

(1) "Performance," as used in this § 3.406–2, refers not only to the performance of the article being procured, but to the performance of the contractor as well. It includes timeliness of delivery, capability and serviceability of the product, ease and simplicity of operation, economy of maintenance, etc. Performance which is the minimum which the Government will accept shall be mandatory under the terms of the contract and shall receive the minimum profit or fee. Performance which meets the stated targets will warrant the "target" profit or fee. Performance which surpasses these targets will be rewarded by additional profit or fee. The incentive feature (providing for increases or decreases, as appropriate) is applied to performance targets rather than performance requirements.

(2) The incentive feature (when applied to the product) should relate to specific performance characteristics, such as, speed of an aircraft or ship, thrust of an engine, maneuverability of a vehicle, fuel economy, etc. However, higher overall performance of the end item is the primary objective of such contracts. Accordingly, the incentive feature should reflect a balancing of the various characteristics which together account for overall performance, so that no one characteristic will be exaggerated to the detriment of the end item as a whole.

(3) Since performance tests are essential in order to determine the degree of attainment of performance targets, the contract must be as specific as possible in establishing test criteria; such as, conditions of testing, precision of instrumentation, and interpretation of test data.

(4) It is essential that there be explicit agreement between the Government and the contractor as to the effect on performance of contract changes (e.g., pursuant to the Changes clause).

(5) Care must be exercised, in establishing performance criteria, to give recognition to the fact that the contractor should not be rewarded or penalized for attainments of Government-furnished components.

(6) In establishing incentives in connection with delivery schedules, it is important to determine the Government's primary objectives in a given contract. In some instances, earliest possible delivery is of paramount importance. In others, early quantity production is essential. On the other hand, it may be that maintaining an established delivery schedule is all that is desired, and that a bettering of such schedule may disrupt continuity of production or run counter to funding limitations.

(b) Applicability. The performance-incentive contract is suitable for use in procurements where it is desired to provide the contractor with an incentive in the form of financial reward for surpassing stated performance targets, counterbalanced by a penalty in the form of decreased profit or fee for failure to achieve such targets. Such targets may be established as delivery schedules, performance of the end item, or, in the case of research and development contracts, as milestones of accomplishment. This type of contract is perhaps most suitable for use in procurements of major weapon systems wherein there are either substantial development goals or potentialities for improved performance which are of great importance to the Government. This type of contract poses complex problems in contract administration and should be used only after thorough evaluation of all the factors involved in each case by the contracting officer in conjunction with personnel fully qualified in contract pricing.

(c) Limitations. (1) Since the performance-incentive feature may result in increased costs, this feature should generally be used with fixed-price incentive (§ 3.403–4) or cost-plus-incentive-fee provisions (§ 3.404–4).

(2) In the case of contracts involving a fee, the maximum fee shall be subject to the administrative limitations stated in § 3.404–3(c).

(3) The performance-incentive contract shall be used only upon the written approval of (i) Office of the Deputy Chief of Staff for Logistics, for the Army; (ii) Office of Naval Material, for the Navy; and (iii) Headquarters, Air Materiel Command, for the Air Force. Submission of requests for approval shall be in accordance with Departmental procedures.

§ 3.406–3 Contracts with value engineering incentives.

(a) Description. Value engineering incentive provisions may either require or encourage the contractor to maintain a staff devoting time and effort to "value engineering studies" to reduce costs under the contract in return for which the contractor receives a stated percentage of the resulting savings. A "value engineering study" is an intensive appraisal of all the elements of the design, manufacture or construction, procurement, inspection, installation, and maintenance of an item and its components, including the applicable specifications and operational requirements, in order to achieve the necessary performance, maintainability, and reliability of the item at minimum cost. The purpose of value engineering is to make certain that every element of cost (e.g., labor, material, supplies, styling, and services) contributes proportionately to the function of the item. The Government shall make reasonable efforts to expedite the analysis of each study submitted by the contractor. Where a change recommended by a study is adopted, a change order is issued under the Changes clause, together with a reduction in the contract price corresponding to the agreed percentage of the cost reduction. The Government does not have to adopt any study and failure to do so is not subject to the Disputes clause of the contract.

(b) Applicability. Value engineering incentive provisions are suitable primarily where the items being procured are covered by firm Government specifications.

(c) Limitations. Value engineering incentive provisions shall be used only upon the written approval of the Head of a Procuring Activity.

Subpart E—[Reserved]

Subpart F—Small Purchases

§ 3.600 Scope of Subpart.

This subpart deals with the purchase of supplies and services (other than personal) when the aggregate amount involved in any one transaction does not exceed $2,500. Such purchases shall be termed "small purchases." This subpart is not applicable to supplies or services required to be procured in accordance with Part 5 of this subchapter (except as specifically provided therein), nor to any procurement initially estimated to exceed $2,500 even though awards under such procurements do not exceed $2,500.

§ 3.601 Purpose.

The objective of the simplified purchase methods prescribed in this subpart is to reduce the administrative costs in accomplishing small purchases and to eliminate costly and time-consuming paper processes. This objective can be accomplished only by effective application of these simplified purchase methods at operating levels and through continued study of small purchase practices at all procurement levels.

§ 3.602 Policy.

(a) All small purchases shall be accomplished by negotiation.

(b) Any one of the purchase methods set forth in this subpart, which is determined to be most suitable to the immediate requirement and which will accomplish the procurement in the most efficient and economical manner shall be utilized.

(c) In arriving at the aggregate amount involved in any one transaction, there must be included all supplies and services which would properly be grouped together in a single transaction, and which would be included in a single advertisement for bids if the procurement were being effected by formal advertising. Requirements aggregating more than $2,500 shall not be broken down into several purchases which are less than $2,500 merely for the purpose of permitting negotiation or utilizing the small purchase methods authorized under this subpart.

(d) In soliciting quotations, related items (such as small hardware items, spare parts for vehicles, or office supplies, etc.) may be included on one purchase order and the lowest aggregate quotation rather than the lowest quotation on each item may be accepted. Suppliers shall be advised of this award procedure when quotations are requested.

§ 3.603 Competition.

Reasonable solicitation of quotations from qualified sources of supply shall be secured in order to assure that the procurement is made to the advantage of the Government, price and other factors considered, including the administrative cost of the purchase. Generally, solicitation shall be limited to three suppliers or the number of suppliers in the local trade area, whichever is less. Where the prices are considered to be reasonable, small purchases not exceeding $250 may be accomplished without securing competitive quotations, but such purchases shall be distributed equitably over a period of time among qualified suppliers. Reasonableness of proposed prices may be established by comparison with previous purchases, current price lists, catalogues, advertisements, or by any other appropriate method. Solicitation of quotations will generally be effected orally. Written solicitation should be used only in such circumstances as where (a) the suppliers are located outside the local area, (b) special specifications are involved, (c) a large number of items are included in a single proposed procurement, or (d) obtaining oral quotations is not considered economical. Notifications to unsuccessful suppliers is not required.

§ 3.604 Imprest funds (petty cash) method.

Imprest funds are funds not exceeding $5,000 advanced by a disbursing officer to a duly authorized agent for the "spot-cash" or c.o.d. payment for small quantities of supplies or services (other than personal).

§ 3.604–1 Conditions for use.

Imprest funds shall be used in accomplishing small purchases whenever all of the following conditions are present:

(a) The transaction is not in excess of $100;

(b) The supplies or services are immediately available, with cash payment to be made immediately upon pickup or delivery, whether at the supplier's place of business or at destination;

(c) The purchase does not require detailed technical specifications or technical inspection; and

(d) The use of imprest funds is administratively more economical and efficient than other small purchase methods.

§ 3.604–2 Documentation.

Except as hereinafter provided, no purchase order shall be issued where cash payment is to be made from imprest funds. However, all such purchases shall be supported either (a) by a sales document of the vendor, such as an original bill, sales slip, cash register ticket, or invoice, or (b) by Standard Form 1165 (Receipt for Cash-Subvoucher), or equivalent authorized form, any of which shall itemize the supplies or services purchased and the amount paid, and must be signed by the vendor or his agent so as to acknowledge receipt of payment. Where the purchase amount is less than $3 and it is impossible to secure a sales document of the vendor, the Government employee making the purchase shall execute a Standard Form 1165 (or equivalent authorized form). In those instances where a purchase document is required by the vendor to obtain Government discounts or tax exemption or for other purposes, any authorized appropriate form may be used and shall be endorsed "Payment to be made in cash", if the vendor is to make delivery, or "Ship c. o. d.", if shipment is by parcel post or carrier.

§ 3.604–3 Cash discounts.

When effecting cash purchases, purchasing offices shall secure cash discounts to the extent obtainable.

§ 3.604–4 Delivery of cash purchases by suppliers.

Cash purchases on a delivered basis are preferable to pickups effected by Government vehicle and personnel, unless such pickups can be made as an incident to other operations or are otherwise advantageous. Imprest Funds payments for such purchases may include the cost of c.o.d., parcel post, or other delivery charges.

§ 3.605 Order-invoice-voucher method.

Standard Form 44 (Purchase Order-Invoice-Voucher) consists of four copies, i.e., a seller's invoice, seller's copy of invoice, receiving report, and memorandum copy. The use of an additional copy is authorized when essential to operating procedures.

§ 3.605–1 Limitations on use.

Standard Form 44 is authorized for accomplishing small purchases only when all of the following conditions are satisfied:

(a) The transaction is not in excess of $2,500;

(b) The supplies or services are immediately available from the local trade area;

(c) One delivery and one payment will be made; and

(d) The use is determined to be more economical and efficient than other small purchase methods.

§ 3.605–2 Examples of use.

Examples as to the appropriate use of Standard Form 44 are as follows: (a) Over-the-counter purchases, (b) purchases made by authorized individuals while away from the purchasing office; and (c) purchases at isolated stations.

§ 3.606 Blanket purchase agreement method.

§ 3.606–1 General.

The blanket purchase agreement method provides a means—of establishing "charge accounts" with qualified sources of supply to cover anticipated small purchases, as required, of readily available items of the same general category, and obviates the need for the issuance of a multiplicity of individual purchase instruments for small quantities of supplies. To the extent practicable, blanket purchase agreements for like items should be placed concurrently with more than one supplier. Requests against such agreements shall be placed only after compliance with § 3.603.

§ 3.606–2 Establishment of blanket purchase agreement.

Blanket purchase agreements may be established by the issuance of a purchase order which shall provide that:

(a) The supplier shall furnish supplies or services, described therein in general terms, if and when requested by the contracting officer or his authorized representative during a specified period and within a stipulated aggregate amount, Provided, however, That no individual request shall exceed $2,500;

(b) The Government is obligated only to the extent of such requests as are actually made against the blanket purchase agreement;

(c) The supplier's established price lists and discounts shall apply to all requests issued against the blanket purchase agreement;

(d) Requests shall generally be made orally, except that informal correspondence may be used where more convenient;

(e) All delivery tickets issued by the supplier shall fully identify the blanket purchase agreement, the date the request was made, the items, the prices, and other relevant data, and be signed by the Government employee who receives the items; and

(f) The supplier shall submit an itemized invoice not less frequently than once each month, or upon expiration of the blanket purchase agreement, whichever first occurs, covering all deliveries made under the blanket purchase agreement not previously invoiced and paid for, with payment to be made on the basis of this invoice.

§ 3.606–3 Conditions for use.

Blanket purchase agreements are authorized when—

(a) There is a repetitive need for small quantities of supplies or services of closely related types, such as electrical supplies, plumbing supplies, repair parts or services, or miscellaneous items of hardware;

(b) The maximum aggregate amount of all requests to be issued against one blanket purchase agreement shall not exceed the amount, if any specified in departmental procedures and the maximum period of time covered by the blanket purchase agreement shall not exceed the period, if any, specified in departmental procedures;

(c) No individual request issued against one blanket purchase agreement shall exceed $2,500; and

(d) The use of individual purchase instruments is deemed more costly administratively to the Government.

§ 3.606–4 Fiscal control.

The contracting officer shall maintain informal records of the requests made against each blanket purchase agreement, so as to insure that the value of requests made does not exceed available funds and that the designated monetary limitations are not exceeded.

§ 3.607 Use of Department of Defense or departmental procurement forms.

This subpart does not preclude the use for small purchases of such other Department of Defense or departmental purchase order forms as are authorized by Part 16 of this subchapter. The procurement form or method to be utilized shall be such as will accomplish the small purchase in the most efficient and economical manner. Where necessary, small purchases may also be effected by the use of a negotiated (two-party) formal contract, as, for example, where the procurement is (a) classified, or (b) requires specific contract provision relating to technical inspection or test, specifications changes, Government-furnished property, insurance, patents, price adjustment, or the like.

§ 3.608 Delegation of purchase authority.

Subject to the policies and procedures set forth in this subpart, the authority to make small purchases, particularly with respect to the imprest fund and order-invoice-voucher methods, shall be delegated to using activities or stations to the maximum extent practicable. In each case, however, the scope and limitations applicable to such delegations shall be clearly defined in writing.

§ 3.609 Purchase data.

In addition to records required by departmental procedures, Contracting Officers may deem it necessary to maintain, for their own use, administrative data pertaining to purchase transactions, such as notations of bid solicitations, etc. Such records shall be held to an absolute minimum.

Subpart G—Negotiated Overhead Rates

§ 3.700 Scope of subpart.

This subpart sets forth the policy and procedure governing the negotiation of overhead rates for use in cost-reimbursement type contracts.

§ 3.701 Definitions.

§ 3.701–1 Negotiated final overhead rates.

The term negotiated final overhead rate, as used in this subpart, means a percentage or dollar factor which expresses the ratio(s) mutually agreed upon by the Government and the contractor, at the close of a regularly stated period (preferably the contractor's fiscal year), of indirect expense incurred in the period to direct labor, manufacturing cost, cost of sales, or other appropriate base of the same period. Such rate is used as a means of determining the amount of reimbursement under a contract for the applicable indirect costs.

§ 3.701–2 Provisional overhead rates.

The term provisional overhead rate, as used in this part, means a tentative overhead rate established for interim billing purposes pending a negotiation of the final overhead rate.

§ 3.701–3 Overhead (indirect costs).

The term overhead (indirect costs) as used in this part, includes, but is not limited to, the general groups of indirect expenses such as those generated in manufacturing departments, engineering departments, tooling departments, general and administrative departments and, if applicable, indirect costs accumulated by cost centers within these general groups. In the case of contractors using fund accounting systems, the term includes, but is not limited to, the general groups of expenses such as general administration and general expense, maintenance and operation of physical plant, library expenses, and use charges for building and equipment.

§ 3.702 Purpose.

The major purposes of negotiated final overhead rates are: (a) to effect uniformity of approach in cases where more than one contract or more than one Military Department is involved; (b) to effect economy in administrative effort; and (c) to promote timely settlement of reimbursement claims.

§ 3.703 Applicability.

Negotiated final overhead rates are authorized for use primarily in cost-reimbursement type contracts for research and development with commercial organizations and nonprofit or educational institutions. They may also be used in other cost-reimbursement type contracts, after a determination is made by the contracting officer that their use is advantageous to the Government. Where it is not apparent that any one of the major purposes enumerated in § 3.702 results or will result by the use of negotiated final overhead rates, the contracting officer will provide for settlement of overhead by audit determination.

§ 3.704 Contract clauses.

§ 3.704–1 Contracts with commercial concerns.

Insert the following clause in contracts with commercial concerns where negotiated overhead rates are to be used pursuant to this subpart.

NEGOTIATED OVERHEAD RATES

(a) Notwithstanding the provisions of the clause of this contract entitled "Allowable Cost, Fixed Fee, and Payment," the allowable indirect costs under this contract shall be obtained by applying negotiated overhead rates to bases agreed upon by the parties, as specified below.

(b) The Contractor, as soon as possible but not later than ninety (90) days after the expiration of each period specified in the Schedule, shall submit to the Contracting Officer (See Instruction No. 1, § 3.704–3) a proposed final overhead rate or rates for that period based on the Contractor's actual cost experience during that period, together with supporting cost data. Negotiation of final overhead rates by the Contractor and the Contracting Officer shall be undertaken as promptly as practicable after receipt of the Contractor's proposal.

(c) Allowability of costs and acceptability of cost allocation methods shall be determined in accordance with Part 15, Subpart B, as in effect on the date of this contract.

(d) The results of each negotiation shall be set forth in an amendment to this contract, which shall specify (i) the agreed final rates, (ii) the bases to which the rates apply, (iii) the periods for which the rates apply, and (iv) the specific items treated as direct costs or any changes in the items previously agreed to be direct costs.

(e) Pending establishment of final overhead rates for any period, the Contractor shall be reimbursed either at negotiated provisional rates as provided in the Schedule or at billing rates acceptable to (See Instruction No. 2, § 3.704–3), subject to appropriate adjustment when the final rates for that period are established. To prevent substantial over or under payment, the provisional or billing rates may, at the request of either party, be revised by mutual agreement, either retroactively or prospectively. Any such revision of negotiated provisional rates provided in the Schedule shall be set forth in an amendment to this contract.

(f) Any failure by the parties to agree on any final rate or rates under this clause shall be considered a dispute concerning a question of fact for decision by the Contracting Officer within the meaning of the clause of this contract entitled "Disputes."

§ 3.704–2 Contracts with nonprofit and educational institutions.

Insert the following clause in contracts with educational and nonprofit institutions where negotiated overhead rates are to be used pursuant to this subpart.

NEGOTIATED OVERHEAD RATES

(a) Notwithstanding the provisions of the clause of this contract entitled (See Instruction No. 3 § 3.704.3), the allowable indirect costs under this contract shall be obtained by applying negotiated overhead rates to bases agreed upon by the parties, as specified below.

(b) The Contractor, as soon as possible but not later than six (6) months after the expiration of each period specified in the Schedule shall submit to the Contracting Officer (See Instruction No. 1, § 3.704–3), a proposed final overhead rate or rates for that period based on the Contractor's cost experience during that period, together with supporting cost data. Negotiation of final overhead rates by the Contractor and the Contracting Officer shall be undertaken as promptly as practicable after receipt of the Contractor's proposal.

(c) Allowability of costs and acceptability of cost allocation methods shall be determined in accordance with Part 15 (See Instruction No. 4, § 3.704–3), as in effect on the date of this contract.

(d) The results of each negotiation shall be set forth in an amendment to this contract, which shall specify (i) the agreed final rates, (ii) the bases to which the rates apply, (iii) the periods for which the rates apply, and (iv) the specific items treated as direct costs or any changes in the items previously agreed to be direct costs.

(e) Pending establishment of final overhead rates for any period, the Contractor shall be reimbursed either at negotiated provisional rates as provided in the Schedule or at billing rates acceptable to (See Instruction No. 2, § 3.704–3), subject to appropriate adjustment when the final rates for that period are established. To prevent substantial over or under payment, the provisional or billing rates may, at the request of either party, be revised by mutual agreement, either retroactively or prospectively. Any such revision of negotiated provisional rates provided in the Schedule shall be set forth in an amendment to this contract.

(f) Any failure by the parties to agree on any final rate or rates under this clause shall be considered a dispute concerning a question of fact for decision by the Contracting Officer within the meaning of the clause of this contract entitled "Disputes."

§ 3.704–3 Instructions for completing contract clauses.

1. (a) In contracts of the Departments of the Army and Air Force insert "or his authorized representative, with a copy to the cognizant audit activity."

(b) In contracts of the Department of the Navy insert "via the cognizant audit activity and the Office of the Comptroller of the Navy (Contract Audit Division)."

2. (a) In contracts of the Departments of the Army and Air Force insert "The Contracting Officer or his authorized representative."

(b) In contracts of the Department of the Navy insert "The Office of the Comptroller of the Navy (Contract Audit Division)."

3. Insert title of the "Allowable Cost" clause used in the particular contract.

4. Insert "Part 2" or "Part 3", as appropriate.

§ 3.705 Procedure.

The procedure for use of negotiated final overhead rates generally consists of submission by the contractor of an overhead rate proposal, submission of an advisory audit report, review of the contractor's proposal and the advisory audit report, conduct of negotiation, preparation of a negotiation report or summary, and execution of contract amendments or supplemental agreements.

(a) Where only one procurement activity is concerned the proposal shall be submitted to the contracting officer or his authorized representative, with a copy to the cognizant audit activity. Where coordinated negotiations as described under § 3.706 are involved, contractors' overhead rate proposals may be submitted to the cognizant negotiating activity of the Department sponsoring the negotiation, with a copy to the cognizant audit activity.

(b) The determination as to the necessity of an advisory audit report for overhead rate negotiation purposes and the extent of the use of such report is the sole responsibility of the contracting officer. Unless advised to the contrary by the contracting officer, the cognizant audit activity shall submit an audit advisory report to the contracting officer or his authorized representative. Such report shall set forth the findings of the audit activity including the results of discussion of such findings with the contractor. The audit or accounting review will be governed by the provisions of Part 15 of this subchapter.

(c) Where there is a significant difference of opinion between the auditor and the contractor concerning the allowability of indirect costs or the acceptability of the bases used in developing the overhead rates, representatives of the audit activity and the negotiating activity will discuss the areas of disagreement prior to the negotiation conference with the contractor. As a further aid to the negotiating activity, a representative of the audit activity will, upon request, attend the negotiation conference.

(d) The negotiation conference will be conducted by the contracting officer or his authorized representative. Where coordinated negotiation is involved (§ 3.706), the sponsoring negotiating activity will be the authorized representative of those procuring activities not represented. The negotiation shall be governed by Part 15 of this subchapter and shall encompass an agreement on final overhead rates, the specific items to be treated as direct charges, and the provisional overhead rates if such rates are to be specified in the contract.

(e) At the completion of the negotiation, the contracting officer or his authorized representative shall prepare a negotiation report or summary, setting forth the rates negotiated, the reasons for variation from the audit report, if any, the period of rate applicability, the basis for the determination of such rates and, where applicable, the provisional rates agreed upon for application in the succeeding period. Such report or summary shall be the basis for amending the affected contracts; it shall become a part of the contract file; and copies shall be distributed to any interested procurement activities and the audit activity.

(f) Supplemental agreements or contract amendments will incorporate the negotiated final overhead rates, the bases to which they apply, the period of rate applicability, and the agreement with respect to the specific items of direct charges referred to in paragraph (d) of this section.

§ 3.706 Coordination.

When more than one Military Department contemplates the use of negotiated final overhead rates with the same contractor, the service having the preponderance of cost-reimbursement type work will, generally, sponsor and conduct the negotiation. Each Department having an interest will be notified of the pending negotiation and will be invited to participate in the negotiation. If a Department does not have a representative at the negotiation, the sponsoring Department will represent the absentee Department. The results of the negotiation will be binding upon all Departments. At the completion of the negotiation, the sponsoring Department will prepare and distribute to the other Departments a Negotiation Report or Summary as provided for in § 3.705(e). Each Military Department shall thereupon amend or supplement the affected contracts in accordance with the rates and other data set forth in the negotiation report or summary.

§ 3.707 Cost-sharing rates.

Cost-sharing arrangements are frequently made wherein the cost participation by the contractor is evidenced by an agreement to accept overhead rates which are lower than the anticipated actual overhead rates. In such cases, a negotiated fixed-ceiling overhead rate may be used for application prospectively, provided that in the event overhead rates developed by the cognizant audit activity on the basis of actual allowable costs are less than the negotiated rates, the negotiated rates will be reduced. Where reductions are necessary, they will be accomplished in accordance with § 3.705. The Government will not be obligated to pay any additional amounts on account of overhead above the negotiated fixed-ceiling rates.

Subpart H—Price Negotiation Policies and Techniques

§ 3.800 Scope of subpart.

This subpart sets forth the price negotiation policies and techniques applicable to negotiated prime contracts and those subcontracts which are subject to approval or review within a Department. The principles in this subpart apply to negotiation of prices on all types of contracts and to revised prices as well as initial prices.

§ 3.801 Basic policy.

§ 3.801–1 General.

It is the policy of the Department of Defense to procure supplies and services from reasonable sources at fair and reasonable prices calculated to result in the lowest ultimate over-all cost to the Government. Sound pricing depends primarily upon the exercise of sound judgment by all personnel concerned with the procurement.

§ 3.801–2 Responsibility of Contracting Officers.

(a) Contracting officers, acting within the scope of their appointments (and in some cases acting through their authorized representatives) are the exclusive agents of their respective Departments to enter into and administer contracts on behalf of the Government in accordance with this subchapter and Departmental procedures. Each contracting officer is responsible for performing or having performed all administrative actions necessary for effective contracting. The contracting officer shall exercise reasonable care, skill and judgment and shall avail himself of all of the organizational tools (such as the advice of specialists in the fields of contracting, finance, law, contract audit, mobilization planning, engineering, traffic management and cost analysis) necessary to accomplish the purpose as, in his discretion, will best serve the interests of the Government.

(b) To the extent services of specialists are utilized in the negotiation of contracts, the contracting officer must coordinate a team of experts, requesting advice from them, evaluating their counsel, and availing himself of their skills as much as possible. The contracting officer shall obtain simultaneous coordination of the specialist efforts to the greatest practical extent. He shall not, however, transfer his own responsibilities to them. Thus, the final negotiation of price, including price redetermination and evaluation of cost estimates, remains the responsibility of the contracting officer.

§ 3.801–3 Responsibility of other personnel.

Personnel, other than the contracting officer, who determine industrial mobilization plans and type, quality, quantity, and delivery requirements for items to be purchased, can influence the degree of competition obtainable as well as have a material effect upon prices. Failure to finalize requirements in sufficient time to allow—

(a) A reasonable period for preparation of request for proposals;

(b) Preparation of quotations by offerors;

(c) Contract negotiation and preparation; and

(d) Adequate manufacturing lead time; causes delinquency in delivery and uneconomical prices. Requirements issued on an urgent basis or with unrealistic delivery schedules should be avoided since they generally increase price or restrict desired competition. Personnel determining requirements, specifications, mobilization plans, adequacy of sources of supply, and like matters have responsibility in such areas, equal to that of the contracting officer, for timely, sound, and economical procurement.

§ 3.802 Preparation for negotiation.

§ 3.802–1 Product or service.

Knowledge of the product or service, and its use, is essential to sound pricing. Before soliciting quotations, every contracting officer should develop, where feasible, an estimate of the proper price level or value of the product or service to be purchased. Such estimates may be based on a physical inspection of the product and review of such items as drawings, specifications, job process sheets, and prior procurement data. When necessary, requirements and technical specialists should be consulted. The primary responsibility for the adequacy of specifications and for the delivery requirements must necessarily rest with requirements and technical groups. However, the contracting officer should be aware of the effect which these factors may have on prices and competition, and should, prior to award, inform requirements and technical groups of any unsatisfactory effect which their decisions have on prices or competition.

§ 3.802–2 Selection of prospective sources.

Selection of qualified sources for solicitation of proposals is basic to sound pricing. Proposals should be solicited from a sufficient number of competent potential sources to insure adequate competition. (See §§ 1.302, 1.902, 3.101, 3.104, 3.105, and 12.102 of this subchapter.) The bidders mailing lists prescribed by § 2.205 of this subchapter should be used where appropriate.

§ 3.802–3 Requests for proposals.

Requests for proposals shall contain the information necessary to enable a prospective offeror to prepare a proposal properly. The request for proposals shall be as complete as possible with respect to (a) item description or statement of work; (b) specifications; (c) Government-furnished property, if any; (d) required delivery schedule; and (e) contract clauses. If a price breakdown is required, the request for proposals shall so state. Requests for proposals, including requests for revised proposals, shall specify a date for their submission. Any extension of time granted to one prospective offeror shall be granted uniformly to all. Each request for proposals shall be issued to prospective offerors at the same time and no prospective offeror shall be given the advantage of advance knowledge that proposals are to be requested. Generally, requests for proposals shall be in writing. However, in appropriate cases, such as the procurement of perishable subsistence, proposals may be solicited orally.

§ 3.803 Type of contract.

(a) The selection of an appropriate contract type and the negotiation of prices are related and should be considered together. § 3.402 lists some of the factors for this joint consideration. The objective is to negotiate a contract type and price that includes reasonable contractor risk and provides the contractor with the greatest incentive for efficient and economical performance. When negotiations indicate the need for using other than a firm fixed price contract, there should be compatibility between the type of contract selected and the contractor's accounting system.

(b) In the course of a procurement program, a series of contracts, or a single contract running for a lengthy term, the circumstances which make for selection of a given type of contract at the outset will frequently change so as to make a different type more appropriate during later periods. In particular, the repetitive or unduly protracted use of cost-reimbursement type or time and materials contracts is to be avoided where experience has provided a basis for firmer pricing which will promote efficient performance and will place a more reasonable degree of risk on the contractor. Thus, in the case of a time and materials contract, continuing consideration should be given to converting to another type of contract as early in the performance period as practicable.

§ 3.804 Conduct of negotiations.

§ 3.804–1 General.

Evaluation of offerors' or contractors' proposals, including price revision proposals, by all personnel concerned with the procurement, as well as subsequent negotiations with the offeror or contractor, shall be completed expeditiously. Complete agreement of the parties on all basic issues shall be the objective of the contract negotiations. Oral discussions or written communications shall be conducted with offerors to the extent necessary to resolve uncertainties relating to the purchase or the price to be paid. Basic questions should not be left for later agreement during price revisions or other supplemental proceedings. Cost and profit figures of one offeror or contractor shall not be revealed to other offerors or contractors.

§ 3.804–2 Late proposals.

(a) Written requests for proposals shall contain a provision substantially as follows:

Late proposals. The Government reserves the right to consider proposals or modifications thereof received after the date indicated for such purpose, but before award is made, should such action be in the interest of the Government.

(b) While it is important and desirable that the Government should not be precluded from gaining the benefit of late proposals, careful consideration of such situations is required to prevent excessive resolicitations and other abuses. Where failure of any proposal to arrive on time is due solely to a delay for which the offeror was not responsible, or where only one proposal is received, the contracting officer may consider the proposal without utilizing the resolicitation procedure prescribed below. Proposals, or modifications thereof, received after the latest date specified for receipt by the contracting officer should be considered if there is a probability of a significant reduction in price or cost to the Government, or technical improvement, as compared with proposals previously received. The following procedure shall apply, except that it need not be followed for small purchases:

(1) Where a late low proposal, or a late proposal otherwise worthy of consideration, is received from a qualified firm, the contracting officer shall document a recommendation that the proposal, either should or should not be considered, and send it for decision to such other authority as may be prescribed by the Department concerned.

(2) When it is determined by such other authority that it is in the best interest of the Government to consider the late proposal, the contracting officer shall, consistent with § 3.805–1(a)(2), resolicit all firms (including the late offeror) which have submitted proposals and have been determined to be capable of meeting requirements. Such resolicitation shall specify a date for submission of new or revised proposals. In appropriate cases, such as where further delay in making award will jeopardize meeting the Government's requirement, a resolicitation may provide that late proposals shall not be considered, notwithstanding the Government's reservation of a right to consider such proposals (as stated in the Late Proposals provision required by § 3.804–2(a)).

§ 3.805 Selection of offerors for negotiation and award.

§ 3.805–1 General.

(a) The normal procedure in negotiated procurements, after receipt of initial proposals, is to conduct such written or oral discussions as may be required to obtain agreements most advantageous to the Government. Negotiations shall be conducted as follows:

(1) Where a responsible offeror submits a responsive proposal which, in the contracting officer's opinion, is clearly and substantially more advantageous to the Government than any other proposal, negotiations may be conducted with that offeror only; or

(2) Where several responsible offerors submit offers which are grouped so that a moderate change in either the price or the technical proposal would make any one of the group the most advantageous offer to the Government, further negotiations should be conducted with all offerors in that group.

Whenever negotiations are conducted with more than one offeror, no indication shall be made to any offeror of a price which must be met to obtain further consideration, since such practice constitutes an auction technique which must be avoided. No information regarding the number or identity of the offerors participating in the negotiations shall be made available to the public or to anyone whose official duties do not require such knowledge. Whenever negotiations are being conducted with several offerors, while such negotiations may be conducted successively, all offerors participating in such negotiations shall be offered an equitable opportunity to submit such pricing, technical, or other revisions in their proposals as may result from the negotiations. All offerors shall be informed that after the submission of final revisions, no information will be furnished to any offeror until award has been made. Modifications of proposals received after the submission of final prices shall be considered only under the circumstances set forth in § 3.804–2(b) (relating to late proposals).

(b) There are certain circumstances where formal advertising is not possible and negotiation is necessary. In the conduct of such negotiations, where a substantial number of clearly competitive proposals have been obtained and where the contracting officer is satisfied that the most favorable proposal is fair and reasonably priced, award may be made on the basis of the initial proposals without oral or written discussion: Provided, That the request for proposals notifies all offerors of the possibility that award may be made without discussion of proposals received and, hence, that proposals should be submitted initially on the most favorable terms from a price and technical standpoint, which the offeror can submit to the Government. In any case where there is uncertainty as to the pricing or technical aspects of any proposal, the contracting officer shall not make an award without further exploration and discussion prior to award. Also, when the proposal most advantageous to the Government involves a material departure from the stated requirements, consideration shall be given to offering the other firms which submitted proposals an opportunity to submit new proposals on a technical basis which is comparable to that of the most advantageous proposal: Provided, That this can be done without revealing to the other firms any information which is entitled to protection under § 3.109.

(c) Except where cost-reimbursement type contracts are to be used (see § 3.805–2), a request for proposals may provide that after receipt of initial technical proposals, such proposals will be evaluated to determine those which are acceptable to the Government or which, after discussion, can be made acceptable, and upon submission of prices thereafter, award shall be made to that offeror of an acceptable proposal who is the low responsible offeror.

(d) The procedures set forth in paragraphs (a), (b), and (c) of this section may not be applicable in appropriate cases when procuring research and development, or special services (such as architect-engineer services) or when cost-reimbursement type contracting is anticipated. Award of a contract may be properly influenced by the proposal which promises the greatest value to the Government in terms of possible performance, ultimate productibility, growth potential and other factors rather than the proposal offering the lowest price or probable cost and fixed fee.

(e) Whenever in the course of negotiation a substantial change is made in the Government's requirements (for example, increases or decreases in quantities or material changes in the delivery schedules), all offerors shall be given an equitable opportunity to submit revised proposals under the changed requirements.

§ 3.805–2 Cost-reimbursement type contracts.

In selecting the contractor for a cost-reimbursement type contract, estimated costs of contract performance and proposed fees should not be considered as controlling, since in this type of contract advance estimates of cost may not provide valid indicators of final actual costs. There is no requirement that cost-reimbursement type contracts be awarded on the basis of either (a) the lowest proposed cost, (b) the lowest proposed fee, or (c) the lowest total estimated cost plus proposed fee. The award of cost-reimbursement type contracts primarily on the basis of estimated costs may encourage the submission of unrealistically low estimates and increase the likelihood of cost overruns. The cost estimate is important to determine the prospective contractor's understanding of the project and ability to organize and perform the contract. The agreed fee must be within the limits prescribed by law and regulation and appropriate to the work to be performed (see § 3.808 of this subpart). Beyond this, however, the primary consideration in determining to whom the award shall be made is: which contractor can perform the contract in a manner most advantageous to the Government.

§ 3.806 Cost profit and price relationships.

(a) Where products are sold in the open market, costs are not necessarily the controlling factor in establishing a particular seller's price. Similarly where competition may be ineffective or lacking, estimated costs plus estimated profit are not the only pricing criteria. In some cases, the price appropriately may represent only a part of the seller's cost and include no estimate for profit or fee, as in research and development projects where the contractor is willing to share part of the costs. In other cases, price may be controlled by competition as set forth in § 3.805–1(a). The objective of the contracting officer shall be to negotiate fair and reasonable prices in which due weight is given to all relevant factors, including those in §3.101.

(b) Profit or fee is only one element of price and normally represents a smaller proportion of the total price than do such other estimated elements as labor and material. While the public interest requires that excessive profits be avoided, the contracting officer should not become so preoccupied with particular elements of a contractor's estimate of cost and profits that the most important consideration, the total price itself, is distorted or diminished in its significance. Government procurement is concerned primarily with the reasonableness of the price which the Government ultimately pays, and only secondarily with the eventual cost and profit to the contractor.

§ 3.807 Pricing techniques.

§ 3.807–1 General.

Policies set forth in this subpart may be applied in a variety of ways in the evaluation of offerors' or contractors' proposals and in the negotiation of contract prices. The extent to which any particular method, or combination of methods, should be used will depend upon the judgment of the contracting officer. The following sections describe several of the principal price negotiation techniques and the circumstances under which each may be used. They are equally applicable to initial and subsequent price negotiations.

§ 3.807–2 Pricing individual contracts.

Each contract shall be priced separately and independently, and no consideration shall be given to losses or profits realized or anticipated in the performance of other contracts. This prohibition neither prevents the negotiation of fixed overhead and other rates applicable to several contracts during annual or other specific periods nor prohibits forward pricing agreements applicable to several contracts.

§ 3.807–3 Price analysis.

(a) Some form of price analysis should be made in every procurement, even when competitive proposals have been submitted. The presence of effective competition, however, may make it possible to limit considerably the degree of price analysis required. In the absence of effective price competition, the negotiating team must make a thorough analysis of contractors' proposals and must be in possession of current, complete, and correct cost or pricing data before decisions are made on contract prices. Accordingly, the contractor should be required to furnish such data promptly as it becomes available throughout the negotiation process. To assure that the negotiating team is in possession of such data, the certificate set forth in § 3.807–7 shall be obtained for each separate negotiation when the amount of the procurement action exceeds $100,000, and the price negotiated is based more on the contractor's actual or estimated cost than on effective competition, established catalog or market prices, or prices set by law or regulation. The certificate may be required when lesser amounts are involved in particular cases where the contracting officer considers that the circumstances warrant such action. The certificate shall be obtained from the prime contractor immediately prior to agreement on negotiated prices, targets, or price revisions. However, the requirement for a contractor's certificate of pricing is not to be considered a substitute for a thorough examination and analysis of the contractor's proposal by the negotiating team.

(b) One form of price analysis is the comparison of prior quotations and contracts prices with current quotations for the same or similar end items. To provide a suitable basis for comparison, appropriate allowances may have to be made for differences in such factors as specifications, quantities ordered, time for delivery, Government-furnished materials, and the general level of business and prices.

(c) Rough yardsticks may often be developed (in such terms as dollars per pound, per horsepower, or other units) to point up apparent gross inconsistencies which should be subjected to additional pricing techniques, including cost analysis. Such yardsticks should be considered as an indispensable adjunct to cost analysis, since a study of a single offeror's estimated costs in sole source situations will not indicate whether the proposed price is fair and reasonable because it affords no opportunity for comparison with other products of the same kind.

§ 3.807–4 Cost analysis.

(a) The need for cost analysis depends on the effectiveness of the methods of price analysis outlined in § 3.807–3, the amount of the proposed contract and the cost and time needed to accumulate the information necessary for analysis. When cost analysis is undertaken, the contracting officer must exercise judgment in determining the extent of the analysis. Cost analysis is desirable whenever:

(1) Effective competition has not been obtained;

(2) A valid basis for price comparison has not been established, because of the lack of definite specifications, the novelty of the product, or for other reasons;

(3) Price comparisons have revealed apparent inconsistencies which cannot be satisfactorily explained or otherwise reasonably accounted for;

(4) The prices quoted appear to be excessive on the basis of information available;

(5) The proposed contract is a significant amount and is to be awarded to a sole source;

(6) The proposed contract will probably represent a substantial percentage of the contractor's total volume of business; or

(7) A cost-reimbursement, incentive, price redeterminable, or time and material contract is negotiated.

(b) Cost analysis involves the evaluation of specific elements of cost and the effect on prices of such factors as:

(1) Allowances for contingencies;

(2) The necessity for certain costs;

(3) The reasonableness of amounts estimated for the necessary costs;

(4) The basis used for allocation of overhead costs; and

(5) The appropriateness of allocations of particular overhead costs to the proposed contract.

(c) Among the several types of cost comparisons that should be made, where the necessary data are available, are comparisons of a contractor's or offeror's current estimated costs with:

(1) Actual costs previously incurred by the contractor or offeror; and with its last prior estimate for the same or similar item or with a series of prior estimates;

(2) Current estimates from other possible sources; and

(3) Prior estimates or historical costs of other contractors manufacturing the same or similar items.

(d) Forecasting future trends in costs from historical cost experience is of primary importance in pricing. In periods of either rising or declining costs, an adequate cost analysis must include some evaluation of the trends. Even in periods of relative price stability, trend analysis of basic labor and materials costs should be undertaken in cases involving production of recently developed, complex equipment. In some cases, probable increases in labor efficiency, and reductions in material spoilage as a contractor's work force gains in experience with such new products can be predicted statistically. Efficiency curves may be devised to predict the reduction in the spoilage rate; learning curves may be devised to evaluate reductions in labor hours. Effective use of learning curves depends on the presence of the following elements:

(1) Direct labor should represent a substantial element of the total price;

(2) The contract price should be large enough to warrant the time spent in collecting the statistical data necessary to construct valid curves;

(3) The proposed contract should cover production over a relatively long period;

(4) A substantial body of historical labor cost data must be available; and

(5) The product must be a complex, non-standard item requiring a substantial amount of assembly labor (where relatively large amounts of automatic machinery are to be employed, or the product is a relatively standard item, learning curves may be of little value.

§ 3.807–5 Subcontracting.

(a) The amount and quality of subcontracting may be a major factor influencing price. Since a large proportion of the procurement dollar is spent by prime contractors in subcontracting for work, raw materials, parts, and components, efficient purchasing practices by a contractor will contribute heavily toward efficient and economic production. While basic responsibility rests with the prime contractor for decisions to make or buy, for selection of subcontractors, and for subcontract prices and subcontract performance, the contracting officer must have adequate knowledge of these elements and their effect on prime contract prices. Therefore, contractors' "make or buy" programs and proposed subcontracts should be reviewed in accordance with Subpart I of this Part and the information from such review should be used in negotiating prime contract prices. Even though not specifically required by Subpart I, the contracting officer should, where appropriate, elicit from the offeror or contractor information concerning:

(1) The purchasing practices of the prime contractor;

(2) The principal components to be subcontracted and the contemplated subcontractors, including (i) the degree of competition obtained, (ii) cost or price analyses or price comparisons accomplished, including current, complete and correct cost or pricing data, and (iii) the extent of subcontract supervision;

(3) The types of subcontracts; i.e., firm fixed-price or other (see § 3.401); and

(4) The estimated total extent of subcontracting, including procurement of purchased parts and materials.

In connection with subparagraph (2) (ii) of this paragraph, the contracting officer shall, in the case of subcontracts which meet the criteria of § 3.807–3(a), require the prime contractor to obtain from first-tier subcontractors a certificate as set forth in § 3.807–7, modified to reflect that it is a certification to the prime contractor rather than to the Government. The prime contractor shall be required to furnish such certificate to the contracting officer.

(b) In the review of subcontracting there should be assurance that the contractors obtain competition, if available, from qualified sources in their award of subcontracts to the extent consistent with the procurement of the required services or supplies. Contractors shall be required to undertake appropriate price analysis (see § 3.807–3) in all significant subcontract transactions, and to undertake cost analysis (see § 3.807–4) if competition is not available or does not yield reasonable subcontract prices. Where the contracting officer's consent to subcontracts is required (see § 3.903), price or cost analysis shall be required as a condition to such consent.

(c) Where subcontracts are placed on a price redetermination or fixed-price incentive basis, it is particularly important in negotiating revisions of prime contract prices that there be substantial assurance that there was initial close pricing of subcontracts. Also, contracting officers should be alert to the risk of establishing firm redetermined prime contract prices while a major subcontract is still subject to price redetermination and may eventually be redetermined at a price far lower than that ascribed to it in redetermining the prime contract price, with consequent profits to the contractor far in excess of those contemplated in the prime contract price negotiation. However, in some cases, it may be appropriate to negotiate firm prime contract prices even though the contractor has not yet established final subcontract prices, if the contracting officer can justify as reasonable the amount included for subcontracting, e.g., where fairly definite cost data on subcontract prices are available. In other cases, where certain subcontracts are subject to redetermination and available cost data on these subcontracts are highly indefinite but other circumstances require prompt negotiation of revised prime contract prices, the contract modification which evidences the revised contract prices should provide for adjustment of the total amount paid or to be paid under the contract on account of subsequent redetermination of specified subcontracts. This may be done by including in the contract modification a provision substantially as follows:

Promptly upon the establishment of firm prices for each of the subcontracts listed below, the Contractor shall submit, in such form and detail as the Contracting Officer may reasonably require, a statement of costs incurred in the performance of such subcontract and the firm price established therefor. Thereupon, notwithstanding any other provisions of this contract as amended by this modification, the Contractor and the Contracting Officer shall negotiate an equitable adjustment in the total amount paid or to be paid under this contract to reflect such subcontract price revision. The equitable adjustment shall be evidenced by a modification to this contract, signed by the Contractor and the Contracting Officer.

[List Subcontracts]

(d) In negotiating prime contracts where the award is not determined by price competition and in consenting to cost-plus-fee subcontracts, the contracting officer shall make every effort to insure that fees under such subcontracts never exceed—

(1) Ten percent (10%) of the estimated cost, exclusive of fee, in the case of any subcontract for experimental, developmental, or research work; or

(2) Seven percent (7%) of the estimated cost, exclusive of fee, in the case of any other subcontract;

unless the payment of higher fees is approved by the Secretary concerned or his designees. These limits should not be inserted in the prime contract because such action might tend to inflate fees customarily negotiated at lower rates.

§ 3.807–6 Sole source items.

When purchases of standard commercial or modified standard commercial items are to be made from sole source suppliers' use of the techniques of price and cost analysis may not always be possible. In such instances and consistent with the volume of procurement normally consummated with the contractor, the contractor's price lists and discount or rebate arrangements should be examined and negotiations conducted on the basis of the "best user," "most favored customer" or similar practice customarily followed by the contractor. Such price negotiations should consider the volume of business anticipated for a fixed period, such as a fiscal year, rather than the size of the individual procurement being negotiated. When a contractor whose product is required because of its proprietary character or whose technical assistance is essential declines to negotiate a profit or fee in accordance with the considerations and factors set forth in § 3.808–1 or § 3.808–2, or demands a profit or fee which the contracting officer considers to be unreasonable in relation to the supplies to be furnished or services or work to be performed, the procuring activity concerned should attempt to develop an alternate source of supply.

§ 3.807–7 Certificate of current pricing data.

Where a certificate of current cost or pricing data is required in accordance with § 3.807–3(a), it shall be in the form set forth below and shall be included in the contract file along with the memorandum of the contract negotiation.

This is to certify, to the best of my knowledge and belief, that in the preparation of the proposal for _____ being (to be) produced under the terms of (contract, proposal, quotation, etc.) No. _____: (i) all available actual or estimated costs or pricing data have been considered in preparing the price estimate, and made known to the Contracting Officer for his use in evaluating the estimate, and (ii) any significant changes in the above data which have occurred since the preparation of the above proposal through the _____ of _____, _____ also have been made (Date) (Month) (Year)

known in the price negotiations to the Government negotiator.

Name _____
Title _____
Firm _____
Date _____

Note that 18 U.S.C. 1001 prescribes criminal penalties for making false representations to the Government.

§ 3.807–8 Unacceptable substitutes for pricing negotiations.

Contracting officers shall not rely primarily (i) on the contractor's certificate as to the reliability of current data used in negotiations where effective competition is not obtained, nor (ii) on profit limiting statutes as remedies for ineffective pricing. Such statutes generally provide for the recapture of excessive profits.

§ 3.807–9 Specified contingencies.

Where a contract is to include a provision for adjustment of price upon the happening of a specified contingency (e.g., escalation clauses, Government-furnished property clauses, tax clauses), the contract price should not include any amount on account of such contingency.

§ 3.808 Profit or fee.

§ 3.808–1 General.

A fair and reasonable provision for profit or fee cannot be made by simply applying a certain predetermined percentage to the cost estimate or selling price of a product. Rather, the profit or fee should be first established as a dollar amount, after considering the factors set forth in this section. Therefore, where a fee is involved and it is necessary to determine the percentage relationship between the fee and the estimated cost of the contract in order to comply with administrative and statutory limitations on fees for cost-reimbursement type contracts, the percentage shall be determined only after the dollar amount of the fee has been established for negotiation purposes.

§ 3.808–2 Factors for determining fee or profit.

The factors set forth in subparagraphs (a) through (i) below should be considered in determining profit or fee in all contracts, whether for supplies or services; for construction work; or for experimental, developmental, or research work; and whether of the fixed-price type or of the cost-reimbursement type unless otherwise specified in the particular factor. All of the following factors, as set forth in paragraphs (a) through (i) of this section should be evaluated in the light of the basic policy set forth in § 3.801–1 which provides that supplies and services shall be procured from responsible sources at fair and reasonable prices calculated to result in the lowest overall cost to the Government:

(a) Effect of competition. Where competition is adequate and effective and proposals are on a firm fixed-price basis, the contracting officer normally need not consider in detail the amount of estimated profit included in a price. Where effective competition is lacking, the estimate for profit for the proposed fixed fee should be analyzed in the same manner as all other elements of price, applying the factors set forth in this section.

(b) Degree of risk. (1) The degree of risk assumed by the contractor should influence the amount of profit or fee a contractor is entitled to anticipate. For example, where a portion of the risk has been shifted to the Government through cost-reimbursement or price redetermination provisions, unusual contingency provisions, or other risk-reducing measures, the amount of profit or fee should be less than where the contractor assumes all risk.

(2) Some cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contracts and task orders for research and development call for the delivery of prototypes of other "hardware." Other such contracts or task orders require only that the contractor exert its "best efforts" to deliver the required end item. Frequently this is because the contractor is not willing to assume the additional burden of incurring substantial cost overruns without additional fee in order to complete performance. When the contract calls for delivery of developed models in accordance with well-defined performance or design characteristics or a predetermined delivery schedule, or both, in contrast to an obligation only to exert its "best efforts" to develop and deliver such models, payment of the fee should be conditioned on performance in accordance with the contractor's obligation to deliver, and in such cases the contractor may be entitled to a larger fee both because of the risk inherent in its commitment and because of the successful completion of the work.

(c) Nature of work to be performed. A major consideration in the determination of the amount of profit or fee, particularly in connection with experimental, developmental, or research work, is the difficulty or complexity of the work to be performed and any unusual demands of the contract, such as whether the project involves a new approach unrelated to existing equipment or only refinements on existing equipment, whether the caliber or class of engineer involved is that of an "idea-man," or whether the contractor is to be required by the contract to assign to the work unusually skilled talent.

(d) Extent of government assistance. The Department of Defense encourages its contractors to perform their contracts with the minimum of financial, facilities, or other assistance from the Government. Where extraordinary financial, facilities, or other assistance must be furnished to a contractor by the Government, such extraordinary assistance should have a modifying effect in determining what constitutes a fair and reasonable profit or fee. (See also § 3.404–3(d).)

(e) Extent of the contractor's investment. The extent of a contractor's total investment (i.e., both equity and borrowed capital) in the performance of the contract will be taken into consideration in determining the amount of the fee or profit.

(f) Character of contractor's business. Recognition must be given to the type of business normally carried on by the contractor, the complexity of manufacturing techniques, the rate of capital turnover, and the effect of each individual procurement upon such business. For example, where a contractor is engaged in an industry where the turnover of working capital is low, generally the profit objective on individual contracts is higher than in those industries where the turnover is more rapid.

(g) Contractor's performance. In addition to the factors set forth in § 3.101, the contractor's past and present performance should be evaluated in such areas as quality of product, quality control, scrap and spoilage, efficiency in cost control (including need for and reasonableness of cost incurred), meeting delivery schedules, timely compliance with contractual provisions, creative ability in product development (giving consideration to commercial potential of product), engineering (including inventive, design simplification, and development contributions), management of subcontract programs, and any unusual services furnished by the contractor. Where a contractor has consistently achieved excellent results in the foregoing areas in comparison with other contractors in similar circumstances, such performance merits a proportionately greater opportunity for profit or fee. Conversely, a poor record in this regard should be reflected in determining what constitutes a fair and reasonable profit or fee.

(h) Subcontracting. In negotiating the profit or fee, the nature and extent of any subcontracting should be considered, particularly as it bears on the contractor's performance, administrative responsibility, financial investment, and degree of risk as outlined above. The degree and nature of subcontract programs vary on a broad spectrum. While it is not possible to define precisely the exact profit or fee treatment to be accorded each situation, the general guidelines which follow will be taken into consideration. The evaluation of a contractor's subcontracting program should not consist merely of applying arbitrary percentages of profit to subcontract prices in negotiating the prime contract price. A relatively large amount of subcontracting need not make for negotiation of a lesser profit or fee—the character and circumstances of the subcontracting and the effect on the prime contractor's costs must be taken into account. Although purchased material and subcontracted work are usually properly included in the base upon which profit is computed, instances may arise in which a significant portion or portions of a contract are subcontracted in such a way that only a minimum amount of responsibility or risk remains with the prime contractor. In such a case, the amount of fee or profit should be less than where the contractor assumes substantial risk. Of primary importance is the degree to which the subcontracting provides a better product and lower costs, with timely delivery, and in which the contractor assumes heavy managerial effort, responsibility and risk. In this connection, consideration should be given to the contractor's past and present effectiveness in offering to qualified small business concerns and to firms in labor surplus areas an opportunity to compete for subcontracts (see for example, § 1.707–3) and to the contractor's furnishing assistance to such concerns as they require or as the Government may specifically request. A contractor's effectiveness in furnishing such opportunity or assistance to an unusual or exceptional degree, should be given favorable consideration in determining the amount of fee or profit.

(i) Unrealistic estimates. If records reveal that a contractor's actual costs are consistently lower than his estimated costs (indicating a practice of excessive estimates), and if the contractor refuses to provide what seems to be reasonable estimate of costs, a lower profit or fee should be considered.

§ 3.808–3 Incentive profit or fee.

See §§ 3.403–4, 3.404–4 and 3.406.

§ 3.808–4 Minimal fees or cost sharing arrangements.

In certain circumstances, as where experimental, developmental, or research work is attractive because of direct or potential commercial applications, consideration should be given to using a contract providing for only a nominal or token fee, or no fee, or on a cost-sharing basis.

§ 3.808–5 Fee limitation for experimental, developmental, or research work.

In connection with the administrative and statutory limitations on fees set forth in § 3.404–3(c), the existence of the administrative limitation of 10 percent for research and development work should not prevent the negotiation of fees, either fixed or incentive, up to the level of the statutory limitation of 15 percent in the appropriate circumstance. Such cases, however, shall be fully documented through factual support including specific details of prior experience with the contractor, the complexity of the work to be performed, and the details in connection with all of the above factors. Contractors proposing such fees should be required to support their proposals in a similar manner. These requirements apply not only to fixed fees but to incentive fees as well which in their final evaluation can exceed the administrative limitation.

§ 3.809 Audit as a pricing aid.

(a) General. The audit services within the Military Departments should be utilized as a pricing aid by the contracting officer to the fullest extent appropriate when the dollar amount involved is sufficiently large to, or special circumstances exist which warrant the time and expense required for the particular type of advisory audit, special survey, or audit analysis of price or cost desired. Judicious use of audit services will expedite proper pricing. The determination as to the necessity of an audit report for pricing purposes is the responsibility of the contracting officer. When requesting audit services, the contracting officer shall state the purpose for which the report is to be used and define any specific areas of audit examination which should be given special attention.

(b) Application. Except for contracts containing retroactive price revision clauses, pricing techniques are concerned mainly with estimates of future costs. Therefore, audit reports for either retroactive or prospective pricing should not only establish costs accrued to a specific cut-off point for price proposal purposes but also should include cost trends and other available information which would be of assistance to the contracting officer in price negotiation. Such audit reports will serve a useful purpose in:

(1) The evaluation of contingency allowances, overhead allocations, purchasing management efficiency, and similar cost elements;

(2) Both the initial and subsequent pricing of contracts containing price revision clauses;

(3) Establishing limitations on costs and price revision adjustments; and

(4) Establishing negotiated overhead rates for cost-reimbursement type contracts.

(c) Conditions for use. Close coordination between the audit agency and procurement personnel will assist in determining the necessity of audit of price or cost proposals or the necessity of special surveys relating to contractor's accounting or purchasing systems. Some of the conditions under which the contracting officer should consider the use of audit services include:

(1) Inadequate knowledge concerning the contractor's accounting policies, cost systems, or substantially changed methods or levels of operation;

(2) Previous unfavorable experience indicating doubtful reliability of the contractor's estimating, accounting, or purchasing methods;

(3) Procurement of a new product for which cost experience is lacking; and

(4) Contract performance requiring a substantial period of time.

§ 3.810 Exchange of information.

In appropriate cases it is desirable to exchange and coordinate specialized information regarding a contractor between Military Departments, bureaus, technicial services and other procuring activities since it will provide uniformity of treatment of major issues and it may aid in the resolution of particularly difficult or controversial issues.

§ 3.811 Record of price negotiation.

At the conclusion of each negotiation of an initial or a revised price, the contracting officer shall promptly prepare or cause to be prepared a memorandum, setting forth the principal elements of the price negotiation, for inclusion in the contract file and for the use of any reviewing authorities. The memorandum shall be in sufficient detail to reflect the most significant considerations controlling the establishment of the initial or revised price.

Subpart I—Subcontracting Policies and Procedures

§ 3.900 Scope of subpart.

This subpart sets forth policies and procedures for the evaluation, review, and approval of contractors' "make or buy" programs, purchasing systems, and proposed subcontracts.

§ 3.901 General.

(a) Information as to the contractor's "make or buy" program, purchasing system, and proposed subcontracts may be important to (1) negotiation of reasonable contract prices (see §§ 3.807–5 and 3.808–2(h)), (2) assurance of satisfactory contract performance, or (3) carrying out Government policies regarding small business (§ 1.707–1), labor surplus areas (§ 1.805–1), use of Government facilities, maintenance of mobilization base, or other policies which may be appropriate to the particular procurement. Therefore, Government review of contractors' "make or buy" programs and proposed subcontracts is required as set forth in this subpart. Where make or buy decisions and subcontracting will have a substantial impact on price negotiation or contract performance or administration, the contractor's "make or buy" program and subcontracting should be evaluated and agreed on during negotiations, to the extent practicable.

(b) Review of the contractor's purchasing system, principal proposed subcontracts and "make or buy" program should generally be made where (1) the item, system, or work is complex, the dollar value is substantial, or competition is restricted; and (2) cost reimbursement, price redetermination, or incentive-type contracts are to be used.

§ 3.902 Review of "make or buy" program.

(a) A "make or buy" program is that part of a contractor's written plan for the production of an end item which outlines the major components, assemblies, subassemblies, and parts to be manufactured (including testing, treating, and assembling) in his own facilities and those which will be obtained elsewhere by subcontract. A "make" item is any item produced, or work performed, by the contractor or his affiliate, subsidiary, or division.

(b) Where the nature of the procurement is such that, in view of the factors in § 3.901(b) above, review of the "make or buy" program is appropriate or is otherwise considered essential, the prospective contractor shall be required to submit its proposed "make or buy" program, together with sufficient data to permit the contracting officer to evaluate such factors in paragraph (c) of this section as are pertinent.

(c) In reviewing the "make or buy" program during negotiation, consideration shall be given to the following factors in the light of how they affect the interests of the Government:

(1) The effect of the contractor's plan to make or buy, as the case may be, on price, quality, delivery, and performance;

(2) Whether the contractor plans to broaden its base of subcontractors through competitive means;

(3) Whether the contractor has given consideration to competence, abilities, experience, and capacities available within other firms;

(4) Whether small business concerns are given an equitable opportunity to compete for subcontracts;

(5) Whether the contractor or major subcontractors propose to do work in plant, the nature of which differs significantly from their normal in-plant operations or for which they are not historically suited;

(6) Whether production of the item or performance of the work will create a requirement, either directly or indirectly, for additional facilities to be furnished by the Government, by the contractor, or by subcontractors;

(7) whether the contractor proposes to ask the Government to furnish additional facilities to do the work in-plant for which there is capacity elsewhere which is competitive in quality, delivery, and overall cost, and is acceptable as a source to the contractor; and

(8) Other factors, such as the nature of the item, experience with similar items, future requirements, engineering, tooling, starting load costs, market conditions, and the availability of personnel and material.

After agreement on the program is reached, the contracting officer shall notify the contractor as to the Government's approval of the program and shall inform the contractor as to any requirement for further review during performance of the contract.

(d) In contracts resulting from negotiation in which a "make or buy" review has been made and agreement reached thereon pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section, there generally should be included a requirement for notification to the Government in advance of any proposed change to the "make or buy" program together with justification therefor. Where notification is required, the following clause shall be used:

CHANGES TO MAKE OR BUY PROGRAM

The contractor agrees to perform this contract in accordance with the "make or buy" program attached to this contract except as hereinafter provided. If the Contractor desires to change the "make or buy" program, he shall notify the Contracting Officer in writing of the proposed change reasonably in advance and shall submit justification in sufficient detail to permit evaluation of the proposed change. With respect to items deferred at the time of negotiation of this contract for later additions to the "make or buy" program, the Contractor shall notify the Contracting Officer of each proposed addition at the earliest possible time, together with justification in sufficient detail to permit evaluation. The Contractor shall not, without the written consent of the Contracting Officer, make changes or additions to the programs: Provided, That in his discretion, the Contracting Officer may ratify in writing any changes or additions and such ratification shall constitute the consent of the Contracting Officer required by this clause. The "make or buy" program attached to this contract shall be deemed to be modified in accordance with the written consent or ratification by the Contracting Officer.

(e) Approval of the contractor's purchasing system (§ 3.903) shall not be construed as approval of the "make or buy" program where such is required.

§ 3.903 Review of subcontracting and contractors' purchasing systems.

Examination of the contractor's purchasing system and plans for subcontracting, review of proposed subcontract sources and prices in the light of the factors indicated in § 3.901, and discussions with contractor to bring about any adjustments which may be needed to clear the way for formal subcontract approval, should generally be accomplished as part of the negotiation of the prime contract. Any resulting purchasing system approvals may be granted before the contract is executed.

§ 3.903–1 Contract clauses.

(a) The prescribed clauses, covering Government consent to subcontracts, for cost-reimbursement type contracts are set out in §§ 7.203–8 and 7.402–8. Except where definite and final evaluation of the contractor's subcontracting is accomplished during negotiations, the following clause (unless modified in accordance with paragraphs (b), (c), or (d) of this section) shall be included in all fixed-price incentive and fixed-price redeterminable contracts where—

(1) It is anticipated that one or more subcontracts may each exceed $100,000 or such other figure as is to be included in (b)(ii) and (iii) of the following clause in accordance with paragraph (c) of this section;

(2) The work of the prime contractor, or of the plant or division of the prime contractor which will perform the contract, is predominantly for the Government; or

(3) The estimated contract price is $1,000,000 or more.

SUBCONTRACTS

(a) As used in this clause, the term "subcontract" includes purchase orders.

(b) Except as provided in paragraph (d) below, the Contractor shall notify the Contracting Officer reasonably in advance of entering into any subcontract which—

(i) Is on a cost-plus-a-fee, time and material, or labor-hour basis and which would involve an estimated amount in excess of $10,000, including any fee; or

(ii) Is proposed to exceed $100,000; or

(iii) Is one of a number of subcontracts under this contract with a single subcontractor for the same or related supplies or services which, in the aggregate, are expected to exceed $100,000.

(c) The advance notification required by paragraph (b) above shall include:

(i) A description of the supplies or services to be called for by the subcontract;

(ii) Identification of the proposed subcontractor and an explanation of why and how the proposed subcontractor was selected, including the degree of competition obtained;

(iii) The proposed subcontract price, together with the Contractor's cost or price analysis thereof, including current, complete, and correct cost or pricing data, accompanied by a certificate from the subcontractor, in such form as the Contracting Officer may prescribe, to the effect that all cost or pricing data has been considered by the subcontractor in preparing its proposal and that such data is current, and has been provided the Contractor; and

(iv) Identification of the type of contract proposed to be used.

(d) Advance notifications of subcontracts, as required by paragraph (b) above, are not required for any subcontract (i) not on a cost-plus-a-fee, time and material, or labor-hour basis, if the Contracting Officer has in writing approved the Contractor's purchasing system and the subcontract is within the limitations of such approval, or (ii) consented to in writing by the Contracting Officer as a proposed subcontract prior to the execution of this contract.

(e) The Contractor shall not, without the prior written consent of the Contracting Officer, enter into any subcontract for which advance notification to the Contracting Officer is required by this clause; provided that, in his discretion, the Contracting Officer may ratify in writing any subcontract and such ratification shall constitute the consent of the Contracting Officer required by this paragraph.

(f) No consent by the Contracting Officer to any subcontract or any provisions thereof or approval of the contractor's purchasing system shall be construed to be a determination of the acceptability of any subcontract price or of any amount paid under any subcontract or to relieve the contractor of any responsibility for performing this contract, unless such approval or consent specifically provides otherwise.

(g) The Contractor agrees that no subcontract placed under this contract shall provide for payment on a cost-plus-a-percentage-of-cost basis.

(b) The clause set forth in paragraph (a) of this section may be appropriately modified so as not to require advance notification of, or consent to, any subcontracts which have been definitely and finally evaluated during negotiations. In this respect, the clause may limit advance notifications thereunder to one or more particular subcontracts or classes of subcontracts, or may, in individual cases, be tailored to unusual or particular circumstances.

(c) In paragraph (b) (ii) and (iii) of the clause set forth in paragraph (a) of this section, a lower dollar amount may be inserted in lieu of $100,000 where it is determined that closer surveillance of subcontracting is desirable because of the character of the industry involved, the critical nature of work which will probably be subcontracted, the absence of competition in placing the prime contract, uncertainties as to the adequacy of the contractor's purchasing system, or the novelty of the supplies or services being procured. A higher dollar amount than $100,000 may be inserted in paragraph (b) (ii) and (iii) of the clause when the insertion of the higher amount is approved at a level higher than that of the contracting officer, as prescribed by the Department concerned.

(d) The certificate prescribed by paragraph (c)(iii) of the clause shall be in the form set forth in § 3.807–7 appropriately modified to reflect that it is a certificate to the prime contractor, rather than to the Government.

§ 3.903–2 Consent to subcontracts.

(a) The contracting officer's consent to subcontracts required by the clause set forth in § 3.903–1 (for fixed-price redeterminable or fixed-price incentive contracts) or the clause set forth in §§ 7.203–8 or 7.402–8 (for cost-reimbursement type contracts) shall be accorded by individual consent on subcontract-by-subcontract basis. However, where the contracting officer has approved the contractor's purchasing system, in whole or in part, such consent is not required for subcontracts within the scope of such approval, except as to cost-reimbursement type, time and materials, or labor-hour subcontracts, and in the case of cost-reimbursement type prime contracts, subcontracts, which provide for the fabrication, purchase, rental, installation, or other acquisition of any item of industrial facilities.

(b) The purposes of subcontract consent requirements are usually best served if review and analysis of the contractor's purchasing system and of its proposed subcontracts are carried out in conjunction with negotiation of the prime contract and concurrently with any review of the contractor's "make or buy" program as required by § 3.902). Although consent to subcontracts cannot always be formally accomplished prior to execution of the prime contract (since definitive subcontracts are not generally entered into until after execution of the prime), the review, analysis, and discussion leading up to such formal consents should, where feasible, be conducted during the negotiation process.

§ 3.903–3 Approval of purchasing system.

(a) Approval of a contractor's purchasing system should be granted only after a survey which includes review of such factors as:

(1) The degree of competition obtained by the contractor's purchasing methods;

(2) The contractor's pricing policies and techniques, when necessary, including its methods of obtaining current, complete and accurate cost and pricing data;

(3) The contractor's method of evaluating subcontractors' responsibility (§ 1.906);

(4) The extent to which the purchasing system is consistent with any contract requirements covering small business and labor surplus area concerns; and

(5) The treatment accorded affiliates of the contractor or other concerns having close working arrangements with the contractor.

(b) Approval of a contractor's purchasing system may be unqualified or may be limited. For example, the purchasing system may be approved except for subcontracts in excess of a stated amount or except for subcontracts for stated work which is of such critical nature that extraordinary Government surveillance is called for. Where the approval is limited by reason of deficiencies in the purchasing system, the contractor shall be notified of such deficiencies and requested to correct them. In no case shall approval of the contractor's purchasing system waive the requirement for individual consent to cost-reimbursement, time and materials, or labor-hour subcontracts. In the case of cost-reimbursement type prime contracts, in addition to the foregoing, approval of the contractor's purchasing system shall not waive the requirements for individual consent to subcontracts which provide for the fabrication, purchase, rental, installation, or other acquisition of any item of industrial facilities.

(c) Upon approval of the contractor's purchasing system (whether unqualified or limited), the contracting officer shall give the contractor written notice thereof. The notice shall set forth any limitations on the approval and shall state that the approval does not (1) relieve the prime contractor of any of its obligations under any contract, (2) restrict the Government from subsequently withdrawing the approval in whole or in part, or (3) cover any unapproved material changes which the contractor may make in its purchasing system.

(d) After approval of the contractor's purchasing system, periodic examination of the contractor's operations under such system shall be made to determine whether any substantial changes in procedures, initiated by the contractor or as a result of recommendations by the Government, have occurred, as well as to evaluate the contractor's performance under the purchasing system.

(e) Prior to conduct of a survey of the contractor's purchasing system, the contracting officer or responsible activity shall ascertain in accordance with Departmental procedures whether other Department of Defense activities have conducted surveys of the purchasing system. In this connection, pertinent information relating to the most recent survey and the results thereof (including any updating accomplished) shall be requested and shall be furnished expeditiously by the activity performing such review. Maximum use will be made of the past evaluation in order to prevent needless multiplicity of surveys.

§ 3.903–4 Review of individual subcontracts.

(a) In reviewing or consenting to individual subcontracts, the contracting officer should give appropriate consideration to the following:

(1) Whether the decision to enter into the proposed subcontract is consistent with the contractor's approved "make or buy" program, if any (see § 3.902);

(2) Whether the proposed subcontract will require the use of Government furnished facilities;

(3) The responsibility of the proposed subcontractor (§ 1.906);

(4) Basis for selecting proposed subcontractor, including the degree of competition obtained;

(5) Cost or price analysis or price comparisons accomplished, with particular attention to whether cost or pricing data are current, complete, and correct (see § 3.903–1(d));

(6) Extent of subcontract supervision;

(7) Types of contracts used (Subpart D of this part); and

(8) Estimated total extent of subcontracting, including procurement of parts and materials.

(b) In reviewing subcontracts, careful and thorough evaluation is particularly necessary when:

(1) The prime contractor's purchasing system or performance thereunder are considered inadequate;

(2) Subcontracts are for items for which there is no competition or for which the proposed prices appear unreasonable (see § 3.807–5(b) of this part).

(3) Close working arrangements or business or ownership affiliations exist between the prime and the subcontractor which may preclude the free use of competition or result in higher subcontract prices than would otherwise be obtained;

(4) A subcontract is being proposed at a price less favorable than that which has been given by the subcontractor to the Government, all other factors such as manufacturing period and quantity being comparable; or

(5) A subcontract is to be placed on a cost-reimbursement, time and material, labor-hour, fixed-price incentive, or fixed-price redeterminable basis.

Where subcontracts have been placed on a cost-reimbursement, time and materials, or labor-hour basis, contracting officers should be skeptical of approving the repetitive or unduly protracted use of such types of subcontracts and should follow the principles of § 3.803(b).

§ 3.904 Additional contract clauses.

Additional contract clauses with respect to subcontracting with Small Business and Labor Surplus Area concerns are set forth in Part 7 of this subchapter.

Subpart E—Procurement by Barter—Commodity Credit Corporation

§ 4.501 General.

The purpose of this subpart is to establish procedures which will assist the Commodity Credit Corporation to arrange and to make, through private trade channels, barters and exchanges of United States surplus agricultural commodities.

§ 4.502 Procurement effected within the United States.

(a) On requirements of $100,000 or more for:

(1) Materials or equipment required in connection with foreign economic and military aid and assistance programs;

(2) Materials or equipment required for offshore construction programs; or

(3) Other supplies not subject to the Buy American Act or the limitations contained in the Annual Appropriations Act (Berry Amendment), or which have been previously excepted therefrom pursuant to Subpart F, Part 1 of this subchapter; the purchasing office shall send a copy of the invitation for bids or request for proposals to the Commodity Credit Corporation, Barter and Stockpiling Division, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D.C.

(b) Such invitations for bids or requests for proposals shall contain appropriate space for indicating alternate prices, one clearly labeled for barter prices and the other clearly labeled for non-barter prices. In addition, such invitations for bids and request for proposals shall include the following clause:

NOTE—PAYMENT BY BARTER (JUN. 1957)

Attention is directed to section 303 of the Agricultural Trade Development and Assistance Act of 1954 (Pub. Law 480, 83d Cong.) which authorizes the disposal by barter or exchange of surplus agricultural commodities for use outside of the United States, its possessions and Puerto Rico. BIDDERS OR OFFERORS INTERESTED IN A BARTER ARRANGEMENT (accepting payment in agricultural commodities for use outside of the United States, its possessions, and Puerto Rico rather than in dollars) SHOULD CONSULT AND MAKE APPROPRIATE ARRANGEMENTS WITH THE COMMODITY CREDIT CORPORATION, Barter and Stockpiling Division, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D.C., prior to submitting a bid.

Simultaneously with the issuance of this invitation for bids or request for proposals, a copy thereof is being furnished to the Commodity Credit Corporation.

Bids or proposals may be made on a barter basis, or on a non-barter basis, or on both bases in the alternative. Bids or proposals on either basis shall be stated in terms of dollars, not in terms of the desired commodity. Arrangements for converting dollar receipts under the contract into commodities must be made by separate agreement with the Commodity Credit Corporation.

Any bid or proposal based on a barter arrangement must be submitted directly to the purchasing office issuing this invitation for bids or request for proposals. In addition, a copy of the official bid or proposal must be forwarded to the Commodity Credit Corporation, by the time specified for submitting bids or proposals, in a sealed envelope marked with the invitation for bids or request for proposals number, and the date and time of opening by the purchasing office.

The Commodity Credit Corporation will consider the barter aspects of all such bids or proposals and will then advise the purchasing office issuing this Invitation for Bids or Request for Proposals which bids or proposals, if any, based on a barter arrangement are acceptable to the Commodity Credit Corporation. Any such bids or proposals which are acceptable to the Commodity Credit Corporation will be considered and evaluated by the purchasing office in connection with the evaluation of the non-barter bids or proposals received hereunder. If the lowest acceptable barter type bid or proposal is equal to or less than the price of the lowest responsive non-barter bid or proposal, preference will be given to the barter type bid or proposal.

No award will be made on a barter basis unless the bidder or offeror has entered into a suitable agreement with the Commodity Credit Corporation and the Commodity Credit Corporation has informed the purchasing office that the barter bid or proposal is acceptable. If the award is made on the basis of a barter type bid or proposal, the bidder or offeror, pursuant to the clause of the contract entitled Assignment of Claims and notwithstanding any language to the contrary contained therein, hereby irrevocably assigns all the moneys due or to become due under the resultant contract to the Commodity Credit Corporation. The bidder or offeror will be entitled to acquire commodities on the basis of its agreement with the Commodity Credit Corporation.

(c) The Commodity Credit Corporation will retain the barter bids or proposals which it receives in a locked container or until at least 24 hours after the specified opening time for bids or proposals. The bids or proposals based on a barter arrangement will then be opened and analyzed by the Commodity Credit Corporation, which will advise the contracting officer as to which such bids or proposals are acceptable to the Commodity Credit Corporation.

(d) The contracting officer shall make an award on the basis of the lowest responsive bid or proposal, and shall advise the Commodity Credit Corporation in the event the award is made on the basis of a barter type bid or proposal. No award will be made until the Commodity Credit Corporation advises the procuring office as to which barter type bids or proposals, if any, are acceptable, or until ten days after the date set for the opening of bids or receipt of proposals. If the lowest acceptable bid or proposal is on a barter basis, the contracting officer, prior to making the award, shall require such bidder or offeror to furnish evidence of an agreement with the Commodity Credit Corporation covering the payment and assignment arrangements. Where no barter type bids are received by the Commodity Credit Corporation, the Commodity Credit Corporation will promptly advise the contracting officer.

(e) Where the award is made on the basis of a barter type bid or proposal, payment will be made in accordance with the terms of the contract, but to the Commodity Credit Corporation rather than directly to the contractor.

(f) Negotiated contracts based on a barter type proposal shall contain a provision reciting the irrevocable assignment of the contractor's claim for payment to the Commodity Credit Corporation.

§ 4.503 Procurement effected outside the United States.

On procurements of $100,000 or more for supplies or services, except those procurements to be funded and denominated in local currencies or funded in dollars and denominated in local currencies, major overseas commands shall utilize the procedures outlined below:

(a) Major overseas commands shall make available to designated representatives of the Commodity Credit Corporation a copy of all new contracts resulting from procurements described above.

(b) Contracting officers shall distribute to prospective contractors, with the Invitation for Bids or Request for Proposals, or during the course of negotiations, a Commodity Credit Corporation information sheet describing the procurement by barter program.

(c) Designated representatives of the Commodity Credit Corporation are authorized direct contact with contracting officers for the purpose of obtaining information with respect to pertinent clauses in specific existing contracts which may affect barter negotiations.

(d) Commodity Credit Corporation may obtain from a contractor an assignment of moneys due or to become due to the contractor and must, in accordance with the provisions of the Assignment of Claims clause, forward a Notice of Assignment of Claims to the contracting officer, to the disbursing officer, and to any sureties on the contract. The contracting officer shall insure that the Notice of Assignment of Claims is signed by an authorized representative of the Commodity Credit Corporation and that a true copy of the instrument of assignment between the contractor and the Commodity Credit Corporation is attached to the notice. The contracting officer shall acknowledge receipt of the Notice of Assignment of Claims from the Commodity Credit Corporation.

(e) Upon presentation of invoices by the contractor, the contracting officer shall insure that each invoice contains a statement by the contractor that he recognizes the assignment to the Commodity Credit Corporation, its validity, and the right of the Commodity Credit Corporation to receive payment. Disbursing officers shall effect appropriate payments to the Commodity Credit Corporation for the amount of the invoice, less any authorized deductions.

§ 5.000 Scope of part.

This part deals with the procurement of supplies and services by the Military Departments from or through any other Government department or agency, with the exception of the procurement of supplies and services under the authority of Part 4, Coordinated Procurement. This subpart is not applicable to procurement effected outside the United States except as otherwise provided by Departmental procedures.

Subpart A—Procurement Under Federal Supply Schedule Contracts

§ 5.100 Applicability.

This subpart applies only to procurements of supplies to be delivered, or services to be performed, in the United States, its Territories, possessions, or Puerto Rico, as indicated in the Federal Supply Schedule check list current at the time of the procurement.

§ 5.101 Federal Supply Schedule contracts.

The Federal Supply Service, General Services Administration, enters into open end contracts for many classes of supplies and services which, although in common use by Federal agencies, normally do not lend themselves to definite quantity consolidated buying or to distribution from GSA warehouse stock. Federal Supply Schedules are General Services Administration publications which list under commodity classifications the supplies or services to be purchased from the contractors named therein. Military purchasing activities are required (see § 5.103) or authorized (see §§ 5.104 and 5.105) to order supplies and services under Federal Supply Schedule contracts. The ordering of such supplies and services under Federal Supply Schedule contracts shall be effected by placing delivery orders on DD Form 1155 (Order for Supplies or Services) (see § 16.303) in accordance with the provisions of the applicable Federal Supply Schedule and §§ 5.103, 5.104, and 5.105, or, when agreed to by the contractor, by one of the methods set forth in §§ 3.604, 3.605, or 3.606 of this chapter.

§ 5.102 Distribution of Federal Supply Schedules and related publications.

To obtain copies of Federal Supply Schedules, contractors' catalogs (including price lists) except those catalogs which by special agreement may be furnished directly by contractors, and Federal Supply Schedule check lists, purchasing activities and installations shall process requests on GSA Form 457 to the General Services Administration regional office serving the area in which the purchasing activity or installation is located. The check lists are issued periodically to show the status of all Federal Supply Schedules in effect, amendments thereto as to the dates specified, and information as to other pertinent matters. Purchasing activities and installations shall also request from the GSA regional office distribution of copies of general provisions for Federal Supply Schedule contracts. The General Services Administration regional or district offices are listed in § 5.204.

§ 5.103 Mandatory use of Federal Supply Schedules.

§ 5.103-1 General.

Section 5.103-3 lists the classes of supplies and services, the procurement of which under Federal Supply Schedules is mandatory on the Department of Defense. These Federal Supply Schedule contracts provide that for a definite period the contractor is obligated to deliver all supplies and services that may be ordered thereunder by Government agencies, subject to stated minimum and maximum amounts of any order (see paragraph (b) of § 5.103-2).

§ 5.103-2 Exceptions to mandatory use.

(a) Emergency procurement. When an emergency requires immediate delivery of supplies or services designated as mandatory on the Department of Defense which cannot be effected by ordering under Federal Supply Schedule contracts, authority is granted to make open market procurements of such supplies and services after the contracting officer has determined in writing that an emergency exists.

(b) Abnormal requirements. Federal Supply Schedule contracts generally provide that the mandatory use of provisions do not apply to abnormal requirements; that is, (1) any order of less than a stated minimum amount, (2) any order for an item or combination of items in excess of a stated maximum amount, and (3) a series of orders from the same ordering office in quick succession and aggregating in excess of the maximum amount.

(c) Similar items. Where specific articles or services listed in a mandatory Federal Supply Schedule will not meet a special requirement, open-market purchase of articles or services to meet such a special requirement is authorized. When articles or services having the same general characteristics and intended use are so procured, a written statement, citing the articles or services together with the reasons why items listed in the applicable Federal Supply Schedule would not serve the purpose, shall be prepared, signed by an authorized official of the using agency, and furnished the General Services Administration office which issued the Schedule within 15 days after date of purchase.

§ 5.103-3 List of Federal Supply Schedule contracts which are mandatory upon the Department of Defense.

§ 5.103-4 Establishment or revision of Federal Supply Schedules mandatory upon Department of Defense.

(a) Policy. The Administrator of General Services has agreed that the concurrence of the Office of the Secretary of Defense will be obtained prior to establishing a Federal Supply Schedule which is mandatory upon the Department of Defense or prior to adding or removing any items from Federal Supply Schedules which are mandatory upon the Department of Defense or making any other changes in such schedules affecting their use by Department of Defense in meeting its supply requirements. However, deletion of an item from a Federal Supply Schedule will not require Office of the Secretary of Defense concurrence when the reports of sales for that item amount to less than $1,000 per year except where—

(1) The item is a part or accessory incidental to a basic item;

(2) The item is a component of a unit assembly;

(3) The item has a demonstrated need to fill out a range of colors, sizes or other characteristics; or

(4) The item involves a contract for services.

(b) Procedures. Requests for the establishment of or a change in a Federal Supply Schedule mandatory on elements of the Department of Defense shall be forwarded through channels to the Office of the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Supply and Logistics). Such proposals normally shall be forwarded in sufficient time to provide three months for consideration by all interested elements of the Department of Defense and General Services Administration prior to the desired effective date. In the event action on such proposals is desired in a shorter period of time, a minimum of thiry-five days for consideration should be anticipated. These proposals will be distributed to the representatives of the Military Departments and General Services Administration engaged in the Federal Supply Schedule review program, as appropriate, for comment or concurrence. Any questions will be jointly considered before final action is taken. If the Department of Defense and General Services Administration representatives cannot reach agreement on a question raised regarding proposals involving Federal Supply Schedules mandatory upon the Department of Defense, the question will be forwarded to the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Supply and Logistics) for consideration, and, if appropriate, for a statement of the Department of Defense position to the Administrator of General Services.

§ 5.104 Federal Supply Schedules the mandatory use provisions of which do not apply to the Department of Defense.

In addition to the Federal Supply Schedule contracts listed in § 5.103, there are other Schedules containing mandatory use provisions which do not apply to the Department of Defense and under which the Federal Supply Schedule contractors are not required to accept orders from the Military Departments. However, such Federal Supply Schedule contracts may be considered as available sources of supply against which military purchasing activities may place orders on an optional basis. Such schedules shall not be used for the procurement of nonmandatory items when (a) changes in specifications are anticipated, (b) technical inspection is required, or (c) special packaging, packing, preservation, or marking is necessary. When an order of $2,500 or more is contemplated from such schedules the purchasing activity shall assure itself prior to ordering that the order is reasonably justifiable, based on considerations such as time of delivery, service, and administrative expense, as being more advantageous to the Government than a purchase from other sources.

§ 5.105 Completely optional Federal Supply Schedules.

In addition to the Federal Supply Schedule contracts described in §§ 5.103 and 5.104 there are Federal Supply Schedules in the following areas which are completely optional; Government purchasing activities are not required to order under such contracts and the contractors are not required to accept orders:

Class	Title
8-10-60-66	Motor-Vehicle Parts and Accessories; Gasoline and Diesel Engine Parts, and Construction and Road-Building Machinery Parts.
54	Rental, Repair, Maintenance, and Reconditioning of Office Machines.

Military purchasing activities may place orders under such schedules subject to the limitations and procedures prescribed in § 5.104.

§ 5.106 Federal Supply Schedules with multiple award provisions.

There are also multiple award Federal Supply Schedules which list several contractors as possible sources for certain requirements. When orders in excess of $2,500 are placed at other than the lowest price available for the type of services or supplies required, the purchasing activity shall include in the contract file a memorandum for record setting forth the facts and conclusions justifying the order. The justification may be based on considerations such as time of delivery, service, and administrative expense. Where the Federal Supply Schedule indicates that the multiple awards were made in order to make available a selection of services or supplies to meet a specific requirement, the justification may, in addition to the considerations stated above, be based on differences in performance characteristics, and compatibility with existing equipment or systems.

Subpart B—Procurement From General Services Administration Stores Depots

§ 5.200 Applicability.

This subpart applies only to procurements of supplies to be delivered in the United States, its Territories, its possessions, or Puerto Rico, as indicated in the General Services Administration Stores Stock Catalog current at the time of the procurement.

§ 5.201 General.

It is the general policy of the Department of Defense, when consistent with military necessity, to place maximum reliance on producer or commercial distributive systems for supplying requirements of the military departments. However, items and classes of material which have been designated for supply through local purchase and which normally are stocked by General Services Administration Stores Depots will be procured through the appropriate General Services Administration Stores Depot: Provided, That—

(a) The delivered price from the General Services Administration Stores Depot is not greater than the delivered price of the item from commercial sources;

(b) The service rendered by the General Services Administration Stores Depot, in terms of availability and procurement lead time, is equal to or better than that of commercial sources; and

(c) Such procurement is consistent with Subparts D and E of this part. The procurement of items stocked by General Services Administration Stores Depots which are under DOD–GSA interagency purchase assignments will be in accordance with the implementing procedures relating to such assignments.

§ 5.202 Stores Stock Catalog.

The General Services Administration periodically publishes an illustrated "Stores Stock Catalog" which sets forth, among other things (a) all standard supplies carried in stock for issue by the Stores Depots listed in § 5.204, (b) special supplies carried in stock for issue only by certain of the depots, and (c) price information on a portion of the supplies listed. Copies of the "Stores Stock Catalog," and additional price lists may be obtained, upon request, from any of the regional offices or depots listed in § 5.204.

§ 5.203 Procedure for procurement from General Services Administration Stores Depots.

Procurement from General Services Administration Stores Depots of supplies listed in the "Stores Stock Catalog" shall be made by submitting a delivery order on DD Form 1155 (Order for Supplies or Services), (see § 16.303 of this subchapter) to that General Services Administration Stores Depot which can best serve the procuring activity or installation, taking into consideration transportation costs, shipping time, and the regional boundaries of the Stores Depots. The delivery order shall contain the information required by the ordering instructions in the catalog.

§ 5.204 General Services Administration Stores Depots and regional offices.

Subpart C—Procurement Through Federal Supply Service Consolidated Purchasing Programs

§ 5.300 Applicability.

This subpart is not applicable to the procurement of supplies and services outside the United States.

§ 5.301 Federal Supply Service consolidated purchasing programs.

The Federal Supply Service conducts consolidated purchasing programs for the delivery of definite quantities of selected supplies directly from vendors to depots of various Government agencies for storage and subsequent issue, or for delivery to use points or transshipping points for oversea use. In this connection, purchase responsibility for certain common administrative supplies or services, as it affects the Department of Defense, is assigned in accordance with § 1.112 of this subchapter.

§ 5.302 Mandatory use of consolidated purchasing programs.

Mandatory use by the Departments of the consolidated purchasing programs of the Federal Supply Service, covering selected common administrative supplies and services, will be prescribed by Department of Defense Directives. Requirements of the Military Departments, to the extent practicable, shall be determined and furnished sufficiently in advance to the Federal Supply Service in order that planned procurement may be accomplished.

§ 5.303 Optional use of consolidated purchasing programs.

Optional use by the Military Departments of consolidated purchasing programs conducted by the Federal Supply Service is permitted for common administrative supplies and services which are not covered by the mandatory purchasing programs required by Department of Defense directives.

Subpart D—Procurement of Prison-Made Supplies

§ 5.400 Applicability.

This subpart is not applicable to supplies both procured and used outside the United States.

§ 5.401 General.

Supplies of the classes listed in the "Schedule of Products Made in Federal Penal and Correctional Institutions" shall be purchased in accordance with the policies and procedures set forth in this subpart.

§ 5.402 Preference as between prison-made and blind-made supplies.

In any case where similar supplies are manufactured or offered for sale both by Federal penal and correctional institutions and by agencies for the blind, the supplies must be purchased from Federal Prison Industries, Inc., to the extent available.

§ 5.403 Schedule of supplies which are prison-made.

Supplies which are manufactured by Federal penal and correctional institutions are in strict conformity with Federal Specifications. These supplies are listed in the "Schedule of Products Made in Federal Penal and Correctional Institutions" (referred to in this subpart as the "Schedule"). Copies of the Schedule are available from Federal Prison Industries, Inc., care of Department of Justice, Washington 25, D.C.

§ 5.404 Mandatory procurement of prison-made supplies.

§ 5.404–1 Mandatory procurement from Federal Prison Industries, Inc.

Supplies listed in the Schedule shall be procured directly from Federal Prison Industries, Inc., when—

(a) Supplies require oversea packaging or packing;

(b) Supplies are required in carload lots, as described in the Consolidated Freight Classification for the commodity concerned; or

(c) Supplies are required in less than carload lots, but are not stocked by General Services Administration Stores Depots.

§ 5.404–2 Mandatory procurement of prison-made supplies from General Services Administration Stores Depots.

Supplies listed in the Schedule which are required in less than carload lots and which are stocked by General Services Administration Stores Depots shall be procured from such Depots, except that procurement shall be made directly from Federal Prison Industries, Inc., when (a) the procuring activity or installation is so located that it is more practical and economical to procure directly from Federal Prison Industries, Inc., rather than from or through the General Services Administration, or (b) the General Services Administration Stores Depot is temporarily unable to furnish the required supplies, in which instance the Depot will so advise the procuring activity or installation so that the procurement may be made directly from Federal Prison Industries, Inc.

§ 5.405 Nonmandatory procurement of prison-made supplies.

Contracting Officers are encouraged to utilize the facilities of Federal Prison Industries, Inc., to the maximum extent practicable in the procurement of supplies which are not listed in the Schedule, but which are nevertheless of a type manufactured in Federal penal and correctional institutions.

§ 5.406 Procurement procedure.

§ 5.406–1 Procurement from Federal Prison Industries, Inc.

Procurement directly from Federal Prison Industries, Inc., will be made by placing a delivery order, using DD Form 1155 (Order for Supplies or Services), (see § 16.303 of this subchapter) with Federal Prison Industries, Inc., c/o Department of Justice, Washington 25, D.C.

§ 5.406–2 Procurement from General Services Administration Stores Depots.

Procurement from General Services Administration Stores Depots of prison-made supplies listed in the Schedule shall be made by submitting a delivery order, using DD Form 1155 (see § 16.303 of this subchapter), to the General Services Administration Regional Office which normally serves the procuring activity or installation.

§ 5.407 Exceptions.

Supplies listed in the Schedule may be procured through National Industries for the Blind or from commercial sources without securing clearance from Federal Prison Industries, Inc., under any of the following conditions:

(a) Immediate delivery or performance is required by public exigency;

(b) Suitable used supplies can be obtained;

(c) Supplies are both procured and used outside the United States and Alaska; or

(d) The total cost of the order is $25 or less.

§ 5.408 Clearances.

In addition to the exceptions provided in § 5.407, the Military Departments may procure through National Industries for the Blind or from commercial sources, supplies of the types listed in the Schedule to the extent only that such procurement is specifically authorized in clearances issued by Federal Prison Industries, Inc., as set forth in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section:

(a) General clearances are issued by Federal Prison Industries, Inc., when classes of supplies are not available from Federal penal and correctional institutions, or when it is otherwise in the best interest of the Government to allow procurement of those classes of supplies from agencies for the blind or from commercial sources. A copy of each general clearance is forwarded to the Department of Defense for dissemination to the Military Departments. Purchase orders or contracts written pursuant to a general clearance need not be supported by a copy of the clearance, but the clearance number must be cited on the purchase order or contract as well as on the initial voucher.

(b) Formal clearances are issued in response to requests initiated by procuring activities or installations desiring to procure from agencies for the blind or from commercial sources supplies of the type listed in the Schedule when such supplies are not covered by a general clearance. Requests for formal clearances shall be addressed to Federal Prison Industries, Inc., % Department of Justice, Washington 25, D. C. Actual purchase of the required supplies shall not be consummated prior to the issuance of the formal clearance. A copy of the clearance certificate must be attached to the initial voucher.

Subpart E—Procurement of Blind-Made Supplies

§ 5.500 Applicability.

This subpart is not applicable to supplies both procured and used outside the United States.

§ 5.501 General.

Supplies listed in the Schedule of Blind-Made Products shall be procured in accordance with the policies and procedures set forth in this subpart.

§ 5.502 Schedule of supplies which are blind-made.

Supplies manufactured by agencies for the blind are listed in the Schedule of Blind-Made Products (referred to in this Subpart E as the Schedule), now printed in separate loose-leaf form, copies of which may be obtained from any of the General Services Administration Regional Offices or Depots listed in § 5.204. Items available from stocks at General Services Administration Stores Depots are so identified in the Schedule.

§ 5.503 Mandatory procurement of blind-made supplies.

(a) Except as provided in § 5.402, supplies listed in the Schedule shall be procured from agencies for the blind. Orders for such supplies shall be submitted to the General Services Administration Stores Depot which can best serve the procuring activity or installation, except that when one of the conditions set forth below is present, procurement shall be through the National Industries for the Blind:

(1) Supplies require overseas packaging or packing;

(2) Supplies are required in carload lots, as described in the Consolidated Freight Classification for the commodity concerned;

(3) Supplies are stocked by General Services Administration Stores Depots, but the procuring activity or installation is so located that it is more practical and economical to purchase directly from the agency for the blind which manufactures the supplies, rather than from the stores depot; or

(4) The schedule indicates that the supplies are not stocked by General Services Administration Stores Depots.

(b) Supplies listed in the Schedule may be procured from commercial sources under any of the conditions set forth below without securing clearance:

(1) military necessity requires delivery within two weeks;

(2) the procurement is less than a single unit as listed in the Schedule or is for $25 or less; or

(3) supplies are both procured and used outside the United States and Alaska.

§ 5.504 Procurement procedure.

§ 5.504–1 From General Services Administration Stores Depots.

When procurement of blind-made supplies is to be effected from a General Services Administration Stores Depot, such procurement shall be made by submitting a delivery order on DD Form 1155 (see § 16.303 of this subchapter) to the General Services Administration Stores Depot which can best serve the procuring activity or installation.

§ 5.504–2 Through National Industries for the Blind.

When procurement of blind-made supplies is to be effected through the National Industries for the Blind, such procurement shall be made by submitting directly to the National Industries for the Blind, 15 West 16th Street, New York 11, New York, a request, in letter form, for an allocation. Upon receipt of the request, requirements will be allocated by the National Industries for the Blind, and the procuring activity will be notified of the name and location of the agency designated to manufacture the requirements. Upon receipt of such notification, a delivery order (DD Form 1155) shall be issued to the designated agency for the blind. Such orders may be issued without limitation as to dollar amount and shall be recorded as obligations upon issuance.

§ 5.505 Clearances.

In addition to the exceptions listed in § 5.503(b) the Military Departments may procure from commercial sources, supplies of the types listed in the Schedule only to the extent that such procurement is specifically authorized in clearances issued by National Industries for the Blind or General Services Administration as provided below.

§ 5.505–1 Emergency requirements.

In an emergency when the required delivery date is in excess of two weeks, procurement of supplies of the classes listed in the Schedule may be made from a commercial source: Provided, however, That a clearance shall be obtained, prior to the purchase, from the General Services Administration regional office which normally serves the procuring activity or installation.

§ 5.505–2 Supplies not available from agencies for the blind.

When a request for supplies is submitted to National Industries for the Blind and notification is received that none of the agencies for the blind can furnish the supplies within the period specified, an open-market purchase of the items listed in such notification may be effected: Provided, That purchase action is instituted within 30 days from the date of notification.

§ 5.506 Optional procurement of blind-made supplies.

Supplies of any type or classification may be procured from agencies for the blind in any quantity, including less than carload lots, when such agency is the low bidder or offeror in response to an invitation for bids or request for proposals.

Subpart F—Procurement of Printing and Related Supplies

§ 5.601 Printing and related supplies.

Printing, binding, and blank-book work, and envelopes, paper, and related supplies, shall be procured in accordance and with (a) regulations of the Congressional Joint Committee on Printing, and (b) procedures prescribed by each respective Department.

Subpart G—Procurement Under the Economy Act From or Through Another Federal Agency

§ 5.700 Scope of subpart.

This subpart deals with orders for supplies or services placed with another Government department or agency pursuant to the authority of the Economy Act of June 30, 1932, as amended (31 U.S. Code 686), except that it does not apply to any procurement covered by other subparts of this part. Orders for supplies and services placed within a Military Department shall be in accordance with procedures prescribed by that Department.

§ 5.701 Authorization and policy relating to placing and filling orders.

(a) It is the policy of the Department of Defense not to place Government agencies in direct competition with commercial sources. Accordingly, prior to soliciting bids or proposals from commercial sources, it shall be decided whether to obtain supplies or services from Government agencies. Invitations for bids and requests for proposals shall not be sent to Government agencies. Current market prices, recent procurement prices, or prices obtained by informational bids as provided in § 1.309 of this chapter may be used to ascertain whether procurement can be effected more cheaply from commercial sources.

(b) Each procuring activity, when it is in the interest of the Government to do so, may place delivery orders, on DD Form 1155 (see § 16.303 of this chapter), with any other Government department or agency for supplies or services that any such requisitioned department or agency may be in a position to furnish or perform or to obtain by contract. Generally, an order for supplies or services will not be placed with a department or agency which is not in a position to furnish the supplies or is not equipped to perform the services, except that an order may be filled by means of an outside contract with a commercial source of supply if the order is placed by any one of the following: Department of the Army, Department of the Navy, Department of the Air Force, Department of the Treasury, Civil Aeronautics Administration, or Maritime Commission. An order for services shall not be placed with a department or agency when such services can be performed as conveniently or more cheaply by private contractors.

§ 5.702 Determination of amount and method of payment.

Upon the written request of the requisitioned department or agency, an advance by check shall be made of all or part of the estimated cost of furnishing the supplies or services as specified by such requisitioned department or agency: Provided, That, where an advance is made, proper adjustments of the basis of the actual cost of the supplies or services shall be made as may be agreed upon by the departments or agencies concerned. Subject to approval by the requisitioned department or agency, payment by check may be made after the furnishing of the supplies or services. The amount to be paid shall be based on the actual cost of the supplies or services as may be agreed upon by the departments or agencies concerned.

Subpart H—Procurement of Certain Utility Services by Use of General Services Administration Area Contracts

§ 5.800 Applicability.

This subpart is not applicable to the procurement of utility services outside the United States.

§ 5.801 General.

The General Services Administration enters into indefinite delivery type area contracts with various utility companies for the furnishing of electricity, natural and manufactured gas distributed by pipes, steam, sewerage, or water to all, or substantially all, Government agencies located within specified areas. GSA area contracts provide that the contractor will, upon receipt of an order in the form prescribed by the contract, furnish, without further negotiation as to rates and charges, the services involved in accordance with such of its established and filed rate schedules as are applicable to the service.

§ 5.802 Distribution of GSA Public Utility Schedules and related publications.

A list of the utility services obtainable under GSA area contracts, including the area served and the name of the contractor involved, is contained in GSA Circular No. 61, Revised. GSA also has available for use with each area contract a Public Utility Schedule which includes the required order form. Copies of GSA Circular No. 61 and GSA Public Utility Schedules may be obtained, upon request, from Public Utilities Division, Transportation and Public Utilities Service, General Services Administration, Washington 25, D. C.

§ 5.803 Department of Defense use of GSA area contracts.

(a) Where GSA area contracts are adequate to meet the requirements of Department of Defense activities for utility services, such services shall be procured thereunder. In determining whether a GSA area contract is adequate to meet the requirements of the using activity, consideration should be given to (1) the area contract rates viewed in light of the magnitude of the service required, (2) any unusual characteristics of the service required, (3) any special equipment or facility requirements, (4) any special technical contract provisions required, and (5) any other special circumstances.

(b) Where it is determined by the Department concerned that GSA area contracts do not meet the requirements of the using activity, the utility services shall be procured in accordance with § 16.501 of this subchapter.

§ 5.804 Ordering under area contracts.

When utility services are procured under GSA area contracts, the method of ordering prescribed in the appropriate GSA Public Utility Schedule shall be used. The form prescribed for ordering may be modified to satisfy fiscal and administrative requirements of the Military Department concerned, and to contain such additional contract provisions as may be necessary, except that it shall not be modified for use as a public voucher in lieu of Standard Form 1034. Where GSA area contracts do not contain the Gratuities clause (§ 7.104–16 of this chapter) the clause shall be included in the order form.

Subparts I Through J—[Reserved]

Subpart K—Coordinated Procurement

§ 5.1100 Definitions.

As used in this subchapter, the following terms have the meanings set forth below:

§ 5.1100–1 Coordinated procurement.

Coordinated procurement refers to procurement (a) of supplies and services pursuant to § 5.1116 and (b) of supplies under single procurement as defined in § 5.1100–2.

§ 5.1100–2 Single procurement.

Single procurement refers to procurement of supplies pursuant to assignments of procurement responsibility made by the Secretary of Defense. The following are approved types of single procurement.

(a) Single department procurement, whereby one Military Department procures certain supplies to satisfy the requirements of all the Military Departments.

(b) Plant cognizance procurement, whereby one Military Department procures certain supplies from a particular plant to satisfy the requirements of all the Military Departments. This type of procurement is limited presently to airframes, aircraft engines, and propellers.

(c) Joint procurement, whereby a jointly staffed and financed agency within the Department of Defense procures certain supplies to satisfy the requirements of all the Military Departments.

§ 5.1100–3 Requiring department.

Requiring department refers to the Military Department originating a requisition or purchase request for supplies.

§ 5.1100–4 Procuring department.

Procuring department refers to the Military Department or agency which is assigned the procurement responsibility for the supplies.

§ 5.1100–5 Military interdepartmental purchase request (MIPR).

Military interdepartmental purchase request (MIPR) refers to DD Form 448 (Military Interdepartmental Purchase Request) (see § 16.601 of this subchapter) executed by a Requiring Department, as a request for supplies to be procured or furnished by the Procuring Department, or to be manufactured in its own facilities.

§ 5.1101 Application of procurement assignment.

Single procurement in the form of single department, joint agency, or plant cognizance procurement shall be effected whenever it will result in net advantages to the Department of Defense as a whole, except so far as it can be demonstrated that the use of such a procurement method will adversely affect military operations. Single department procurement assignments in Alaska, Hawaii, and outside the remainder of the United States, regardless of funds utilized, will be determined by the respective Unified Commanders. Implementation of such assignments will be effected within the unified commands under the direction of the Unified Commander.

§ 5.1102 Responsibilities under single procurement.

§ 5.1102–1 Single department procurement.

The Procuring Department is generally responsible for the following, under single department procurement (for specific assignment of procurement responsibilities, see Department of Defense Instruction Number 4115.1, dated March 18, 1957, Subject: Department of Defense Single Procurement Assignments, and any amendments thereto):

(a) Operational phases of procurement planning (phasing the submission of requirements, consolidating or dividing requirements, analyzing the market, and determining patterns for the phased placement of orders in such a manner as to assure meeting the needs of the Military Departments at the lowest possible price to the Government, and at the same time avoiding unnecessary peaks and valleys of production);

(b) Purchasing;

(c) Contract administration, including arrangements for followup and expediting;

(d) Acquisition of licenses under patents or other proprietary rights covering the subject matter of the procurement and the settlement of patent infringement claims arising out of the procurement. Approval of the Military Department or Departments whose funds are to be charged for the acquisition of licenses or settlement of claims will be obtained;

(e) Arrangement for inspection; and

(f) Arrangement for transportation.

§ 5.1102–2 Joint procurement.

Responsibilities for procurement by a Joint agency are as set forth in the individual agency charter.

§ 5.1102–3 Plant Cognizance Procurement.

Responsibilities for procurement and mobilization planning are as set forth in Department of Defense Instruction Number 4115.1, dated March 18, 1957, Subject: Department of Defense Single Procurement Assignments, and any amendments thereto.

§ 5.1103 General principles governing implementation of procurement assignments.

§ 5.1103–1 Standard format — development and promulgation of implementing procedures.

Implementation of a procurement assignment shall be accomplished in accordance with Section V (Implementation) Department of Defense Instruction 4115.1, dated March 18, 1957, Subject: Department of Defense Procurement Assignments, and any amendments thereto.

§ 5.1103–2 Relationship between research and development and single procurement.

Items are not subject to procurement assignment until they have reached the production stage.

§ 5.1103–3 Small dollar value purchases.

Requirements of small dollar value will be procured in accordance with the provisions of the approved implementing procedures covering the particular assignment. Such implementing procedures will normally provide a small dollar value limitation of $1,000 per line item; however, in special situations the limitation may vary depending upon the commodity area and may be expressed either in a higher or lower dollar value, by tonnage, less-than-carload lot quantities, or other units, as appropriate. Such implementing procedures will clearly state that requirements of a value or quantity less than the prescribed limitations will, wherever feasible, be procured by the Requiring Department. A MIPR for nonmilitary type items of a value or quantity less than the prescribed limitations will contain a notation that procurement by the Requiring Department was not considered to be feasible. A MIPR for a military type item need not contain such a notation. The Procuring Department will not return a MIPR submitted in accordance with the foregoing but will procure such items.

§ 5.1103–4 Emergency.

In case of emergency, where the exigencies of the situation will not permit of the delay incident to following the normal channels of single procurement, purchases may be made without the prior authorization of the Procuring Department. When such emergency purchases are made, one copy of the contractual instrument, bearing or accompanied by a statement of the emergency, shall be transmitted promptly to the purchasing activity of the Procuring Department.

§ 5.1103–5 Department of Defense Manufacturing Establishment.

When procurement assignments have been made for items required by manufacturing establishments of the Military Departments, these items shall be obtained through the facilities of the Procuring Department unless such action will unduly hinder or delay production. When procurements are made other than through the Procuring Department, one copy of the contractual instrument bearing or accompanied by a statement of the circumstances necessitating such procurement shall be transmitted promptly to the purchasing activity of the Procuring Department. This section is not applicable when purchases are made pursuant to § 5.1103–3.

§ 5.1103–6 Local purchase as normal means of supply.

When local purchase of any nonmilitary type item has been authorized by a Requiring Department as the normal means of supply, such item may be obtained by that Department without regard to limitations prescribed in the procurement assignment implementing procedures. This authority will apply only while such item remains in "local purchase" status. For purposes of procurement and administrative planning, a Requiring Department will submit to the Procuring Department a list of the assigned items which have been authorized for local purchase, identified by the commodity area in which such items are classified and the dates on which such authorization for local purchase will be effective. Similar lists will be so submitted covering items being converted from a local purchase to a central procurement status.

§ 5.1104 Items in short supply.

In cases where shortages develop in supplies being purchased, the normal procedure will be to resolve the problem on a Departmental level. If mutual agreement cannot be reached, the subject shall be referred to the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Supply and Logistics) for decision.

§ 5.1105 Transfer of uncompleted contracts.

§ 5.1105–1 Effect of assignment of procurement responsibility.

As a general rule, when the procurement responsibility for a commodity or class of commodities is assigned to one Department, uncompleted contracts of any other Department for any such commodity or class of commodities will not be transferred but will continue to be administered for all purposes by such other Department.

§ 5.1105–2 Disputes under transferred contracts.

In the case of any contract transferred, or to be transferred, from one Department to another Department, which contract refers to either the Navy Department Board of Contract Appeals or the Army Board of Contract Appeals, the contract should be amended to provide that the Armed Services Board of Contract Appeals will hear and decide all disputes concerning questions of fact which are appealed pursuant to the "Disputes" clause of such transferred contract.

§ 5.1105–3 Contracting officers under transferred contracts.

In the case of any contract transferred, or to be transferred, to any Department, the successor to the contracting officer for each such contract shall be the Head of the Procuring Activity (or any contracting officer thereof) to which the administration of any such contract is assigned, and any such successor shall have all of the rights and responsibilities of a contracting officer under such transferred contract.

§5.1106 Purchase authorization.

§ 5.1106–1 MIPR's or other authorized procurement requests.

Military Interdepartmental Purchase Requests or other authorized procurement requests (see Subpart F, Part 16 of this subchapter), when received by the Procuring Department, shall be the authority to procure the supplies listed thereon in accordance with agreements between the Departments concerned. The Procuring Department has no responsibility to determine the validity of a stated requirement in an approved procurement request; however, it should bring to the attention of the Requiring Department apparent errors in the requirement. In coordinated procurement, the Procuring Department is authorized without referral to the Requiring Department, to deviate by 3 percent of the amount stated for each accounting classification, provided, that the sum of such deviation does not exceed 3 percent of the total amount cited in the MIPR. The Procuring Department is authorized to deviate by more than 3 percent in specific assigned commodity areas where mutual agreement has been reached and so indicated in the implementing procedures in accordance with DOD Directive 4115.28. This authorization will remain available to the Procuring Department until acceptance is completed, at which time any excess funds on the MIPR will be rescinded by the Requiring Department without the issuance of a formal amendment to the MIPR. The Requiring Department will authorize the percent variation on each MIPR, and will reserve a net amount sufficient to provide for such variation. If the deviation exceeds this percentage, referral to the Requiring Department will be necessary.

§ 5.1106–2 Determinations and findings.

(a) When procurement is by negotiation, the Procuring Department, except as provided in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, shall make the determinations and findings in accordance with Subpart C, Part 3 of this subchapter with respect to coordinated procurement. The Requiring Department shall furnish with the procurement request the information required by the Procuring Department to develop the determinations and findings.

(b) With respect to 10 U.S.C. 2304 (a)(13), the Requiring Department shall make the determinations and findings in accordance with Subpart C, Part 3 of this subchapter. Two copies of the determinations and findings shall be attached to the procurement request and shall be utilized by the Procuring Department as authority for negotiation, and the Procuring Department need not make further determinations and findings.

(c) With respect to 10 U.S.C. 2304 (a)(16) and when the procurement agreements under § 5.1116 (as distinguished from single procurement) do not include mobilization planning responsibility, the Requiring Department shall make the determinations and findings in accordance with Subpart C, Part 3 of this subchapter. Two copies of the determinations and findings shall be attached to the procurement request and shall be utilized by the Procuring Department as authority for negotiation, and the Procuring Department need not make further determinations and findings. With respect to single procurement (§ 5.1100–2), the Procuring Department shall make the determinations and findings.

§ 5.1107 Components of end items.

§ 5.1107–1 Contractor-furnished components.

In the procurement of end items where the contractor normally secures all components thereof from his own source (not Government-furnished), the procurement assignment does not apply to the component items required by such contractor.

§ 5.1107–2 Government-furnished components.

In the procurement of end items where the Government furnishes components which are covered by a procurement assignment, such components shall be procured in accordance with the procurement assignment. However, direct purchase may be made by a Requiring Department in exceptional cases where agreement is reached with the Procuring Department.

§ 5.1107–3 Purchase of components over and above those initially purchased with the end item.

The Procurement of components covered by a procurement assignment, and above those initially purchased with the end item, shall be effected in accordance with the procurement assignment. However, direct purchase may be made by a Requiring Department in exceptional cases where agreement is reached with the Procuring Department.

§ 5.1108 Funds and payments.

§ 5.1108–1 Citation of appropriation and funds of Requiring Department.

Contracts and orders shall cite the appropriations or funds of the Requiring Department unless it is not considered feasible and economical to relate payments directly to the end item and ultimate use of the material under procurement. The Procuring Department will, for each commodity, determine which type of funding (direct citation or consolidated-reimbursable procurement) will generally be used. The conditions under which it is considered not feasible to cite the funds of the Requiring Department are:

(a) Procurement of the end item involves separate procurement of components to be assembled by the Procuring Department.

(b) At the time of acceptance of the purchase request (MIPR), it is not considered feasible to identify specific quantities of the end item with respective Requiring Department because of the possibility of allocation of the material upon a different basis as completed items are delivered.

(c) Payments will be made without reference to deliveries of end items; for example, cost-plus-fixed-fee contracts, and fixed-price contracts with progress payment clauses.

§ 5.1108–2 Citation of funds of Procuring Department.

In cases where citation of the funds of the Requiring Department is not feasible, funds of the Procuring Department will be cited subject to reimbursement upon delivery to the Requiring Department. In those cases, contracts and orders will provide for payment by the Procuring Department.

§ 5.1109 [Reserved]

§ 5.1110 Administrative costs.

The Procuring Department shall bear, without reimbursement therefor, the administrative costs incidental to its procurement of supplies for another Department. However, when a procurement responsibility is transferred from one Department to another Department, funds appropriated or to be appropriated for defraying the administrative costs of such procurement responsibility shall be made available to the successor Procuring Department which shall assume budget cognizance at the earliest possible date.

§ 5.1111 Inspection.

Policies and procedures concerning inspection and acceptance for use in conjunction with this Part are set forth in Part 14 of this subchapter.

§ 5.1112 Execution and administration of contracts.

Generally, the Procuring Department will execute a single contract where an award embodying the requirements of more than one Department is made to a single contractor. Administration of contracts shall be in accordance with the procedures developed by the Procuring Department in accordance with § 5.1103–1.

§ 5.1113 Status reporting.

Appropriate systems of followup shall be maintained by the Procuring Department in order that contracting personnel may be currently informed as to the performance by a contractor and to further insure that Requiring Departments are apprised of the status of contracts.

§ 5.1114 Specifications.

The Requiring Department shall be responsible for providing the Procuring Department a list of (or copies of) specifications required for purchase. Under no circumstances will the Procuring Department direct or authorize deviations or waivers from the specifications cited in the MIPR without express authority of the Requiring Department.

§ 5.1115 Transportation of supplies.

Subject to the provisions of Subpart M, Part 1 of this subchapter, every requisition or procurement request shall show the appropriation or fund and accounting classification chargeable for such transportation costs as may be incurred in effecting delivery at Government expense. Government bills of lading, when required, will generally be issued by the Procuring Department. In every instance, the Government bill of lading shall show (a) the Requiring Department as the Department to be billed, and (b) the appropriation or fund designated by that Department as the appropriation chargeable. Where Government bills of lading of the Procuring Department are used to cover shipment of supplies consigned to the Requiring Department, the bill of lading number shall be prefixed by the name of the Requiring Department.

§ 5.1116 Procurement agreements.

10 U.S.C. 2308 provides that Military Department heads by agreement may make such assignments and delegations of procurement responsibilities from one Military Department to another or may create such joint or combined procuring activities or agencies as they deem necessary or desirable. Nothing set forth in this Subchapter shall preclude the Military Departments from making agreements under 10 U.S.C. 2308 which do not violate the single procurement policies and procedures set forth in this subpart or in applicable Department of Defense Directives, Instructions, and regulations.

Subpart L—Commodity Assignments
